

ARRESTS FOR ABSENCE

Causing Trouble as Well as Amusement for Some Congressmen.

MR. COOMBS SERIOUSLY OBJECTS

To the Journal Chronicling the Fact That He Was Arrested.

WONDERFUL RECORD OF MR. O'NEILL

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The ludicrous situation that may sometimes develop from the rule that requires members to attend the sessions of the House under pain of arrest and arraignment for contempt was fully illustrated in the attempt to amend the Journal this morning.

Several absentees arrested. When the point of no quorum was made last night by Messrs. Kilgore and Bailey, of Texas, and the Sergeant at Arms ordered to bring in the absentees...

Mr. Byrum, of Indiana, inquired whether the person to whom the gentleman alluded as a "page" was not a deputy sergeant at arms.

Mr. O'Neill, of Pennsylvania, also took exception to the Journal. It showed that last night he had been notified by an attendant on account of sickness.

Mr. Byrum thought the Journal should be an accurate account of the proceedings of the House. It was a fact that Mr. Coombs had been brought to the House under arrest, and the Journal should record that fact.

On Mr. Coombs' motion the vote stood 72 to 51. Mr. Dunagan, of Ohio, raised the point of no quorum.

WHAT IS ASTHMA?

A Description of the Many Agonizing Symptoms Which Accompany This Affection.

And How Modern Science Triumphs Over the So-Called Incurable Malady—Statement of Mr. Conrad Appel.

What is asthma? Briefly, asthma is an obstruction of the smaller air tubes, which causes shortness of breath and distressing symptoms of suffocation.

A paroxysm of asthma may commence without warning or it may be preceded by sneezing. Patients are often able to predict an attack for some hours before its occurrence, sometimes by a sense of drowsiness or heaviness, sometimes by unusual exertion of breathing, prompted by indications which they have learned by experience, but which are not easily described.

The paroxysm is characterized by laborious efforts of breathing, prompted by a painful sense of want of air. The patient is unable to lie down, but sits with elbows on the knees or propped on some solid support, with mouth open and gasping with each inspiration. The respirations are not increased, but may be less in number than when in health. Inspiration is performed with spasmodic effort, and expiration is accompanied by a wheezing sound. Speech is difficult for want of breath, and changes of position afford relief, and the patient desires windows and doors to be opened, regardless of the weather.

Perseverance is sometimes profuse. The face presents a cyanotic hue, giving a death-like appearance. In severe cases there is frequent vomiting, consisting of a few mucous nodules or pieces, semi-transparent or gelatinous consistency. The sputa is often of a bloody character, or occasionally a true hemorrhage takes place.

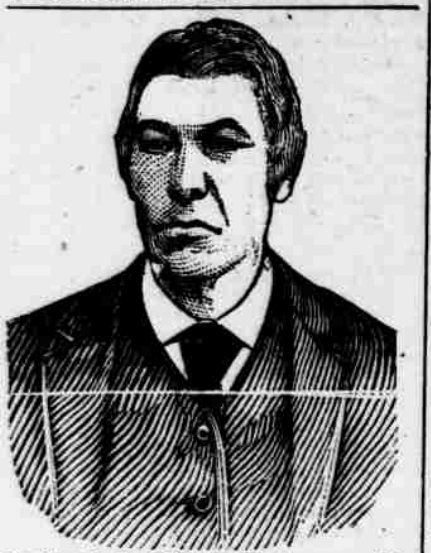

It is frequently accompanied with other complications which augment the distress of the sufferer. Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, great wasting and general depletion of the blood and digestive juices of the stomach are often accompaniments of asthma. It arises from numerous causes—diseases of the kidneys, stomach, heart, nerves, lungs, blood and nose. If several causes are well understood and treated accordingly, there would be fewer terrible asthma attacks.

The following case of reflexed asthma, cured by Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers, practically illustrates the efficacy of this treatment:

ASTHMA A CURABLE DISEASE. Statement of Mr. Conrad Appel, Proving the Curability of This Distressing Affection by Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers' Method of Treatment.

"It is over three years since I contracted asthma," says Mr. Appel, the well-known plasterer, who resides at No. 843 North avenue, Allegheny. This seemed at first to amount to nothing, but finally led to bronchitis, and after a time to asthma. This was accompanied with evening fevers, sharp aching pains in the sides and chest, and most distressing suffocating sensations at night. Often had to get up at one or two o'clock in the morning for air, and even had to get up at one or two o'clock in the morning for air, and even had to get up at one or two o'clock in the morning for air.

made the round of all the doctors, but without benefit until I consulted Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers. After carefully examining my chest they said my trouble was bronchial asthma, the result of neglected catarrh, and that they believed they could cure me. The first week the suffocating feeling disappeared and they never returned. All the other symptoms have gradually yielded, excepting a slight cough in the morning. I have no more trouble, the shortness of breath, and sleep the whole night through without being disturbed.

Mr. Conrad Appel, No. 843 North Avenue, Allegheny.

Mr. Appel never tires talking of his good fortune, and will gladly verify the above to anyone who will call upon him at his residence.

Most asthmatics get mad, some very mad, when told their disease is curable. They have taken of every drug mentioned in the pharmacopoeia; have tried allopathic, homoeopathic and scientific remedies; have given cash to faith-cure and clairvoyant doctors, and because in spite of these they go around like heavy old horses, with "pipes and whistles" in their "noses," they are ready to jump on any person that tells them that asthma is a curable disease. But the fact is the progress in medicine has been so rapid, made so well understood, the change of structure induced in the organs attacked, the symptoms so readily read, that no well-informed physician can go far astray in marking the line of treatment for each disease, however complicated; and perhaps in no disease have the physicians made such progress as in the treatment of asthma.

Either Dr. Copeland, Dr. Hall or Dr. Byers can always be seen personally at their offices. Their professional work is not done by assistants or hired men.

MEICINES FURNISHED DIRECT TO PATIENTS. Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers Have Their Own Medical Laboratory and Registered Dispensary of Many Years' Practical Experience in Charge.

Why do Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers have their own laboratory, and dispense their own drugs? First—Because no five druggists in the city would be capable of filling the prescriptions from their offices on any day of their practice.

Second—Because Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers would not trust the filling of their prescriptions to an outsider. Every bottle of medicine that comes from their office or laboratory is compounded and prepared under their direct and personal supervision, which accords in a great measure for their success.

These two statements alone would answer the question; but there is another answer that goes deeper into the matter than either of these. It involves something that is very important to every patient who is regarded as of paramount importance the matter of money.

Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers compound and dispense their own medicine, because by so doing they save their patients every cent which an otherwise incalculable amount of money.

Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers believe and always have believed, that the interests of the patient and doctor should be more closely allied than those of the doctor and the druggist. It is right that the solicitude of the physician for the patient should be extended even to the matter of the expense to which the patient is put in the process of getting relief.

It is a physician's simple duty to spare his patients, whether they are rich or poor, every possible expense. By buying drugs directly from the manufacturers, Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers have assurance of the standard quality, solubility and excellence of the drugs they use.

This is a matter of dollars and cents to the patient, and the public, and we see no occasion for hesitancy in speaking of it frankly, plainly, fairly and truthfully.

It is a matter of dollars and cents to the time-honored custom of sending patients to those whose prices are beyond suspicion and whose standing as chemists is unquestioned.

reading at 804 Heisel street, Homestead, and finally tells the story of his trouble and relief.

"For a long time I have suffered from catarrh in my head and throat. It was originally brought on by colds, but it increased, much to my regret afterward.

I had nearly constant pain in my head and neck, my eyes were full of a dull heavy feeling. My nostrils were badly stopped up and I had to breathe through my mouth. I had to lie down and drop down into my bed. I could feel it, causing me to hark and spit in a most disagreeable manner, in order to dislodge it. I had ringing in the ears, and sharp, shooting pains through my chest. My stomach also became badly affected.

"My case was growing gradually worse and more and more, until I was unable to get on my feet. I was suffering from a most distressing condition of my system were discharged by its influence in the most disagreeable manner, in order to dislodge it. I had ringing in the ears, and sharp, shooting pains through my chest. My stomach also became badly affected.

"I was in this condition when I applied to Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers. I had read much of their great success in the treatment of catarrh and curing cases similar to mine, and some much worse, and I placed myself under their care. I can say truthfully that the testimony to their skill was not over-estimated. I had relief at once. No trace of the symptoms described remains and I am as well again as ever I was. I am glad to testify to the satisfactory result in my case obtained by these physicians. I think all people who have catarrh should know where they can be cured, and why I make this statement."

DR. COPELAND'S HOME TREATMENT. A World-Girdler—Letters of Praise and Gratitude From the North, South, East and West.

Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers have achieved signal success in the treatment of catarrh and chronic diseases by mail. Those desiring to consult them should write for a questionnaire blank. The following evidence is in point:

MR. C. C. SCOTT, Hopedale, Mass., writes: "Dr. Copeland's home treatment cured me of an acute case of catarrh after two doctors failed. I had severe chest pains, and a most distressing condition of my system were discharged by its influence in the most disagreeable manner, in order to dislodge it.
