TAXATION AND WORK.

How the Public Revenue of the United States Is Derived.

ITS FUNDS HELD IN TRUST ONLY.

Average Earnings of Millions Who Are Occupied for Gain.

TWO TERMS WITH THE SAME MEANING

WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.

In the Forum, for September, 1891, the writer presented a condensed statement of the income and expenditure of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889, in the customary form of an account current such as every merchant or banker renders to his correspondents who trust their money or merchandise in his control. It were well that the Government of the United States should be held to the same form of accountability, as the national taxes are placed in its hands under the same conditions of trust.

Nothing is more common in public discussion, especially on the part of very sincere men who represent what is called nationalism, collectivism, and other more or less mild forms of socialism, despotism, or communism, than to impute to the State the possession of an immense property which it should deal with in a so-called which it should deal with it a so-called "liberal" manner. Again, nothing is more common than for shallow and unthinking men, even in business life, to advocate "liberal appropriations" by Congress for bounties, subsidies and expenditures of all kinds that are esteemed semi-public enterprises, but are in fact undertaken mainly if not wholly for wirest easi. wholly for private gain.

Now the State, in the sense in which that word is used to designate either the Nation, or each separate member of the Union—or the city or the town—possesses no property except public buildings that have been paid for out of taxes, and the unsold portions of public lands. The income of the State is wholly derived from taxation, and all its funds are held in trust for the public service only. It can impropriate or become pos-sessed of property only by way of taxation.

The Tariff Only a List of Taxes or Duties. The very definition of a tax in the dictionary, by which a court must be governed in the construction of revenue acts, is "a rate or sum of money assessed on the per-Tate or sum of money assessed on the person or property of a citizen by Government for the use of the Nation or State."

The definition of a duty is also "an impost, customs, tribute or tax." Some persons hold that "a tariff is not a tax." A tariff is only a list of taxes or duties. There is no difference between a duty or a tax in law or equity, and no distinction can be made. All the fallacies about putting our burdens upon other nations by taxing imports may be set aside. A duty is a tax, and all the taxes that the Government receives the procedure when receives ment receives the people pay; when such taxes are badly assessed the people may pay a great deal more than the Government re-ceives, or, what is perhaps worse, many people may be deprived of the opportunity to apply their work in the most productive way by a had existent of terration way by a bad system of taxation.

Taxation is but one of the several methods by which the annual product of the community is distributed. These methods of distribution are named rents, profits, interest, salaries, earnings, wages, stealings and taxes.

The annual product, which is the subject of such distribution, is the measure or result of the snaual work, whether the work be mental, manual or mechanical. It cor-responds to the effective work or exertion of productive energy of that part of the population which does the work, number-ing about one in three of the population— such being the proportion occupied for gain. Seven Per Cent of the Product Pays Taxes.

The aggregate of taxation-national, state, county, city and town, so far as the writer six or seven per cent of the product; it, therefore, represents six or seven per cent of the whole work of the community, to which all contribute in ratio to their con-sumption or use of subjects of taxation. National taxes, including postal service, ome to more than one-half the total burden. Out of our present population of over 65,000,000 there are about 23,000,000 who are at work in the sense of being "occupied for gain" in professional and personal service, trade and transportation, manufacturing, mechanic, arts and mining, and agriculture. Their average earnings which are the measure of the value of their product may be at the rate of two dollars a day for three hundred days in the year-six hundred dollars' worth for each group of three persons—but there are a vastly greater number, probably ninety per cent of all who are occupied for gain, who secure less than that sum, than there are who secure more in the distribution of the product.

The average of the whole working com munity-mental, manual and mechanical-includes, of course, the share of the product which falls to capital as well as to laborto the administrative as well as the work ing force. It represents a division of the total product at its final valuation by the total number who share the work in any

What a Thousand Persons Produce. In 1880 the list of persons who were occu-pied for gain was made out under four titles, pied for gain was made out under four titles, and under each of these titles the subdivisions were given. The subsequent variations in the ratio of one class to another have not been great. If we apply the proportions of 1880 to the working force of the present day, computed at 23,000,000 men, women and young persons, we get the following results. There are approximately in each thousand persons the following divisions of occupations:

1. Clergymen, lawyers, doctors, chief

Visions of occupations:

1. Clergymen, lawyers, doctors, chief collects of banks, railroads, insurance companies, and the like, whose work is mental or administrative.

2. Microhants, tradesmen, hotel keepers, clerks, salesmen, saleswomen, etc.

3. Work of a collective kind conducted in factories and workshops, textile, iron or steel, machine shops, boots and shoes, etc.

4. Microhanical work of an individual order, carpenters, masons, biacksmiths, etc.

5. Personal service—Domestic servants, draymen, railways and express, draymen, railways and express, sallors, waiters, etc. 131

Laborers on farms, laborers not specified, and laborers in mines, etc. 312

Agriculturists — Farmers, stock

I think that $600,000 worth of product is now the average annual value of the result of the average work of each 1,000 persons who are occupied for gain substantially in these proportions; upon each one of these two others depend. At this ratio our present annual product, measured in gold, comes to $13,000,000,000.

Every tax imposed by nation, State, town or city is a permand on the community to give so many days' work to be devoted to the service of the State. If we adopt $2 a.

the service of the State. If we adopt $2 a day as the unit of labor by which to measure taxation, the analysis of the cost of the Government of the United States may become a little more interesting to the masses who are taxed "unbeknownst like" for its support, it being observed that all so-called "indirect" taxes, that is to say, all taxes which are put upon articles which enter into common consumption are paid by consumption to their consumption.

sumers in proportion to their consumption of such articles. How the Burden Is Borne. It being assumed that no great change has occurred in this distribution of occupations since 1880, the present number who bear the burden of taxation are as follows:

Class I. Clergymen, lawyers, ad-ministrative officials of Class 2. Merchants, clerks, and other distributors...... 1,380,000
Class 3. Factory operatives and others in collective work. 2,300,000 Class 4. Mechanics working individually rather than collectively 2,451,000 ass 5.	Personal

nss 6. lass 7.	Laborers Farmers	 	 7,

Computed population over ..... 65,000,000

If the joint product of this great body by whom the work of the country is done can be computed at $200 worth per head or $600 for each of the 23,000,000 persons by whom the work is done, then that product is the source from which all rents, profits, the control of the case interest, salaries, earnings, wages, stealings and taxes are derived. Taxation and work are therefore synonymous terms or different words for the same thing. The measure of the national taxes in terms of work will be the subject of No. II.

DEATHS HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Dr. Smith Fuller, Uniontown. Dr. Smith Fuller died at his home in Uniontown yesterday afternoon, of paralysis. He had been ill for more than two years, and during that time was almost helpless from apoplectic strokes. Dr. Fuller was one of the most noted men of Fayette county, having been identified with business and politics for more than 40 years, as closely as any man in it. He was born at Connellisville in 181s. Originally Dr. Fuller was a Democrat, but in 1856 he identified himself with the National American party, and became a member of the Reputolican party at 11s birth, and in 1860 was a delegation from his district to the national convention which nominated President Lincoln, During the same year was elected a member of the State Senate, and for three years represented the district composed of Fayette and Westmoreland counties. In 1856 his party made him their candidate for Congress in the district composed of Fayette, Indiana and Westmoreland counties, and his opponent, the late Hou, John L. Dawson, was declared elected by only 16 majority. Dr. Fuller contested the election and spent five months in Washington, but was unsuccessful. Dr. Smith Fuller died at his home
