

HILL TO THE SOUTH. His Presidential Boom on Wheels Commences in Dead Earnest. TALKS POLITICS FROM THE START. He Preaches Tariff for Revenue Only to Southern Iron Men, and REPLIES TO HARRISON'S SPEECHES

KNOXVILLE, March 14.—The first point at which Senator Hill's train stopped this morning was Roanoke, Va. The Senator spoke for ten minutes, saying: I do not intend upon this occasion to enter upon any discussion of Democratic principles. They are dear to you, as they are dear to the people through the land. We believe in an honest and economical administration of public affairs. We believe that no more money should be raised for the support of the Government than is necessary for its actual administration, economically administered. We believe that the place for surplus taxes is in the pockets of the people, and not in the Federal treasury. [Cheers.] We believe in the right of each State to regulate its own domestic affairs in its own way. [Applause.] We claim that right in the great Empire State, where I live, and we freely concede that right to the citizens of Old Virginia. ["Good, good," and applause.] I congratulate you upon the signs of the times. It is evident that the majority of the people of this country believe in Democratic principles. [Cheers.] Although in the last year the Democratic party were defeated through the machinery of the electoral college, you have not forgotten the people. [Applause.] Our principles were sustained. [Applause.] The people of this country are the people of the world. They are essential to the welfare of the people.

The Democratic Power Limited. We are opposed to monopolies. We are in favor of that course and policy which give the greatest good to the greatest number. The Democratic party believe in upholding and sustaining and encouraging all the industries of this great land, but we do not believe in robbing Peter to pay Paul. [Great applause.] At the conclusion of this speech the train proceeded on its journey to the capital of Mississippi. MINN. Partisan Sabotage. ASTIN, TEX., March 14.—The defeat of the resolution inviting ex-Governor Hill of New York, to address the Legislature of this State, is attributed to a disposition of the Mills men in the House to even up against Hill on account of his supposed influence at Washington against Mills for the speakership. DR. SCUDDER'S FIRST TRIAL. The Husband of His Victim and a Physician Testify Against Him. CHICAGO, March 14.—The preliminary arraignment of Dr. Scudder on the charge of murder took place this afternoon before Judge Bradley. The prisoner was brought into court supported on either side by a policeman, and seemed unable to move without their assistance. He was a pale, thin man, his eyes were closed and he gave no sign that he realized the situation. He remained in a seeming stupor throughout the proceedings, except when a portion of the skull of the murdered woman was exhibited in evidence. The witnesses examined—F. H. Dunton, the husband of the victim, and Dr. Palmer, who conducted the autopsy. Mr. Dunton told of the prisoner's supposed attempt to poison him, the suspicious actions of Dr. Scudder, the night of the murder, the discovery of the body, and the discovery that his wife had been injured. The testimony of Dr. Palmer was, in effect, that Mrs. Dunton's death, beyond all doubt, was from being poisoned upon the head. The examination will be resumed to-morrow.

THE RIO GRANDE TERRORIZED. Not by Garza's Outlaws, but by Captain Bourke's American Troops. SAN ANTONIO, March 14.—The situation on the Lower Rio Grande is assuming a most serious aspect. Complaints from 80 citizens concerning the alleged unjust action of certain United States troops continue to pour in from all quarters of the turbulent territory, and if these reports are to be believed the whole Mexican population of the Texas frontier are terror-stricken. It is said many of the citizens of that section are anxious to put themselves to the expense of a legal examination rather than undergo the treatment which they allege to have received at the hands of the troops. A number of prominent Mexican ranchmen who have been accused in an indirect manner of being identified with the late Garza revolutionary faction will arrive here this week to learn whether or not any complaint has been made against them by the Federal authorities. Robert Summerlin, who is the legal representative of all the wealthy ranchmen who have so far been arrested, has gone into the matter with a view to making a strong legal fight, and has already preferred some very sensational charges against the military authorities. President Harrison against Captain John G. Bourke. A FLAW IN THE LAW. The Act of New Jersey Legalizing the Reading Deal Probably in Vain. TRENTON, N. J., March 14.—It was discovered to-day that there is probably a grave constitutional omission in the proceedings of the Legislature in passing the bill on the last day of the session legalizing the recent combination of the Reading Railroad deal. Information received in this city to-night is to the effect that counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad at meeting of the officials in Philadelphia stated that the bill is clearly unconstitutional in that notice of the introduction of the bill had not been published in the legal newspaper, and that the bill is clearly of the class of special bills, the passage of which are prohibited. It is expected that Governor Abbott will sign the bill to-morrow, making it a law.

The Avery College Movement. A meeting of the United Ministers' Council, composed of the pastors of the colored Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian Churches of this vicinity, was held in the Wylie Avenue A. M. E. Church to consider the future of the Avery College. This college, for colored boys, was established by the Avery bequest. It was operated for a time and then closed. Recently a reopening has been agitated and the meeting yesterday was to consider this question. The sentiment was entirely in favor of putting the college in operation again, and the Rev. Messrs. R. S. Laws, G. C. Sampson and J. H. Trimble were appointed a committee to make arrangements for a public meeting to agitate the question. STUMBLED OVER THE STATUTES. JOHN FRIEBY, colored, was arrested by Officer Terry last night for stealing a pair of shoes from a store on Wylie ward station. He was locked up in the Eleventh ward station. THOMAS HALL and Anthony Pook were arrested by Officers Welsh and Hanly yesterday afternoon and locked up in the Hazelwood police station for fighting on Sylvan avenue, Twenty-third ward. Both were badly used.

FLAKE KILLER, of Soho, 21 years old, was fished out of the Monongahela river at the foot of Twenty-second street, by Officer Brown. He was almost dead, and at a late hour last night was unable to explain how he got into the water. NETTIE JOHNSTON and Ambrose Bird live on Penn avenue and are bad friends. Last evening Bird forced his way into her house and struck her. The woman picked up a sewing machine and felled him to the floor. She is now in the hospital. They are powerful people. JOSEPH MIDDLEY, of Allegheny, had a hearing last night before Alderman Cahill on a charge of cruelty to his wife and child, preceding the hearing he was arrested. He testified that her husband abused her and the child in a terrible manner. The Alderman fined Middley $10 and costs. B. & B. DEDICATED IN STYLE. Southside Turners Formally Take Possession of Their New Hall. THOUSANDS IN THE PARADE LINE. Bunting and Flags Decorated Practically Every Building. AN ENJOYABLE TIME IN THE EVENING

Cloths of bunting and thousands of flags, decorated with bright ribbons of every conceivable hue, floated from the windows and doorways of nearly every house and store on the Southside all day yesterday. It was a regular gala day for the residents, and throngs of people crowded the principal thoroughfares from early morn until long after midnight. The entire district possessed a holiday appearance. The occasion was the dedication of the new Turner Hall on South Thirteenth street, between Carson and Sarah, which has just recently been completed at a cost of $45,000. The headquarters for the day were at Birmingham hall on Jane street. Magistrate Scoop, acted in the capacity of chief marshal, and as soon as he had discharged his public duties he donned his high silk hat and rushed to headquarters where his time was employed for several hours issuing orders to his assistants and superintending the preliminary arrangements attending the street exercises. Societies from Neighboring Towns. As early as 10 o'clock in the morning the turner societies of the surrounding towns began to arrive. These were escorted by directed to the Birmingham hall. Here they were arranged into line and shortly before 3 o'clock the procession moved. The order of the parade was as follows: Birmingham Turners. Mounted Police. Chief Marshal Scoop, with mounted staff. Five open carriages containing the district officers, speakers and Building Commission. The various societies of visiting Turners from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Virginia. The latter part of the procession was made up entirely of the Southside Turners, which, perhaps, the largest number in the parade. There were nearly 3,000 men in line, and these marched to the lively tunes furnished by seven of the leading bands of the city. The route was from Birmingham Hall to Twenty-eighth street, to Carson to Tenth, to Sarah and hence to the new hall, on Thirteenth street. At 4 o'clock the head of the procession reached the hall and the men filed into the building, after which they proceeded directly to the sports ground, more than one hour. Here already had a large crowd of ladies and children gathered to witness the dedicatory exercises. The men were speedily ushered to their seats, and after a few minutes delay the ceremonies were commenced.

The Delivery of the Keys. The programme began with a choice musical selection rendered by the Germania Band, and upon its completion Mr. Seibert, the contractor, made a short address, in which he said that the building was now completed and he was prepared to deliver the keys over to the society. At this point Mr. Kaiser stepped forward and in behalf of the organization accepted the keys and the contractor, after a few minutes of congratulatory remarks, commencing the work of the contractor. He also said the Southside Turners were pleased with their building and were proud to know that it was ready for occupancy. According to the programme which was arranged by the society, Mayor Conroy was to have been present to make the salutatory address, but at the last moment it was reported that he would be unable to attend, and Prof. John Golden, of the Twenty-ninth ward school, Mayor Conroy's representative, stepped forward to take his place. The latter kindly responded, and interested his listeners with a brief history of the Turners societies in general and the good work they had accomplished in this country since their organization. Following this a number of select singers from the various organizations throughout the city sang the "Star Spangled Banner" in the German language, under the direction of George Pfister, and the music was rendered and heartily enjoyed by everyone present. Some Very Enjoyable Features. The last feature of the programme was the dedicatory address. It was delivered by Mr. Gottfried Ibsen. He held the attention of the people for probably one half hour when the speaker, after a few minutes delay, immediately after the close of the exercises the members of the Southside Turners, together with the large number of invited guests, repaired to the lower floor where refreshments were served. The latter part of the evening was spent in dancing. The ladies by their escorts began arriving in large numbers about this time and at 11 o'clock the hall was crowded with dancers. All present enjoyed themselves hugely, and it was not until daylight that the dancing was finally cleared of its merry gathering.

CHILE'S NEW MINISTRY. WASHINGTON, March 14.—Senator Montt, the Chilean Minister, received a cable message from Santiago to-day announcing the formation of a new Chilean Ministry, as follows: Juan Castellon, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Eduardo Matte, Minister of the Interior; Gaspar Torro, Minister of Justice; Jorge Biesco, Minister of Industry; Augustin Edwards, Minister of Treasury; and Luis Barros, Minister of War. A Blizzard in Kansas. KANSAS CITY, March 14.—The blizzard continues to-night with unabated fierceness. The fall of snow varies in Kansas from 6 to 8 inches on the level, which is proving very troublesome to the railroads. The evening trains for the West are bulletined later from one to four hours, and some of them are posted as "indefinite." THE GAD'S CHARMS. Are Largely Those of the Great Humorist Who Wrote the Play. If you like Bill Nye's humor you may like "The Gad," which was produced at the Duquesne Theater last night, and you may not. It is a singular composition. The lines have more quaint wit in them than any farce comedy dialogue has ever been known to boast. But the chunks of fun, mostly built in that severely earnest style which Bill Nye affects, would certainly look better in print than they sound on the stage. In addition, there is a view of the river bank, with shipping and a section of a great cathedral in the view of Pittsburgh and St. Patrick's Cathedral, either one of which would make the reputation of any play or other literary production. Of the company it can be said that it is on the whole largely above the ordinary. Mr. G. L. G. is a very good actor, and his friend, John Bolton-Lovey, and Augustin Edwards, who plays the character of a street armer, with considerable force. None of the other actors are of any special note, but they give the actors a chance to define them excepting that of Mollie McCre, a good actress, who plays the character of the "blood and thunder" Bowery waster. He is woefully out of place. The more legitimate stage is in the need of actors as clever as he is. "The Struggle of Life" is the old story of a man who is wronged and wronged. How, after long years, the wronged man returns home to find time home to clear his name and honor and to have returned through many trials and tribulations of varying success and failure, the hero makes his way until, as usual, final and most severe trials are met. The situations are quite good and as they are set in a framework of really remarkable scenery, they would be well seen by that splendid view of New York Harbor and Liberty Light at night, in the second act. The "Struggle of Life" would be well worth seeing. It is unquestionably one of the finest bits of stage acting ever placed on the stage. In addition, there is a view of the river bank, with shipping and a section of a great cathedral in the view of Pittsburgh and St. Patrick's Cathedral, either one of which would make the reputation of any play or other literary production.

THE FIRE RECORD. At Charleston, S. C., the State Military School was damaged $30,000, insured. At Jersey Shore, Pa., the Odd Fellows' block and two dwelling houses owned by J. F. Lambert, lost over $10,000. The fire was caused by a defective fuse. A CHIMNEY fire occurred yesterday afternoon at 51 Enoch street, in a house occupied by F. McKeen. An alarm was sent in from box 312. There was no damage. At Joplin, Mo., the mills and elevator of the Serpent Milling Company, the finest plant in the South-west, was destroyed by fire. Loss, $25,000. Origin unknown. At Clarksville, Ark., sparks from a passing engine set fire to the platform of the depot on the Fort Smith Railroad and 143 boxes of cotton burned. Loss, $50,000; partly insured. ENGINE COMPANY No. 4 answered a still alarm at noon yesterday for a slight fire in the storeroom of Thomas Trawanow, at the corner of Elm street and Wylie avenue. Damage slight. ABOUT 8:45 o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was sent in from box 312. It was a fire in the corner of the head of the stock belonging to S. B. Robinson. The fire originated from a spark from a threshing machine. Loss, $5,000; fully insured.

MISS HELYETT'S BOW. An Amusing Play From Paris With Clever Actors in the Cast.—The Cad! Fall of Bill Nye's—Pauling's—New Melodrama Staged With Beautiful Scenery—All the Plays in Town Criticized.

The operatic comedy "Miss Helyett," adapted from the French of M. Boucherey by David Belasco, the music being by Edmond Audran, was given its first performance in Pittsburgh at the Alvin Theater last night. It is a peculiar piece, neither comic opera nor comedy, and perhaps it may be better likened to an American farce comedy translated for the Parisian stage and then adapted for ours. The proceedings are humorous, but taken on an unlikable Gallic flavor and a plot of some amusing complications has crystallized. As to the motive, there is no denying that it is suggestive, but the offensiveness of the suggestion largely depends upon the simple fact that the audience, that fell down a mountain side, landed upon a profane and vulgar scene, and her soul were thus perturbed was re-acted by an artist, of whose identity she must marry her savior, and the story of the play is an attempt to find the "Man of the Mountain." She is a young woman, who happens to be the one she loves. In the original French the suggestion of naughtiness was probably broader.

The Musical Part of the Play. The play as it was done at the Alvin last night was chiefly amusing because of the actors' cleverness. The music was rendered cruelly. The orchestra did not appear to understand the score, and could not always agree with the singers as to the choice of key—both the blame is hard to assign. Mark Sullivan, the one comic actor, played the artist here with lots of spirit, and his duet with Miss Helyett, which was the best number in the piece. The final duet with Helyett, in which the artist and his lover were joined in a duet, was very pretty. His other numbers were in which the orchestra, M. A. Kennedy, a comedian, who is a very good actor, and who hardly has a chance to show his powers as the funny Englishman who makes love like a dog, and his own comic, who is a very good actor. The moralizing Quaker, who quotes funny proverbs at every turn, and cloaks his own character in a very old-fashioned figure on the burlesque stage, yet as Mr. Harwood plays the character it has a very good effect. The artist's own character will be on everyone's tongue before the week's out. The artist's own character will be on everyone's tongue before the week's out. The artist's own character will be on everyone's tongue before the week's out.

PAULING'S NEW PLAY. The Scenery Is the Redemptive Feature of the Struggle of Life. It is a good thing for that talented and very capable actor Frederick Pauling that the programmes issued in connection with the performance of "The Struggle of Life" announced him as a Shakespearean player. We know from that announcement that he has some real tangible excuse for being on the stage. But it would be still better for Mr. Pauling if he were to be a better actor. The "Struggle of Life" is a play in which he claims a place. In that he is destined to achieve a fair if not surpassing measure of success, while in melodrama and in the other plays which he has played, he has not achieved such a success. THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC. While the "Rose Hill English Folly Company" may not be the best that has been at the Academy of Music, there are certainly a lot of entertaining performers. The patrons of the Academy have had a good supply of the Folly company kind of entertainment lately, but the crowd's house last evening did not at all get wearied at the performance. The bard, "Judge and Councillor," is not a bad piece of work, and the comedy, "The Man of the Mountain," is a very good piece of work. The comedy, "The Man of the Mountain," is a very good piece of work. The comedy, "The Man of the Mountain," is a very good piece of work.

THE HARRIS THEATER. W. H. Power's pretty romantic Irish drama, "The Ivy Leaf," holds the boards at this house the present week. It is being produced with a good cast, and the same scenery as upon its former visits to Pittsburgh at other theaters where highly priced seats prevailed. Smith and the theater, Frank E. McKim, who is a very good actor, and who hardly has a chance to show his powers as the funny Englishman who makes love like a dog, and his own comic, who is a very good actor. The moralizing Quaker, who quotes funny proverbs at every turn, and cloaks his own character in a very old-fashioned figure on the burlesque stage, yet as Mr. Harwood plays the character it has a very good effect. The artist's own character will be on everyone's tongue before the week's out.

UNWRITTEN HAROVER HISTORY. Some of the Negotiations Which Led Up to the Recent Settlement. VIENNA, March 14.—The Freundenblatt says it is authorized to state that the settlement of the negotiations for a settlement of the English fund, the Duke of Cumberland declined the offers of the Russian, English and Danish courts to intervene in his behalf, on the ground that as a German Prince he was unable to avail himself of foreign intervention. The Freundenblatt further says that Queen Victoria, an executrix of and a legatee under the will of the late King George III. of Hanover, tried to obtain for the Duke of Cumberland the payment of the interest on the fund. Prince Bismarck refused to allow the interest to be paid. In January last Baron Hammerstein, acting under instructions from Chancellor von Capri, arrived at Gmunden, where the Duke resides, with the object of negotiating with him concerning the fund. The settlement effected was rendered possible by the Government's consent to the Duke's acceding to the throne of Brunswick. There has been no question, the Freundenblatt adds, of the Duke renouncing the succession in favor of his son.

CONSTANTINOPLE POLICE CAPTURE TWO SUSPECTS WHO WERE HIDING. CONSTANTINOPLE, March 14.—The police claim the discovery of a plot to assassinate the Sultan, Abdul Hamid II. Yesterday they captured two men who are believed to have been selected by the conspirators to carry out their designs. Information came to the ears of the authorities that if a close watch was kept upon the Yildiz kiosk the men who sought to compass the death of the Sultan might be discovered. A number of policemen made a search of the building, and in a short time discovered two men. LOOKS LIKE A NATIVE VICTORY. Africans Attack a British Fort and Capture it.—Seven-Pound Gun. MOZAMBIQUE, March 14.—The representative here of the British African Lakes Company has received news of a native attack upon Fort Johnson, in which Officers King and Watson and six soldiers were wounded. Two Sikhs and two Zanzibaris were killed. Seven-pound gun was captured by the natives. Trade in the vicinity of Fort Johnson is paralyzed. The enemy's loss is unknown. Victorious Rebels in Panang. LONDON, March 14.—Advices received here from Singapore show that the rebels in Panang have again assumed the offensive. The rebels were recently reported as being gradually hemmed in by a superior force. It seems, however, that the rebels have failed, for the Orange River, the leader of the rebels, has captured the station at Lubokruk which was defended by a few of the Sultan of Panang's Malay soldiers. A number of rifles fell into the hands of the rebels. One European was captured, but he was subsequently released.

AN OPEN SECRET. "It is no secret at all." The speaker was a lady noted for the wonderful preservation of her health and beauty. She had been asked in a circle of friends how she maintained her dazzling complexion and good health. "A perfect complexion and good health in women," she said, "depend upon two things—strong nerves and a good stomach. Most women are excessively nervous, weak and languid, and as a result their complexion is sallow and their faces pinched, drawn and wrinkled. Few women have perfect digestion. Now obviously, if women wish sound health and good complexion, they must get their nerves strong and their digestion good. The best thing in the world to do this is Dr. Greene's Nervura, for it is a wonderful strengthener of weak nerves and gives a vigorous appetite and perfect digestion. It is the best Spring Tonic and Invigorator, and everybody needs a Spring medicine. Besides, it is a vegetable remedy, pure and harmless."

Dr. Greene's Nervura is a wonderful remedy for nervous prostration, and those who are afflicted with it should make life a burden, almost too great to bear. I feel that I cannot say enough in its praise for what it has done for me. It gives me the most restful sleep and in fact does all and more than all I claim to do. I wish every poor, tired woman on the face of the earth could be induced to try it for three days; they would then understand its value, and life would not seem so wearisome and unendurable. E. J. HAVEN, 41 Rogers st., Webster, Mass.

Dr. Greene, the successful specialist, in curing all kinds of nervous and chronic diseases, 25 W. 14th Street, New York, can be consulted free, personally or by letter. Call or write to him about your case or send for symptom blank to fill out, and a letter fully explaining your disease, giving advice, &c., will be returned free.
