Claim as Their Victim a Bright Young Attorney of Warren, Pa.

WM. G. TRUNKEY'S SAD SUICIDE.

Before His Mania He Intended to Join a Keeley Institute.

NEWSY NOTES FROM THE THREE STATES

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. Youngstown, March 16.-William Garrison Trunkey, a leading attorney of Warren, Pa., and son of a leading jurist of Pennsylvania, committed suicide here this morning by hanging. He came here ten days ago, suffering from a protracted debauch, and was placed under the care of physicians, who gave him Turkish baths, and he was recovering rapidly.

This morning he eluded an attendant, and when found he was hanging near the bathrooms with life extinct.

The deceased was 37 years old and leaves a wife, daughter of Robert Cochran, of Franklin, Pa. Yesterday he telegraphed relatives he was recovering from the grip and would return home in a day or two. Trunkey was a prominent Mason, and the Knights Templar here will escort his remains to Franklin, Pa., to-morrow for interment. Yesterday he said:

"If I get through this all right I intend going to an institution where they will take the appetite for liquor away." The condition in which the body was found indicated that Trunkey had deliberately premeditated the act, and was willing to undergo the torture of a slow strangulation. A slender clothesline, on which towels were hung to dry, ran along the cortoweis were hung to dry, ran along the cor-ridor of the bathrooms, fastened to a small waterpipe. Seizing the loose end, he tormed a slip noose, thrust his head into it, and the weight of his body pressing the cord on the neck caused death. His feet were on the floor, and he could easily have released himself had he desired to do so.

The Victim Well Provided For. His clothing was of the finest texture, hi under garments of silk, and the jewelry he were indicated that, aside from his love for liquor, he was a man of refined tastes. He was well provided with funds, carried numerous railroad passes, and in his satchel was found a large photo of his father, Judge Trunkey. It is probable that upon awaken-ing, he was seized with a suicidal mania, and seeing no one near, slipped into the corridor and committed the act of self-destruction.

It was learned to-night that he left home two weeks ago to go to Mercer, Pa., and it is probable that from there he came here, as he arrived at the Tod House Saturday morning, March 5, and was then suffering from a debattch.

A special telegram to The Disparch from Warren, Pa., says: About two weeks ago W. G. Trunkey, who was administrator of his grandmother's estate in Mercer county, went to the latter place on business of the estate. Last Saturday J. H. Donly, his law partner, received a telegram from Mercer, stating that Trunkey was ill with the grip. Mrs. Trunkey wired she would go to him, and the next day Donley received this telegram, dated Youngstown. "I am down with the grip. Doctors think I will be out in two days." Nothing further was heard from him until the notice of his death.

Pleasant Family and Social Relations.

Pleasant Family and Social Relations. Last fall he had a severe attack of the grip, from which he had never fully recovered His home life was happy, and he had a fine business. He was in good circumstances, was a bright lawyer and stood very high at was a bright lawyer and stood very high at the bar, and was a social favorite. There is no known cause advanced here for the sulcide, except sufferings from the grip.

Mr. Trunkey was born in Franklin in 1835, being the only child of Judge Trunkey, and at the age of 21 he studied law with Judge Heydrick, coming to Warren in 1882. He was a member of the leading law firm of Freeman & Trunkey until last year, when he went in with J. H. Donley. In 1877 he married Miss Mary Cochran, daughter of the banker, Robert Cochran, of Franklin. He was a leading member of the Presby-He was a leading member of the Presby-terian church and its treasurer, his char-neter being above reproach. He was promi-nent in Democratic politics, being for a long time Chairman of the County Committee, and at the last election was mentioned for Judge of this district. He was also attorney for the Western New York and Pennsyl-vania millroad.

Mrs. Trunkey is overwhelmed with grief, and to-day went to Franklin, where the body will be sent, and where the interment will take place.

A Criminal Case From Freeport-Some Li

cense Applicants Enocked Out. KITTANNING, PA., March 16.—[Special.]—The case of the Commonwealth vorsus Luther Fry. of Leechburg, charged with a criminal offense, has been occupying the attention of the court here for the past three days. The crime occurred last December at Freeport. Fry is a handsome and very engaging man of about 37 years, lived near Mrs. Elizabeth of about 37 years, lived near Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, a widow at Leechburg, and frequently called on her. In December Mrs. Fry took sick and was taken to the home of Dr. W. L. Morrow, at Freeport, Fry taking the same train. While she was at the physician's office he called once to see her, but shortly after she was taken away and died. Both Fry and Dr. Morrow were arrested and gave bail. At Fry's trial here the Commonwealth made a strong case against him, and his defense was heard this afternoon. His defense was insanity. His only witness was Dr. Hileman, who testified that he thought Fry of unsound mind. Attorney J. H. Anderson made the closing address for the defense, while M. F. Leason, Esq., argued for the Commonwealth. The case is in the hands of the jury.

week day that this city has been without her saloons open since the memorable time shortly after the flood when Judge Johnston shortly after the flood when Judge Johnston issued an order closing them because of the disorderly element that flocked here then. None of the saloons had made any preparations for closing until late last evening, believing that Judge Baker would grant them an extension until licenses were granted. As a result there was some tall hustling last night, every drinker wishing to lay in a good supply of the bottled beverage.

All day the regulars who had failed to lay in a supply, wandered up and down street looking in vain for some place that might by the open. To night it is noticed that the drugstores are doing an enormous business, either attributable to the closing of saloons or the epidemic of grip. Saloonkeepers are indignant and say they have not been treated right.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. CHICAGO, March 16 .- Of course, there is plenty of talk here about the Sullivan and Corbett battle, as proposed. Everybody thinks Sullivan will kill Corbett or come near it. A reporter saw the big fellow last evening, and he said, after reading a tele-

"Well, I'm very glad of it. It is just like my going out on the street and picking up the money the match is made for. Corbett is a clever, shifty young boxer that cannot punch a hole in a tub of butter. I sparred with him in San Francisco and know what his speed is. He won't stand the punching I will give him. Where He Will Train.

"Just where I will train or who will train me I cannot say as yet. Johnston may have a place for me to train, and if he has I will go there, as I am entirely in his hands. As to the place of battle, New Orleans will suit me all right. I see Corbett does not want to fight in San Francisco, and I would rather fight betore the Olympic Club, of New Orleans. One is surer of his money there than in San Francisco.

"As to the man to train me, that does not matter much. Muldoon could not do the work, as he and I could never hitch up together. Then poor Mike Cleary's foot is gone and he couldn't do the walking with me. A faithful fellow is Mike Cleary. What I want is some big strong tellow that can stand the work of rubbing me down and taking care of me in my work. When I start to train this time there will be no foolishness. I never felt better or stronger in my life, and the work of training will be a pleasure to me. If Johnston has se-lected a place for me to train, I hope it will be away from all reach of crowds, where I can do the work without interference. I will show those people who have been saying I could not get into condition how wrong they are. He Wants to Fight Fitzsimmons, Hell of Joe Choynski. Ed Smith-"Denver" Smith, as he is called is in the city, and he will stay here for a short time. He has just come from Canada, where he left Mitchell and Slavin. He also did some "knocking" out in Canada. During a conversation Smith said: "I am not here to bluff, but I am still anxious for a go with Fitzsimmons. He told me in Pitts-burg when I met him here that he didn't want to fight heavy-weights, but he met and fought Maher since then. I will weigh less than Maher did. If Fitzsimmons still holds off, I'm ready to fight Jim Hall or Choynski. There is money here to back me, and if any of these people want to fight let them put up. I am as confident of beating Fitzsimmons as I am of the fact that I am alive. I make this statement because I know that none of the men I've mentioned are any better than I am."

in reference to the "bleachers" at Exposition Park. I heartly indorse the con tions that have appeared in THE DISPATOR, and there is no need on my part to add any and there is no need on my part to add any more to it, only to show the stockholders of the local club that their patrons are numerous. If they take pains to inquire into this matter they would soon discover that the majority of their patrons demand a reduction of the present price, and it must not be done by placing sun-beating bleachers in center field; 25c is sufficient for a rosat or a shower bath, beside a little bad ball playing at times, and this is the only reason of such a general kick among the patrons of the game. Permit me to register kick No. 3 against the management of the local club erecting 25-cent "bleachers" in center field.
