All the Gossip About the Minor and Big Baseball Leagues.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 SEATTLE, March 19. - The case of Pitcher Camp, a reserved player of the Scattle club, who was signed by the Pittsburg National League Club, will in all probability be taken into the courts, as the League has practically announced its intention not to interfere. The matter has been placed in the hands of an attorney who will, if investigation warrants it, bring suit for breach of contract, to recover the $1,000 paid by the Pacific Northwest League last season to the Board of Control for protection under the national agreement, to which the National was one of the principal This action was determined upon by the receipt yesterday of a letter by W. E. Rockwell, President of the Pacific Northwest League, from N. E. Young, President of the National League, and a member of the new national board which looks after the enforcement of the provisions of the new agreement adonted at the League meeting held in New York on Mr. Rockwell wrote Mr. Young several weeks ago fully about Camp's case and received a brief reply stating that it could not be laid before the Board of Con-een established to take the place of the old Beard of Control, and Mr. Young was chosen as one of the three members. Appreciates the Good Work, trol because there was no such body. Mr. Rockwell wrote again reminding the League

President of the rights that the minor asse cintions were entitled to by paying their as sessments under the terms of the national agreement. Since then a "National Board Professional Baseball Associations" has

President Rockwell says that he appreciates the good work done at the Indianapolis meeting in patching up peace between the two warring major leagues, but, like many others, cannot understand why the rights of reservation of minor leagues should be taken from them without even notification at the time or since, until recently. The long and honorable service in baseball of Young and others associated with him in the Indianapolis treaty, entitle them to a great deal of consideration and respect and yet at the same time to a man up a tree it looks as if they had, at the time they were arranging the differences between the leagues, been guilty of a serious oversight in failing to make any provisions concerning the rights and duties of minor leagues which they professed a desire to

After allowing the matter to run along until complaints and disputes from the lesser organizations forced it upon their notice, the powers that be suddenly remember at this late hour that there was some provision made. John F. Brush, President of the Cincinnati club, at the recent New York meeting pointed out that at the Indianapolis meeting reservation privileges, not only of the League and Asder the national agreement, were wiped out, and that the powers of a committee on players were by resolution enlarged so include within its scope everything pertaining to the players, and gave it absolute control over all ball players of what-solver degree and position. While this action probably was taken, and might have been intended to include minor league players, there was never any notification given to the officials of such organizations, either directly or through the press, that the right of reservation was taken away.

The Grounds for Action.

The Pacific Northwest League proposes to base its ground of action on the fact that it complied with all of its obligations under its contract for protection, while the other parties failed to fulfill theirs. In accordon with the terms of the national agree ment $1,000 was forwarded to the Board o Control of April 9, 1891, as the considera for protection, which included the right of reserving players for one year from that date. On October 9, as required by the agreement, a list of players reserved by the Pacific Northwest League was sent One of the players on Seattle's reserve list was Winfield Scott Camp, whom Pitts my signed without the least notice to Seattle of its intention. The offense is more ag-gravating because after the Pacific Northwest League had paid for protection during 1890 and 1891 a number of its players were stolen by the California League, and now there promises to be a repetition of last season's piracy.

The course taken by the League in the Camp matter would seem to mean that the minor Leagues will go to fighting for play-ers as they did last year, and none will en-joy protection. Already a California club has signed Jack Fanning, reserved by Ta-coma, and it is not unlikely that the Pacific Northwest clubs will adopt retaliatory measures. Again, there is apt to be trouble over the fact that President Williams, of the Western League, has issued a bulletin of players signed, or whose terms have been accepted, several of whom are either signed or reserved by Pacific Northwest League clubs, and are expected to come here. President Young, if reports are true, cerinly seems open to criticism in his action in Fanning's case.

GLASSCOCK IN ST. DOUIS.

He Thinks the Browns Are a Good Team and Will Do Well.

Sr. Louis, March 19.-[Special]-Captain Jack Glasscook, who will pilot the St. Louis Browns during the season of 1892, arrived in the city yesterday, looking better than he ever did in his long and successful service on the diamond. "I have been spending the past winter at home in Wheeling," said he to a reporter who saw him at Sportsman's Park, "and I feel first-rate after two months' regular practice in gymnasium work. I am reduced considerably to my former weight, and am considerably to my former weight, and am ready to jump in to play at any moment."

"What do you think of the Browns?"
"The team selected is a good one. It is well balanced, has good pitching material, and in the general departments of the game, in hitting, fielding and base-running, it is strong. I think we can soon get down to work, and if the weather will only moderate we will be in shape to prepare for our big season's work." "What do you think of the prospects for the season?"

"They're great. It ought to be the greatest year for baseball on record. The two leading organizations are now one, and St. Louis will see all the leading attractions in the business this year. Then, again, making two championship races will tend to stimulate the rivalry and make matters all the more interesting all along the line."

DEADWOOD, S. D., March 19.-Dick Hollywood and Joe Mainette, two local light weights, fought in an alley in this city yesterday for a purse of $100. The fight was with bare knuckles. After 20 brutal rounds Hallywood was declared the victor and awarded the purse. Both men received severe punishment.

Dwyer for Stakeholder. New York, March 19 .- Philip Dwyer, the millionaire turf man, will be selected as final stakeholder in the Sullivan-Corbett match. A proposition to hold the $20,000 was made to him yesterday. Wakely selected him, Dwyer known to be willing ome of the Active Gun Experts Organize a New Club.

The Sportsmen's Gun Club, of Wilkinsburg, is the name of an organization that was formed last Wednesday evening at the office of L. A. Raisig & Co., Penn avenue, Wilkinsship of 25, of whom nine were formerly mem bers of the Wilkinsburg Gan Club. In fact, it is not likely that the new club would have great deal of dissatisfaction with the old one.

The nine seceders from that organization were the prime movers in the formation of the Sportsmen's, and as they are all active sportsmen it is likely that the new club will set the pace for some good shooting in the vicinity of Wilkinsburg. As soon as arrangements are perfected the club will look after a site and erect a clubbonse that is expected to be the most perfectly appointed establishment of its kind east of East Liberty. Wilkinsburg has a number of splendid marksmen who have always made a good record hitherto, and it is assumed that the competition between the two clubs of Wilkinsburg will awaken a livelier interest in sharpshooting than has existed since the borough was incorporated. Following is a list of the officers of the "Sportsmen's Gun Club of Wilkinsburg": President, Robert Anderson: Financial Secretary, A. A. Jack; Treasurer, V. B. McCarty: Trustees, James Doran, Ralph Lovett, James Jack, J. B. Sawyer and A. A. Jack.

THERE'S NOTHING WRONG.

Ed Richter Points Out That the Big League

Is All Right. The Sporting Life has the following to say this week regarding the new League: A few baseball writers, who have profited in adding fuel to the flames of dissension are endeavoring to make readers that there is trouble in the present League This is untrue. There are oninion, but so there were in the rich and prosperous days of 1889. Clubs in the stronger cities have been led to give their consent to more liberal legislation matter of a division of finances, and, in spite of the fact that such a law is in effect, both Mr. John B. Day, of New York, and Mr. William Conant, of Boston, are opposed to it. Had such a measure been on the books five years ano there never would have been a Brotherhood League. It was the constant squeezing of the smaller clubs and their in-ability to compete with the larger in the squeezing of the smaller clubs and their inability to compete with the larger in the matter of signing players that led to the disastrons war. At the same time the little ones were pleaded with to hang on in order to fill out the circuit.

As liberal as John B. Day has always been with his players, he has been extremely filliberal in his views on League legislation, and has apparently been imbued with the idea that the success and necessities of New York were paramount to any other matters York were paramount to any other matters of business connected with baseball. This failing, nowever, is perfectly natural, as the average resident of New York City lives in an atmosphere of self-consciousness, strong ly charged with the idea that if New York should be swallowed up in the night by some tremendous convulsion of nature the re-mainder of the United States would filter through the crack before morning.

THE VETERAN'S TALK

He Says Something About Future Battles and Their Prospects.

A veteran of the prize ring, who fre quently calls at this office, and whose oninions are always worthy of attention, looked in last evening and said: "Now do not let anybody think that Sullivan and Corbett won't fight. Corbett will have to fight. He will be a winner if he makes a draw, and should be win he will obtain a fortune. Now anybody who knows anything about fighting must know that snything, about fighting must know that Corbett is wishing to make a draw of it. If Corbett can keep all right for six rounds I fear John L's chances will be small. Corbett is not a fighter. He knows, or at least he feels sure, that Sullivan is worse to-day than he ever was, and he thinks he will chase John out of it. He may do that. It is too far off yet to make any predictions. "But I will say this: Sullivan would sooner meet Corbett than Mitchell, and the latter would sooner meet Sullivan than Fitz."

There is a report current to the effect that there is trouble in the club. The report is fulse, and has had its origination in the fact that some of the Executive Committeemen were replaced at the last meeting. These gentlemen who were replaced could not attend the inectings regularly.

It is likely that Mr. J. J. Kelly, or Chicago, will be referee for the big match, as the Frankfort team of Philadelphia have not been heard from. Mr. Kelly writes here stating that he is quite willing to referee the contest. He is an able and honest man. The New Castle team will be written on the matter to-morrow.

BALDWIN'S REQUEST.

The Local Pitcher Does Not Want to Repor Until April 12,

President Temple yesterday received a letter from Mark Baldwin. The latter requests that he be allowed to not report for duty until April 12, at Cincinnati. The pitcher in his letter stated he made this request on the advice of his physician, as his arm was not as strong as it might be.

President Temple replied to Mark to the effect that he must report here on March 30, the same as other players. Mr. Temple pointed out that he could not make difference among the players and all must report ailke as lar as time was concerned.

STILL AFTER HALL

Ed Smith Says a Few Words About the Big Australian,

Ed Smith, of Denver, left the following statement at this office last evening: "As Fitzsimmons declines to fight Jim Hall, and as the latter cannot get on a match, I am willing to fight him to a finish. Oncens berry rules, before any club that will put up a reasonable purse. I will make an outside a reasonable purse. I will make an outside bet and the winner can take everything. I will fight Hall at his own weight.

"I trust this offer is piain and fair enough. Hall has done nothing in this country yet, and if he beats me he then can tell people he is a fighter. If he does not agree to fight I will think it is because he wants an easier task."

Oxford and Cambridge Crews.

IBY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH. ! LONDON, March 19.-[Copyright.]-The Ox-ford and Cambridge crews make their appearance at Putney on Monday for their three weeks' training previous to the race. The Oxford men row well together at this stage, and the boat seems full of workers, stage, and the boat seems full of workers, but as they have not yet attempted a racing stroke it is early to say what their canabilities are. The Cambridge men, who have been at Cookaham for some days, created some disappointment at the outset, splashing occasionally and failing to row their stroke well out. They have, however, improved immensely during the past week, and may, after all, turn out a good crew.

Lewis and King.

CHICAGO, March 19 .- [Special.]-Evan Lewis and John King, the principals in next Monday night's wrestling match which is to take place in Battery D, have nearly completed preparations. The event promises to be a memorable one, more especially as it will be the first five-style match between first-class men that has ever taken place in Chicago.
Advices say that both men will be in the very best possible condition and are each confident of victory. King will, it is expected, be the heavier by about 15 pounds. A referee will be mutually agreed upon tomorrow night.

Burge Makes an Offer.

LONDON, March 19.-Dick Burge, of New castle, lightweight champion, will fight Jack McAuliffe, the American lightweight champion, or Billy Myer, at 9 stone 6 pounds, for £500 and the largest purse offered, and the lightweight championship of the world. The fight to take at the National Club, London. A deposit in Police Gazette, New York, or Sporting Life, London. will be covered. Burge is the pugilist who defeated Jemmy Carney.

CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

greed Upon by College Representatives to Report to the Association New York, March 19.—[Special.]—Walter Camp, Alexander Monatt, of Princeton John Bell, of the University of Pennsyl vania, and Frank D. Beatty, composing the Advisory Board of the Inter-College ball Association met at the Fifth Avenu Hotel to-night and agreed on some proposed changes in the football rules. The first sug gestion was a change in the rule relating t punt out, which provides, in effect, that if the catcher muffs the ball from punt out he shall be made to try again, and if he fails a second time, the ball soes to the opponent at the middle of the field.

at the middle of the field.

A second proposed change provides that when a try atgoal is made and a miss results, the ball shall go to middle of the field, the same as though the goal had been kicked. The third and last suggestion relates to coaching, and provides that any man found coaching either team shall be warned for the first offense and for the second sent outside the ropes. These suggestions will be submitted to the association at its meeting the first Saturday in May.

VON DER AHE IS VERY FIRM.

He Insists on Stricker and Brodie Signing With St. Louis.

Sr. Louis, March 19.—[Special.]—Chris Von der Ahe is having some trouble in getting Cub Stricker and Walter Brodie, of Boston to sign. Both of these men were assigned to St. Louis by the Distribution Committee, but so far Von der Ahe has been unable to but so far Von der Ahe has been unable to come to terms with them. He said to-day:
"Both of these men will play in this city or retire from the business. I want to go on record as saying so, too. I also wish you to state that all this talk about me endeavoring to trade Stricker off for a pitcher or any other player, or sell him for a cash consideration is bosh. Stricker will as I said before, play here or nowhere. However, he will have to come to our terms. o our terms. THERE are some California critics who are unfriendly to Jim Corbett. The 'Frisco Post says of his mill with 'Black Feter:' 'Corbett was not whipped in that fight, but was far from having his men done. Jackson was in better condition by far than Corbett was at the close. The only thing the matter with him was that his left ankle was terribly swollen from the fall from a buggy he sustained three weeks before. The colored man could not advance to fight, and had to stand still and wait for Corbett, who would not take chances on close fighting.'

Ives Beats Schaefer at Chicago and Must Now Meet Slosson.

DETAILS OF LAST NIGHT'S GAME

At the End of the First Hour the Players Were a Point Apart.

THE WINNER NERVOUS AT THE START CHICAGO, March 19.—That billiard match

co-night at the Central Music Hall was in many respects one of the most interesting ever played in this country. Jacob Schaefer, the world's champion billiardist, and Frank C. Ives, were the contestants in the game which was for 890 points, 14-inch balk line. The contest was for the world's championship, carrying with it the hand-some Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company's silver trophy, $1,000 a side and the gat ceipts. Henry Rhines was referee, and Charles Mathews marker.

The game was made the more interesting from the fact that the winner will, before h can hold the title of world's champion, have to again win it from George F. Slosson, the latter having already issued his challenge and posted his forfeit for a game to be played within 60 days.

To-night's game began at 8:26. Ives won the bank for first shot, and scored nothing.

the bank for first shot, and scored nothing. At the outset Ives was quite nervous, and carefully, almost anxiously, watched each one of Schaefer's 45 points secured during the first inning. Schaefer in contrast to his opponent was collected and allowed a slight sarcastic smile to pass over his features as some well played shot was vociferously applauded.

In the second iming Ives regained his nerve, and from that time to the finish the game was carefully played, each shot, especally on Ives' part, being well studied. That the good wishes of the audience of nearly 2,000 people were with Ives was made evident in the third inning when a chorus of sympathetic Ahs" and sighs greeted the announcement that Ives had fouled on his sixty-ninth point.

FRED MILLEY'S VICTIM IS DEAD. He Has Another Wife and Family Living at Philadelphia.

The final act in the Southside tragedy was enacted yesterday afternoon at 4:30, when Mrs. Rosa Milley died at the Southside Hospital. The woman had rallied all the previous night and the greater portion of yesterday afternoon, but toward the middle of the but toward the middle of the day she began to sink and it was evident she had but a few hours to live. She was conscious, however, and when told she could not live long she said she wanted to make a will. Alderman Bleichner was sent for, and after taking her deposition, which has already been published, he wrote her will. It is a very brief document, appointing her son-in-law, James W. Miller, her executor and guardian of her children, to whom she bequeaths what little property executor and guardian of her children, to whom she bequeaths what little property and personal effects she had.

A sensational story was started on the Southside last night to the effect that Millev was never married to the woman he killed. This, however, is denied, but a Philadelphia telegram to Roger O'Mara says Milley had a wife and family living in Philadelphia, and that he had never procured a divorce. An inquest was held in Milley's case yesterday and the fact established that jealousy had caused the crime.

"I have come here without an attorney." Schweisthal said: then added, brokenly, "I have no money to hire a lawyer."

After that sobs stifled his voice, and he turned from the group that surrounded him. Mr. Schweisthal's friends hurried him away from the court before the scene grew more painful. A continuance was agreed to.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription builds up and strengthens the system, and regulates and promotes every proper function. It's a generous, supporting tonic, and a quieting, soothing nervine—a legitimate medicine, not a heavener from alcohol and quieting, soothing nervine—a legitimate medfeine, not a beverage, free from alcohol and injurious drugs. It corrects and cures, saicly and surely, all those delicate derangements and weaknesses peculiar to the sex.

A remedy that does cure is one that can be guaranteed. That's what the proprietors of "Favorite Prescription" think. If it doesn't give satisfaction, in every case for which it's recommended, th /'ll refund the money. No other medicine for women is sold on such
