John Newell Formally Opens His New Cafe and Hotel With a Dinner to Over Three Hundred Guests-Mayor Gourley Presides and Makes an Address of Welcome. With a banquet bewildering in its arrangements and magnificent in its preparation, John Newell last night formally opened the case of which he proposes to make the finest European hotel between New York and Chicago. The banquet was given to the press of Pittsburg, but in the gathering of about 300 people all the professions and prominent business enterprises of the two cities were represented. The banker, the millionaire basiness man, the lawyer, the politician, the city authority, the editor, the reporter and the printer touched elbows over the gorgeous spread, and for two hours they are, drank and made merry over a bill of fare that was fairly crowded with delicacies rare

BAYARD IS TO MEET CLEVELAND To Talk Over the Political Prospects and

Future Possibilities. POLITICS IN STATE AND NATION

"SPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH." BOSTON, March 25.-Governor Russell, who has once withdrawn from the Presidental race in favor of Mr. Cleveland, but who, next to Cleveland, will have the support of the better element in the Democratic party if it is necessary to trot out the "dark" horses, made a carefully prepared statement to-day as to the Presidental outlook on the Democratic side, in which he manly way places him in a proper attitude sefore the country and his party, and that his position—that a Presidental nomination is neither to be sought not declined—is right and proper. The strength of a leader in national contest rests on the spontan recognition by his party that he is one who represents its principles, its progress and its highest aspirations. Such recognition foes not require personal effort to force the opinion and choice of the party. A strong national leader need not importunparty: of its own accord it will turn to him cause it wants him, and because he is first in the confidence and support of the great masses of its loyal members who are dethe triumph of principle and the inauguration of a declared policy. Where Grover's Strength Lies. This I believe is Cleveland's strength. B courage, ability and patriotism he has wor the confidence and affection of the people With firm adherence to Democratic prin ciples and with great political sagacity b fearlessly urged an aggressive policy of reduction of tariff taxation; his course united be Democratic party upon that question nto an enthusiastic, resistless fighting orce, and has won for it unprecedented vi tories in every section of the country.

It is such a policy and such leadership which have for two years won over Massa chusetts, the former stronghold of Repub chusetts, the former stronghold of Republicanism and protection, and given to the Democracy victories that can easily be made permanent or can easily be thrown away. Since 1888 our fight for tariff reform, for reduction of the unjust burdens of taxation and for a change in the policy which enaces legislation for the benefit of the few at the repense of the many has been successful at the polis, but its purpose has not been accomplished because of a Republican Senare and Executive.

of Executive.
Thus year we have an opportunity not only continue our victories, but to make them ore than ever, and to have the will of the onle at last enacted into law. The exper copie at his canaded into law. The experi-nce of the past few years conclusively hows that upon this line a united and ggressive party will fight to almost certain ictory. Our past successes and our pledges to the country clearly mark this out as the ne of battle for '92.

New Issues Not Wanted. I do not understand the wisdom of the solicy which would suggest leaving this outh to wander divided into unknown fields and to meet new obstacles or which would put aside the man whom the situation dis finctly marks as our leader. As I believe that tariff reform is, and ought to be the great issue, it seems to me to be very impor-tant to emphasize it, not only by our party legislation and our platform, but distinctly by our candidate. This is the importance of Clevelaud's momination. While we have many leaders who are equally devoted to tariff reform, his nomination would be the emphatic declaration and pledge of our party to the country that our lattile for this cause is to be fought to the end, and a victory will bring relief from taxation which the people lave imperatively demanded.

With record to his our candidate Com-

With regard to his own candidacy Governor Russell said: I appreciate greatly the compliment of such mention, but as I most earnestly believe in Cleveland's nomination, I cannot and will not allow any suggestion personal to myself to interfere with my hearty, sincere and unshaken support of him. My only ambition is the success of my party, and I have stated how, in my judgment, that success can best be won. I believe that this is the view which our approaching State convention will take, and that it will choose delegates who will favo this course.

they were able to get off Barnegat, on the New Jersey coast. This was six weeks ago. Another big gale came out of the northwest and drove the sohooner down to Hatteras again. Provisions began to run short, and finally gave out altogether.

Just then the steamship Johannes Brun, bound for New York came along and supplied her. The crew had then been four days without provisions. The schooner then tried to reach Hampton Boads, but was again blown out to sea. It was a long and hard fight against wind and seas in beating back to the coast. Food ran short again, and finally gave out completely.

Starvation faced the crew while they still had to work incessantly to keep the vessel affoat. Day after day passed and the men were gaunt and famished as they scanned the horizon for some vessel to give them.

The men were becoming weak from hunger and on the verge of insanity. There was a small dog on board. The men took the animal, cut its throat and skinned it. They cooked and ate it, but so small was it that instead of satisfying their hunger, the taste of food only inten-sified it. Some of the men became delirious, and one of them proposed that one man should die in order to preserve the lives of the others. The Captain feared a murder wauld be committed, and armed himself.

AKRON, March 25 .-] Special.]-This afternoon, about a mile from Mogadore, Henry Albinger, aged 27 and un-married, shot his brother John, married and aged 40, and then committed suicide. Ever since their parents died, ten years ago, the brothers have quarreled years ago, the brothers have quarreled over the division of the large estate. Henry and his sister live together, while John and his wife reside on an adjoining farm. This afternoon John, who was chopping wood not far from his house, heard the sound of au ax in the woods, and, proceeding to the place, found Henry cutting down a tree. He ordered him away and a quarrel resulted. Henry jumped into his wagon and drove home, returning shortly afterward.

Pulling a revolver from his pocket he fired at John, wounding him in the leg. John's large Newfoundland dog attacked Henry and so disconcerted his aim that two other shots which he fired at his retreating brother failed to take effect. Henry returned to his home, and securing his gun, went to John's house. His brother endeavored to

The police are warned under penalty of severe punishment to carry out to the letter the instructions contained in the decree, and under no circumstances to permit any evasion of the law by the large number of Hebrews who are trying to enter Germany through Galicia. As it is impossible to make the decree known throughout Russia, thousands of Hebrews, ignorant of the make the decree known throughout Russia, thousands of Hebrews, ignorant of the prohibition, are certain to arrive at the frontier, where, as they will be halted and will not be permitted to proceed further, it will be impossible to provide accommodations for them. A few cases have already occurred where Hebrews, endeavoring to get into the country despite the warnings they received, have been shot down while attempting to pass the frontier quards.

The committees that have been formed for the purpose of providing relief for these unfortunate people, say that an enormous number of Hebrews are seeking to escape from Russian persecution, and are ready to emigrate whenever the opportunity offers. The committees estimate that 400,000 Hebrews are trying to leave Russia.

The Girl Who Walked With a University Man Loses Her Case. LONDON, March 25.-The suit of Miss Daisy Hopkins against Rev. Mr. Wallis, proprietor of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, for $5,000 damages for false imprisonment in connection with her arrest on the charge of "walking the streets with a university man," has excited widespread interest. Miss Hopkins resumed her testimony, still maintaining the propriety of her behavior. Upon the conclusion of Miss Hopkins' testimony, which was the only evidence offered to support her claim, the defense called as a witness the University constable who had arrested her. He testified that he had watched the plaintiff for three years. After he had arrested her and was taking her to the Spinning House, they met a dissolute woman, who greeted her. The jury returned a verdict against Miss Hopkins.

The verdict caused great surprise among the friends of the girl, who have always believed her life to be blameless. There is no doubt that the case will be appealed. NO PAY FOR PARLIAMENT MEMBERS. Bill Introduced by an English Collier I Snowed Under.

LONDON, March 25.-In the House of Commons to-night, Mr. Fenwick (Liberal), who is a working collier, moved a resolution in favor of the payment of members of the House of Commons in order to enable representatives of the industrial classes to be elected. He submitted that £365 yearly would be a reasonable salary. Mr. Balfour admitted that there was much to be said in favor of the resolution, but he asked what the rate-payers would say.
