Ravachol, the Arch Anarchist plosives in the place were seized and the of Paris, to Make a Clean Breast of It.

HIS ACCOMPLICE CAUGHT.

Murder, Counterfeiting and Robbery Confessed on the Stand.

THE SOISSY ROBBERY PLANNED.

The Fiend's Butcheries Are as Heartless as Those of Peeming.

NEWS FROM THE EUROPEAN CAPITALS

PARIS, March 31 .- It is stated that Ravachol will be tried for murder at Mont Brison. He has a black eye and is covered with bruises, which injuries he received while resisting arrest. His accomplices, no longer fearing revenge, readily consent to reveal what they know about Ravachol. They say that he glorified in the murder of two women who kept a wine shop near Saint Etienne: that he boasted of having supped in a room where their corpses lay, cutting his food with the bloody knife with which he had murdered them.

It was reported late to-night that Gustav Mathieu, Ravachol's most dangerous accomplice, has been arrested. Ravachol is now voluble in his cell. He speaks most fluently, although he is not an educated man, He promises to reveal everything to-morrow. The police have learned from informers that Ravachol planned the Soissy robbery and proposed to kill everybody met on the way to the dynamite depot who was likely to bear witness against them. The accomplices opposed him, however, and the idea was dropped.

Why He May Be Tried for Murder, Rayachol carried the bomb used in the Boulevard St. Germain, and placed it in position, leaving the house only a few seconds before the explosion. The supposition that he will be tried for murder is due to a belief that the evidence of attempts to murder by causing explosions is too weak to send him to the guillotine. The police state that he will, in any case, be first tried for causing the explosions. The Anarchist prisoners who were concerned in the explosions in the Boulevard St. Germain and at the Lobau Barracks have made a detailed confession. They say that Ravachol was concerned in a murder and robbery at Mont Brison, by which he realized 4,000 francs. He gave the bulk of the money to associates in St. Etienne, drawing sums when required for dynamiting purposes. Ravachol assisted in stealing and burying the dynamite taken from the factory at Soissy, declare the informers. Chaumartin asks to be sentenced to imprisonment, as he lears assassination if Ravachol's examination, which was held last night, occupied five hours. It chiefly related to his past life, and he was subjected to a string of questions revealed that he was a greater villain than even the police supposed.

:Confessed Some Crimes, Denied Others. He confessed the murder of the old her mit of Notre Dame de Grace. He denied the murders of an old man servant at Vari-zelle in 1885, and his former wife in 1888. His denial of these crimes, however, was yet discover evidence showing that he killed both those persons.

Some time ago an old man was killed with an ax which belonged to the victim. The murderer stole a sum of money and a quantity of valuables, and effected cape. Ravachol was questioned as to this crime, and here, too, his denial was very weak. He admitted that he was a grave yard ghoul, and told of a number of graves that he had robbed. When the police that he had robbed. When the police searched his lodgings yesterday they found, among other evidences of his criminal operns, a set of counterfeiters' tools. When questioned regarding the possession of these unlawful belongings he coolly acknowl-edged that he belonged to a gang of counterfeiters, but he persistently refused to make any admission that would lead to the detection of his confederates.

The Paris Echo to-day states that Ravachal has admitted that he was the author of the Boulevard St. Germain explosion. Betrayed by an Accomplice.

The chief detective asserts that Chaumartin, an accomplice of Ravachol, who is now under arrest, betrayed his leader, and told the police that Ravachol intended blow up the house of M. Bulot, one of the prosecuting counsel in the recent Anarchist trials. M. Bulot's residence, it will be rewas at No. 39 Rue Clichy, the scene of the destructive explosion on Sunday morning last. Ravachol lived at St. Mande near the wood of Vincennes, four miles southeast of Paris. He was seen going to Paris Sunday morning, carrying with him a small portmanteau. Ravachol is watched in prison night and day by detectives. He is the illegitimate son of German parents, and was born in France. It is now acknowledged on all sides that the police had good reason to believe that he would make a desperate resistance against arrest, and those who condemned them for not arresting him some days ago now admit that the police were right in not attempting to effect his capture until they had made sure there was no chance of his escaping

Ravachol Deemed Very Big Game. The Government looks on the arrest of Ravachol as of the greatest importance, not only in that it has thrown into its hands a man already condemned to death for murder but in that it is believed that his capture will put an end to the dynamite outrages in No doubt is entertained that he is a most dangerous criminal, and his incarceration has removed a great source of trouble

The Government has rewarded, or intends to reward, everyone in any way connected with the making of the arrest. The pro prietor of the wineshop at the corner of Rue Lancey and the Boulevard Magenta, in whose place Ravachol was captured, and the waiter who notified the police that Ravachol was in the wineshop, receive a reward of 1,000 francs. The man who made the arrest will be decorated with the ribbon of the Legion of Honor, and the six gendarmer who assisted him will receive medals and will be promoted for the share they took in effecting the capture of the notorious Anarchist.

The recent raids made upon the lodgings of the Anarchists, and the arrest of so many members of that party, has had the effect of somewhat frightening them.

Anarchists Pretty Well Cowed. As a rule, those who are still at liberty no longer make loud threats in public of the great damage and destruction they intend to cause. It is believed that several Anarchists who expected that the police would search their lodgings have sought to rid themselves of all evidence that would connect them with the dynamite conspiracy. The police have reason to think that some of these men, who are known to them, have thrown into the Seine large quantities of stolen dynamite and the bottom of the river will be thoroughly searched for explosives.

The police have discovered a dynamite store at Montreuil-sous-Bois, a town three and a half miles east of Paris. All the ex-

DURHAM MINERS STILL OUT.

Seventy Furnaces in One Town Idle, and Many People Are Starving.

LONDON, March 31.-The strike of the miners in Durham, which began March 12, will probably be prolonged a fortnight longer. The coal shipping trade of Sunderland, Seapam Harbor and Hartlepool is entirely suspended. The trade on the Tyne has been greatly curtailed in consequence of the strike, and the iron and steel trade is at a standstill. Seventy furnaces in Middlesborough have stopped operations. Thousands of workmen at Stockton are idle owing to the scarcity of fuel. At yesterday's meeting of the Board of Poor Law Guardians, it was reported that hundreds of people were in a starving condition.

Relief works for the benefit of the unemployed have been opened.
A compromise has been effected by which a strike affecting 80,000 miners in South Wales and Monmouthshire has been averted. The trouble grew out of a threatened reduc-tion. The Federation Board of the Durham miners has asked the Coal Owners' Asso ciation to withdraw its notices and allow the men to resume work. The Coal Owners Association, in reply, informed the Federa tion that the resumption of work by the men must be accompanied by a settlement of the wage question, either by agreement

Matter of Investment LONDON, March 31.-William Dinkelspiel, the American insurance man, whose failure with liabilities of £27,000, and assets not worth £2, was announced yesterday, blames a Mr. Depinto, one of his London creditors, to whom he owes £520, for his misfortune. Dinkelspiel says:

Depinto had a receiving order made against me for £500, when the other creditors agreed to a private arrangement. Depinto was con stantly my guest. He dined at my table and elaimed to be my friend. It appears to me that his action was due simply to his desire to obtain revenge for a supposed insult to his family by failure to speak to his sister-in-

The protest declares that the people of Uister have an unchangeable distrust of and hostility to an Irish legislative assemblv, and expresses their determination to take no part in its proceedings, to offer resistance to its laws and to appeal to the English and Scotch electors not to commit the two Irelands to a struggle that will be disastrous to both.

Free Silver's Champion Explains What is Much Misunderstood.

HE DOESN'T CRITICISE MR. CRISP

For Doing What the Fules of the Present Congress Demand.

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM THE CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, March 31.-Representative Bland, the champion of free silver in the House, in conversation with a reporter to-day, expressed the opinion that considerable misunderstanding existed throughout the country on the subject of the proposed "cloture rule," which a large number of the Democratic members of the House asked to have adopted to expedite action on the silver bill. Mr. Bland said: "The difficulty we have had with the silver bill is an apparent misunderstanding as to the real nature of the rule that the Speaker had intended to report to the House. It is not a cloture rule further than it is in aid of the previous question. "The previous question is the cloture rule of the House. We have had it for over 50 years. There is no cloture rule in the Senate. The rule proposed to be reported to pass the silver bill was simply a rule to pass the silver bill was simply a rule made to prevent filibustering by declaring it to be out of order for the Speaker to entertain filibustering motions. The standing rule that we have adopted gives to the Committee on Rules the power in this way to stop filibustering. That is to say, the Committee on Rules reports a rule to the House providing that pending a proposition on which the House wishes to come to a vote the Speaker is absolutely prohibited from entertaining filibustering motions. a vote the Speaker is absolutely pronibited from entertaining filibustering motions. When this rule is reported the House itself must adopt it or reject it, so that it is the House that must determine whether or not the House wishes to stop filibustering. The Difference Between Bules.

"The difference between this rule and the "The difference between this rule and the rules of the last Congress is that the rules of the Fifty-first Congress gave to the Spesker himself the absolute power to refuse to entertain a dilatory motion. The rules of the Fifty-first Congress vested this power in the Speaker. The rules of this Congress vest this power in the House itself. But the House cannot act upon it without the report from the Committee on Rules. It seems that enemies of the silver Rules. It seems that enemies of the silver bill, after ascertaining that the Speaker intended to report a rule to prevent filibus-tering, raised a hue and cry against cloture. A great many of our members, be-ing new members, were misled as to its actual nature. Since the matter is over, I have learned to my satisfaction that the Speaker was beset by a good many members who had voted for free coinage, and they told him they would not vote for such a rule. Consequently he was apprehensive that the majority of his own party would vote against him. In view of this fact he changed his mind and refused to report a cloture rule until a majority asked for it. I criticised his action very severely, but did so without full information as to the true situation. I do not censure him at this time for his

When Fillbustering Ran Mad. "During Mr. Carlisle's administration as Speaker filibustering became so common that it was impossible to pass a bill where a few active opponents filibustered against it and nearly every bill of importance was fili-bustered against. It was a notable fact that General Weaver, of Iowa, then a member of the House, acting alone prevented the transaction of any business in the House for three or four days, until the Speaker and the House and the country were disgusted with the scene. The Democrate then realized the precessity of some rule by gusted with the scene. Inc.
then realized the necessity of some rule by which filibustering could be prevented by the House, and had the Republicans in the Fifty-first Congress gone no further than our rules go now, the Democrats could not have reasonably objected to them."

CHICAGO WANTS MORE HELP.

She Now Asks That Uncle Sem Keep Her Little Biver in Repair.

WASHINGTON, March 31.-A delegation of Chicago railroad and steamboat men, composed of T. T. Morford, J. S. Dunham and Hugh McMillan, argued before the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors this morning in favor of a proposition to repeal the law of 1890, which exempted the Government from any supervision over the improvement of the Chicago river, and left it to the care of the city. The delegation asserted that the The delegation asserted that the bridges and docks along the river front were constantly encroaching upon the channel and blocking traffic, and that it frequently happened that one steamer discharging or loading cargo would interfere greatly with the passage of other craft. It was argued that this had been going on for years and that the Government should take years, and that the Government sh a hand in the matter and prevent this inter-ference to commerce and trade.

The delegation also thought the Government should provide for dredging the river in certain places, and stated that many of the dock owners had to dredge in front their property every year, in order to have sufficient depth of water.

MEXICAN FRIENDS OF GARZA

Who Live in Texas and Sympathize With the Outlaw's Campaign.

WASHINGTON, March 31 -General Sten ley, commanding the Department of Texas, has made a report to General Schofield in regard to the case of Captain J. G. Bourke, Third Cavalry, from which it appears that the charges against that officer in connection with the Garza campaign were preferred by Mexican citizens, who, although residing in Texas, disavowed any allegiance to the United States, and, notwithstanding this fact, and the further fact that they aided and abetted Garza's band in the insurrection against the Mexican Government, assert that they are entitled to the protecof this Government. General added that these men were now being proscuted by the civil authorities of Texas fo violation of the neutrality laws.

General Schofield said this afternoon that he had submitted the case to the Secretary of War, with the recommendation that no action be taken by the military authorities with regard to the charges against Captain Bourke until after the conclusion of the civil proceedings against his accusers.

FAITH CURE IN MEXICO.

WONDERFUL WOMAN WHO BEALS BY LAYING ON OF HANDS.

Her Patients Call Her a Saint-She Takes No Pay for Her Services, and is Kept Busy All the Time-Theresa Urrea, a Female Mollinger. GUYAMAS, MEXICO, March 30-[Special.] -It has now been nearly four months since the reports began reaching here of the miraculous cures of all diseases effected by a young Mexican woman, Theresa Urrea, who lives on the Santa de Cabera ranch, about 150 miles west of here, in the heart of the Sierra Madre range of mountains. The nearest town to her home is Trinidad, some 15 miles. She cures by the simple laying on of hands, and is called a saint by the thousands of ignorant Mexicans and Indians who have learned her wonderful powers.

She was visited by THE DISPATCH correspondent three weeks ago. The scene at the humble ranch home baffles description. Living in improvised jacals and tents all along the mountain side from Trinidad to the wonderful woman's home were thousands of decrepit, diseased and haggard looking Mexicans who were patiently awaiting their turn to be cured of their respective afflictions.

Saint Theresa, as she is called, is 17 years of age, has a strikingly beautiful face, straight black hair, and was dressed in the plainest kind of a woolen garb. She stated that she was first made aware of her wonderful nower first months. derful power five months ago, and while she firmly believes it is a divine gift, yet she is at a loss to account for it being given to her any more than to any one else. She per-forms her miraculous cures by merely placing her hand on the head of the person fflicted, and giving the command to arise and depart in health.

A stream of unfortunate sick people poured through her room during THE DIS-PATCH correspondent's visit, among them being men and women afflicted with rheumatism and many cripples. All who have submitted themselves to her magic treatment claim to have been instantly cured. Three cases of leprosy and seven of smallpox are among those which the strange woman claims to have cured. She will accept no money or gifts of any kind in pay-ment for her services. The whole States of Sonora and Chihuahua are excited over the unexplained power which Theresa Urrea seems to possess.

A TEXAS TRAGEDY.

Houston Shocked by an Awful Crime-Two Well-Known Women Murdered by a Worthless Son-Suicide Supposed to Have Been His Choice.

HOUSTON, TEX., March 31.-Mrs. Anna Shaw, an aged lady, and her widowed sister, Mrs. Johnson, have resided at 274 Prairie street for a long time. Mrs. Johnson was a teacher in the public schools. With them lived Walter E. Shaw, son of the former lady, a young lawyer about 35 years old. The young man has never done any good for himself, giving up his time to dissipation. Last night at 8 o'clock Shaw was at home with the family. This morning at 9 o'clock some neighbors who went to visit the ladies found both of them dead on the dining room floor. Mrs. Shaw's throat was cut from ear to ear, while her sister's was slashed through the jugular to the windpipe. In an adjoin-ing room was found the bloody razor, all hacked to pieces, with which the worst tragedy ever known in Houston was committed. Beside a washbowl filled with bloody water was a balf-smoked cigarette with bloody finger imprints upon it. Young Shaw, the son and nephew, is missing. This morning E. W. Shaw, printer, saw a man jump from the San Jacinto bridge into the Buffalo river, and it is supposed this man was Shaw.

The city is wild with excitement, and if Shaw has not suicided he will be lynched as soon as caught. Dynamite is being used to resurrect the body in the bayon, while the country is being scoured. The family is one of the oldest and most respected in Texas, having a wide connection. An examination of the premises shows that all the doors had been unlocked with

FIGHT TILL THE LAST

Is to Be Waged Against the Cleveland-Pattison People

IN THE GREAT KEYSTONE STATE.

The Opposition Confident It's Whipped, but Won't Surrender.

GROVER'S STRENGTH IN MINNESOTA

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 PHILADELPHIA, March 31.-The Der eratic State Convention will be held in Harrisburg, Wednesday, April 13. While it is pretty generally conceded that the Cleveland-Pattison, or State administration element of the party, will easily control the convention, the opposition will endeavor to make some something of a show until the

The State convention will consist of 463 delegates, of whom 365 have already been elected. The State administration people claim not less than 275 of those already elected, and believe they will elect at least 80 of those yet to be chosen. In support of the latter claim they invite attention to the reports of the 14 counties that have not yet selected delegates. Among the most decisive of their victories they point to the re-sult in Dauphin county, where the friends of Postmaster B. F. Meyers were badly defeated; and to Franklin county, where some of the most bitter of Governor Pattison's enemies reside and are in control of the organigation.

Candidates for the Honors,

The State Convention will be called upon to nominate 1 candidate for Supreme Judge, 2 candidates for Congressmen at large, 32 candidates for Presidental electors and to elect 64 delegates to the Democratic National Convention. For Supreme Judge there will be no opposition to Christian Heydrick, of Venango county, who was ap-pointed by Governor Pattison to succeed the late Judge Silas M. Clark. For Con-gressman at large there are several gentlemen mentioned, among them being Thomas P. Merritt, of Berks county, who is the present Mayor of Reading; T. C. DeWitt, of Brad-ford county, who is a prominent lawyer of Towanda; George A. Allen, of Eric county, who was United States District Attorney during Cleveland's administra-tion; Robert E. James, of Northampton county, a well-known lawyer of Easton; John Kuhne, of Westmorland county, the President of the Greensburg Steel Company; Ex-Congressman John B. Storm, of Monroe county, and Captain William Hasson, of enango county.

For electors at large ex-Senator Eckley B. Coxe, of Luzerne county; John C. Bullitt, of Philadelphia county; David T. Watson, of Allegheny county; Mortimer F. Elliott, of Tioga county; Charles R. Buckalew, of Columbia county; Colonel John P. Linton, of Cambria county, and Robert E. Monaghan, of Chester county, are among those most frequently spoken of.

Others Willing to Be Targets. For election as delegates at large there are many candidates, although it is believed that there will be comparatively few when the convention meets. William M. Sin-gerly, of Philadelphia county, and State nator George Ross, of Bucks county, will be likely to be supported by the delegates from Eastern Pennsylvania, including those of Philadelphia. Senator Ross is known to be in line with the State administration element of the party, and will receive its support. Attorney General Hensel has been urged to be a candidate for delegate at large. It is claimed by those who ought to know that he will certainly be elected if he should

It is not definitely known who will be candidates from the western and northwest-ern part of Pennsylvania. Ex-Sherifi charles Robinson, of Lackawanna county, is a candidate, and is quite popular in his own and surrounding counties. It is rumored that he will have the aid of the Cleveland-Pattison leaders. Among other candidates are Senator Harry Alvan Hall, of Elk county, who is strong in Northwest-ern Pennsylvania; Thomas Collins, of Center county; Senator Grant Herring, of Columbia county; John L. McKinney, Crawford county; George F. Bear of Berks county; George A. Jenks, of Jefferson county; Robert E. Wright, of Lehigh county, another strong candidate; E. Green ough Scott, of Luzerne county; Congress man Mutchler, of Northampton county; James Ellis, of Schuylkill county, and Mortimer F. Elliott, of Tioga county.

LITTLE RHODY'S HOT FIGHT.

Cleveland Decides to Belp Out His Friends in the State,

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 31. - Both Republicans and Democrats claim that next Wednesday will give them the victory, and the campaign is being prosecuted in a more energetic manner than has been witnessed in this State since the overturn of the Republicans in 1887. The Democrats are very enthusiastic over the visit of ex-President Cleveland, while the Republicans, by bringing Mesers McKinley and Reed here, evidently are not overconfident that their protection has been grasped so fully by the voters as would indicate sure success for Senator Aldrich's aspirations. Ex-President Cleveland will reach this city Saturday on the 3:15 P. M. express from New York, and will be escorted to the Opera House, where a rally will be held, and ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, and Congress-man William L. Wilson, of West Virginia, will speak.

Governor Russell, of Massachusetts, will speak at Newport to-morrow night. For the Republicans, Governor McKinley and ex-Speaker Reed will arrive here to-morrow. In the evening the former will speak at Pawtucket and the latter at Woonsocket. At the supper of the Young Men's Republican Club, which is to be held Monday evening, Secretary of the Navy Tracy and Congressman Burrows, of Michigan, are to be the guests. The local Democrats expect to tender a public reception to ex-Presid Cleveland at City Hall Saturday night.

ALGER STILL A CANDIDATE, The General Says He Can't Be Driven From the Field. DETROIT, March 31. - General Russell A. Alger's attention was to-day called to the Associated Press dispatch of yesterday, announcing Senator Cullom's withdrawal from the contest for the Presidental nomination. He was asked what effect, if anv, this circumstance would have upon his own candidacy. He replied: Senator Cullom's withdrawal cannot possibly have any effect upon my candidacy, for, as I said in an interview nearly a month ago, I am in the field to stay. I regard it as vital to the success of the Republican party in the national campaign of this year that its judgment as to the nominee for the Presits judgment as to the nominee for the Presidency be made up after careful deliberation at Minneapolis, and I should be recreant to my settled convictions upon this point were I to leave the field while expressions of good will and piedges of support are coming to me from earnest Republicans in all parts of the country. You may say that I shall be in the field for the nomination until the judgment of the National Convention shall have been expressed.

Delaware Indorses Cleveland. MEDIA, PA., March 31.—The Delaware County Democratic Convention was held here to-day. The following were elected delegates to the State Convention: J. Frank Beatty, Martin J. Dwyer, Charles B. Howen, James Fagan and William H. Nelson. Tyson Lewis was recommended to the State delegates for Presidental elector and Edward J. Walden was elected alternate national delegate. Cleveland was indorsed and Governor Pattison's administration was commended.

First Nomination Blank Filed. HARRISBURG, March 31 .- [Special.]-The first nomination blank filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth under the new ballot law was that of B. K. Focht. editor of the Lewisburg Saturday News, which was received to-day at the depart-ment. Mr. Focht was nominated for the Legislature by the Republicans of Union county Saturday over Hon. James B. Ritter, by whom he was defeated two years ago.

EMMA FOX SHOOTS HERSELF BECAUSE OF UNREQUITED LOVE.

She Was Infatuated With Birdle Boale, to-day. Miss Emma Fox, some months ago, became acquainted with the family of Mr. George Boale, who then resided on Broad street, and took a great liking for Mr. Boale's daughter, Miss Birdie, being in her company on every available occasion. Some time ago, when the family of Mr. Boale was stricken with diphtheria and scarcely anyone would go near them, Miss Fox cared faithfully for her friend. After all the family had either died or recovered from the disease, the girl at times spent several days with them, and although the companionship of the two girls never ripened into close friendship on Miss Boale's part, it is said that Miss Fox was never entirely happy or appeared satisfied unless she was in her company. She seemed to be perfectly infatuated with her. At length Mr. Boale forbade his daughter to accompany Miss Fox on the street, but she continued to call at his house, and no matter where Miss Boale would go, Miss

Fox was likely to meet and accompany her This state of affairs continued until last evening, when Miss Boale and a sister-in-law had been downtown and were returning home. They noticed they were being followed, and were soon joined by Miss Fox, who drew a revolver and said: "Birdie, here I go for the last time," fired one shot and fell to the ground in the agonies of death. The two women screamed and ran around to the back door of their home. In a short time persons came running to the scene and found Miss Fox lying on the ground unconscious, while the weapon with which the deed had been committed, a 32caliber revolver, was lying on the ground a Physicians were summoned, and the ambulance called, but she died in a few minutes without regaining consciousness. The Coroner's jury to-day rendered their verdict of suicide, assigning no cause for the deed.

Thrilling Experience of the Passengers on an Erie Train in Ohio.

LIMA, O., March 31.-Passengers on the west-bound Erie train had a thrilling experience last night. The train had just left New Portage, and the conductor on his farecollecting trip opened a closet door to see if there was anyone inside. As soon as he thrust his lantern in an explosion occurred which hurled him backward, badly burning and otherwise injuring him. The coach im-mediately took fire, the flames spreading rapidly. Before the train was stopped the whole coach and one of the sleeping cars were in flames. Passengers barely escaped, losing their personal effects which were in the two cars, both of which were entirely consumed. It is supposed one of the gas reservoirs in the closet sprang a leak.

DENSE FOGS CAN BE SCATTERED.

A Pittsburg Inventor Dissipates the Supersaturation Theory.

NAVIGATION WILL BE MADE MORE SAFE

NEW YORK, March 31 .- A wide-awake inventor has discovered a means of overcoming fog. The fog has always been the greatest enemy of the mariner, the one which he has never been able to control. It makes the huge steamship as helpless as a dory. It is the one element of danger in ocean voyages with which human ingenuity has thus far been unable to cope.

This inventor is now in New York perfecting the details. Experiments were made last week at Sandy Hook and have been made in Boston harbor. These were conducted with the greatest secrecy because the application for patients has not yet been filed at Washington. The result of these experiments was perfectly satisfactory, and if this be thoroughly demonstrated there and it this be thoroughly demonstrated there are big fortunes in the scheme.

The man representing the business end of the fog annihilator is M. E. Johnson. He inherited a large sum of money and has turned it to good account. His home was in Pittsburg. For many years, however, he has been a bird of passage.

Force in an Electrical Discharge,

He has spent much of his time in London and returned to this country only three months ago. While in New York he stays at the Murray Hill Hotel. Mr. Johnson has been interested in a number of inven-tions. He made a large sum of money out of a chemical refrigerator among other things. The inventor is a man who keeps altogether in the background. Mr. John-son, however, described the result of the experiments. "The force used," he said, "is a form of electrical discharge. The effect is in direct ratio to the intensity of the fog; that is, the denser the fog the more easily it is affected by discharge. The consequence is that with a dense tog a larger area can be cleared with the release of the same amount of energy. There is no electric spark to be seen, and no detonation or explosion accompanies the discharge." Continuing, he said:

The largest area we have been able to practically clear by one discharge has been 70,500 square feet, nearly two acres, which is approximately 150 feet in every direction from the site of the discharge. This was done in Boston harbor. With greater energy, such as will readily be obtained on ocean steamships, many times that area can be cleared.

Fog Will Fall in the Form of Rain, Fog Will Fall in the Form of Rain.

The fog falls in the form of rain. The as mosphere of the cleared area is exceedingly clear, just as it is after a shower in summer. The period of absolute absence from fog is merely momentary in duration. The fog immediately begins to form again and to drift in from surrounding areas. This takes place so rapidly that within five minutes the original condition prevails. In our experiments in Boston Harbor, seven minutes elapsed before the fog reformed. It is, of course, impossible to obliterate the fog, but by a succession of discharges at intervals of two minutes it keeps the area. I have referred to practically clear. Therefore, in the immediate neighborhood of the particular steamer from which the discharges are made, no fog exists.

Now it coller to understand this new dislar steamer from which the discharges are made, no fog exists.

Now, in order to understand this new discovery, it is necessary to know something about fogs. A fog is a body of aqueous vapor in the atmosphere, like clouds, but distinguished from them both by its position and its manner of formation. A large class of clouds result from the diminution of temperature produced by the elevation and expansion of moiat air, and a small class is due rather to the cooling of the air by radiation in a horizontal direction to bodies of cooler air; while again, a very important class arise from the radiation of heat vertically into the coid interstellar regions. To these simple causes must also be attributed the formation of a large class of fogs.

On the other hand, the peculiar feature in the origin of a number and especially of the heaviest fogs is that the moist air radiates its heat downward to a comparatively cold its heat downward to a comparatively cold body of either water, earth or air. The former case occurs when the earth, after a period of low temperature, becomes very cold, and the winds waft warm, moist air over the cold regions, while the small con-ducting power of the earth, ice or snow does not allow its surface to at once adjust itself to the change in temperature.

Lytle, the Veteran Flend at Findiay, Hanged to a Telegraph Pole by a Mob Shortly

FINDLAY, O., March 31.-Joseph Lytle, the old soldier who mangled his wife and two daughters vesterday, died at the hands of a mob about 1 o'clock this morning. A mob of about 1,000 men surrounded the jail. The windows of the jail were broken, but the cell of the prisoner could not be reached by that means. Then the determined men procured oil well drills and battered down the doors, and the murderous wretch was at their mercy. Lytle was perfectly game, and called the mob's attention to his own cell as the one they wanted.

Main street bridge. A rope was furnished and one end thrown over one of the top girders. Another moment and the body of Lytle swung in the air; only for a mo-ment, however, as a bullet from a revolver cut the rope in two and the body fell. The mob then caught the end of the rope and dragged the victim through the street about 200 feet, and again the rope was hoisted over a telegraph pole arm. As the body was pulled up the second time a dozen shots were fired, and the end of the awful tragedy came. The mob is said to have been com-posed of the best citizens, but was poorly met, for he left a note asking that his body be turned over to his brother, and that it be buried beside his mother. The authorities had intended to secretly convey the prison-er to a suburb at 1 o'clock, where a train was to have been taken for Lima, but their plans were frustrated by the vigilance of
