A POLICE BUILDING IS DAMAGED.

Six Persons Arrested in Spain for Exploding Some Petards.

NEWS FROM THE EUROPEAN CAPITALS

PARIS, April 6.-The latest scene of Anarchist activity is Angers, capital of the Department of Maine-et-Loire. The police at Angers, as elsewhere in France, have been instructed to search out and arrest everyone who is believed to be implicated in any attempt to use dynamite unlawfully, and they have carried out their orders to the letter; but in searching the city and watching suspicious characters they appear to have neglected proper precautions to guard against an explosion at their own

The Anarchists learned of this fact and determined to take advantage of it. Accordingly, at an early hour this morning, a dynamite bomb was placed upon a window sill of the police department, the fuse lighted and the Anarchists withdrew. Everything was quiet in the police department and the vicinity when suddenly there was a flesh and a tremendous room that was a firsh and a tremendous roar that caused consternation in the neighborhood. Every pane of glass in the windows of the police department and adjacent houses was shattered, and the police building was quite hadly damaged. One officer in the building was injured. There is absolutely no clew to the perpetrators of the outrage.

The bomb that was exploded was made of sheet iron and contained, besides the ex-plosive, 18 pounds of nail rivets and scrap iron and a detonator of peculiar make.

A cable dispatch from Madrid, says: The police here are convinced that the violent section of the Anarchists is almost wholly composed of foreigners. Six persons have been arrested at Pueblo Nuevo charged with exploding petards. No damage was caused by the explosion.

A cable dispatch from London says: The Anarchists in London and various other centers in England propose to hold a demonstration in Hyde Park, this city, to show their sympathy with the four Walsall Anarchists who were recently sentenced to various terms of imprisonment at the Staf-

Dis Latest Intended Victim Describes His Courtship in Australia,

MELBOURNE, April 6.-Kate Rounse ville, the fiancee of Deeming after he had murdered his wife here, and who would probably have met the same fate but for his opportune arrest, as preparations were under way for her marriage to him in Western Australia, gave her testimony to-day. She is a resident of Sydney. She said she had met Deeming on a steamer while going from Melbourne to Sydney. He had accosted her in a friendly manner, and with the usual absence of social restrictions that prevails among fellow travelers she had entered into conversation with him. He treated her with gentlemanly courtesy, and she became very much interested in him. He had impressed her with the belief that he was a individual of some consequence. He told her that he was Baron Swanston. This, by the way, is the title he assumed while he was in the Southern Cross gold fields, and he signed it to a letter he sent to the managers of Frazer's gold mine, demanding part or his salary that he claimed was due him.

He gave her a diamond ring, which she has since learned belonged to the murdered woman. Since his arrest Deeming has re-quested her to return the ring to him so that he might sell it, and with the proceeds help defray the costs of his defense. She had declined to surrender it to him, as she be-lieved he was guilty of the murder of his wife. Shortly after Deeming had given her Australia, where it was arranged they should be married. She was almost upon the point of starting for Perth when she heard of Deeming's arrest on the charge of mur-

M'CORMICE'S MISSIONARY WORK.

England Will Probably Be Generous to the World's Fair.

LONDON, April 6 .- A large meeting of the Society of Arts was held this evening. Mr. McCormick, the Chicago Fair Commissioner, read an exhaustive paper on the future of trade relations between Great Britain and the United States. He gave a forcible array of statistics, showing that the United States is England's best customer, and said that there was every reason why England should be well represented at the Chicago Fair. Replying to English criticisms on American tariff legislation, he denied that the McKinley law was specially nimed at England. That law, he said, was simply based upon intelligent self-interest, which was the motive of action of individ nals as well as of nations. He reverted to the English history of protection, proving that protection was maintained by England as long as it was expedient to maintain it, and that free trade was resorted to only when the position of Great Britain made protection hurtful.

Mr. Galton, in proposing a vote of thanks to Mr. McCormick, said he could definitely announce that the British Government would more than double the present grant for the Chicago Fair, and that the society would abolish all charges for space. The announcement was received with cheers. The grant will probably amount to $300,000.

OUR QUARREL WITH SPAIN.

The United States Appoints a Persona Non Grata as an Island Consul.

PARIS, April 6.-The Journal des Debats to-day says a serious quarrel is threatened between Spain and the United States owing to the latter country appointing H. Rand as Consul in one of the Caroline islands. Mr. Rand is the elder brother of Missionary Rand, the leader of the Methodists who were the authors of the recent troubles between the Spanish authorities and the natives of the Carolines.

Spain, the Debats adds, persists in her refusal to grant an exequatur to Mr. Rand, and the United States refuses to withdraw his appointment. Consequently the matter is at a dead-lock.

COMPARTMENT CARS MUST GO. The Latest English Railway Outrage Is

Confirming Public Opinion LONDON, April 6.-The assaulting of women upon railway trains is becoming so frequent that the opponents of the English compartment system are continually gaining accessions to their numbers. The latest case is reported this morning. Passengers in a compartment of a car attached to a train enroute for Ruabon, Wales, were startled by hearing piercing shrieks coming from the rear of the car. Upon looking out they saw a girl about 13 years old standing they saw a girl about 13 years old standing upon the footboard, clutching the handrail with all her strength. With great difficulty and at great risk she made her way along the footboard to the next compartment, where she was taken in.

She explained that she and an unknown man were the sole occupants of the com-partment she had left. The man had en-gaged her in conversation, and finally he seized her and brutally assaulted her. She then jumped out on the footboard and shrieked for help. The man also got out on the footboard and jumped off the train. The girl's name is Williams. She says that when the man seized her she tried to pull the alarm cord, but found that it was proken thus leaving her at the marry of broken, thus leaving her at the mercy of her assailant. ## THE EUROPEAN ALLIANCE ENDED.

Powers Are No Longer Acting Together in Dealing With China.

PEKIN, April 6 .- Li Hung Chang, the Chinese Premier, has made a report to the throne on the recent rebellion in Northeastern China. He says that the trouble was due to years of cruelty on the part of the Mongol Prince and the Cham Yang tribesmen who op-pressed the Chinese settlers, burning their crops and outraging their families. The Chinese were unable to obtain redress. They, therefore, combined and killed the Prince's family and all the Mongols who fells into their hands. They were also ag-Jeho, who were arrogant, and attacked them also. The local authorities were either helpless to prevent the attacks or connived at them.

The amount of his business, compared with the capital he is said to have invested in it, caused surprise. William S. Pilling, the assignee, still refuses to name the amount of assets or liabilities. He said a meeting of creditors would take place in three or four days, and then a statement would be made. BIG MEN SAID TO BE FOR HIM.

TESTERDAY'S MINOR POLITICAL NEWS

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) DETROIT, April 7 .- While thousands of eneral Alger's fellow citizens in the City of Straits look upon his Presidental aspirations in the light of a joke, and some leaders of his own party snicker in private over his ambition, the General and his little coterie and his organ, the Detroit Tribune, are sawing wood. Since the General's return from his Western trip activity among his henchmen here has been renewed. One of Alger's most intimate friends was asked a few days ago what show he saw for his candidate, and he replied substantially:

Do you know the power of Platt in New York Republican politics? Do you know what Matt Quay has done and can do in what Matt Quay has done and can do in Pennsylvania? Are you aware of the strength of Foraker in Ohio machine politics? Have you any acquaintance with Frank Hatton's pull in Iowa? These are the gentlemen who have put strength into the Alger boom and upon whom the General depends to batter down the Harrison breastworks. Alger is in close communication with all these wily politicians, and he believes they will control the great majority of the delegates from the four great States of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Iowa. The General hears daily from these leaders, and their representations are his only political stock. He strongly believes that if he can secure a majority of the delegates from those States he can destroy the chances of Harrison and secure the nomination, and he also realizes that if those States go against him at Minneapolis on the first ballot his boom is frustrated for keeps. There is the basis of the Alger boom.

The information is as straight as if it had come from Alger. With purses in the hands of able lieutenants, the Southern vote, the General believes, can be secured. His lieutenants took it away from Sherman four years ago, and they believe they can do it again. The General expects California to help him. Michigan will compliment him at first at least, and thus General Alger expects to make a formidable showing on the first ballot at Minneapolis that will paralyze the President's supporters. That is paralyze the President's supporters. That is the Alger plan of campaign.
