PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. PHILADELPHIA, April 9.-Ex-Senator Wallace's remarkable capitulation to the Cleveland-Pattison forces was the subject of much discussion among State Democrats in the city to-day. The advocates of the Governor were in a jubilant mood. Some regard the Clearfield statesman's new and startling step as a move for harmony in the State Convention next Wednesday. A few, more ultra in their views, do not hesitate to say that Mr. Wallace has forsaken once more the standards set by his own leadership, and given no word to those in line with him.

Ex-Senator Charles R. Buckalew, John G. Freeze and Charles G. Barkley, who control the Columbia county end of the party, quietly talked the situation over at the Bingham. They did not appear to know exactly the true meaning of the movement "I understand that the meeting was brought about by the Governor," said Mr. Buckalew, "and it means a united Pennsylvania Democracy in a great Presidental year." The Best Way to Settle Differences.

Congressman James B. Reilly and Major James Ellis, of Pottsville, were together at the Continental. They were free to say that it "was the best way to settle differences, if such things exist."

Ex-Senator William H. Hines, of Wilkesbarre; ex-Senator S. C. Wagner, of Newville; Robert E. Wright, of Allentown, and Michael Cassidy, of Mauch Chunk, were among State Democrats in the city They all agreed that the convention would be all on one line unanimously for Cleveland, with Governor Pattison as second

Mr. Wallace came down from Harrisburg and was at the Continental until noon, whe he left for New York. He has engaged parlors C and G, his old quarters, at the Bolton House, and will attend the convention as a spectator. Mr. Wallace is opposed to Cleveland and against Hill, and Coal Operator George M. Brisbin, of Osceola, who is also a city visitor, said: "There is no doubt that events are concentrating on Governor Pattison as the Democratic candidate. Mr. Wallace believes the Governor to be the most available man."

Wallace Flat-Footed for Pattise Mr. Wallace said: "It is true that I have met the Governor, but I have nothing to add to the statement in which I am correctly quoted on the nomination of Mr. Pattison for President. His nomination would be in the line of the highest expediency, as he stands well with all factions in New York. " The Democratic State Convention next Wednesday will be made up of 461 delegates, and the Cleveland-Pattison element will have easy and absolute control. Nearly every county has instructed for ex-President Cleveland, with Governor Pattison as second choice. James M. Gufley, who lends in part the opposite side, claim 126 delegates, 20 out of Alle-gheny's 33, and only seven out of Philadelphia's 85 being the most surprising part of the list. The administration, however, has figures to show 385 delegates out of the 461, and this is believed to be a wide concession to the Guffey side as the latter controls but two counties entire -- Westmoreland and Washington, with a chance for a share in Northampton, Brad-ford-whose six delegates are the only ones instructed for Hill-Schuylkill, Clearfield

The Senator Not Friendly to Hill. The announcement of Senator Wallace's Intention to support Governor Pattison for the Presidental nomination has created no surprise among his friends, who have been tion to the candidacy of Mr. Cleveland. He has frequently declared to them that he did not believe the ex-President could be Several paners recently contained an alleged interview with him in which he was put on record against Cleveland and in layer of Hill, but Mr. Wallace denies the report that he is for the New York Senator. He has always declared that if Governor Pattison would be a candidate for President thought the State delegation to the National Convention should support him. A special from Harrisburg says: In a is said to have made his support of Mr. Pattison contingent on the retirement of Secretary Harrity from the race as a candidate for member of the National Cemmittee. claiming that such a movement was neces-sary to unite the State delegation on the Governor. Pattison Warned to Drop Harrity. The recent conferences between the Governor and Senator were due to an invitation from the former after a mutual friend had done a little maneuvering in that direction. The first conference was held last week, but it was fruitful of no tangible results. The last conference was held Thursday evening, and lasted until midnight. Governor Patti-son was frankly told of the injury that Harhis bossism.

It is said to have developed at this meeting that Pattison is opposed to the State Convention instructing for Cleveland, and in favor of the adoption of a resolution requiring the delegates to vote as a unit. He believes that all but eight or ten delegates to the National Convention will be his friends, and that the adoption of the unit rule would be greatly to his interest. With no instructions and the unit rule in force, the delegation would be prevented from casting a vote for Cleveland, or any other candidate but myself.

The Governor claims that the New York World will give him its support, and that George W. Childs and the Drexels, alshough

The combination believed to have been formed by Pattison and Wallace is regarded with some alarm by the Cleveland people, otwithstanding the fact that nearly all the delegates to the State convention have been chosen in the interest of the ex-President.

RED HOT IN LITTLE RHODY.

Victorious Republicans Announce Their Intentions-They Will Count in Their Candidates, No Matter How the Bye-Elec tions Result-A Big Majority Wanted. PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 9 .- [Special.]-It the Republicans carry out the programs arranged to-day, the bye-elections in Rhode Island will be a mere farce, for it is proposed to count in the Republican candidates, no matter how the elections pan out. First of all, the Republicans claim that Burton, the Democratic nominee for the Assembly from Providence, for whom the Board of Aldermen tound a majority of 71, is not legally elected, because he was not placed in nomination in an entirely legal way. The Republicans claim that Burton was nominated for eleventh representative, and that the Democratic City Committee placed his name in the tenth position on the list, or against Hughes, the colored Re-publican nomines. This made a change in the name of Alva Carpenter, who was originally named for tenth representative, Carpenter, of course, being placed in the eleventh position on the ticket. Now the Republicans claim that the House will exclude Burton, one of the two Democratic Assemblymen elected from Providence, declare Camp Hughes, the Republican nominee, as having a large ma jority, as the only man nominated properly for the tenth Representative, and also de-clare William Colville elected on the same

The fight against the Newport Demo-cratic Assemblymen will also be carried into the next Legislature, and from all that can be learned of the inside of the informal neeting here, the entire Newport delega-ion will lose their seats in the next House of Representatives.

The early decision to thus act upon the different Democratic members who have been given majorities on recounts shows clearly that the victors are in a most re-markable frame of mind. They are not markable frame of mind. They are not satisfied with their majority, but want the Legislature by overwhelming odds. With a big fight decided upon for the balance of the Providence and Newport Assembly ticket, things are at once be-

Eighteen out of 55 election districts in the county have given Quay 1,050, Dalzell 454. Butler borough, Quay, 430; Dalzell, 248. This indicates Ex-Congressman Paige Is Radly Beaten in the Eace to Dresden.

THREE INDICTMENTS AGAINST RALPH

DRESDEN, April 9 .- John Huntington, of Cleveland, is very ill in a private hospital in this city. A representative of the ress tried to see him to-day in regard to his indorsement on the paper of Paige, Carey & Co., of New York. No stranger s allowed to see Mr. Huntington, but the epresentative was received by Mrs. Huntngton, who is greatly affected by the troubles of Colonel David R. Paige, who is near relative. She stated that though her husband made it a rule never to indorse notes, in this case he had made an exception, much against her wishes. Both considered Colonel Paige to be a man of honor. She objected on principle to her husband ndorsing the notes. Colonel Paige's firm was hard pressed by opposing contractors, and Mr. Huntington assisted him by indorsing & number of his notes before he started for Europe. A few of the notes are here. All of the indorsed notes are in the hands of Mr. Huntington's New York bank. The former notes were mostly taken up by Mr. Huntington. Mrs. Huntington was not able to state the amount of the notes. She had no knowledge of the trouble beyond that contained in a brief cable dispatch. She said that with Ralph Paige they had no transactions, and thinks that most of the indorsements on notes not in the hands of Mr. Huntington's agents must be forgeries. Dr. Koetlez said that Mr. Huntington is slowly recovering.

Mr. Huntington's Son-in-Law Talks. "Country banks around Cleveland hold some $500,000 in notes bearing Mr. Hunt-ington's name as indorser, which he will never pay, every one being forged," said Mr. Huntington's son-in-law, Mr. Hord, to a reporter to-night at the Hotel Bellevue. Mr. Hord arrived here late and went forthwith to consult Mr. Huntington. On resentative a number of facts in the case

"Mr. Huntington indorsed $150,000 of Paige, Carey & Company's notes before April, 1891. These notes were returned in due time, marked as paid. Mr. Huntington due time, marked as paid. Mr. Huntington refused to make any more indorsements, and then, doubtless, the forged notes were floated. While in Europe, however, he endorsed $80,000 more, sending them to his financial agent, Ms. Perkins, of the Cleveland Mercantile Bank. Mr. Perkins, in the meantime, got wind of the forgeries, and cabled this fact to Mr. Huntington, who at once stonged the notes. They were never issued. stopped the notes. They were never issued, but are locked up in the safe of the bank. Not one note bearing Mr. Huntington's genuine indorsement is now in circulation."

"Then Mr. Paige must be the guilty party?" suggested the reporter.
For answer to this question Mr. Hord replied: "Mr. Huntington won't pay one dollar of these forged notes, no matter the guilty one is." Mr. Hord says he did not call upon Mr. Paige while in New "What would have been the use?" he queried. Evidently he has strong evidence of Paige's guilt. He has called for the latest

Mr. Hord will start on his return to America as soon as the proper papers are signed. D. R. Paige Sidetracked in London.

A dispatch from Cleveland says: A. C. Hord, who left Cleveland a week ago to visit his father-in-law, John Huntington, in Europe, to ascertain whether the immense amount of paper issued by Paige, Cary & Co., of New York, indorsed with Mr. Huntington's name, is genuine or not, arrived in Dresden to-day. He sent a brief cablegram in cipher to the city to-night, which, apparently, sets at rest all conjectures on the subject.

It says that Mr. Huntington is slightly improved in health and the David R. Paige.

improved in health, and that David R. Paige is in London and has not gone to see Mr. Huntington, who is in Dresden. Most important is the positive declaration that Mr. Huntington has not indorsed any notes for Paige, Cary & Co. since going as surety on $80,000 of paper in April of last year. This is in accordance with the cablegram from Mr. Huntington over a week ago. A New York dispatch says: L. Laflin

Kellog, Mr. Paige's counsel, said to-day that there was no truth in the report of forgery. "I have seen no one who dared to charge it," said he, "except under cover of a newspaper. WHITELAW REID'S WELCOME. PLEASANT GREETING BY THE OHIO has come up for investigation

The Minister, in a Sociable Mood, Makes Characteristic Speech-Depew, McClure, Elkins and Others Also Address the Banqueters-No Politics in the Affair,

NEW YORK, April 9.—[Special.]—The banquet given by the Ohio Society of New York to Hon. Whitelaw Reid, United States Minister to France, at Delmonico's tonight was a whole-souled tribute from about 250 sons of the Buckeye State, mainly members of the society, of which Mr. Reid is one of the Vice Presidents.

The society is purely social in its charac-ter, and includes Democrats as well as Republicans, so that there was a notable mixpublicans, so that there was a notable mixture of prominent public men of varying political opinions, but united in doing nonor to Mr. Reid. General Wager Swayne presided, and at the table with him sat, besides the guest of the occasion, Consul Vicome Paul D'Abzac, Secretary of the Treasury Charles Foster, Secretary of War Stephen B. Elkins, Chauncey M. Depew, A. K. McClure, Murat Halstead, Warner Miller, George W. Childs, Charles A. Dans, D. O. Mills, General Thomas Ewing and St. Clair McElway. Clair McElway.

Many Prominent Men Present, At the heads of the six other tables were John D. Archbold, S. S. Packard, J. C. A. Ward, H. L. Burnett, Calvin S. Brice, and C. L. Hoagland. Others present were Russell Harrison, George Gould, David M. Stone, Richard Smith, John Elderkin, and

The music gallerry was draped with the national colors of the United States and of France surrounding the coat of arms of the State of Ohio. The menu was a work of art. The dinner was enjoyable, and by the time the coffee was reached the company was in excellent humor, and a good chorus joined in the singing of "Comrades." There was a good deal of visiting during the evening, and many of the guests in their rounds stopped to admire the bronze bust of Mr. Heid loaned by the Lotus Club for the occasion.

A Saturday Night Feast of Reason. The dinner was served with unusual celerity, mainly for the reason that there was a good deal of talking to be done, and was a good deal of taking to be done, and also because Chairman Swayne is a good enough Presbyterian to desire the cessation of the festivities before Sunday. So he banished the waiters at 9 P. M., and led off with a happy welcome to Mr. Reed, who, he said, had at the bidding of Horace Greeley, 'come East, young man.'

Mr. Reid's response was filled with happy allusions to the society and its distinguished members, and especially to personal friends of his among the journalists present. He was followed by Chauncey Depew, Secretary Elkins, Colonel A. K. McClure, St. Clair McElway and President Lawrence, of the Lotos Club. All of the speeches were highly laudatory of the guest of the even-ing. The only politics injected in them was Mr. Reid's suggestion of Calvin S. Brice's name as a candidate for President.

THEY HANGED HIS PAPA.

Virginia Mob Wrests a Father From His Baby Boy's Side-The Victim Was a Colored Man Held for Assault - Protested His Innocence, NORFOLK, April 9.-[Special.]-A body of 75 or 80 masked men about 11 o'clock last was in jail at Charles City Court House, charged with assault upon a young lady from the jail and hanged him to a tree in the Court House yard. They surrounded the house of the Sheriff while they broke into the jail. Sheriff Nance awoke and came out, when he was ordered to go back. He refused, and after a few moments the crowd left him, but the deed had been very quietly done in the meantime.

An experienced locksmith must have opened the door, as it was double locked and the locks very strong. A little son of the negro was staying with him. The boy says that the men entered the jail with pistols in hand and told Brandon to cross hands behind him. He asked them if hands behind him. He asked them if they were going to hang him. They told him that they were. He said: "Well, you are going to hang an innocent man."
"You shan't hang my papa," cried the little fellow, clinging to his trembling father. The boy was forced back into the not known. His body was found hanging the next morning. No person here doubts his guilt. The lynching was very thor-oughly and quietly arranged, and no one has the least idea of where it started or who the parties were. The negroes around the scene of the lynching are greatly excited, and trouble is feared. A race war occurred at this point some time ago. A FREAK INFATUATION.

One Lady Teacher Falls Madly in Lov With Another of Her Own Sex.

NEW BRIGHTON, April 9.-[Special.] A remarkable case of love at first sight, in which both of the parties are of the gentler sex, has come to light here. In one of the rooms of a public school in this place is a young lady teacher, handsome and accomplished, with a countenance winning and pleasing. In the neighboring town of Beaver resides another young lady, a member of one of the leading families of the place, who is also good looking, educated

Among the teachers who attended the county institute at Beaver during the holi-days was the young lady first referred to. The Beaver lady saw her there and was smitten at the first glance, and soon wrote her a letter overrunning with expressions of adoration and asking to be permitted to call. Accompanying the letter was a bou-quet and a box of confections. The New Brighton lady granted the request and an extraordinary interview followed, the caller betraying every evidence of a sincere, deep love. Letters followed with bouquets and small presents and finally a flat proposal of marriage was made. To this letter, of course, the lady from this place made no answer. Some months ago the family of the Beaver lady moved to Allegheny, where they now reside, but letters still come to the lady at this place, who is thoroughly

Rev. Dr. James F. Spalding Returns to the Episcopal Church Again.

DESERTED IT LAST FALL

And Publicly Announced the Catholic the One True Church.

EXTRACTS FROM HIS FAREWELL. Cardinal Gibbons, Who Administered His

First Communion, Silent. OTHER CHANGES IN AFFILIATIONS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] CAMBRIDGE, MASS., April 9.—Rev. Dr. James F. Spalding, who, when rector of Christ Church in this city last year, created a sensation by embracing Catholicism, has returned to the Episcopal Church. He has made no statement as yet.

A special to THE DISPATCH from Baltinore says: Rev. James F. Spalding's espousal of the Catholic Church last November caused something of a sensation her His intention to return to the Episco Church was unknown to Cardinal Gibbons, who officiated at the time Mr. Spalding received his first communion. The Cardinal, when informed of the change of faith to-day, remarked, "Ah, poor man," and gravely shook his head, but would say no more.

It is learned here that this is not the first nor the second time that Mr. Spalding ehanged faith. He was originally a Lutheran, then became a Baptist, then an Episcopalian, and then a Catholic. Now he has returned to the Episcopal Church. While here he contributed to the Catholic Mirror. Mr. Edmund Harmange, the editor, at the request of Cardinal Gibbons, gave him employment.

He Made the Change Deliberately. Dr. Spalding announced his determination to be a Catholic to his Cambridge congregation November 29 last, when he delivered a long sermon giving his reasons for his action. He said that rationalism drove him from the Episcopal Church, in which there was too much freedom of thought and action. Dr. Spalding denied that he had taken the step hastily and gave in detail the investigations which led to his change of faith. Among the other things he said: I cannot call myself hasty in arriving at conclusions which it has taken me many years to reach. I will say at once that what first set me thinking in the direction which has resulted thus far in my giving up the rectorship was the rationalism, the free-thinking and the unbelieving in the Episcopal Church and the entire Anglican community. The rationalistic spirit belongs more or less to us all. We have our intellect, our reason as God's gift, and we are to use it in its legitimate sphere. But, having seen a revelation from God in his Church and in the history of it as it was first given to the world, we are not left to our own conflicting thoughts in deciding great questions of belief and faith. It is utter freedom, thinking and believing without restraint, individualism that will not be guided, and we have all seen it in this church spreading and grewing, branching up in our midst, a form Questions of Inspiration and Grace I have heard the holy notion of grac neered at, and you remember how differ ently St. Paul speaks of grace. I have heard from a source which you, perhaps, little think,that the grace of God was as much given A postles for their work I must not go on s with my reason. The rationalism in communion, so ignoring or opposing the principal authority, set me, as I say, thinking whether this Church really had the auhority which some of us supposed it pro-essed to have, but did not exercise. And then whether any other branch, acting on this same theory, also claimed the authority and exercised it.

this same theory, also claimed the authority and exercised it.

This was a short process of inquiry; for everybody knows that the Roman Catholic Church claims it and exercises in defense of the ancient creed the maintenance of the cardinal doctrines of the orthodox faith. Was the Catholic Church, then, the true church, and the Anglican Church, though holding so much of Catholic truth, not the true church, except as a branch cut off? I feel that my long investigation is practically at an end, and a month ago I was so far advanced toward the position of the Catholic Church and so far removed from the Anglican Church that I could not conscientiously continue in the discharge of my tiously continue in the discharge of my ministerial duties. sumption March 16 last, with a view of as certaining if the lad's illness, was hastened by ill treatment at the Huntingdon Reforms tory, of which he was an inmate nearly up to the time of his death, a verdict of death from natural causes was reached. The testimony of the Assistant Superintendent, the Reformatory Hospital and attended Dickerson, and the physician, denied cruel treatment. It had been necessary to strap Dickerson down on account of his habits.

The jury returned a verdict of exhaustion, The jury returned a verdict of exhaustion, due to consumption; that death was, also, due to exposure. Deputy Coroner Dugan refused to accept the verdict in that form, stating that there was no evidence of exposure. The boy had been on light employment for five months previous to his death and was well taken care of. The jury then modified its verdict, and said death was due to exhaustion following consumption.

"General Sigel" Miller is engaged at writing a history of his life and the adventures of the unlawful moonshine band of which he was chief. This autobiography is not intended for publication, at least not for the present, but is meant merely as a guide for his attorneys. It will give them a full insight into the workings of the "New Constitution," an organization of moonshiners over which his rival, Hochstetler, presided, and many other features that would be interesting reading to the people of Western Pennsylvania should it ever be published.

DETROIT'S DEADLY DANGER. Whole Neighborhood of Poles in Conta

With Typhus Victims. DETROIT, April 9.—The origin of the ase of typhus that was discovered here yesterday, is somewhat of a mystery. Four passengers on the steamer Ghelert, which arrived in New York three weeks ago with a number of typhus cases on board, have come to Detroit, but they are all in good health. One of them, a Pole named Zlak, lies only a few blocks from the Czapas, the and it is not impossible that the contagion may have come from this source. A more reasonable explanation is that the disease was brought by a family named Rotnow. living almost opposite from the Czapas. The Rotnows arrived in Baltimore sight lays ago on the steamer Carlsrupe and came directly to Detroit. It is not known that there were any cases of contagious disease on the Carlsrupe, but Mrs. Rothnow has informed the City Health Officer that 15 children died on the voyage She thought the deaths occurred from scar-let fever, but was not sure. The officials at Baltimore do not take the same precautions as at other ports, and the official was not informed of the arrival of the Carlsrupe with the disease on board. The Rotnows have small children who have played with the Csapas children. The situation is alarming. The house, which is a seven-room cottage, contains two large families, the members of which have been passing freely in and out of the chamber of the fever-stricken patient since last Monday, when the child was first taken sick.

For Six Years the Disease Had Twisted Her Limbs Out of Shape.

FATHER ADAMS HEALS A CANCER

IBY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.1 LONDON. April 9.-The following extraordinary story of a miracle at Lourdes was printed here to-day over the signature of Edward Wolsey. The gentleman says: On March 13 I was at Lourdes and was just leaving the grotto after hearing mass at the Basilica, where I saw a young girl carried on a bed by four men. She was white like a corpse, her limbs and head were twisted and she was blind. She was carried into the Piscane. I returned to our hotel and had hardly arrived when the landlady rushed in to tell me that this young girl had been completely cured. I at once got permission to go to see Madame De La Guerre with a friend, with whom I was traveling. We found her in the greatest joy at the wonderful cure of her daughter,

Mme. De La Guerre. Leading Doctors Gave Her Up. The mother told us the young lady had been paralyzed for the last six years and had had all the best doctors in Paris, but she only got worse. Eight months ago she was advised to take her as a last chance to Geneva and try hot baths. After taking the baths for two months she got a fresh stroke and was struck blind. They then determined to take her to Lourdes and there beg for her a cure from Our Lady. No cure was made the first day, and next day the invalid was sent in a carriage from Lourdes station. On entering the Piscane and being bathed in the water she was suddenly and instantly made well, her contorted limbs were restored to their right position and her eye-sight completely restored. Her mother asked us if we would like to see her daughter, so we went in. The window was wide open, the sun was pouring into the room and the girl was facing the light, but she said she did not feel the glare in the

She seemed the very picture of health and animation. All the particulars told us by her family were confirmed by the doctor who came with her from Geneva. He also told us that so little did he expect her recovery that he had not even gone to the Grotto with her. However, the miracle was witnessed by an English Protestant doctor who hapmed to be at Lourdes, and he has signed a pened to be at Lourdes, and he has signed a declaration that the cure was utterly be-youd medical power and that the girl is perfectly cured, her legs and arms dropping into their natural position, while her eyes became bright and clear when a minute previously she had been blind and a hopeless

RIVALS FATHER MOLLINGER Father Adams, of Brooklyn, Reported to Have Cured Cancer and Lameness.

KINGSTON, April 9. - [Special,-Two remarkable cases of cure by faith and prayer brought about by visits to the Rev. Thomas Adams, of Brooklyn, have just taken place. Mrs. James Finan, a widow about 45 years old, resides at Creeklocks in the Ulster cement region. For the past five years she has been a great sufferer from a cancer on her left breast. Recently her entire left side became affected and the arm hung limp and useless.

Mrs. Finan decided as a last hope, local physicians having given up her case as in-curable, to visit Father Adams. She had to be carried from her home to a carriage to take a train for New York. She returned this week, and has since suffered neither ache nor pain, can use the afflicted arm and walk as well as ever. walk as well as ever.

The other case was that of a child named Elsie Connolly, living at Rock Lock, a short panied by her mother, who carried the braces, for which her daughter had no furlistance from Mrs. Finan. She was unable o walk without the use of iron braces to strengthen her limbs. After visiting Father Adams she returned home accom-

RIOT IN BELLEVUE. An Officer Attacked by Rowdies-He Secures Assistance and a Pitched Battle in a Quarry Follows-Several Men Injured and One Arrest Made. Bellevue had the sensation of its history last night. Ahout 9 o'clock Officer William Bagley saw William Hauser, Jr., Charles Hauser and William Kerr standing on a street corner. They were creating a disturbance, and he told them to move on. They re-fused. A fight followed in which Bagley was knocked down. The three men then jumped on him and taking his mace hammered his head almost to jelly.

Bagley got away from the men and ran to the store of W. H. Straw. Mr. Straw secured the services of Constable Morrison and a party of eight or ten men. Morrison went to Alderman Barr in West Bellevue and secured warrants, and then the party started in pursuit of the men. The men were found near the Bellevue station, but when they saw the officer coming they ran down to a stone quarry nearby. The pur-suers followed and the two parties met. Bagley, though badly injured, followed the party. When Constable Morrison came up to the men he attempted to arrest them. Kerr got away in the dark, but the Hauser boys stayed. The Hausers told the officer to read his warrant. He started to do it, and while thus engaged the men knocked him down. Kerr then ran up with a stone and hit the constable in the face, breaking his nose. Bagley then came and tried to assist in arrest, but was too weak to do anything. He called for help, and the citizens closed in and a free for all fight followed. Stones flew like hail, and Mr. Straw was struck on the head with one. The handcuffs were finally put on Chas. Hauser, but the fight kent up. Morrison was again but the fight kept up. Morrison was again felled, and while Kerr was trying to hit him he pulled his revolver and shot three times at Kerr, but missed him. This broke the fight, and the two men escaped, and up to 1 o'clock had not been caught. Charles

Hauser was held in $500 bail. Bagley's condition is considered
