

MAYWORK ALL NIGHT.

The License Judges Run Against a Few Hard Cases Which GREATLY DELAY THE PROCEEDINGS

Putting in Many Hours a Day in Order to Finish Up the List.

ALL THE NEWS OF THE COUNTY COURTS

License Court had another long day yesterday. It did not complete the day's work until nearly 7:30. There were a few cases on the list that consumed a great deal of time, one applicant in the morning and another in the afternoon, taking up in all over three hours.

The applicants from Homestead, Knoxville, Mansfield and Millvale boroughs will be heard Monday, if possible. This makes a list of 99 names, and if such cases as were found yesterday come up again, Court may sit all night Monday night.

Belts-over Borough, which has no saloons now, has five applicants—August Drewes, Thomas W. Drake, Ernest Farrrell, Valentine Koffler and Chris Pfaukirch. For all of these witnesses were brought forward to testify that the places were necessary.

Charities borough had a long list in which but little of interest was developed. Rev. J. L. Dittmar was again a witness. He testified for the applicant, Julius Gottfried. The applicant was Eliza Adams, F. C. Leeb, Patrick Connors, Ferdinand Detig, Julius Gottfried, Alfonso Greck, John Harmsen, Frank Soaks, August Michalowski, Adam Weiser, M. O'Keefe, Joseph Paul, Jacob Rappel, Andrew Roach, Charles Schuck and Conrad Schaffer.

One Applicant From Coraopolis. Coraopolis, with one applicant, took up more time than all the rest. The applicant is Joseph Alexander, and he has arrayed against him the borough Council and most of the people. He mustered four witnesses and the petition against him had 374 signatures. The borough in the prohibition campaign cast 90 votes for and 16 against the proposition. The borough Council men in the village is a place of residence, not a factory existing there; that there is no necessity for a saloon; that they have never had a policeman, and fear that if a saloon is started there policemen will be necessary.

Thomas Bain and George W. Booth, of Duquesne, were heard, and the court took a recess.

Charles Downey, corner of Railroad street and Grant avenue, Duquesne, was the first applicant called after the noon recess, and his examination continued for nearly two hours. His is the banner case of the present License Court. Not one of the previous applicants has had such opposition. Mayor Metz vs. Kennedy, and S. U. Trent had had a remonstrance against Downey. The latter has had a license for two years, during which he was charged with the commission of numerous violations known in the law, that he is a man of intemperate habits, that almost nightly brawls were the rule in his home. About 25 witnesses, including all of the prominent citizens of the borough were called in support of the charges.

Blamed the Opposition on Politics. A factional fight in politics seemed to be at the root of the opposition to Mr. Downey, and his examination continued for the fifth of the 60 people who had signed the remonstrance were either defeated candidates or they had friends who had been in the heat of the political fight, and their hand it was charged that the people who appeared in behalf of Downey were only trying to gain his political favor. It seems that the opposition to Downey is due to the influence of liquor and his place had a very bad reputation.

George Fisher, aged 20 years, testified to his knowledge of Downey's character. Thomas said he had frequently notified Downey not to sell to his father, but the applicant had continued to sell. A man named Fulton said his wife had given an amount of $300. He was a man of intemperate habits, and after spending a part of the money in Downey's place, died of delirium tremens.

Wine vs. Charesse Against Downey. Seward Oliver said Downey was a man of known intemperate habits, and that one day this week he appeared in court under the influence of liquor. Officer Weisser described a number of his witnesses that testified against Downey, and he had seen in and about Downey's place.

Downey, who is a one-armed man, stood the ordeal he was put through without a flush of the face, and made a vigorous denial of the charges made against him.

Attorney W. M. Price had a remonstrance against P. J. Howard, of the Township road, near Cochran street, charging him with selling to men of intemperate habits.

Edward T. Floyd said he would keep a restaurant if he gets a license, which is contrary to the wishes of the court, and witnesses applicants to be keeping a restaurant before they get a license.

John Morris has been on the refused list for four years, and an addition having been charged once with selling without license. Melchor Wolf was the last applicant from Duquesne borough. He is a new man.

Charged With Non-Residence. M. A. Woodard appeared against Hugh Lyran, 77 Bridge street, Duquesne, charging that he was not a resident, and that all the signatures to his petition had been secured upon the representations of a friend of the applicant.

There was a remonstrance against Leonard Nicklous, of Etna borough, charging him with being a man of intemperate habits and selling to others of the same kind. He denied this.

W. S. McClatchey, Burgess of Eplian borough, appeared in behalf of Charles H. Hawkins, John K. Seaman, James McNeil, A. Neish, Mary C. Price, John Venitz, Albert Ross, Michael Saitzer, Peter Stinner.

Etna Borough—Joseph Ackerman, G. A. Bechtel, Frank J. A. D. Crans, Joseph Reedy, C. F. Stoll.

Eplian—John Fahy.

Green Tree—Jacob Steffort and Jacob Steintreiber.

Suit Against a Street Railway. J. H. Pryce entered suit yesterday against the Second Avenue Passenger Railway Company for $2,000 damages for alleged injuries suffered November 21, 1921, at Third avenue and Smithfield street. He was driving a wagon loaded with his household furniture and was struck by a car of the defendant company. The wagon was wrecked and the furniture ruined. Pryce was severely injured.

Errecting a New Borough. Attorney H. L. Castle yesterday filed in the Quarter Sessions Court a petition for the incorporation of Turtle Creek borough.

It was directed to be laid before the grand jury. The new borough is to be created out of portions of Patton and Wilkes townships. The petition filed yesterday was the second for this borough, the first having been dismissed because it was not properly advertised.

A BIG FAILURE

OF A BROADWAY, NEW YORK, CLOTHING FIRM.

Read This Carefully, and Wait Until Wednesday, April 13.—P. C. C. C. Clothiers, Corner Grant and Diamond Streets.

One of the largest wholesale clothing houses on Broadway, New York, clothing firm was unable to come to a satisfactory agreement with their creditors as to their actual liabilities, so the entire new spring stock was sent to us to be closed out rapidly.

Bear in mind that the firm failed did not pay a single cent for the entire stock, and that's why it was sent to us to be sold at retail at 50 cents on the dollar. This firm was unable to come to a satisfactory agreement with their creditors as to their actual liabilities, so the entire new spring stock was sent to us to be closed out rapidly.

The opinion then states that a witness attending court for the trial of a case is privileged from arrest or the service of a writ while at court and also coming and returning. No testimony was taken on the day set, yet this did not make any difference. They were citizens of Maryland and it was not contrary to the Maryland constitution to send a service on citizens of Pennsylvania under similar circumstances. On the principle of comity the service should be set aside.

The original motion and rule to quash the writ was modified to set aside the service.

TWO UNHAPPY MARRIAGES. Dissatisfied Wives Ask the Court to Break Their Bonds.

Two suits for divorces were entered yesterday. Attorney R. F. Clever filed the suit of Hattie Snyder against Adam Snyder. They were married October 8, 1883, and separated in February, 1892. She alleges that he was unfaithful, and names Miss L. Bishop as co-respondent.

Attorneys Brown & Lambie filed the suit of Cora C. Collins, by her next friend, W. Johnston, against Zephaniah B. Collins. They were married March 17, 1878, and separated March 31, 1892. She charges him with cruelty and infidelity, and says she was finally compelled to leave him.

Monday's Trial Lists. Common Pleas Court No. 1.—Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company vs. Spring Steel and Iron Company; same vs. Isabella Furnace Company; Gourley vs. borough of Bradwood; Palmer vs. Marshall; Boyles vs. Boyles; McMaister vs. Negley.

Common Pleas No. 2.—Pittsburgh Supply Company, Limited, vs. Union Ice Company et al.; Geyro & Metz vs. Kennedy; Bardley vs. the Western Pennsylvania Exposition Society; Latimore & Bro. vs. the Dwelling House Insurance Company; Lloyd for use vs. same; O'Donnell vs. the Enlow Oil Company; Leach vs. Brewster et al.; Young vs. Seufft et ux; O'Brien vs. Langhaur.

THE WONDERFUL SUCCESS

We achieved at our Grand Spring Opening the past week was nearly as great a surprise to us as to the public. We expected a good-sized crowd, but we were overwhelmed. Over 3,000 people passed through our doors, and our books show the number of sales in one day to be greater than we formerly made in one week. These enormous sales are still increasing.
