THE WEEK OF PASSION

Entered Upon With Solemn Rites in the Catholic Churches.

EPISCOPAL SERVICES EVERY DAY.

Christ Without a Parallel in the History of the Ages.

TOPICS DISCUSSED BY CITY PASTORS

Notwithstanding the inclement weather yesterday, Palm Sunday was observed by aree congregations at the Enisconal and Catholic churches. At the Cathedral the services consisted of solemn high mass and the blessing and distribution of palms. There were no decorations, everything being as simple as possible. Next Wednesday evening Tenebrae will commence, and continue through Thursday and Friday. On Good Friday Rev. Father McKeever will deliver a sermon on the Passion. Holy Thursday will be observed by blessing the oils used by the priests during the following year, while on Saturday the baptismal font will be consecrated. On Easter Sunday the Bishop of the diocese will celebrate Pontifical High Mass. The interior of the Cathedral will be gorgeously decorated with flowers and evergreens, while the choir will render inspiring music selected especially for the occasion.

At the Episcopal churches the beginning of Holy Week was also appropriately cele-brated. The chancels were tastefully festooned with cut flowers and evergreens. Palms and other plants blended beautifully with the variegated colors of the flow-ers. At most of the churches there will be services every day this week at Il A. M., except Friday, when there will be two services, at Il M. and at 3 r. M. On Easter Sunday the churches will be profusely decorated. the churches will be profusely decorated, more beautifully than on any other day, and entertaining musical programmes will

CHRIST WITHOUT A PARALLEL

The Only Great Leader Whose Life Cannot Be Explained.

At the Central Presbyterian Church, An derson street, Allegheny, Rev. A. B. McCormick yesterday morning preached on the subject, "Christ the Product of His Age." His theme was a novel one in that he argued by simple reasoning, aside from all theological views, that Christ to have been what He was at the time He came upon the earth must have been more than human. His text was from Isaish, "He shall grow up as a root out of dry ground." He opened by saying that every man is forced to have an oninion about Christ. There is some power about the person of Christ and a man making the claims he does. His miraculous origin, his wonderful life upon which the church is based and the changes he has made in human history all unite to force one to express some opinion about this great man. Continuing the pastor said:

"Every effect in the natural world must have its adequate cause. Every great man He was at the time He came upon have its adequate cause. Every great man is marked by the are he lives in, and is limited by the possibilities of that age. Sometimes he forces ahead into the century that follows, but each time we know the causes, We know the causes that made Moses, Paul, Alexander, Hannibal, Napoleon, Wellington or the life of Christ?

"The first century was one of barrenness, collideally, religiously and morally. Such an age might have produced a reformer, but a could not have produced a Christ, for in His coming and living with men He gave His coming and living with men He gave bumanity a new faith, a new hope, a new knowledge, a new conception of God. We can see the source of the inspirations of Buddha and Mahomet, but whence have thrist's blographers gotten His nicture—out of trials, out of their traditions, out of their experience? No; this one calmed to be God's son, savior of men; one who deutified himself with God, himself the curree of anthority, and who proved all His liaims by the character of His teachings. Its perfect life, and who gas triumphant wer death. Look at Christ with such a sentury for a background and the cause for uch a man to spring from such an effect is to there. I leave it to every man, whether is has a religion or not, to say if a parallel or Christ is ever to be found in the world's distory."

A TALK TO YOUNG MEN.

Polite Manners Ins-parable From the Prac tice of True Christianity.

Rev. J. A. Douthett, of Remington, Pa. breached last night to young men at the Fourth United Presbyterian Church, Hesaid every young man should, be an example in record, in manner of life, in love, in faith and in purity. Nothing is so detrimental to the peace and prosperity of domestic life or the life of a church as a bad tongue. The teachings of Scripture will uphold this as-sertion. In the manner of life a young man's deportment has as much to do with his success and usefulness as anything else. If he does not deport himself properly he can never expect to rise above the common level. There can be no doubt that purity exerts a refining influence and molds character, making its possessor thoughtful, considerate and polite. An impure person, as a general thing, its nucouth, ill-mannered and trausgresses the rules of etiquette. The speaker declared that a person is not a Christian unless he has a love for some sort of benevolence. Many have not much money to give, but they should freely give a portion of what they have. Above all, a Christian must be strong in faith—a faith that prompts the serving of others; a deportment has as much to do with his suc that prompts the serving of others; if the that believes that all things are the k of the Lord for some good puree. Purity is the most precious of that can be possessed, but easily tarnished. Once lost it can be repained. One act has destroyed whole future happiness of many a man, most lamentable words in the English gauge are, "It might have been." He admished his hearers not to do as thousands -juny "do not lead us into temptation," then hang around saloons and other hang around saloons and other

Success Follows Religious Faith. After responsive reading of the 115th and li6th Psalms at the Trinity M. E. Church hast night Rev. W. P. Warner preached from the text: "And He said my presence shall go with thee and I will give thee rest." He said that if a person places his faith in the Lord and relies on Him, he will the Lord and relies on Him, he will be successful. As an example of this he related the daring bravery of Chinese Gordon mounting the English flag on the ramparts and shot and shell without being touched. Gordon placed his faith in the Lord and was protected. If Moses, away back in the dark ages, had such power with the Lord by means of prayer, as was shown in his successful plea in behalf of the Children of Israel, what miracles could be wrought by men in the present day if they wrought by men in the present day if they were faithful. A single step will decide the future—eternal life or eternal death. Life is too precious to spend much time in choosing the side. An intelligent man should be able to rendily decide whether he would prefer to stand with the trumpet of victory on the ast any or be consigned to eternal punish

The Bible Is Genuine.

Bev. Dr. Izer preached his ninth sermon in the series last evening on the Bible and the nineteenth century. His subject was "Can the Genuineness and Authenticity of the Bible Be Proved?" He made a strong argument from a religious standpoint to show gument from a religious standpoint to show that the Bible is what it claims to be, a divinely inspired book. He said if the twenty-eighth chapter of Deuteronomy were reserved and all the rest cast aside, this section would prove that the book is genuine. It is where the downfall of the Hebrews and their general scattering over the earth is forstold. The total destruction of the Hebraic nation, even to the siege of Jerusalem, is described, and Josephus, their historian, backed by Roman history, bears witness that the prediction came true.

Too Much Religion of Intellect

Hev. W. S. Lockard preached at the North Avenue M. E. Church, Allegheny. His discourse was much on the style of a camp meeting revival sermon. He spoke on the reception of Christ by Zacharlas. He made a bitter attack on form and conventionalities and said many people were kept from salvation because it was not good form to get down and pray with the people. He said people should take a fall off their high pedestals, and have their hearts in common with those beneath them in the much religion of intellect and not enough religion of the heart. He said people should bow joyfully to God's will and not as a duty.

EFFECTS OF MUSIC. The Grand Opera House Orchestra Brings

Together a Large Crowd. Another large crowd attended the people's service at the Grand Opera House last evening. These meetings demonstrate the power of music to soothe as well as catch, not only of music to soothe as well as catch, not only savages, but good people. On these occasions the Grand Opera House orchestra furnishes a preliminary concert of sacred music that is very entertaining. Some of the music is not sacred in the strict sense, but it is of a dignified character and the crowd enjoys it. The March Coronation, the Ave Maria and the "Angel Song," a trombone solo by Dietz, were some of the musical features last evening.

were some of the musical features last evening.

J. B. Koehne preached a good sermon on spiritual evolution. He referred to the work of Father Sheedy in purifying the Point, and people said it was good. He added that the police power of the city could be invoked to drive out the inhabitants, but the question is where would they go and what would become of them. The religious system is so formed as to take in even these people, and he was glad of it. He spoke of heredity, and showed what effect it had, on the human rape. The fact that a man whose great-grandfather had been hung should develop into a good man and citizen demonstrates the possibility of spiritual evolution.
