AN AGGRESSIVE BODY.

Chamber of Commerce Proposes to Continue Its Efforts to PUSH PITTSBURG TO THE FRONT.

The Membership to Be Shortly Increased to 600 or 1,000.

PREPARING FOR A GRAND BANQUET

The Chamber of Commerce has determin ed to contine and improve upon its efforts to keep Pittsburg in the front rank of the cities of the world. To this end it was determined at yesterday's meeting that the business men of the city must be impressed with the necessity of being connected with the chamber, that their efforts may not fail for lack of unanimity. The present membership is 290, and it was decided that this figure should be raised to 600 or even 1,000. That the men who make Pittsburg what it is may thoroughly understand the objects and aims of the Chamber of Commerce a banquet will be given next month at which these matters will be discussed. A committee of 15 will be appointed by President Kelly to make the necessary arrangements.

In connection with the necessity of creating more interest in the work of the Chamber of Commerce, Colonel T. P. Roberts, Chairman of the committee having the matter in charge, presented the following report at the monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the Academy of Science build-ives of Western Pennsylvania This is not the place to recount the past doings of the chamber, though the theme would be one well worthy of the orator. Nevertheless, for the information of those outside our organization, it is proper to state that the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburg that the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburg stands as the representative of everything which concerns the welfare of the people of Western Pennsylvania. In national and in State legislation there are no general bills of public interest, such as concern river and harbor improvements, bridges over navigable streams, public buildings, postal regulations, finance, bankruptcy, increase of the navy, and regulations affecting transportation and railroads, national as well as local, road improvements, etc., with which the chamber does not concern itself either singly, or in conjunction with other similar bodies in other cities, and has proved its ability to be an effective guardian of Pittsburg's interests. Very frequently our Sentors and Representatives, both in Congress and in the State Legislature, have ached upon the advice of the chamber in measures of importance.

A Quasi-Legislative Body.

A Quasi-Legislative Body,

There are many things proposed to legis-lators affecting business interests, of which they hear little from the public, save as it is intors affecting business interests, of which they hear little from the public, save as it is voiced in these regularly organized chambers or exchanges, and in this one respect at least they may be considered quasi-lerislative bodies. Sometimes, also, the city councils are appealed to by the chamber, and the officials of the city, upon a number of occasions, have voluntarily releared matters for advice to us which have concerned the interests of the mercantile and manufacturing community.

Through the chamber representative committees of Pittsburgers are annually sent to Washington or to Harrisburg to speak for her when occasions arise, and rogreat National convention dealing with subjects of interest to the community is anywhere held where the delegates of the chamber fail to appear.

In another way the chamber's influence has been exerted when it becomes the spokesman of the city and the distributer or aims at great public calamites. In some of these instances thousands of dollars have been given to the distressed people in distant States, and the money unostentiously raised almost altogether among the comparatively lew members of the chamber, though in every such instance the gifts have been made in the name of the people of Pittsburg, through its agent, the Chamber of Commerce.

Not Organized for Personal Benefit.

Not Organized for Persona! Benefit. The chamber is not organized to reap any benefit or claim any glory for itself as a body. Nor is it in any sense a mutual pro-body. Nor is it in any sense a mutual protective association, but it seeks at all times and in every fair and legatimate way to spread abroad the fame of the Iron City and the great Keystone State.

Again, the chamber from time to time, by the compilation of the statistics of this great commercial and manufacturing district, and the printing and widespread district, and the printing and widespread distribution of the same, stands forth as the advertiser of the city's wares, and every merchant or manufacturer or firm included in the wast aggregate must surely reap some benefit from the work of the chamber.

It is the opinion of the committee that the present membership of 290 could and should be made 600 or even 1,000, and that this can be done if active means be taken to convince the business men or the city of the real value of such an organization. Our business men, or at least many of them, fail to realize their utter dependence and the necessity for co-operation in the common good. Nature has Invored us greatly and the city is growing rapidly, so that our county, which now contains upward of 600,000 population, will soon claim 1,000,000 souls.

Must Prepare for Rivalry. Must Prepare for Rivalry.

Nevertheless, this vast aggregation of wealth and population is dependent upon wealth and population is dependent upon other regions for its support, and in which regions it will meet some very active and aggressive business rivals. None of these rivals are yet ahead of us in our greatest specialties, but they are with us now. Now there are many new and promising departments which require our fostering care. In all the great Western cities the work of the chambers of commerce and exchanges embraces the majority of the business firms among their members and supporters, and they stand united in their work for the general good. Pittsburg must do the same thing if she hopes to maintain her relative position among the great financial, mercantile and manufacturing cities of the country.

After the adoption of the report of the committee, a lengthy discussion took place as to the best manner in which to arouse interest in the workings of the chamber among the public. Captain John F. Dravo condemned the general apathy of the public and their lack of appreciation of the good work being done by the chamber. Similar remarks were made by Dr. Allison, Colonel T. P. Roberts and others.

Want Handsome Quarters.

Captain W. P. Herbert then said: "I don't want to find any fault with the committee that have been appointed to select new rooms for the chamber to hold meet-ings in, but I am far from satisfied with the ings in, but I am far from satisfied with the rooms that have been selected in the new Germania Bank bu'lding. If it was a matter of economy to select the amall back room, I don't see that the chamber is reduced to such straits that it is necessary to hold meetings in a cubby hole, on account of a money consideration. The rooms are too small. I don't care, nor think the chamber should care what the cost is. Our rooms should not be such as to reflect upon the dignity or importance of the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce."

Morrison Foster, Captain Batchelor, Col-

Morrison Foster, Captain Batchelor, Col-onel Roberts and Captain Dravo all echoed Captain Herbert's opinion Dravo an echoeu
Captain Herbert's opinion.

President Kelly said that that had been his opinion right along, but that he did not find any fault with the committee, as they were acting upon instructions.

Captain Dravo made a motion that the Committee on Rooms and the Executive Committee be instructed not to sub-let any of the rooms or take any further action until the next meeting. This motion was approved and the meeting adjourned.

One of the Richest Mines

Ever discovered is the mine of health that is found in a bottle of Hostester's Stomach Bitters. Its "output" is unprecedented. Richly does it "pan out" in the paying ores of vitality and regularity of organic action. The debilitated should work this mine for "all it is worth." So also should the constipated, the bilious, the dyspeptic, the rheumatic, and persons troubled with inactivity of the kidneys or bladder and la grippe.

JESUITS IN BROOKLYN PULPITS Lead to the Bellef that Bishop McDo

Will Make Some Changes. New York, April 18.—[Special.]—The fact that two Jesuits preached in Brooklyn to-day has started talk to the effect that when day has started talk to the effect that when Bishop McDonnell assumes charge of the diocese, one of the first acts will be to invite the Jesuits and other religious orders to locate in the diocese. The late Bishop Loughlin did not care to place priests of the religious orders in charge of churches. He used to say they could not be controlled as the secular priests are. The Jesuits who preached in Brooklyn to-day were Rev. William O'Brien Pardow, President of St. Francis Xavier's College in New York, who occunied the pulpit in St. Charles Borromeo's Church, and Rev. Patrick A. Halpin, Vice President of the college, who delivered tile Easter sermon in St. Patrick's Church.

Church.

People in Brooklyn say it is but natural that Bishop-elect McDonnell should want the Jesuite to settle in that city. He was educated in this city, and has often been referred to as one of their brighest graduates. The new bishop to-day began his retreat, preparatory to his consecration, at the institution of the Jesuits on Keyser Island, in Long Island sound.
