the merest accident. The letter shows that it was prepared in the city of Washington, at the headquarters of the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union, of which C. W. Macune is chairman of the Executive Board. It also bears the approval of L. L. Polk, President of the Alliance, and three members of the Executive Board, Messra C. W. Macune, Alonzo Wardwell and J. F. Tillman. The communication opens with a fraternal and brotherly greeting, and proceeds to say :

This is the most critical period in the history of the order. There is a universal cry from the order to their officers for direction how to conduct the local fight. Never has there been so little concert of action among the officers of the different States and see tions. This, if allowed to continue, must be fatal. Concert of action is necessary, and fatal. Concert of action is necessary, and success cannot be obtained without it. The political contest threatens the destruction of the order. A lack of cohesive and uniform action by the order threatens the political slaughter of the free council by all the executive officers. The emergency is great, and the necessity for full and free council by all executive officers is greater than at any time in the history of the movement. movement

COLUMBUS, O., April 22 .- [Special.]-Secretary of the Treasury Charles Foster left on the evening train for Fostoria. He received a large number of calls from friends during the day, but his visit was regarded with more or less political significance. He was at the Governor's office during a portion of the day, and among the callers was Auditor of State Poe, who stated in an interview in Washington this week that he thought Foster ought to be barred out of Ohio politics for the present. Mr. Foster remarked to Poe to-day that he supposed he would be permitted to call on his old friends, and the Auditor thought that that was the proper thing. In a later conversation Secretary Foster said Poe denied the interview as reported, but the Sec-retary thinks Poe must have made some such statements to the correspondent or he would not have thought of sending out such to-day Mr. Hoar, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill to amend section 6, of the revised statutes, which authorizes ap-peals to the Circuit Court of the United States from State courts in cases where the person convicted claimed to have acted under the authority of any statute of the United States under the authority of any foreign power. The amendment is to add to the section the words: "Provided that said appeal shall not stay execution in capital cases, unless accompanied by an order from the Judge from whose decision such appeal is taken, restraining the Sheriff or other officer from executing sentence of the trial Judge."

An explanation of the matter was made by Mr. Hoar, who gave as an illustration of the need of the proposed legislation the case of a wife murderer in New Jersey who had pleaded guilty and been sentenced to death, but for whom an appeal had been taken on the ground that the Constitution of the United States provided a jury trial in all capital cases. The bill was passed, with an additional

They contended that the prosecution against Schneider was not malicious, and was instituted by the Retail Liquor Deal-ers' Association. amendment: "Or unless such order be obtained from some Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States." Army Appropriations Coming Up.

The army appropriation bill was reported and placed on the calendar, Mr. Stewart giving notice that he would call it up on Monday next, provided it did not interfere with the Chinese bill.

The urgent deficiency bill was then taken up and a number of amendments were agreed to, when the calendar was taken up and a lot of unimportant bills passed. After some discussion a bill was passed authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to increase to $12 a month the pension of every pensioner who is now on the rolls at $8 a month on account of services in the Mexi-can War, and who' is wholly disabled for manual labor and is in such destitute cir-cumstances that $8 a month is insufficient to provide him with the necessaries of life. The Chinese exclusion bill was then taken up, and Mr Chandler proceeded to present testimony as to the continuous introduction of Chinese from Canada and British Colum-bia in order to show the need of more of Chinese from Canada and British Colum-bia, in order to show the need of more stringent laws to prevent the influx of Chinese over the land border. He favored the seventh section of the House bill, pro-viding the penalty of imprisonment in a viding the penalty of imprisonment in penitentiary for Chinamen so introduced In the course of his remarks, he referred to the Scott act of October 1, 1888, as a viola-the Scott act of Octoper 1, 1885, as a viola-tion of the treaty with China. The term "violation" did not suit Mr. Teller, who suggested the use of the term "abrogation" or "repeal," but Mr. Chandler said he saw no difference in the terms.

Blair's Opposition to the Scott Law.

In reply to a question by Mr. Hiscock, Mr. Chandler said the Chinese Government had never assented to the partial abrogation of the treaty. It had refused to receive the new Minister from the United States on the ground that Congress had passed the Scott law. He was free to admit that he thought the situation between the American Govern-ment and China a bad one. Reverting to the case of Mr. Blair, he remarked that that

The information against Schneider was made by two detectives named Muncy and McKain. The witnesses against Schneider were two boys, James Alexander and William Kirkpatrick. Alexander was the only witness called. He is a smooth faced youth and he testified that he was 17 years old. He also restified that on the 14th, 15th and 16th of this month he visited Mr. Schneider's bar and purchased from his bar-keeper whisky on each of the three days. Young Alexander's age was definitely fixed and at the request of Mr. Schneider's attorneys the hearing was continued until next week. THE NEW SHAPE

"It is a fight between the Alle-gheny Liquor League, of Allegheny, and, the retailers' association, which is endeavor-ing to spread itself over the entire county. Max Schneider has for some time been President of the Allegheny League. He has been decidedly active in seeing that the law was not violated by the members of his or-ganization, and he has been decidedly offen-sive to the keepers of speak-casies and ille-gal clubs. He has refused to join the Pitts-burg association, and it is hinted that the prosecution has been instituted to force him in. If that be true there will be a lively fight among the retailers of the law in the future. HOW WATTERSON STANDS.

He Cannot Be for Hill and Fears Cley land Can't Win-Good Words for Both but He Thinks the Faction Fight Too Sincere,

WASHINGTON, April 22 -Henry Watterson has been interviewed at length on the political situation from a Democratic standpoint by a Post reporter. Among other things he says:

"I have sometimes said, and I believe it to he true, that it Mr. Cleveland had been as earnest in behalf of Governor Hill as Governor Hill was in behalf of Mr. Cleveland. the latter would now occupy the White House. But in this world wise men take things as they find them. There are some-times wrongs against which it is idle to pro-test, and Governor Hill is the victim of one test, and Governor Hill is the victim of one of these. Two courses were open to him: ignoring himself, he might have made the defeat of the renomination of Mr. Cleveland his objective point, going in for redress and revenge, pure and simple. This course would not have been very large or far-seeing, but it would have been tenable and logical. Or he might have been tenable and logical. Or he might have made pance with Mr. Cleveland, have put himself at the head of the Cleveland movement, uniting the party on and identiput himself at the head of the Cleveland novement, uniting the party on and identi-fying limielf with a great, advancing issue, and, thus leading to a national victory, nave entered the theater of national affairs a Warwick, with no bar sinister upon his escutcheon, but, instead, the enthusiastic gratitude of all Democrats. This course, indeed, was urged upon him in a letter which had the double misfortune to mis-construed when it appeared in print. Nev-ertheless, the letter was written in perfect good faith and good feeling. It was not undertaken without backing and warrant, and but for the mischances which attended it, all shades and classes of Democrats might at this moment be getting together on com-mon ground, Brother Dana himself leading in prayer."

"Do you think it too late for that?" "Do you think it too late for that?" "Yes, I do. The faction fighting has gone too far. The breach is too wide. The feel-ing is too emblithered. Both sides are too confident; yet both are equally mistaken, (Ave Governor Hill the State of New York Give Governor Hill the State of New York for the sake of the argument, and what other of the debatable and necessary States of the North could be carry? At this point in the conversation the re-porter ventured to observe: "You have been guoted, Mr. Watterson, both for and against Mr. Gleveland. How do you really stand?" A Withdrawn Resignation Accepted.

He called attention to the fact that on July 9 Mr. Blair had (for reasons stated in his memorial now before the Senate)written to the State Department as follows: "I withdraw my tender of resignation, and will thank you to inform the President." Dr. Wharton's response to that was: "I have received your letter of the 9th instant, have received your letter of the 9th instant, withdrawing your tender of rekignation; and in accordance with your request, I shall inform the President of your action this afternoon." "And yet," said Mr. Chandler, with much earnestness of manner, "on Oc-tober 6 the President accepted the resigna-tion which had been withdrawn, and there is the accord " is the record."

Mr. Davis, a member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, looked upon the House bill as a rank, radical, unblushing, unmitigated repudiation of every treaty obligation remaining between the United States and China. He said that the Chinese Government was not anxious for its people to come to the United States. But how was it, he asked, with the Governments of the Western hemisphere?

The Cahensly Matter Recalled.

There was more matter for profound consideration, the speaker thought, in the at-tempts of Mr. Cahensly, who had submitted to the Pope, last year, a proposition in-tended to denationalize American institu-tions and to supplant them by the institutions of as many nationalities as were to be found in America, than there was in all the Chinese questions that had arisen since 1858. That gentleman (Mr. Cahensly)) proposed to use the power of the Catholic Hierarchy to bring about that great politi-cal result. He (Mr. Davis) rejoiced that he could speak of the matter without committing the offense of treading on religious ground, because it was infinitely to the credit of Pope Leo XIIL, the greatest statesman who had sat on the Pontifical throne for centuries, that he had repelled the proposition as soon as made to him. That attempt had not been instigated by the American Hiearchy at all. He be-lieved that it met with the reprobation of

Cardinal Gibbons, and he knew that it met with the reprobation of Archbishop Ire-

This Mr. Cahensly, Mr. Davis said, was not a priest but a layman—a member of the Prussian Diet. in the memorial which he presented to the Vatican he claimed that the want of representation of the different nationalities of emigrants in the episcopate was one of the chief causes of desertion on he part of the Catholic forces; and that hence it was desirable that every different national group of emigrants should be or-ganized into a distinct parish, with a priest of its own nationality. It was one of this man's schemes that the various foreign languages should be perpetuated in the United States by the segregation of people eccording to actionality.

coording to nationality. The American People Ignored.

The American People Ignored. How utterly oblivious, said Mr. Davis, he is that there is an American nationality and an American people! Never had there been a more infamous attempt to prostitute re-ligious power to political purposes than was expressed in that memorial. This man, he said, was no inconsiderable man. He was a man who could combine allies. It had been stated that Mr. Schloener, the German rep-resentative at Rome, was in hearty accord with him, and backed up the memorial; and that American families of high rank and royal and noble circles were interested in the scheme, but it was to the glory of the

MICHIGAN FOR ALGER.

Mr. Allen Says Governor McKinley Would Not Accept the Nomination This Time. Ex-Congressman Allen, of Ypsilanti, Mich., was at the Union station last evening going to Washington. He wants the rent of the postoffice in his town raised He says the Government won't put up a new building and the present office is too small. On the subject of politics he had little to say. The Michigan delegation is pledged to General Alger, but he doesn't know to what extent they will support him. Mr. Allen thinks that Harrison and Cleve land will be the nominees. The ex-Con gressman campaigned with McKinley in Ohio last fall. He knows the Governor very well, and he says he will not accept a nomination this time even if it were offered to him. Mr. Allen claims the scheme to boom McKinley 1s without the Major's sanction.

TO HAVE ANOTHER CELEBRATION.

Mayor Gourley Has Big Expectations for Next Fourth of July.

Mayor Gourley proposes to have a Fourth of July celebration this year that will cast all previous demonstrations in the shade. The Mayor says this is the last year of his term of office and he wants to have the celebration particularly grand on that account He expects to attract 250,000 people to Schenley Park on that day, and one of the features will be a $5,000 display of fre-works. He had a conference with Superintendent Luckey yesterday and arranged for a chorus of 1,000 school children between the ages of 12 and 14 years who will take part in the exercises, and who will be drilled in singing for the occasion in the meantime.
