TWO BRISK GAMES PLAYED

Baldwin and Ehret Pitch Well and Dwyer Knocked Out.

A REAL MERRY TIME AT CHICAGO.

Boston Scores Two Victories and Takes a Good Foothold.

ALL THE LEADING BASEBALL NEWS

The annals of Allegheny county cannot furnish a record of a greater day for baseball in Pittsburg than that of yesterday. just what day for local cranks. Two victories in one afternoon against Vonder Ahe is enough to send the enthusiasts of this connty wild. That was place, and 8,500 people witnessed the glorious double and grounds were was a surplus crowd on the field. And such a holiday seen. They were the least good point of the home players, and sent up thousands of groans when things didn't go their way. But there was comparatively little groaning, because the local sluggers were out for tame and glory, and they would not have things go against them. Von Der Abe Was Weary.

Von der Abe could be seen a little during the first game, but as soon as the second one was fairly started the "Poss" disappeared in disgust. It is a fact that during the after-noon hundreds of cranks saw visious of the championship pennant flying in Exposition Park. But aspirations mustn't be as extrava gant as that, because there are much tougher people to come here than the Browns. But, n all fairness, the home team did extremely well in both games and played as well as any other team could reasonably be expected to

The first game was a good one, and at stages matters were so close that a good his by the visitors might have materially affected the result. It was a real argument from start to finish and kept the cranks moving on their seats restive and some-times lil at ease. The slurgers could not get fairly on to the ball, as Kid Gleason was in very effective form. He pitched well and was admirably supported. But the first inning spoiled his chances.

And Baldwin pitched a good game, although he was very shaky now and again. But he always braced up when matters looked dismal, and if he hadn't be would have been beaten. In short he displayed pluck just when it was needed. His support was of the best.

Made a Good Start.

As usual the home team went to bat first, and they began as if they were going to treat Gienson as they had treated Breitenstein. Müler opened hostilities with a rasping sacrifice. Swartwood, the sturdy old war horse, waited and got his base on balls, and reliable Charley Farrell banged out a single to the left field, but no run came in. The bases were full, and Beckley got his base on balls, forcing in a run. Then little Shugart thumped out a nice single to left, and another run was tallied. Smith made a nice sacrifice hit and the third run was counted, and then Mack went out at first.

It was well that the three runs were made at this stage as the subsequent history of the game showed.

In the third inning, after Buckley was out, Glenson ranped out a single to right and stricker followed with a long fly to Smith. It was very difficult to catch and Elmer let it drop. This scored Glenson and Cub went to second. Then Robert Caruthers made everybody uneasy by knocking out a single.

everybody uneasy by knocking out a single. It was a little one. Carroll got his base on halls and the bases were filled again. Werden's single scored Stricker. But Werden was thrown out, he thinking that Smith had caught the ball he had knocked out and did not go to first. Brodie was retired at first. Very Close Work.

The score was now 3 to 2 in favor of the home lot, and each team was playing well. In the sixth the home fellows scored another on Smith's base on balls, Earl's sacrifice and Baldwin's double.

Then came the very exciting ninth inning. Gleason ied off in the second half with a double and scored on a sacrifice each by Stricker and Caruthers, Old Cliff Carroll loomed up with a hit, and then everybody thought that Werden would make another and the the score. But he only knocked out a fit, which Swartz caught, and the game

And what a fright the local cranks got in the beginning of the second game. Ehret started in to pitch and after his colleagues had failed to score in their halt he opened up by hitting Stricker with the ball. Then Caruthers got his base on balls and then Caroll madea hitfilling the bases. Werden was next hit by the pitcher, forcing in a run, and a wild throw by Earles let in another run. Brodie made a sacrifice hit and the third run was counted. This was terrible. But Werden was nabbed at third and Pinckney sent a fly to Bierhauer. It was now the general opinion that the home team's name was "Dennis." But the Browns iddn't know, you know. Mr. Ehret got settled down after he had nearly killed a few of Vondy's men and they couldn't touch him. He had them scared near to death. He showed remarkable speed and is really a good pitcher and a hard nitter.

A Delightful Change. And what a fright the local cranks got in

A Delightful Change. But in the second inning things changed and poor Mr. Dwyer got an awful drubbing. The singgers just let themselves loose and thumped him without mercy. Bierbauer, thumped him without mercy. Bierbauer, Swartwood, Farrell, Shugart, Smith and Ehret each made a single and these, with a wild pitch and a base on balls, netted four runs. During the inning Swartwood, in leaving third base, simped and fell, spraining his shoulder. He retired and Corkhill took his place.

In the heart inning the thumpers started out again on Dwyer again. After Beckley was out Shucart and Smith each made a single and Earle a double. Ehret was retired on a fly, and Miller made a single and all this second other three runs. In the fourth inning after two more hits had been made, two sacrifices and an error Dwyer was sent to the bench and Easten went in to pitch. Two hits were made off his delivery straight away and, altogether, three more runs were made.

From that on to the finish Easton did tolerably well. Altogether seven hits were made of him and it off Dwyer. The game was pleasing to admirers of the home team but it was too one-sided. Harry Stevens was again on deck doing a land office business in score cards. The CHICAGO, April 23.—Captain Anson and his colts made their first appearance at home to-day, crossing bats with Colonel Pfeffer's aggregation from Louisville. The game put up was simply perfect, but ended in disaster up was simply perfect, but ended in disaster for the Chicagos, owing to the disorderly conduct of several thousand cranks, who jumped over into the field at the end of the eighth inning, completely blocking the game. CAPTAIN HANLON'S OPINION.

He Talks to a Louisville Reporter About Our Sluggers. Captain Hanlon, of the Pittsburg team, occupied a seat in the directors' box at Eclipse.
Park yesterday afternoon, where he was seen by a Courier-Journal reporter. He was asked what team would win the pennaut and said that was hard guessing. Most people picked the Bostons, but he saw no reason why it had a better claim on the flag than why it had a better claim on the flag than several other teams. Pittsburg would cause tronble before the season was over. Louisville had a fine team. It was 30 per cent stronger than any nine that had ever represented the city.

Hanlon said he did not expect to get back on the diamond for three weeks, though his injured leg was improving nicely. The doctor said he would be playing in two weeks, but he hardly thought he would be himself by that time. Hegaid he would remain in Louisville until he was well. Hanlon is a gentlemany player, and his unfortunate injury in the opening game at Cincinnati was regretted by his many admirers in every baseball city in the country.—Courier-Journal.

A Present for Pfeffer.

Section H has been bought by the crowd, and there will be the tallest kind of "rooting" for Pfeffer and his kunnels. There will be an immense floral tribute, with the great second baseman's name planted somewhere in it in purple letters. There will be a presentation, too, of some kind. Pfeffer has a watch or two already, and diamonds galore. Whatever he gets will be worth having.

CYCLING is growing in popularity very raidly in South Africa. At the opening of the horticultural show at Pretoria several weeks ago the escort of the President of the Transvaal consisted of wheelmen on ordinaries, and the President afterward stated that the turnout looked better than a cavalry escort. Although the tracks are poor and unbanked a number of race meets will be held this year. Relay rides are fast becoming the proper thing, and if the interest in them does not fall away the century riders will have to draw more cards or raiss this new bluif. The wheelmen in Tennessee will soon hold a relay ride from Nashville to Columbia. It is a short ride of $5 miles, but the purpose it serves is quite the same as if it were ten lines as cloug. It while duvided into four relays. Another ride from Washington to New York is in contemplation.

THE EAST AND WEST.

Pittsburg's Two Extremes Meet in an Athletic Exhibition.

FIRST-CLASS AMATEUR WRESTLING And Other Excellent Events Bring Out the Enthusiasm. THE CRICKETERS MAKE A SCHEDULE A large crowd attended the West End Gymnastic Club meeting and furnished the enthusiasm to keep the amateurs working ment throughout and reflects credit on all who participated. The East and West End Gyms worked together nicely, though the East Enders had much the better of it from the fact that that club has long had a competent instructor to keep them in training. However, the West End men have no reason to feel chagrined at the result, as in every event they went down with flying colors. The result will be that enough enthusiasm will be generated to secure an instructor for the West End Club.

The first event was on the horizontal bar by a class of the East End boys. The class was Fry, Close, DuBarry, Barr, Musgrave, Hastings, Kimmel, Morgan, Layng, and Prof. Kirchner. Kimmel and Layng in the giant swing had the honors, with the others fol-lowing close.

Club Swinging and Wrestling. The club swinging of H. C. Frve. of the E.

sucore, to which he responded with extra neavy clubs.

In the wrestling bout between M. Joyce In the wrestling bout between M. Joyce and N. Fillinger no time was lost. The latter got both falls, neither requiring more than one minute. Both are West End men.

The most amusing event of the evening, and the one calling for the most enthusiasm, was the tug of war between the married and single men of the club. 'Squire Madden captured the single men, and before the event began made the boast that "as these married men brought their wives with them, we'll pull the bloomers off of them."

But they didn't. It was decidedly the opposite. In the first pull the married men won by two inches, and in the second the boastful 'Squire was apparently trying to hug the married men's anchor. At least, he was over there, the single men having lost by at least 15 feet.

Prof. Kirchner's Pole Vault.

Prof. Kirchner's Pole Vault,

Prof. Kirchner demonstrated the fact that he can practice what he preaches, in the pole vault, at least. He vaulted the highest stands the West Enders had, and then two men stood on chairs and held up the sticks, giving the Professor a vault of over nine giving the Professor a vault of over nine feet.

Dubarry won the high kick in a fine effort, making 8 feet 6 inches. J. Friel, of the West End Gyms, did very well, and would have done better had he been more careful.

M. W. O'Toole, W. E. G., in club swinging, showed that he has had good training in that line.

The parallel bar class of the E. E. G. C., DuBarry, Fry, Close, Barr, Musgrave, Hastings, Layng, Kimmel, Morran and Professor Kirchner, gave an exhibition between pulls in the tug of war between the East and West Enders. The East End men won the tug of war in two straight pulls, having the advantage over their adversaries of better training.

A Good Wrestling Bout,

A Good Wrestling Bout, From an artistic standpoint the event of the evening was the wrestling match be tween F. L. Jamieson, of Allegneny, and an nknown. The latter is a pupil of Jamieson and succeeded in demonstrating that he is weil trained by giving his master an exceedingly hard tussle.

The unknown won the first fall after hard work. He is, perhaps, quite as strong, but does not have the science of Jamieson. The The second and third falls were won by Jamieson, but he certainly hed to fight for The second and third falls were won by Jamieson, but he certainly had to fight for all he got. He had several half nelsons on all he got. He had several half nelsons on the unknown, but none seemed to have any effect until the last fall, when that was the hold that floored his man.

There were about 300 people at the exhi-bition, and showed their appreciation of the efforts of the athletes by generous applause.

The West End men feel somewhat encour-aged at the result of the meeting, and will doubtless enter the lists of events this season with good chances of winning. There ADOPTED THEIR SCHEDULE.

The above applies to athletes who have been taking part in boxing tournaments. By a unanimous vote nearly 390 men were suspended, including such well-known boxers as Nick Callen. Pat Cahill, Jim Butler, J. Van Houten, J. Barnett, T. McTirnan, E. Sweenev and "Kid" Hogan, all of this city and Brookiyn. A rule was adopted to the effect that any person who boxes against a suspended anacteur will himself be suspended at once. All clubs are cautioned against allowing the suspended men to compete at their entertainments under penalty of immediate suspension.
