GOV. M'KINLEY TO BE HONORED

By the Place at the Head of the Delegation to Minneapolis.

FIERY FORAKER MAY NOT BE LEFT OUT

CLEVELAND, O., April 26 .- Expectation was on tiptoe to-night among hundreds of Ohio politicians gathered for to-morrow's Republican State convention. Ex-Governor | were rescued alive. J. B. Foraker, upon whose attitude, if war like toward his opponents, the whole course of the convention was well to depend, had been scheduled to arrive at the remarkable hour of 1 A. M. It was whispered that he had demanded at least an even half of everything in sight as bis ultimatum.

Against Foraker's personal following, apparently more loyal and enthusiastic than ever since his defeat by John Sherman for the Federal Senatorship, there seemed to be solidly ranged with the Sherman forces the full power of the State and national administrations, and it remained to be told whether, in the face of such odds, the fiery ex-Governor would really attempt a test of strength. The details of the selection of four delegates at large to the National Convention, the framing of a platform and the nomination of candidates for Presidental electors, Secretary of State, Supreme Judges, Supreme Court Clerk and member ot the Board of Public Works were all dwarfed in interest by the absorbing ques-tion as to what would be the latest outcome of the Sherman-Foraker feud-a possibility of its being at last brought to a happy end or becoming serious enough to wreck the national ticket in Ohio in the coming campaign.

Some Exciting Scenes Expected,

The probability of exciting scenes in the convention seemed to act as a magnet, delegates and spectators swarming into the gates and spectators swarming into the hotels from every train. Separate ac-commodations, unless engaged before hand, were this evening out of the question, and the outlook was for a tremendous crush in the convention hall, although seats had been provided for 4,000 people, including 772 delegates and 500 distinguished guests.

Elaborate arrangements were in progress all day and night, and within the rather dingy exterior of the old brick Music Temdingy exterior of the old orice Music Tem-ple, where the proceedings are to take place, brilliant red, white and blue streamers 100 feet in length, and gorgeus festoons without number, coutrasted hand-somelv with the polished hard wood walls and tall ceilings. Across the stage a 50-foot arch of flowers was erected, surmounted by an American eagle, while the most conspicuous decoration, floating high against a blue background, was what seemed to be a beautifully trescoed angel of peace dropping posies upon what it was feared might prove one of the stormiest political gatherings ever held in Ohio.

Prominent Republicans Arriving.

Among the arrivals this evening was Hon. Among the arrivals this evening was Hon. Charles P. Griffin, the temporary chairman selected by the State Central Committee, an ardent Foraker man. Other noted figures in the crowded lobbies were National Com-mitteeman A. L. Conger, Congressman Enoch, Webb Hayes, Mayor John B. Mosby, of Cincinnati; ex-Mayor Amor Smith, Jr., Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Rath-hone, ex-Chairman W. S. Cappeller, of the State Executive Committee; General J. Warren Keifer, and World's Fair Commis-sioner D. J. Rvan.

sioner D. J. Ryan. Governor McKinley will have an escort Governor McKinley will have an escort of the Cleveland Cadets on his arrival to-morrow morning, and, it is said, may be made permanent chairman of the conven-tion, not to mention other honors. Unless all signs fail he is to again, before the State Convention ends, be placed in position to allow history to repeat itself with another Garfield episode in the event of the unex-pected happening and President Harrison failing of renomination. The Chief Honor for McKinley

"Major William McKinley will be Chairman of the Ohio delegation to t publican National Convention in Min olis." The speaker was Chairman Hi the State Central Committee, and I tion of to-morrow's Republican Stat vention. "Notwithstanding the amo gossip to the contrary, to-morrow's g ing will, in my opinion, be harmonious tinned the Chairman, who was one of Sharma's most express champion. Sherman's most earnest champions recent red-hot contest with ex-Go Foraker for the United States Senat

The Chairman went on to explain might prove to be the basis of ha which would avert a grand gladiatoria bat. He said: "There is a disposit see Mr. Foraker appointed one of the delegates at large, with Governor McK Myron T. Herrick. of Cleveland, Istest distinguished Republican mer as another of the four, and he is such cellent party man that I would be sur if, although a warm friend of Shern should not prove satisfactory to al tions."

Chairman Hahn modestly refrained saying that his own name was scarce talked of as one of the four than N ley's or Foraker's.

Lots of Harmony Talk.

An amazing amount of harmony talk was current on both sides to-day, though some of the Foraker men were ominously silent as to the struggle for the control of to-morrow's convention, which, it has been freely predicted, would resolve itself into a final fight to a finish between Sherman and For-aker for supremacy in Ohio politics. George B. Cox, the noted Cincinnati politician and supporter of Foraker, was an excellent repsupporter of Foraker, was an excentent rep-resentative of this silent phalanx. He ar-rived on the battle-ground to-day, and was circulating around, scanning the outlook closely among such delegates as had ar-rived. "I am not now in a position to tak," said Mr. Cox this afternoon, "but I table how the areat cituation a little shall know the exact situation a little later on.

Byron S. Wydman, a strong supporter of Governor Foraker in the Senatorial con-Governor Foraker in the Senatorial con-test, and now a candidate for Secretary of State against both S. M. Taylor, a Sherman man, and J. J. Chester, a neutral, was in-clined to be nearly as reticent as the other Foraker men. He was as pronounced, how-ever, as Sherman's representative, Chair-man Hahn, in a declaration of belief of the contrary concerliser that the contrary man Hahn, in a declaration of bellet of the contrary general expectation that the conven-tion would be harmonious. He was of the opinion that McKinley and Foraker would be each conceded a place as delegate at large by common consent

Names for the Open Places. State Auditor Poe, General Bushnell and A. L. Conger, National Committeeman, were the names most frequently heard among the Forakerites for the two open places on the list of delegates at large. Although Mr. Conger has only recently said in an interview that President Harrisaid in an interview that President Harri-non, who has been regarded as Sherman's ally, was the legal national standard-bearer, Colonel Conger's name was often heard on the lips of the Sherman men, Sherman's own name, or that of his friend, Mark Hanna, were not chanted to-day, pending the waving of the olive branch to the Forakerites. Next to the race for delegates at large the Forakerites. Next so the race for delegates at large, the most important matter is the contest for the principal place on the State ticket, the nomination for Secretary of State. The three chief candidates, Taylor, Wydman and Chester, have established headquarters in edicine rooms on the same floor of the HIMMELRICHS'. 430-436 MARKET ST. BRADDOCK HOUSE, 916 BRADDOCK AVENUE.

You'll save 50 cents a pair on these-that's equal to twice as much in some stores.

This is the ODD young man who believes in ODD figures, and always bought hats at ODD prices; for instance, he paid $2.49, A $2.99 or $3.49 for hats.

The same young man discov-ered, after wearing these odd hats advertised at odd prices, they were stiffened with poison-ous stiffening, and the sweats, instead of being leather, were composed of poisons. The result was a sore head.

And, finally, a bald - 34 head. Yes, he lost his hair. The poisons in the would-be leather sweats did it.

The moral is to buy your HATS from J. G. Bennett & Co., and see that their name is embossed on the leather. This will insure you a good, reliable, fashionable hat, full leather trimmed.
