SOME VERY GOOD PLAYING.

TROUBLE AMONG THE BROWNS

The Fostons Win Once More and Main tain Their Lead.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

A team of baseball players who could win every game they played would be a wonder and would not be the desired thing very long. And that is one reaby the Colonels of Louisville is not to be regretted very much. It was the fifth game played on the local grounds and the first defeat. An average of that kind will just make the sluggers of this bailiwick very important people next October if it can be kept up. Other teams must have a show now and again, or else the 12-club League will soon go to smash. But yesterday's game, although a home defeat, was one of the most interesting that has been played here. There were a little more than 3,000 people in the park and there would certainly have been many more had it been publicly known that Alexander Marvelous Jones, of Homestead, was going to pitch. In withholding this fact from the public, Manager Chapman simply lost his and O'Brien took his place. Attendance club and the local club a considerable amount of dollars.

Everybody wanted to see Jones, and doubtless had the chieftain of the Colonels told the public that Alexander the Great was going to perform, a general holiday would have been declared at Homestead.

And Jones, the marvelous, is worth looking at. He was the great barrier between our sluggers and victory yesterday. He didn't even allow them the remotest hope of victory, and whenever an aspiration for such a thing was manifested he nipped it in the bud. He is, indeed, a marvelous young man, comparing his work yesterday with the work of other pitchers who have performed here this season. The venerable John Corkhill was the only local man who came anywhere near sizing the Homestead wonder up. Try as they could, our sluggers couldn't make a mark against Alexander, except Beckley, who made one hit. His thump and Corkhill's two were all that were made. Jones may strike a snag one of these days, but if he keeps up his work of yesterday that day is not likely to come yet awhite He has speed and curves that make him very good man, and he is a credit to tha borough that has already produced many good performers in the national cam

Up to the sixth inning the game was brilliant one, and a pitchers' battle of th very best kind. Baldwin was pitching in his best form, but in the second half of that inning a decision by Umpire Lynch gave the Louisvilles a run, which allowed a second run to be scored, and that upset Mark completely. It was the general opinion that Jones should have been out at first base, and that would have retired the side. But he was declared sate and a run scored, and Jones subsequently tallied also. The decision was a close one, and certainly Umpire Lynch must be credited with doing what he thought was right, and his judg-ment probably was more correct than that of the spectators.

After that inning the local talent were not in the hunt. But if Baldwin had pitched as remarkable a game after that as did Jones, victory would still have been on the side of onels. Three hits cannot win a game, and the only fault, if there could reasonably be any found, was the inability of the Pittsburgers to connect with the delivery of narvelous Alexander.

For the first four innings everything went as nice and as brisk as a new yacht in a pleasant breeze. But the fifth came, and atter the local representatives had done nothing the visitors broke the ice. Mr. Taylor led off with a two bagger-a real lucky one. He reached third on Billy Kuehne's sacrifice, and then Grim knocked a grounder to Baldwin. Mark got the ball and Taylor was rushing for home. He stopped and was bottled up between third and the home plate. He dodged about long enough, however, to allow Grim to reach third and then was touched out be-

There Was a Kick. Jones followed and knocked a grounder to Bierbauer, who juggled the ball for a moment or so. He made a good throw to first, but Jones, who is quite a sprinter, was at first base before the ball, according to the opinion of Mr. Lynch. The crowd thought thought he wasn't and there was some lo thought he wash t and there was some four hooting and yelling. At any rate, Grim scored. Tom Brown appeared next and he banged the ball in between Miller and Corkhill. Miller tried to get it but failed, and Tom was credited with a three bagger, scoring Jones.

In the seventh inning, after Kuchne was out, Ryan sent out a two-baser to left field red on Smith's muff of Jones' fly. Brown made a single hit, and Jones, who liad reached second on Smith's error, scored, In the eighth inning Baldwin was a little easy. Seery, Browning, Jennings and Taylor each made a single in succession which scored two earned runs.

The home talent had no chance to sco The home talent had no chance to score.
Only twice did they get a man to third base, viz, when Beckley and Corkhill made their three-baggers. Corkhill's triple was made in the eighth with nobody out, but Mack was thrown out at first and Baldwin struck out for the third time. Miller was also easily put out at first and old Corkhill was left at third bag. The visitors played an admirable fielding game. Jennings made one or two exceedingly brilliant stops and he showed that he is among the very best of short stops. The score:

"Yes, indeed, he is a grand old man, and, as you say, he plays every point in a heady way. That is the way to win, too."

The minister was pleased to see the young choir singer so well posted on English politics, and thought to expand the idea a little further.

"He has great force, don't you think?" he said.
"Yes, great speed," replied the bank clerk,
"and can strike a corking blow when hits

This mystified the minister a little and rather pained him to note the use of slang speech on the part of his young member. But he said quietly:

"Grand Old Man!"

"Are you referring to Gladstone, young man!"

TROUBLE AMONG THE BROWNS. Glasscock and Werden Would Be Thankfu

for Their Releases. CINCINNATI, April 26.—[Special.]—There is a feeling of unrest in the ranks of the St. Louis Browns which was learned by the rumor that John Glasscock would be benched and Perry Werden released. In the hours of defeat life in the Browns' camp is not quite as lovely as promenades in a rose garden.

"I'm glad we are going home," said President Von der Ahe this afternoon, "for then we can get away from these stories calculated to disrupt the team. Pittsburg is full of fakirs, and they commenced the trouble. There is no truth in the tale about Worden and Giasscock. Reilly has not signed, and at the gate yesterday we talked a bit, but did at the gate yesterday we talked a bit, but did not approach business matters. When we get home I feel sure that team work can be got out of the Browns. The team is good enough to win, and it will win. It takes time to train a lot of new men gathered from all parts of the country to work together, but the Browns will have a long stay at home among friends, and St. Louis will then move up." move up."

Some of the players, bowever, are bitter in their criticism of their treatment, and it will take lots of kind words of encouragement to change the teelings of resentment that have soured them. Both Glasscock and Werden were frank to say that they would accept their release at once and give thanks. Captain Stricker is actively engaged in the role of peacemaker, and is doing his level best to restore confidence among the players, who are really blue and demoralized.

Their First Sunday Game.

CLEVELAND, April 26 .- [Special.]-It need cause no surprise to hear that the Cleveland club will play its first Sunday game with Cincinnati on May 1. There is a pronounced anti-Sunday sentiment in this city which anti-Sunday sentiment in this city which the home management has never cared to run counter to, but the Sunday game at St. Louis, where Cincinnati jumped in Cleveland's schedule time and piayed to 15,000 people, had its effect. It is probable that other dates will be transferred throughout the season, so that the home team will play at least five Sunday games at Cincinnati.

JIM O'ROUNKE is probably in better shape than any other man in the New York team. He goes about his work in the proper way. Beginning in January, he throws the ball at a brick wall and indulges in light gymnasium work. The result was apparent at Richmond, when he went on the field, ran five miles, threw the ball and played several games-without being troubled by the soreneas and stiffness which characterized the other men. It is curious to note the disappearance of the old feeling amounting almost to worship which the local cranks had for the Browns. The present team is not popular, and the public seems indifferent to their success. People do not, as in the good old days, go out to see the Browns win, but pay their money to see a hall game, and had just as soon see the home team lose as win, so that a good article of ball is served up for their amusement.—St. Louis Republic.

New York April 26 .- At Niblo's last night, Muldoon announced that William Gabig, of Pittsburg, known as the "Mysterious Boxer," would meet C. C. Smith, the "Washington Thunderbolt," in four rounds of three minutes each. The colored fellow hammered the fat on Gabig's ribs and, slammed him ed the fat on Gabig's ribs and, slammed him on the head until the mysterious one wished he was in Pittsburg. He managed to hang on until the referee said time, when he sank into his chair. Gabig came up very slowly for the second round, and soon went down. The crowd yelled, "That's enough; take him off," whereupon the referee pointed at the "Thunderboit" to indicate that he was the winner, and the mysterious boxer was carried out like a bag of potatoes.

Sullivan All Eight.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Champion John L. Sulli-van, in the pink of condition, arrived in the city yesterday. He did not care to talk about the prospects of his coming fight with about the prospects of his coming fight with James Corbett. "I am going up against a hot game," he said, "and so, for that matter, is Corbett. Of course I expect to win. I do not think it was fair for the Olympic Club to force me to deposit $2,500 as a guarantee for my appearance. The fact that I have bet $10,000 on the side ought to have convinced the club that I was in earnest. I am bound to be there."

but Fail to Wed.

NEWSY NOTES FROM NEARBY TOWNS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] MCKEESPORT, April 26.-It now seems to be almost certain that Ferdinand Koerher, the missing puddler who worked at the W. Dewees Wood Company works and lived on the brow of Neil's hill, Mifflin township, opposite the works, was drowned, and it is now believed that he was murdered and thrown into the Monongahela river at the foot of Walnut street. The river has been dragged all day, but up to a late hour the body has not been recovered. The skiff that he used to cross the river to the works has not been found.

It now seems that when last seen he was accompanied by two strange men, which was about 10 o'clock Saturday night, and with whom he had been quarreling. About 10 o'clock a watchman at the works, who had een waiting for Koerher, went to where his boat was tied and found it still there. He then took a walk around the works and went back. Just before he reached the point where one descends to the river, he heard a splash and saw two men come up from the water's edge, pass up Walnut street and disappear.

The watchman did not think anything was wrong, although he found that the boat was gone. The missing man is supposed to have had between $150 and $200 with him at the time, with which he was going to pay for a part of a lot, which makes his friends believe all the more that he was murdered. Another theory is that he may have fallen into the water, and the swift current carried the boat under some barges which lay below. A sad feature of it is that his little wife sits on the porch all day, watching the men hunting for the body on the river nearby. His boat is painted red and white, and is inscribed "Maud S" on the side.

ROMANTIC PARKERSBURG CHILDREN

Lead Their Pursuing Parents an Exciting Chase Across the Ohio River. PARKERSBURG, April 26.—[Special.]—The lit-tle village of Riverside, a pretty suburb of this city, is much excited over the attempted elopement of two children. The girl, aged 18, is Bertie Ellison, and the boy, aged 15, Jack McFarland. The girl has been of romantic disposition for some time, and has figured already in several escapades. For some time the pair have carried on a clandestine courtship, and yesterday evening determined to wait no longer.

The pair met and started for Ohio, when friends pursued. The fleeing twain were on the alert, and a sprinting match took place in which the youngsters won. When they reached the Ohio they jumped into a skiff and rowed rapidly to the Ohio side, leaving their pursuers on the bank. The runaways spent the night in Ohio, but were caught this morning before they had succeeded in deceiving a justice into marrying them. romantic disposition for some time, and has

A Good Showing Made by the Philadelphia

Company in Its Annual Report-Th. Construction of a Fuel Gas Plant for the Future Recommended. The annual report of the Philadelphia Company was issued to stockholders yesterday. The earnings were $3,024,864 31, and expenses $1,834,965 06. The board feels it was justified in beginning the payment of dividends, and their continuance is assured. The company's bonds, with the exception of $727,000, have been carceled. The company has entered seven new gas fields: Linden, Elizabeth, Moon, Stowe, Riley, Shaler den, Elizabeth, Moon, Stowe, Riley, Shaler and Plum. The two last mentioned fields have only been recently acquired, and not yet developed to any extent, but prepara-tions have been made for a thorough test. The report continues:

yet developed to any extent, but preparations have been made for a thorough test. The report continues:

The amount expended during the fiscal year ending March 31, for the purchase of new pipe, was $225,948 ib: reclaiming and relaying old lines, together with laying new pipe, and purchase of lend and other necessary material. $91,044 06. Seventeen gas wells and gas rights in 3,556 acres were purchased at a cost of about $91,650 00. The number of wells completed during the year was 57, of which 40 were gas, 2 small oil wells and 15 non-producing. To these add the 17 wells purchased, which gives a total of 60 gas-nroducing wells added during the year. The amount of casing used in the wells drilled by your company was 204 miles, of which $16-10 miles was casing re-used. The total cost of drilling was $257,230 09, not including casing reused, which, with the other ferms named, makes a total of $575,232 21 expended on new work during the year, all of which has been charged to expenses, and has been paid, at present time, except notes amounting to $25,150 05, held by any party. The other obligations outstanding are $380,000 00 bonds, and balance due on the Belle Vernon line, $137,000 00, which will be paid by August 1, 1892. Exclusive of the drilling of wells, the principal work performed during the year consisted in laying about five miles of 20 inch pipe, 25 miles of 16 inch, and 25.4 miles of 12, 10, 8 and 16 inch; and relaiming about 25.2 miles of various sizes, varying from 16 to 6 inch, which were transferred to other points and relaid, aggregating about 75.6 miles of pipe handled. The gas and oil rights at present leased and owned by the company amounts to $6,170.

The Allegheny Heating Company has shown a marked improvement under its new management were $180,578 61. During the same months of 1891 and 1892 the receipts were $304,577 15, or an increase of 65 per cent. The Philadelphia Company's share of earnings for these respective months of each year, was $93,513 47 and $100,7112 4 or an increase of over 67 year, was $95,813 47 and $160,711 24 or an increase of over 67 per cent. In Chicago, St. Louis and several other cities ordinary illuminating gas is used in ranges, cooking stoves, and for heating purposes, at 90 cents, $1 and $1 25 per 1,000 feet, and in most of the cases as cheaply as coal, when the superior facilities and cost of handling, etc., are considered; therefore there seems to be no good reason why gas cannot be manufactured and sold in Pittsburg, where the coal used in the manufacture can be purchased much cheaper, if the same care and economy be exercised. While we can see no good reason to anticipate such a decrease in the supply of natural gas as to render a fuel gas plant necessary in the near future, yet steps should be taken to secure an eligible property for manufacturing purposes."

CONVENTIONS OF MINERS.

The Presidency of the Pittsburg District Will Be Decided To-Day. The annual convention of Pittsburg District No. 5, United Mine Workers, will be held in K. of L. Hall to-day. President Costello is a candidate to succeed himself. His only opponent is Charles Wallace, of Mansfield. Both men have been doing some lively hustling. On Thursday the meeting will be opened to miners, organized and un-organized, to consider the scale for next year. The present rate of 79 cents per ton expires May 1.

A big mass meeting of miners will be held in Monongahela City on Friday to boost the association. The failure to win several strikes has sadly depleted its ranks The question of forming river districts and the dead scale question will be dis-cussed. It is hinted that some of the bosses charge the association with not sticking to the men in the last strike, and they will attempt to form a rival organization. The river operator have served notice on their employes that in future the railroad rate of mining will prevail. A difference of a half cent exists, and the miners will fight for it.
