Mrs. Martin, of London, Says She Is Destined to Be the Next President.

CITIZENSHIP NO FACTOR.

It Will Be Accomplished by a Mighty Revolution of Mind

ON AN EQUAL RIGHTS PLATFORM.

She Claims the Humanitarian Government Is the True Form.

ARISTOCRACT OF GOOD BLOOD WANTED

Probably the most unique women in the world are Victoria C. Woodhull, now Mrs. John Biddulph Martin, of London, and Dennie C. Claffin, now Lady Cook, the first lady bankers and reformers of America, as they style themselves. They came in from New York on the limited last evening, and registered at the Anderson. Mrs. Martin was accompanied by her husband, a venerable-looking man, who has made a fortune as a banker in the English metropolis.

Mr. Martin and his wife are members of the Royal World's Fair Commission, and are now on their way to Chicago on Fair business. Mrs. Martin will go back to London for two months, but return in October to open her campaign for the American Presidency. She says she is destined to be the next ruler of the United States, and ex-Speaker Reed, Harrison, Cleveland, Hill and other candidates will please take notice that they are not in the race. She is not clear in her explanation of how it will be done, but in a visionary way says it will be accomplished by a "mind revolution."

A Woman of Charming Presence. Mrs. Martin is a thorough woman, about 45 years old. Her hair is strongly tinged with gray, but she is active and vigorous, and is not masculine, as many people imngine. On the contrary, she has a sweet and rather handsome face. Indeed she is very lovable, and the average man would easily be won over by her agreeable manners. She is terribly in earnest and a terrific talker. Herein she does not differ from her sex. W the grows eloquent in expounding her beh she did last evening to a small a nce of reporters at the Anderson, her checks reddened like a rose, and she was voted a very attractive and taking lady. Men will say she is visionary and impractical, but all who hear her will agree that she is wedded to the work that she has mapped out, the emancipation of woman. She believes in the equality of the sexes and equal rights. This is the platform on which she will make her canvass for the Presidency.

Lady cook is in hearty accord with her sister, but her character is quite different. She belongs to the nervous, energetic class of women that are able to take care of themselves. She makes a good mainstay, and she says she is traveling with Mrs. Martin to encourage and help her in her mission, Once she ran for Congress, and though defeated, she has universally received the title of honorable.

The Woman of Destin-

The ladies are making arrangements for a national convention to be held in Chicago early in October, when Mrs. Martin will be made the Presidental nominee. "I am," said Mrs. Martin, "a woman of destiny. It has been known to me for more than a score of years that in the year 1892 I should be chosen to govern my people. It is destiny, and nothing can avert the decree. When I left for America they told me in London that my work was in England, but I said 'No, the United States is the place.' You know I am an American, and I love this dear old land of ours. The fact that I married an Englishman does not make me my the less a Yankee. My nature ha not been changed.

"I advocate the creation of an aristocracy of blood as a remedy against those influences operating toward the deterioration and degradation of human beings. For various reasons I advocate such an aristocracy; but the most important reason is the object lesson that such an aristocracy would be to humanity in the value of healthy blood, good parentage and favorable environment."

"But what will be the platform of your party?" was asked.

"Our platform will be the same as that of "The time is now ripe for a woman's political campaign. I will not be the Presidental candidate of any party, but I expect the 'Equal Rights' people will affiliate with me. How will I be elected? Not by ballot, to be sure. It will be sentiment, the feeling of the masses that will raise me to the Presidental chair. I believe woman is intended. chair. I believe woman is intended for the higher sphere of life. In the future it will not be written in the marriage ceremony, who giveth away this woman? There will be no ceremony. Would I eliminate love and have marriage depend on the same principles used in breeding horses? Oh, no, love is the purest and best in the world. It should be the foundation of all marriages."

"Is woman to be the governing power in the future?" was another question.

Mrs. Martin hesitated for a moment and then with slight irritation replied: "I can't answer that question to-night. It would take more than ten minutes. If you could see things from my educational standpoint, you would understand my system. In the future the selection of a ruler for the people will not depend on the votes of the ma

ENLARGING CARNEGIE HALL.

Its Founder Will Make Important Changes in the Building Upon His Return From Europe - Thousands Turned Away Weekly From the Organ Recitalz

That the people of the two cities like music has been shown in many ways of late. The proposition of THE DISPATCH to establish free concerts in the parks has met with such favor that no one can doubt the desire of the masses to hear good music at every opportunity. Another prooof the fact that music is not allowed to go to waste when there is no prohibitive tariff of admission is afforded in the tremendous success of the free organ recitals in Carnegie Hall, Allegheny. Mr. Harry B. Ecker, the organist, said yesterday that for the last two months he has been obliged to turn away at least 1,000 people every Saturday because they could not possibly squeeze into the hall. This, too, with an audience of 2,000 people inside, sit-ting and standing. Last Saturday, when Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Murray assisted, the jam was greater than ever. Mr. Ecker says he always gets to the hall some time before the hour announced for the commencement of the recital, but he has to fight his way to the organ through a solid mass of people every

There is strong probability of the hall being considerably enlarged when Mr. Car-negie returns from his European trip. He is willing to do anything he can to give greater accommodation, and it has been pointed out to him that there is a space of 60 feet on the Diamond street side that could be taken into the music hall, with 10 feet in length that could also be added. The probability is that this enlargement will be made during the summer, so that when the recitals are taken up in the fall

LIMA OIL PROVES COSTLY.

Looking for Chesper Fuel for the Brilliant Pumping Station.

Chief Bigelow and Mayor Gourley had a conference yesterday concerning the fuel used at the Brilliant pumping station. The city now has a contract with the Standard Oil Company for Lima oil which is piped directly to the boilers, but is costing far more than was anticipated. When the that all the steam necessary could be raised at an expense of about $7,500 a month. It has been a little over six months now since the use of the new fuel began, and its cost has steadily increased from $9,000 the first month, to $12,900 for last month.

This figure is considered too high, but coal would cost nearly as much, counting the cost of handling coal and ashes, and would make an arrangement. would make an enormous quantity of smoke, and the only alternative is natural as. City Marshal Hagan, of Massillon, O., is in a quandary as to what disposition to make of the four Allegheny boys that he intercepted on their way to the World's Fair. As the parents of young Robertson are indifferent as to what becomes of their son, and no word has been received from relatives of the others, the Marshal has decided that, if he can legally do so, he will send the quartet to the State Reform School.

SOMETHING MAY DROP. The Charities Committee to Meet

This Afternoon to Take SOME ACTION ON THE POOR FARM.

Chairman Ferry Receives an Offer of a Tract of Land.

The Committee on Charities has been called to meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when it is expected something de-cisive will be done toward the purchase of new Poor Farm. The only business that has been regularly referred to the committee is the ordinance presented at last Monday's meeting of Councils providing for the purchase of the Alexander farm at Hulton, out it is expected that something new will e developed in connection with the matter efore the meeting closes.

Chairman Perry intends to submit to the ommittee two letters he has received from parties at Courtney, a few miles above Mo-Keesport, offering a farm there with 40 acres of river frontage at $225 per sere. The letters are addressed to Mr. Perry as Chairman of the Charities Committee and are each signed by James Loutell, Thompson Nolder and Dr. H. J. Billick. The first letter is as follows:

Another Site Offered the City. We noticed in the papers the intention of Pittsburg Councils to purchase a City Poor Farm. We offered, in regular order, at the time sites for Poor Farm purposes were offered, a site on the Monongahela, 25 miles from the city, on the McK. & B. R. B., a farm of from 100 to 300 acres. For richness of soil, location of land, etc., this farm was equal, if not superior, to any farm offered at the time for superior, to any farm offered at the time for the purpose. The farm was visited at that time by the Chief of the Department of Charities, and he pronounced it a good farm. It not asking too much of the Charities Committee, we would be pleased to have you visit the farm and pass judgment on the location. We think that after visiting and viewing this property we can convince the committee that there are sites—this one especially—that are just as available for City Farm purposes as any other farm yet offered, and for less money per acre.

We can show 40 acres with river frontage, now being gardened and under a high state of cultivation and, without doubt, the finest piece of bottom land you will find on the Monongahela river, a hill that seems to be formed naturally for a reservoir, as fine isrming land on the hill as can be found anywhere, plenty of good running springs, coal, building stone, limestone, all convenient and some on the farm. There can be a wide street graded from the bottom to the hill, giving good, comfortable grade.

From a Hundred Acres Up.

This tract of land can be had in any numper of acres from 100 to 800 and for price per acre than the farm offered on the Allegheny river. We think it would be advisable for the Charities Committee to visit this land before making a purchase. The next letter, received a few days ago, is an answer to a note from Chairman Perry asking specifications as to price. It

Your note in regard to the price per acre is at hand. We offer this farm, not that it is inferior to others, at the price of $225 per acre. Land that alongside of our bottom land that cannot be bought for less than $500 to $800 per acre. We are willing to submit it to the committee if, after viewing the natural advantages of the location, richness of the soil, etc., you decide it is not available as a Poor Farm site, we will be satisfied. Any further information desired will be gladly given.

Chairman Perry says he will present the letters to the committee at to-day's meeting and will recommend that the committee visit this farm, or any other that seems reasonably available, in a body. He thinks there will be room for several hundred more people. Mr. Carnegie takes the greatest in the recitals, and is anxious to now that Chief Elliot has intimated an un-with the offer made. Said he: "That sounds like a fair offer, and it the farm is all the parties represent it to be I would not oppose the purchase of it. I don't remen ber of having seen it when we visited farms offered last year, and don't even remember that it was offered, even though the owners say it was. One feature of the proposition strikes me favorably, and that is the offer to sell any part of it above 100 acres. That you know is the limit I place on the size of the farm, and I don't think we should buy

There is no record in the City Clerk's office of the above farm ever having been formally offered, and if Chief Elliot looked it over he must have done so when he was out on a still hunt for options last fall. The Chief could not be seen last night in regard to the matter.

GUESSING A FREE BRIDGE SITE.

Chief Ricelow Thinks a Scientian Should B Made and Work Started Soon.

Chief Bigelow offered to make a bet yes terday that he could guess the location of the proposed free bridge to the Southside. He was in conversation with a number of other gentlemen at the time, and the new bridge was under consideration. "I don't as a result. pretend to know where the bridge will be placed," he explained, "but I am willing to make the wager on my judgment of public sentiment.

No one seemed willing to try to win the wager and the guess was not made. Mr. Bigelow, in further discussing the question, said he was in favor of starting on the bridge at once, but it would probably require three or four months to get an ordinance prepared and passed and another to let the contract. If anything is to be done this year it must be done now. A proposition is now talked of to allow the Southside people to select two sites, one in the vicinity of South Tenth said he was in tavor of starting on the bridge two sites, one in the vicinity of South Tenth street and the other up about Twenty-sec-ond or Twenty-fourth streets, and then de-cide which shall be chosen by popular vote.

THE BAKER BALLOT MUDDLE.

Both the Mayor and the Sheriff Will Sign the Special Election Proclamation-Disgusted With the Law-Lawyers Have

Attorneys representing Mayor Gourley, Sheriff McCleary and the County Commissioners met yesterday and discussed at some length the Baker ballot law. They also dis cussed the question whether the Mayor or the Sheriff should issue the proclamation for elections under the new law. On Thursday Mayor Gourley issued MAYOR GOURLEY IS IMPRESSED BY IT proclamation for the Councilmanic elecwhere the contest at the regular election between Perry and Loughron resulted in a tie vote. Some of the attorneys argued that under the new law the Sheriff should issue the proclamation while others con-tended that the Mayor was the proper per-son to issue the proclamation because, they son to issue the proclamation because, they argued, that under the law the Mayor has the same authority as he had under the old

When issuing the proclemation for the special election, Mayor Gourley was in doubt as to his authority. He consulted the City Attorney, who advised the Mayor to go shead. At the conference yesterday the attorneys themselves were not entirely clear on the subject, and as a result Sheriff Mc-Cleary will indorse the Mayor's proclamation to guarantee its legality.

The new law requires that a proclamation for an election by the Mayor shall be issued at least 42 days before the election, while it also requires that the Sheriff's proclamation shall only be issued ten days before an elec-

Senator John Neeb, who was called into the conference on the subject, says the Baker ballot law has greatly confused everybody. "It is especially annoying to the politicisms of Pittsburg and Allegheny just now. The Baker law," he went on, "requires that party naminations shall be made 42 days before the election, and under this law this is the last day upon which nominations can be made. To get a name on the regular ticket after to-day it will be necessary for the candidate to secure the names of at least one-third the voters of his ward to sign a petition to the County Commissioners asking that the name be put on the regular ticket. Otherwise the ticket will be printed with blank spaces upon which the voters will be compelled to write the name of the candidate who has not couplied with the law."

"This law must be repealed," one of the attorneys who attended the conference said. "Annoying features of it turn up every day and every day we are more thoroughly convinced that it will not do. It will cost the State several million dollars to get it into working order, and then I think by that time people will be so disgusted with it that they will demand that the law be repealed. It is an infernal nuisance," speaker concluded.

GLAD TO BE RELIEVED.

Won't Be Any Larger Than Last Year. Alexander Dempster, who has retired from the coal business, went to New York last evening. He says he is very glad to be relieved. Some men make money in coal while others have very little to show for their work. Mr. Dempster says the freight rate was cut 5 cents, but no sooner was it done when some of the operators reduced the price of coal from 214 to 5 cents per ton. They were afraid the market would be dull, and rushed in to get the business. A few of the Hocking Valley shippers have been cutting the price of coal, but Mr. Dempster thinks only the men who need money have done so. He figures that the railroads will not be able to carry any more coal this season than they did last year, so that the reduction in freight rates will not help Pittsburg very much. Already cars are scarce, and they are becoming fewer and farther between every day. He believes in the end that the Hocking Valley operators, who whined so much about making the freight rates equal, will get their share of the trade as usual.

Nearly all the boys on cross examination owned up that they were not clean shaven and some had dirty faces when they bought beer.

Detective Murphy was called by the defense. He admitted that he had employed boys to entrap Mr. Schneider, but refused to say by whom he was employed.

Mr. Schneider was next put on the stand. His examination was lengthy. He explained in detail the usual precautions he always employed to avoid violating the law, particularly since he had been advised by a close friend that someone was trying They were afraid the market would be dull,

It has been semi-officially announced that there will be a meeting of the citizens of the Thirty-first and Thirty-second wards in the schoolhouse of the latter to-night. Attorney Toung Makes an Odd Plea in Max Schneider's Case.

. P. STONE RESTS ON THE TESTIMONY

Max Schneider's hearing was concluded resterday before Judges Collier and Slagle. All the testimony in the matter of selling to minors was heard, and Attorneys Young and Stone made a plea for their respective

As on the hearing before, the room was crowded with politicians and saloon keepers. There were also a number of promi nent attorneys who watched the case with interest. Great interest is being taken in the case from the fact that it is also practically a trial for selling liquor to minors, with the additional feature that a combined effort was being made by outside parties to entrap Mr. Schneider with a view to having his license refused. Attorney Young, for Mr. Schneider, made a plea that as this hearing was not on a rule to revoke a license, but simply the hearing of an applicant, the only questions the Court had to decide were necessity and fitness. At one time during the hearing the Court threatened to fine the attorneys for making remarks about a mustache that one of the Testimony Given by Minors. Harry Boyle, who said he was only 18 years of age, said he had purchased beer in Mr. Schneider's place two weeks ago tonight. John Hamilton, another lad of 18, said he had met young Alexander, who was employed by the Murphy Detective Agency, some weeks ago. They started for Allegheny. Young Alexander loaned him a dollar, with which he purchased a bottle of whisky and several drinks of beer from Mr. Schneider's bartenders. Hamilton got mixed when cross examined by Mr. Young and could not tell whether his testimon was the same as given before Magistrate McKenna the previous day.

Aughbrey Wilson, 19 years of age, testified that he had bought beer several times in the Hotel Federal. Charles Cunningham was put through a rather severe cross examination by Mr. Young. Cunningham claimed to be 20 years of age, and when asked if he had not told the bartenders that Abe Cornelius, John Fluty, George Geisinger, George Hays, Mrs. Jennie Hays and A. T. by a close friend that someone was trying to "do him up." He always remains around the bar every night, and employs a special officer every Saturday and all holidays to Louis Brandt and Mr. Fisher, the bartenders, testified as to the strict orders always given them by Mr. Schneider, and the means employed to avoid violations of the law.

Officers McCune and Loughrey and Detective Hesser, testified about being on duty at various times and preventing boys from going in.

Not Obliged to Refuse License. This closed the testimony and Mr. Young made an argument in behalf of the appli-cant holding that under the Brooks law, it was discretionary with the court to grant or re-fuse Mr. Schneider's license. According to the fifteenth section of the law it is not mandatory upon them to refuse unless the applicant has been twice convicted of a vio-lation. It was shown that Mr. Schneider was a fit person to have a license, that he had a house of nearly 40 rooms, and that the opposition against him was in the shape of concerted effort by officers of the law who employed boys after the fashion of the Law and Order Society to entrap their victims. He also pointed out to the court that the case had been dismissed by Alderman Mc-

Attorney Stone merely rested on the testimony, and said it was shown that Mr. Schneider even with extra precautions was unable to prevent violations of the law, and said he could see no reason why Mr. Schneidershould be treated differently from any other applicant. A number of petitions for rehearings were presented yesterday, making so far a total of 725 presented. B. C. Christy filed a remonstrance against a rehearing in the case of Joseph Redfern, of Wilmerding. C. C. Montooth filed a petition for a rehearing in the case of the Windisch Muhlhansen Brewing Company. Court will con-vene this morning again at 10 o'clock, when several decisions are expected. To-day is the last day upon which old licenses are valid, and about 20 saloon keep-ers have not yet lifted their new certificates.

The Public to Enjoy the Benefits and Beauties of the Allegheny Observatory One Night Each Week-Rules Governing These Special Receptions.

As announced exclusively in THE DIS-PATCH several months ago, the Allegheny Observatory is to be thrown open to the public. The improvements described then, which Prof. Keeler, the director, had in contemplation, have been completed. This includes a new observer's chair. In a for-mal letter last night Prof. Keeier said:

mal letter last night Prof. Keeler said:

The Allegheny Observatory has hitherto not been open to visitors. It is a private institution, supported partly by the Western University, of which it is a department, and partly by its own exertions, and it is therefore not under the same obligations to the public as observatories connected with State universities. Nevertheless, believing that it will be of benefit to the Observatory to have its work better known in its immediate vicinity, and a source of gratification and instruction to the public to see something of modern methods of astronomical research, I have made arrangements by which the Observatory will hereafter be open to visitors every Thursday evening, during the summer months, beginning with May 5, 1892. As a large party cannot be accommodated at the Observatory, it has been necessary to establish the following rules for regulating the admission of visitors:

Cards of admission will be required, which may be obtained on application at the office of the Chancellor of the University, University main building, Perrysville avenue, Allegheny.

Not more than ten cards will be issued for any one evening. Names will be entered in the order of application.

The entrance to the Observatory is through the grounds of the Western University. Visitors should leave the Perrysvilie avenue electric cars at the foot of University avenue, and follow the boardwalk to the door of the Observatory. They will be received by the officers of the Observatory, who will show them the instruments and explain the manner in which they are used, exhibit specimens of astronomical photography and other results of scientific work, and, if the weather permits, show them a number of celestial objects with the large equatorial pelescope.

TALKING ON THEOSOPHY.

The General Secretary of the Society Tell of the Organization. Wilson Q. Judge, General Secretary of the American section of the Theosophical Society, who is at the Duquesne Club and who is returning to New York from the annual convention of the society at Chicago, delivered a lecture in the Spiritualists' hall on Sixth street last night. The lecture was fairly well attended. On the stage with the speaker was W. C. Temple, President of the Allegheny ball club, while in the audience were motherly-looking women, gray haired men and a great variety of young people.

In his lecture Mr. Judge discussed Theosophy and the Theosophical Society. The object of the society, he said, was to form a nucleus of a universal brotherhood of humanity without distinction of caste humanity without distinction of caste creed, race, sex, color or religion; to promote the study of Aryan and other literatures, religions and other literatures, religions and sciences and demonstrate the importance of that study, and to instigate the unexplaine laws of nature and the psychical powers latent in man. "Our society." the speaker said, "has no creed. It requires assent to no formula of religious beliek It is abso-lutely unsectarian. It is unattached to politics, and to involve it in any politics movement is to violate its constitution an incur expulsion from its ranks. It is an open body, without secrets and initiations."

The lecture was nearly two hours in length. The audience listened attentively and all showed marked attention.

FILLING THE HOSPITALS.

The List of Mishaps Reported in the Two Cities Yesterday.

Only five accidents were reported yesterday. None of them were fatal. A Chinaman was severely scalded. The list follows:

man was severely scalded. The list follows:

UNENOWN—An Italian, employed by the Junction road, had his foot crushed in the yards at Thirty-third street yesterday afternoon, by having it caught beneath a heavy beam. He was taken to the St. Francis Hospital. His name is not known, but his number was 104.

Hong—Ching Hong, who has a laundry on Grant street, was taken to the West Penn Hospital for treatment yesterday. He was seriously burned by having a boiler of scalding water spilled on him.

Benoventano—Ferardo Benoventano, a 15year-old boy who lives at 75 Washington street, while playing near home yesterday afternoon, ruptured a large blood vessel. He was taken to the West Penn Hospital.

Kitzka—Charles Kitzka, a section hand on the Pennsylvania Railroad, had his arm caught between the bumpers of two freight cars last night and badiv crushed. He was taken to the West Penn Hospital where the injured member was amputated.

Towers—George Towers, a brakeman on the Panhandle, had his arm crushed while coupling cars at Sheridan station yesterday afternoon. He was brought to the West coupling cars at Sheridan station yesterday afternoon. He was brought to the West Penn Hospital.

GETTING RID OF UNION MEN. me of the Brickmakers Will Not Employ

K. of L. Labor. A report was going the rounds yesterday that the brickmakers of the Builders' Ex change were going to discharge all K. of L. men in their employ. There is some truth in it, but the Exchange has not taken any concerted action in the matter. One of the largest brickmakers yesterday said:

"The Exchange has never decided that brickmakers should not employ union men. Some time ago a resolution was brought up, which had this in view, but one firm objected to it for political reasons, and it was then decided to let the manufacturer use his own judgment. As a result of this, there are only about four brickvards in the city at the present time, where K. of L. or union men are employed. The John Lanz Company was the last to refuse to sign the scale. I believe it will now employ non-union men. The firms now employing union labor all have particular reasons for it."

WINDOW GLASSWORKERS' MEETING. The Convention Is Thought to Be in the Interest of Caka. The window glassworkers, who comprise 300, will hold a convention on Thurs day, July 7. It is about five years since convention of L. A. 300 was held, and it i supposed the necessity for the proposed meeting now grew out of the Cake episode. It is thought Mr. Cake has been instru-mental in having a convention called in the interest of his cause. He has been absent from the Southside for some time gathering testimony for his trial in June.
