The Conservatives and the Centrists appear to be timid, and did not take the opportunity to definitely deenormously rich, his jewels alone Deing worth a fabulous am, but unlike most In-dian Princes, he is not very fond of display, and his personal tastes and habits are sumple and decent. Sir William Hunter, who will pilot the Gackwar in this country, declares he is a perfect prodigy. "His home life," says Sir William, "is pure. He spends his money not on costly trifles, but in the construction of railways, a supply of good water to his capital, and in numerous public works. They confined themselves to acrimonious speeches, censuring the Government for the withdrawal of the primary educational bill, hile the Progressists unanimously pre-

Nevertheless, court chamberlains and masters of ceremonies are not overpleased at the prospect of having even this model potentiate on their hands for a month or two, for they have a vivid recollection of the worries which nearly drove them mad in the jubilee year, 1887, when they had to look after a number of Indian princes, in-cluding the Gackwar's father. accialism. He proposes to make the income tax progressive, exempting small incomes, and he will also introduce a new tax, making interest pay more in proportion than earnings. Minister Miquel expects that the increased revenue thus obtained will enable him to resign taxes on land and industries amounting to 100,000,000 marks to the local authorities.

Two Ministers Opposed to Caprivi.

With the retaining of Herr Kalsenborn-Stachau, Minister of War, there are now two Ministers, the other being Dr. von Boetticher, who hold views at variance with the Chancellor's on certain questions, though the difference is not serious enough to lead to fears of a rupture.

Financiers Have Their Hands Full. The German market is little inclined to absorb a new loan yet a while, as was shown hosoro a new round a point in the Prussian and German loans when it was reported that the projected new German loan would be issued immediately. The announcement in the Reichsanzeiger that the loan would not be issued until the end of the year allayed the fears and led to a recovery of prices. The emigration of Prussian Poles, chiefly to the United States, is rapidly growing heavier. This movement is attributed, not only to the agricultural depression, but to the general lear that war with Russin is inevitable sooner or later. The emigation from Germany has been heavier thus far this year than for many years past. The figures so far show that the emigration has doubled since 1888.

The authorities at Frankfort-on-the-Main have received information that the Belgian police have tracked Jaeger, the defaulting chief cashier of the Rothschilds, and have learned that he is now hiding in Brussels with his sweetheart, who was at the bottom of the whole affair.

A Larger Salary to Secure Bonesty.

The outery against the smallness of the salary attached to such a responsible posi-iion has induced the Rothschilds to double the amount they pay to the present cashier, who receives 10,000 marks yearly. Herr Rothschild himself now takes charge of the cash keya.

The report received of increasing trade has started a proposal in shipping circles to run a service of German steamers between New York and Paramaribo to compete with the existing Dutch and English lines. Mr. Murphy, the special agent of the United States Government to introduce the use of cornmeal, states that the German Government is now establishing a cornmeal plant in one of their largest mills, at Magdeburg. The tests are satisfactory, and extensive experiments are contemplated. The bread used by the army in the future will consist of one-third cornmeal and twothirds rye.
