Ferd Ward Out of Sing Sing and at Once He Makes a Straight Break TO VISIT HIS SON DOWN EAST.

He Doesn't Exactly Know What He is Going to Do for a Living.

NOTHING SAVED OUT OF THE WRECK

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. New York, April 30.—A very happy looking man stepped jauntily out of the door of the State prison at Sing Sing, a few minutes before 9 o'clock this morning, and waving his hand, shouted back: "I'm going to see my boy! I'm going to see my boy!"

him a package containing $184.70, the exact amount he brought to prison with him, and handed him a receipt to sign. Then he gave him $10.00 more. This was from the State—$20.00 for the work he had done in his six years and six months' imprisonment, $10.00 an act of the last Legislature, and $10.00 given by the State Prison Board. Finally the clerk handed him a ticket on the Central Railroad from Sing Sing to New York. It had stamped across the face, "Convict, half rate."

Ward smiled. "The warning is hardly necessary, I think," he said. "Well, I'm going to see my boy, and I may go to Boston or to Philadelphia, or some other city. What I shall do I do not know."

"It is not true," said Ward. "I have no money. I am to-day where I started."

Imports Heavily Fined. Botany Worsted Mills start to pay $30,000 for Undervaluation of Goods.

New York, April 30.—[Special.]—By a decision of Board of Appraisers yesterday the Botany Worsted Mills, of Passaic, is fined $30,000 for undervaluation of goods, and at the same time is compelled to pay $10,000 more duty on advanced values. Recently the Botany mills received two invoices of cassimere "in the gray," or unfinished and undyed cassimere. They came from the Kammerer Worsted Mills, of Lehigh, controlled by Stohn & Co. Cassimere had never been imported in this State before, and the appraisers accepted the valuations furnished by the importers. There were 400,000 yards in the two invoices.

Shortly after the delivery of the goods, Chief Appraiser Cooper was informed that the cassimere had been boiled before they were sent to America, and thereby had increased 15 per cent. The material is measured by the square yard in reckoning the duty, which is 12 cents per square yard and 20 per cent ad valorem. Mr. Cooper sent a piece of the goods to the Atlantic Mills, Rhode Island, to be finished, and when it was returned it was found to have increased in width from 38 to 43 inches. He thereupon increased the value of the goods so that $10,000 more duty could be levied, and indicated the fine of $30,000. His decision was reviewed by the Board of Appraisers and General Appraiser Wilkinson, and upheld by them. No notice of appeal has been received from the importers.

BUSINESS MEN.

A Chat Between Two of Them on a Business Matter.

It Was Overheard and Made a Note of—Some of the Arguments Used—Why Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers Have Such a Large Practice.

PROMINENT business man was entering the parlors of Drs. Copeland, Hall & Byers last week.

"Hello," what are you doing here?" "Why," said the merchant, "I'll tell you. I've suffered with catarrh for years, and spent thousands of dollars trying to get rid of it. I have been reading the statements of people that have been coming here, and, figuring: the thing out, have come to the conclusion that these physicians know their business. They are certainly right in what they say about the average case. I never yet seen a physician who was glad to take my case or showed any interest in treating me. These physicians devote themselves entirely to this work, and, by George, I'm going to see if they can do what they advertise."

"Well, supposing they do. You advertise, don't you? You don't do better than any one else, or had anything that I wanted to sell which was better than anything else of the kind, that is just why I'm coming here. I'm a business man; so are you. I don't care for the doctor's advice. I know what they can do, they do it, and then they show the result to the public. That suits me great. I don't care for the business man than to have a doctor here and have over my case and take time to see what he can do about it. I say that kind of a physician."

"I replied the other, 'your logic is all right, and I believe that, come to think about it, your entire position is right. If I had catarrh, I would go there.' This was overheard by one of our reporters who, after interviewing the gentleman and Byers, as to the character of the patients that they treated.

"What you describe," said the latter, "that our charges for treatment have been placed upon that they are not but to the benefit of people. But you would be surprised to see how many of the patients we have are of the character of the man you describe. Why, I had a patient a few days ago, a man who is a leading manufacturer in this city, who has been suffering with catarrh at any time for $200.00, and he said he would like to see you. I believe you can treat catarrh successfully. I have gone to the best physicians in this city; I have tried catarrh, and have had no success. Now I want to give you my case. My name is Ward, and my name is right now. With that name, I have a uniform rate of treatment, as you know. I examined his case, told him I could cure him, and he said he would like to see you. He drew that check with an astonished air. But since then he has come in with great delight, as he has not only improved, but he says he feels better than he ever did in his life."

Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers have probably the largest practice of any specialists in the country. It is largely because the proposition they make appeals to the common sense of the people, is economical, sensible and absolutely unimpeachable in every respect.

They know how to successfully treat catarrh, and they achieve the most telling results. The testimonials they publish each day are the best evidence of the success of their practice, congratulation and gratitude that rises from the hundreds of patients who testify to their success, and who, in their industry, circulate among their friends the result is that every one is convinced of the value of the method and the merits of the men, and that they are not only cured, but at once put themselves under treatment and receive benefit from the very first course of medicine.

IN CHILDHOOD Is the Time to Treat and Cure Catarrhal Troubles. Because the Disease Extends and the Remedies Are Few and the Cure is Difficult and Sometimes Impossible.

Only a bad cold we think when the little one is coughing and sneezing, his bright little eyes inflamed and filled with tears and his face flushed with fever. Only a day or two and he will be all right again. Some simple domestic remedy is administered, and in a short time the cold apparently disappears.

Little Marie Smith. A bright and promising child is Little Marie Smith, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Marie Smith, reside at 20 Bedford avenue. Marie has been treated with Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers for a catarrhal affection, regarding which and her recovery Mrs. Smith says: "We were very much worried about the condition of her health. Some time ago Marie had an attack of the grip, which left her in very poor health. Her nose was stopped, and she had a very bad cold, and she had a profuse discharge from her nostrils, which necessitated the use of two or three handkerchiefs a day."

"She was forced to breathe almost entirely through her mouth. The mucus dripping in her throat kept her constantly dropping and raising. Her throat became irritated and inflamed and painful, and she had a dry, hacking cough. Her sleep was almost entirely gone, and she was greatly distressed. She was nervous, restless and fretful, sometimes seeming hot and feverish and next cold and chills. "We were constantly on our guard to prevent her contracting any other ailment, but all our efforts it seemed it could not be done. Medicines and remedies we used only afforded slight temporary relief. In a few days she would be as bad as ever, and realizing the danger threatening her we consulted Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers, and placed her under treatment with them."

"Her progress and improvement under their care was very flattering. Our fear vanished when we saw how nicely she was getting on. Her cough and cold and chills, and she has gained quite considerably, and she looks like a new child. We appreciate the services of Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers, and the satisfactory results of their treatment."

Children are as subject to catarrh as adults, and much of the trouble referred to other diseases, such as habitual cough, cough, worms, colic, etc., is caused by this disease. They become weak and puny, and look like little dried up old men and women, when they should be sleek, fat and rosy. Children who have become weak and puny soon take on new life and growth under the combined local and internal treatment prescribed by Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers.

They have at the present time a great many children under their care, and as they but little trouble in treating them, as they with their confidence and affection from the first.

Can They Treat by Mail? Read the Following Letter and You Will See How Well They Can. Office of Dr. F. HARRIS, New Castle, Pa., February 11, 1892.

Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers: I have been having and spitting ever since 1881. At that time I was in the South. I have been having and spitting ever since, and feel so miserable I am cross and ill-natured all the time. I notice that is leaving me. I commenced your home treatment January 5; the 5th of February I weighed seven pounds heavier; my appetite is more regular and my sleep better; my head is also better and the hawking and spitting is not so bad. I am better in every way.

From 1881 to 1892 is over 10 years. I think if you can help me so much in one month you can cure me, and if a course of such long standing as mine can be cured I do not see why anybody cannot be. I think your treatment has done all that any medicine could do. Yours truly, D. F. HARRIS.

Dear Doctors: Enclosed find $5 for another month's supply of medicine. I am getting along nicely and think this lot of medicine will fix me all right. F. HARRIS.

Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers desire to state for the benefit of those who may be hesitating about writing to them that their question blanks and other systematic arrangements a sufficient knowledge of each can be obtained to make treatment an easy matter. These patients can be treated at their homes as well as in Pittsburgh. Medicines are sent by express, a regular correspondence is required and maintained, and the physicians and patients are thus in constant touch. Prompt replies are made by Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers. Modifications in treatment prescribed with the proper medicines, and in every detail each case is worked out until a cure is effected.

Cases away from the city can in this manner be treated very successfully and very carefully. Write and ask for symptom blank.

For the accommodation of those employed in the coal working country, the office of Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers are open every evening, from 7 to 10 o'clock, and Sundays from 10 to 12 p.m.

DO YOU HEAR WELL? Try One Ear and Then the Other and Ascertain How the Hearing of One Ear Can Be Lost Imperceptibly.

Last summer a gentleman residing in this city took a cold. The water was cold, and when he came out he forgot to practice the old, foolhardy trick of hopping on one foot and then on the other to shake the water out of his ears. After he had retired to slumber that evening he remembered this fact, as he was awakened by an excruciating earache.

It was the right ear, and all night long the pain thumped and throbed and ran along through the head, sending the sufferer into almost a state of madness. Dawn had scarcely broken before he was at the house of an ear specialist. The ache was stopped, the ear stuffed with cotton, and the man went home sleepily. For days, however, there was no rest for him. An abscess had formed in the ear, causing the most intense suffering.

"It was at this time," said the gentleman afterward, "that I found I could not hear, and the man went home sleepily. For days, however, there was no rest for him. An abscess had formed in the ear, causing the most intense suffering."
