FIVE-CENT BUSINESS Condemned by a Leading Democrat ally intended. in the House Yesterday. MONEY FOR A RAILROAD SURVEY To Be Furnished From the Coffers of Liberal Uncle Sam. CONFERENCE CHINESE BILL PASSED WASHINGTON, May 3 -But little routine business was done this morning and shortly after the reading of the journal the House went into a committee of the whole, Mr. Oates, of Alabama, in the chair, on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. The consideration of the bill having been completed without any material change having been made, the committee reverted to the amenument offered a few days ago by Mr. Chipman, of Michigan, providing that no part of the emergency tund shall be paid to any foreign government in the settlement of any claim against the United States. The amendment was adopted.

Mr. Blount, of Georgia, in charge of the bill, moved to strike out the appropriation of $65,000 to continue the preliminary survey for an inter-continental railway. It may be advanced as an argument in favor of the appropriation, he said, that the United States had already appropriated $130,000 to carry out this work; but this was the first opportunity presented to oppose a scheme which would connect this Government with other kindred pursuits. The results of the McKinley act upon this a railroad in South America and which might implicate us in a wave of conquest.

Opposed to His Own Report.

Mr. McCreary, of Kentucky, opposed the motion. The only gentleman of the Foreign Afhirs Committee who opposed the appro-priation was the Chairman, who had re-ported the bill. That gentleman stood in the attitude of asking the House to strike from the bill, which he himself had results will be past all cure. In conclusion the report says that while the bill will not cure the plain evils which the present law has created, if promptly adopted it will modify its injurious effect ported, one of its most important features. It was simply a proposition that the United States should furnish $65,000 to complete a adopted it will modify its injurious effect upon our home industries. The Foreign Affairs Committee has suggested that this concession would probably he of mutual ad-vantage in securing reciprocity with Mexico. The imposition of a duty upon silver-lead ores was regarded by Mexico as an un-friendly act, and the Mexican Government at once retaliated by increasing her duties survey which was already two-thirds ac-complished. There was nothing in the clause which pledged the United States to furnish $1 for the construction of the road. Mr. O'Neil, of Missouri, expressed the opinion that the appropriation should be made. His appeal to the House that it should put a stop to this poor, 5-cent way of doing business elicited applause, and called from Mr. Reed, of Maine, the remark that upon our agricultural products, for, while our sister republic has really been the only one benefited by the duty, she realizes that in passing the law it was our purpose to in-jure her, and acts accordingly. the statement was very beautiful, but not Democratic.

The motion was agreed to, 113 to 71. The committee reported the bill as amended to the House

Mr. Hooker, of Mississippi, demanded a separate vote on the amendment striking out the $65,000 appropriation for the Inter-Continental Railway Commission. It was agreed to-yeas, 143; nays, 84. The bill was then hered then passed.

On motion of Mr. Onthwaite, of Ohio, the Senate amendments to the army appropriation bill were non-concurred in, and a con-ference was ordered, after which the House adjourned.

A Silver Speech in the Senate.

In the Senate, Mr. Morgan called up the President's message on the subject of an international conference as to silver coin-age. Mr. Dolph tried to get action first on the conference report on the Chinese exclu-sion bills, but Mr. Morgan refused to give precedence to that subject, remarking that there was not so much pressure about it as that the Senator from South Dakota who desired to address the Senate, might not have the courtesy of a hearing. Mr. Kyle then proceeded to address the Senate in layor of the free coimage of silver. He declared that it relief did not come from ne or the other of the two great political parties of the country, such a combination would be formed as would relegate both of them to the background. At the close of his remarks the message was again laid on the table, Mr. Morgan giving notice that he

The use of silver lead ores for smelting the dry silver ores mined in the United States is an imperative necessity, and they are not only required as the raw material of smelting, but are an essential tool of in-dustry. The American smelter must secure this tool, and as the domestic supply does not meet the demand, heavy importations of Mexican ores have been made. The conference report on the Chinese exclusion bill was then laid before the Senate. As soon as it was read Mr. Sher-man stated that although a member of the conference committee he had not been able to sign the report. He was very willing to provide any necessary legislation for the restriction of Chinese labor, and thought the Senate bill had done so very broadly.

An Insult to Uncle Sam.

It had proposed to continue in force the existing laws with penalties for their viola-tion by Chinamen coming into the United States, especially through Canada. He looked upon the introduction of Chinese laborers through Canada as an insult to the United States. They were allowed to enter Canada on payment of a charge of $50 a head, and with the privilege of entering the United States in violation of law. It was incidents like that which tended to create excitement and irritation along the border, and which would some day be the cause of great difficulty. Those who be-lieved that the United States had a right to trample on the treaty and to disregard it, might vote for the conference report with-might vote for the conference report with-out computation; but for his part he did not feel at liberty to do so. Mr. Dolph, another of the Senate con-ferences, defended the report. Mr. Vest said that he had no disposition to violate treaties, but self-preservation was the first law of nations as well as of individuals. Mr. Frye spoke of a visit which he had made to Rock Springs, where he had seen nbout 100 Chinamen-peaceable, quiet, well-behaved, cleanly people. There were also there two companies of infantry, and when he inquired of their commanding officer why the troops were there he was told that their presence was necessary in order to protect the lives of those quiet, unoffend-ing Chinamen from a horde of unnaturalized Poles and Hungarians who worked in the mines.

The Conference Report Adopted.

Mr. Palmer said that there were two reasome why he could not vote for the conference report. One was that a Chinaman seeking to come into the United States was not to to come into the Child States was not to be admitted to bail. That was an unneces-sarily harsh provision-one not consistent with the fundamental principles of justice that existed in China and America and everywhere where God reigned. The other reason was the provision for the arrest of Chinamen not provided with certificates. He sympathized with the gentlemen from the Pacific coast and would do anything to help them, except what he believed to be help them, except what he believed to be wrong and unjust. The vote was then taken and the conterence report was agreed to-yeas, 30; navs, 15-as follows: Yeas-Messrs. said to be a member of a suicide club which is declared to exist in this city, shot himself in Douglas Park last night, dying instantly. He is Joseph Kraker, a brewery employe. Andrew Rudman, one of the members of the alleged society, is under arrest.

Before being taken into custody, Rudman had written a letter announcing the purpose of perpetrating self-murder. Then Rudman broke open a roommate's trunk, abstracted $30, bought a revolver, attempted to kill Miss Eva Diessler, to whom he has been engaged, and fired a shot at one, Meister, who, as foreman, recently discharged Rud-man. The latter fired into a group of citizens and attempted to put a bullet into a policeman who arrested him. Rudman's unsteady aim was due to the fact that he had been drinking heavily.
