GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Local baseball cranks were feeling quite happy and contented about sunset last evening as a result of the local team's deteating what are called the Giants from New York. Their name still carries considerable terror with it, but in reality there is not as much of the giant about them as there used to be. Still, a very large number of Pittsburg patrons of the game were fully convinced that the Giants would wallop our sluggers, but in that they were mistaken.

Nearly 4,000 people saw the game, and it was a tolerably interesting one. The score was always close enough to keep everybody guessing, because there were numerous stages where a solid hit would have changed the complexion of things very considerably, indeed. But the contest was somewhat dull despite the close score, and for this the visitors and the umpire were probably to blame. Everything moved along as if nobody cared to exert himself, and several times the crowd became im-patient and yelled for a little more lite.

Won on Its Merits.

The game was won by the home players on its merits and the contest clearly de strated that the Giants, from New York, of to-day are not the Giants who a season or two ago were the terror of the country. This is a fac', and just as clear to see as a summer's sun. Their work yesterday was clean enough, but they lacked the dash of the famous Giants. And there is another fact that is hard to conceal, and that is the condition of many of the New York players. The truth is very few of them are in good playing condition, and that fact, com-bined with their lack of vigor and enthusiasm, may account for their poor success so far this season.

Rusie pitched a very good game, but there were three innings that went very much against him. It was this trio of innings that caused his defeat. He, too, gave evi-dence of being considerably too hig to play first-class ball, as several times he was compelled to stop for a breathing spell. He was blowing like a porpoise various times But he hit the ball hard and that redeemed his wildness on a very important occasion. The fielders behind him played their part tolerably fair, but not brilliantly, with the exception of a stop by little Fuller. Altogether there is room for considerable improvement in Pat Powers' team and when they get into better condition they will certainly give a good account of themselves.

Elmer Pitched Very Well. Elmer Smith tried his hand at pitching for the home team and really pitched a very good game. He had a capital com-man i of the ball and the lett hand batters were at his mercy. He also showed good speed and judgment. The fielding was good as usual, but if "old opportune" batting had been present there would have been considerably more runs scored. Several times there were excellent chances for the home team to make a hit and bring in some runs. But this little shortcoming was to be found on both sides. The third inning was reached before run getting was commenced and it was then that Amos Rusie played a part that eventually meant defeat to him and his traveling companions. Charley Farrell led off the inning and got his base on balls, and so did Jake Beckley. This made the local cranks shake hands with themselves and yell like Indians. Elmer Smith followed and whacked out as nice a single as ever was seen. The ball went into Mike Tiernan's territory and Farrell scored, Beckley landing on third. Corkhill got the "sacrifice" bat and succeeded in sacrificing Beckley home. Mack went out at first and Raymond got his base on balls and matters looked very blue for Rusie. But Miller knocked out a fiv which Gore caught and that ended the first half which looked so very, very had at the opening.

The Giants in the Lead.

Then the Giants took their turn and thumped out a run by clean and hard hit-Rusie was first and in a way of revenge for his mistakes he cracked the ball plumb on the nose and it went rattling down the right foul line for three bases. Fuller knocked a fly out to Corkhill, which was caught, and here Mr. Rusie made a very grave mistake. Had he tried to score on the throw-in he certainly would have succeeded, but he stuck to third base and was clearly thrown out when he did try to score on Gore's infield hit. Buck Ewing, however, improved matters by banging the bail to right field for three bases, and Gore scored.

In the second half of the fourth inning visitors took the lead Lawyer O'Rourke started out with a single but was admirably nabbed when trying to piller sec ond. Richardson got his base on balls and then Raymond fumbled a hot one knocked out by Lyons. Boyle's sacrifice sent Richardson to third and Lyons to second, and a corking single by Rusie scored both men. Falter made a single, but Gore struck out at a very important stage.

The home players tied the score in the sixth. Beckley made a single and got to second on a passed ball. Another single hit by Smith scored the runs. In the ninth inning there was much excitement. Mack led off by making a nice single to right and got to second on a fumble by Tiernan. Raymond struck out and Mack got to third on a passed batl. Miller rapped out a good single to left and Mack scored what proved to be the winning run.

Macullar umpired instead of Hunt, the latter being ordered to Louisville. Macul-lar umpired fairly well. Both sides objected now and then, but he was pretty even.

RUINED BY GAMBLING

The Scuthern League Exposed by W. C. Wilson, of This City.

W. C. Wilson, of this city, who went to act as umpire in the Southern League some time ago, returned home yesterday thor oughly disgusted with Southern baseball patrons. He has had a rough time of it, and during a conversation yesterday, said:

"Nobody has any idea of the kind of peo ple who patronize ball games in places like Birmingham, Atlanta and Chattanooga. There is always any amount of gambling going on, and when a decision goes against the tough element of the gamblers all they think about is mobbling. They go all by mobs down there. If a man decides in favor of the home team every time he is all right. I was told to do that, but I absolutely refused. In some cities the umpire is not allowed to tell the police to do anything, and the police, of course, favor the gamblers. Altogether the Southern Loague has elements in it that are a disgrace to baseball, and I was glad to tender my resignation." ple who patronize ball games in places like

THE LOUISVILLE DERBY.

Phil Dwyer a Sure Starter and Lew Wier Is Not.

CHICAGO, May 9 -- Ed Corrigan left last night for Louisville after spending the day in the city. He had thought nothing about a meeting between Helter Skelter and Tulla Blackburn. He had an idea that Joe Murphy was as good because the company he had been in was less than first-class and liked the work Riley was doing. He opined, too, that Tulia Blackburn was almost unbeatable at this time. Lew Wier struck himself in his Nashville work and may not start in the Kentucky Derby. Phil Dwyer surely will, and Mariner may take Lew Wier's place.

TURF RECORDS AND TALK. Dallas, the Pacer, Has Been Retired-Ready

at Homewood. Dallas, the famous pacer owned by McCor-mick, the Pittsburg horse man, will not appear in public this season. On account of corns, which the owner has been unable to relieve, Dallas has gone lame, and yesterday it was decided to turn him out until next pring. At the close of last season Dallas threatened the pacing record, but his feet have been under treatment all winter with no noticeable effect. The horse is now at Homewood Park. An attempt to jog him Homewood Park. An attempt to jog mm yesterday developed his trouble, and his owner ordered him to be turned out for a year in the hopes that the corns will grow out. The original plan was to start Dallas at the Homewood meetings this spring. The arrangements for the spring meeting at Homewood have been completed in detail. The clubhouse and grand stands have been refitted, remodeled and improved, stables have been refurnished, and the place is now more attractive than it has ever been. The clubhouse is a model of beauty as at present arranged. It has been thoroughly renovated. It has been thoroughly renovated. It has been thoroughly renovated. It has been repainted inside and out. PLIMMER WHIPS KELLY.

The English 110-Pounder Too Much for the Harlem Chap. NEW YORK, May 9 .- There was a fairly good crowd of sporting men assembled at the arena of the Coney Island Athletic Club to-night to witness the international prize fight between Tom Kelly, of Harlem, champion 110-pound man of America, and Billy Plimmer, the cham-America, and Billy Pilmmer, the champion of that weight in England. The prices of tickets were $5 and $10. At 9 r. m. the men entered the ring. Both looked to be in the best of condition. Pilmmer was seconded by Charley Norton and Benny Murphy, while Kelly was looked after by Jack Quinn and Jimmy Carroll, Brooklyn's clever middle-weight. Alf Smith acted as referee and Bob Stall held the official time. Fred hums acted as master of ceremonies. clever midule-weight. All Smith actical as referee and Bob Stall held the official time. Fred Burns acted as master of ceremonies. Four-ounce gloves were used.

The men faced each other at 9:16¼ and sparred for an opening. Plimmer led first for the ribs. Kelly tried to force the fighting, but he found he had his match before him, as Plimmer was cool, and long before the close of the first round he forced Kelly to cling to his neck for safety. Plimmer punched straight and hard and had Kelly pretty much at sea.

Second round-Plimmer forced the fighting and made Kelly look sharp for his laurels. It did him good, as it made him more cautious and realize fully tint he had a man to confront with whom he could take no liberties.

Third round-Kelly tried to do the walk around act, but Plimmer followed him up and gare him many stiff punches. Kelly was cool and, while he acted on the defensive and kept out of the way, he got in many telling blows.

Fourth round-Kelly kept up the run-around tactics, and forced Plimmer to come at him. Kelly proved himself a good two-handed fighter, and he managed to close in and get there with both hands every time that Plimmer landed a straight left, which made the blood flow freely from Kelly's mouth. Both men fought like tigers to the end of the round, but Kelly was covered with biood, while there was scarcely a mark on Plimmer, who did some excellent ducking and good, clean, straight hitting.

Sixth round-Plimmer, under the direction of his seconds, forced the fighting and made a regular chopping block of Kelly, landing his left straight on Kelly's face almost at will. The crowd took a tumble, and it was generally considered only a matter of time.

Seventh round-Kelly tried to rally in this round and force the fighting, but Plimmer again showed himself to be a general and met his opponent with the utmost ease. There were some very viclous blows struck. Fred Burns acted as master of ceremonies.

Eighth round—Kelly was full of leading on the start, but he was well met, and was finally forced into acting on the defeusive. Both men received some pratty severe punishment about the body and some pretty severe punishment about the body and face.

Ninth round—Considerable in-fighting was in-duiged in this round, and Kelly was knocked down twice and almost out by short-arm blows, but he pluckly staggered to his feet and fought like a liger to the call of time.

Tenth round—Kelly showed signs of quitting, and twice he fell down in this round without receiving a knock-out blow, and the last time he fell he was counted out, much to the disgust of the assemblage.

Readers of last Sunday's DISPATCH will not be surprised to learn this morning that Plummer defeated Kelly last evening.

ANTI-COOPERS AHEAD

The Court Granted an Injunction Against the Professor's Friends.

Eniz, May 9.-[Special.]-The anti-Cooper element in the Edinboro State Normal School contest came to the top to-day again It will be remembered that Prof J. A. Cooper's friends outnumbered the anti-Cooper faction, and secured the organization of the election board. They then elected as trustees those who were in favor of reinstating Prof. Cooper, who has been helping the Clarion State Normal School since he was summar-ily dismissed at Edinboro. The anti-Cooper element organized another board and elected the old trustees and their friends to vacancies.

That night the Cooper trustees took possession of the trustees' room, safe, etc., and held it till to-day when the old trustees got an injunction from the court compelling the Cooper faction to give them access to the trustees' room and safe. Prof. Cooper has over 50 prosecutions in the Quarter Sessions Court this week against the old trustees and their lieutenants for conspiracy, perjury and ieutenants for conspiracy, perjury and other crimes.

AN advertiser writes: "Please stop my adlet—rooms rented," One small advertisement in the Cent a Word Columns of THE DISPATCH did this.

Kicked on the Advertisement. In Common Council Mr. Wright objected to the approval of the contract for a smoke consumer for Herron Hill pumping station because the word "stoker" had been inserted in the advertisement for proposals instead of smoke conproposals instead of smoke con-sumer, thereby preventing competition. He also objected to letting the contract for cement to Samuel Garrison, because Mr. Garrison is a business partner of Common Councilman Williams. Both contracts were postponed, as well as that with the Philadel phia Company for natural gas for Brillian pumping station.

NEWS OF THREE STATES CONDENSED

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] LANCASTER, O., May 9 .- This morning a elephone message was received from Zanesville telling the authorities to look out for a horse thief, describing a bay horse that had been stolen there, and also giving a description of a buggy taken. Soon after the telephone message was received Constable Piper saw a rig as described driving into Lancaster and attempted to arrest the occupant of the buggy-a man. The man re sisted and was shot dead.

About 8:30 Piper saw and pursued a stranger on the Pleasantville pike, who was driving a turnout such as had been described. The man entered Wheeling street and drove west toward High. His horse was traveling at a slow trot, followed by Piper, who steadily gained upon him. Be-fore High was reached Piper overtook the vehicle and placed the driver under arrest n suspicion.

The man denied that he was a horse thief, but claimed that he was a physician and questioned an officer's right to intercept him when he was on an alleged important professional pilgrimage. Piper was firm however, and attempted to enter the conhowever, and attempted to enter the conveyance, but was beaten back by the stranger who simultaneously applied the whip to his horse in a vigorous manner. Piper hotly pursued and again overtook the physician, and when he entered the buggy from one side, the stranger leaped out on the other and ran north on High street. Piper also abandoned the phaeton and followed his man into Coach Mendow, a tract of about 40 acres. At the foot of Mt. Pleasant he drew his revolver and fired to frighten the fleeing physician, who wheeled and ran one hand into his pocket in an apparent search for a weapon and with the other hand dealt Piper a stinging blow.

Piper again drew his revolver and fired. The stranger raised his right hand, threw back his head and the ball entered the neck below the chin. It passed above the base of the brain and produced instant death. Cororner Gly made a careful examination of the body, which was removed to an undertaker's at 10 o'clock. The Mayor of Zanesville was at once notified. A warrant was sworn out for Piper's arrest at noon by Prosecuting Attorney Wright and he was placed under arrest by Marshal Fink, but was released on his own recognizance by Mayor Parido. veyance, but was beaten back by the
