WORK OF THE POLICE

Chief Brown Submits the Annual Report for This Bureau.

DON'T WANT ANY MORE LICENSES.

O'Mara Says There Are No Professional Thieves in the City.

SPEAK-EASIES NEARLY ALL WIPED OUT

The annual reports showing the operations of the various bureaus of the Department of Public Safety are being finished up and submitted to Chief Brown for printing. The Bureau of Health report was printed in THE DISPATCH last Monday, and Police Superintendent O'Mara's was completed yesterday. The detailed statements referred to in his report, given below, are numerous and bulky, but complete and interesting. They will be published in the annual report of the department. Chief Brown's personal report is short and pithy. It is addressed to Councils and is as follows:

GENTLEMEN-The records and reports for the year ending January 31, 1892, herewith submitted, constitute my fourth annual re-port to your honorable bodies and case my first term as Chief of the Department of Public Safety. The record is made and submitted to you. Of the success or failure of the work you and the public are competent to judge. For its successful administration I ask no praise; and as for its shortcomings, the magnitude of the work is one element of its milure.

I have had the superintendents of the various bureaus make detailed and exhaustive statements of the operations and matters pertaining thereto, and would respectfully ask your attention to the clear outline embraced within the scope and sphere of these exhibits.

A Tribute to Gamble Weir.

During the year the department met with an irreparable loss in the death of the late lamented Gamble Weir, Superintendent of the Bureau of Police. His efficient service, executive ability and wise counsel are greatly missed by the Bureau of Police and the Pepartment of Public Safety. Entering upon the fest year of my second term as Chief of the Department of Public Safety, I invoke your hearty co-operation and assistance and thanking you for cheerful compliance with all requests made by me. Superintendent O'Mara's report deals largely with the obstacles to be contended with in the police bureau, and he gives considerable space to the question of suppression or one class of disorderly houses, taking a negative stand and arguing that, as the police have them under thorough control nd confined to certain localities where they are least offensive to the better class of people, they are less harmful than if closed and the inmates running at large or concealed in places now free from them. Referring to speak-easies, the Superintend-

Pienty of Licenses Were Granted.

The liquor laws have been rigidly enforced and there has been a notable falling off in violations of liquor laws; clubhouses are being conducted in an orderly and quiet manner and jughouses and speak-easies have been almost wholly eradicated. There are, however, a few speak-easies springing are, however, a few speak-easies springing up, on Sunday especially, and which require constant vigilance to suppress. They are usually carried on by widows seeking to secure a little money for the support of themselves and children. Formerly it was customary for us to arrest both the proprietors of and visitors to these filegal liquor houses, but during the past year we only arrested the proprietors, as the visitors were composed in pearly every case of the poor and selves and children. Formerly it was customary for us to arrest both the proprietors of and visitors to these illegal liquor houses, but during the past year we only arrested the proprietors, as the visitors were composed in nearly every case of the poor and working class who could ill-afford to pay a fine. The admirable distribution of licenses by the Court has done much toward eradicating the lilegal liquor traffic, as the saloons are fairly distributed and sufficient in numare fairly distributed and sufficient in number for the accommodation of the drinking class and consequently there is no occasion for illegal liquor selling.

I am gratified to report that we had but five labor strikes in the city during the year just closed, viz.:—the carpenters' strike, the bricklayers' strike, the job printers' strike, strike of employes of the Second avenue electric line and of the Allegneny and Manchester line. Neither of them caused the bureau any trouble. It is true the employes of the Allegheny and Manchester line gave the Allegheny police authorities some trouble, but we, as in the cases of all strikes, went to the striking employes and told them precisely what the law is in such cases, and exactly what we would expect of the men. The result was that we did not have any trouble.

any trouble. Had No Trouble With Strikers, We find in all our strikes that the mer are an intelligent class of people and are willing to comply with the law. During the year, complete and perfect har-mony has existed between the bureaus of

During the year, complete and perfect harmony has existed between the bureaus of police and fire, a great advantage to both, as the police and firemen now unite, assisting each other, both as to violations of law and crimes and at fires.

There were about one dozen murders committed in our city during the year, a majority of which were due to jealousy or to drunken quarrels. It affords me great pleasure to state that our city is comparatively free from what is termed the criminal element or class. This is due to the vigilance of our officers, and particularly of the special officers, whose duty it is to search for professional thieves when not detailed on other duty. A prevention of is far better than a punishent for crime. It is, therefore, a standing order to all officers connected with this bureau that they arrest on sight any well-known professional thieves of any character. Any such are sent to the workhouse for 30, 60 or 90 days, and when they are released they fail to return to the city. When they meet their comrades in the profession in other cities they inform them of the treatment received at our hands, and advise them to stay away from our city, with which advice they willingly comply. What little thieving is done is of a petty character, and not done by professionals.

Satisfied With New Central Station.

not done by professionals. Satisfied With New Central Station.

The establishing of the new Central police station on Oak alley will be of great advantage to the police bureau, as the accommodations and facilities for transacting police business and affairs at said station will be the best, and will tend greatly towards increasing the efficiency of the bureau in the central part of the city. The house and central part of the city. The house and grounds are large and ample; the cell department well regulated, well ventilated and all that can be desired; the department for women and children large and commodious, and isolated from that of the men. The large grounds furnish a suitable place for drills, which are of great advantage to the police, training them for their various duties and accustoming them to move in squads, so that at times of fire or disturbances we can have well-drilled policemen, and who today compare favorably in drill with any military company in the city.

The police stations are in excellent condition, are kept scruphously clean and are, in fact, as good if not better than those of any other city in the country.

other city in the country. Good Results From Reserve Squads. The keeping of a reserve squad in the various police stations, both day and night, during the year, has been a very efficient adunct to the police bureau. It enables the bureau to always have on hand for emergencies, such as large fires, extraordinary disturbances, etc., sufficient men to meet all difficulties. The patrol service during the year was of an excellent character and well maintained, the horses and apparatus being kept in excellent condition. I deem this one of the most valuable divisions of the one of the most valuable divisions of the bureau.

The law licensing dogs or impounding the same was only partially enforced during the year because the ordinance regulating the same did not go into operation until the year was well advanced. Heretofore dogs not properly muzzled were poisoned during the summer months and scattered all over the city, creating great annoyance and offense to citizens. Now they are gathered up alive in a quiet, orderly manner, taken to the dog pound, held 48 hours for redemption, and if not claimed are drowned in the most humane way possible, and then reof time disabled. There is also appended obituary notices of members of the force who died during the year. I also submit a who died during the year. I also submit a list of special appointments made by request of firms of the city. These officers are under agreement with the parties employing them, subject to the call of the police bureau if needed in case of riot or emergency, thus practically forming a reserve corps which can be called on at any time. Other Work of the Bureau.

I also add a list of lost children cared and provided for at police stations, and the work of matrons in connection therewith. The employment of matrons at police stations was certainly a very commendable one on the part of the city. The care and attention rendered by them to lost children one on the part of the city. The care and attention rendered by them to lost children and unfortunate women and girls in prison have been of the most efficient kind.

As in previous years the city was divided into three police districts, each in charge of an inspector. From personal observation and experience I believe this to be the best possible division of the work, as the several inspectors are held strictly responsible and accountable for the good condition and the enforcement of law and order in their districts. They report to me daily and I have through them ready means of enforcing all police regulations in the bureau.

A full and complete tabulated statement of the moneys received and paid out during the year will be found in the financial statement of the accountant of the Department of Public Safety.

Amount paid for salaries, $257,000; lost time and money paid for injured officers while in the performance of duty, $900; building account, $15,000; improvements on old buildings and jurnishing the same, $5,599; maintaining patrol service, $11,000; general supplies, $5,000; meals for prisoners, $3,200; police and patrol station rents, $3,000.
