WITHOUT A MURMUR

That's How Our Sluggers Took Their Second Defeat From Boston.

OLD SPORT WAS VERY EASY

Anson's Colts Get Two Victories From the Lively Little Senators.

THE RUNAWAYS ALSO WIN TWO.

Important Hitch in the Proposed Fight Between Fitz and Pritchard.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Our sluggers never looked like winners yesterday afternoon in their second argument against the bis people from Boston, It was difficult to find crank or anybody else who thought they would win, because no. body had forgotten the awful surprise of Wednesday. The vis.

itors started in just as if they meant to leave no doubt about their second contest, and they maintained their winning gait to the finish. They were determined to go home with victory perched high on their banner, and Mike Kelly stated before the game that he would eat his gloves if his side didn't win without much trouble. Mike was not compelled to carry his threat into effect.

They Are Real Jonans.

There is something strange about the contests between the Bostons and the Pittsburgs. No matter what kind of lead the home team may get on the champions, the latter always reach a stage where fate, voodooism or something of the kind steps in and pulls them through. It seems as if the sluggers of Pittsburg are not destined to down the Boston aggregation, and quite a number of citizens can be found who verily believe this to be true.

Vesterday's game was one of the most miserable there has been played here this year, or any other year, for that matter. The weather was wretchedly cold and a drizzling rain fell trequently. As a result, only about 500 poor, shivering mortals sat and rubbed their hands and stamped their feet to keep themselves warm during the contest. There was a remarkable absence of enthusiasm, and after the game had been started everybody wished that it was ended, thinking, of course, that the visitors were sure to win. Old Sport Galvin was in the box for the home talent, and Jeems was quite a happy mark for the Boston heroes. True, the did not score very many runs, but they banged the ball out just as easily as if they couldn't help it. Mr. Lowe enjoyed a picnic in this respect. He really couldn't miss the leather, and during his four times at bat he thumped out a quartet of hits, in-cluding a spanking three-bagger. Most certainly Jeems was easy, but the veteran took his medicine like a hero, and after every soaker he hitched up his pants and resumed his work as if nothing had happened. It was because of this remarkable coolness and the good fielding of his colleagues that the runs were kept down to the modest figure of five.

Harry Staley in Good Form. Staley pitched in good form for his side, and, although it was devoutly wished for, he had none of those fatal innings that used to characterize his pitching when in Pitts burg. Harry kept a level head, and particularly in the ninth inning, when there was a somewhat remote chance for the locals to tie the score or win the game. His support was of the highest quality, and the fielding of the Bostons showed that they have no superiors in that business. grounds were wretched, and still they held ir feet and made some brilliant stops. The home players were not so fortunate, a they had many tumbles.

In the second half of the first inning the scoring began. Long introduced himself by making a single past third base, but Duffy's infield hit forced Long out at sec-ond. Stivetts knocked the ball in front of the plate and in running to pick it up Old Sport Gaivin slipped down and Stivetts was safe at first. McCarthy banged another single to left and Duffy got home with the inaugural run. Galvin muffed the throw-in and Stivetts landed safely on third. Lowe began his cannonading by knocking the ball over second base for a single and Stivetts tallied the second run.

In the second inning the home players somewhat pleased their patrons. Farrell rapped out a single to left field, and after Beckley had been retired Swariwood got his base on balls, and Pon Corkhill follower with a lively single to middle, scoring

But the visitors came again, and touched the old man in the box up quite gayly. After Tucker was out, Staley turned to and swiped out a single, and then got to second on a passed ball. Long got his base on balls, and then Duffy was put out by a fly to Shugart. Mr. Stivitts had revenge for this. He deliberately banged the ball far into cente field for three bases, and two more runs go McCarthy's fly was nabbed by

A Little Bit of Hope.

There was no more scoring until the fifth inning, and everything was as lonely and dismal as a gravevard in December. In the second half of the inning Lowe celebrated his three-base hit by whacking the ball to the left-field fence for three bags. And it was here where Michael Kelly made his artistic sacrifice and scored Lowe.

That tatal inning of Staley's did not come. Many thought it had come in the eighth after Bierbauer was out. But the hopes were short lived. With the man named out, Shugart made a lucky infield hit and got to second on a wild throw by Lowe. Farrell followed with his third hit in the game, and Shugart tallied. But no more runs were made, as Staley was out to do business and to do it well. And in the ninth inning there was another ray of hope for the home fellows. Mack started ou with a single and got to second on Galvin's sacrifice. Miller sent a lively grounder to Long, who threw the ball to Lowe to head off Mack at third. Lowe dropped the ball and Mack was safe. When Bierbauer went to but there was a ripple of excitement among the little shivering audience. A three-bagger would have pulverized some body, but all that Louis could do was to was to knock the ball to Long, who put Miller out at second and threw Bierbauer out at first and the game was over,

Maculiar did not give satisfaction to either side in his umpiring. He was very bad on balls and strikes. The score:

SPORTS AT HOMESTEAD.

An Interesting Ball Game and a Big Shooting Match There To-Morrow. HOMESTEAD, PA., May 12 .- [Special.] -A great deal of interest is manifested by the sport-loving inhabitants of Homestead in the coming game between the baseball club of this place and the "Young Americans," of Braddock, on next Saturday afternoon. Braddock is the natural rival of Homestead, and a state of things akin to that of St. Paul and Minneapolis exists between the two towns. Of course, this rivalry extends to the sports and pastimes of the residents. but more particularly to the ball clubs, from the fact that whenever they met upon the

the fact that whenever they met upon the diamond the Homestead players were wont to wipe up the earth, and, incidentally, the territory inside the toul lines, with the would-be players who dwell 'neath the shadows of the Edgar Thomson.

Homestead has another club called the "All Americans," which will play on the home grounds Saturday afternoon. The members of this club's ages range 16 to 18 years, and will challenge the Toung Americans at Braddock when the older home club icans at Braddock when the older home club gets through with them.

James it. Ross and P. Dean, of Pittsburg, will shoot their live pigeon match here at the West Run grounds on Saturday at 2 p. M. The match is for $100 a side, and the friends of Ross have a large amount of money on the result.

Homestead will have a new driving park in the West Run grounds. A race track will cans at Braddock when the older home club be laid out at once, when the bloods of the town will put to test the mettle of Jay-Eye-

The Diamond, THE Senators are tumbling again.
THE Boston team left for home last evening. G. W. SHAW-The balls are always paid for, of THE Eastern teams will be moving to their own section to-day.

WELL, we are still in fourth place, and we should be thankful for that, ANSON and his coits are beginning to climb up, and look out for them. THERE is a letter here for the manager of the local State League club. RAIN prevented the League ga nes at St. Louis and Cleveland yesterday.

WILL GUMBERT will pitch for the Young Amer-cas to-morrow against the Homestends.

THE Western League games scheduled for In-dianapolis and Toledo yesterday were prevented by HOMESTEADER-We cannot express an opinion about the comparative merits of the two pitchers you name.

WHAT Pat Powers calls his "side" of the run-way business of his team is simply a string of alsehoods and misrepresentations, and he knows NEW YORK baseball writers state that President Day's protest against Macullar's decision relative to the torfelted game Tuesday does not amount to a row of pins.

STIVETTS leads the Boston team in batting, with an average of .420. Duffy leads the club as a run-getter, in having scored 20 times in 19 games. Quinn is away ahead as a sacrifice hitter. Wilson, the Pittsburg umpire, has been dismissed by President Genslinger, and in this man's release the Southern League has lost an excellent umpire. Wilson was surely an authority on any matter pertaining to baseball.—New Orlowns States. TOMMY ESTERBIGOR is different from many of the retired baseball players, inasmuch as he re-fuses to handle the cup that cheers, even as a means of gaining a livelihood. He has established a hilliard saloon and cigar store on Hedford ave-nue, Brooklyn, and will probably never again attempt to play ball professionally.

EVERY manager in the Western League says he "wouldn't swap his team for any other in the League." What a pleasing state of affairs.— New Fork Hersid. O, what a lie! Indianapolis is willing to trade her whole outfit for a shovelful of mud and about four more clubs would trade "sight uniscen" with any of the commons aggregations. The millennium plan is a luiu-bird.—Omaha Bee.

THE BOARD OF REVIEW.

Garfield Park All Right CHICAGO, May 12 .- The Garfield Park Club has won in its fight with the city. Judge McConnell to-day decided against the West tablishing a building line 50 feet along the line of the boulevard, which would spoil the race track under the ordinance probibiting racing within 400 feet of a boulevard line. The decision, it is said, practically gives the race track an existence of at least five years more, as the Park Commissioners in order to institute further proceedings must look up thousands of property owners and serve them with personal summons.

MISCELLANEOUS SPORTS.

The Battle Between Fitzsimmons and

Pritchard May Not Take Place. New York, May 12 .- It was learned last night that Bob Fitzsimmons may not meet Ted Pritchard at the Olympic Club, of New Orleans, on the night of September 5. Jimmy Carroll, Fitzsimmons' manager, made a statement which, if put into execution, will completely upset the plans of the pugilists and probably terminate in Fitzsimmons meeting Jim Hall, his conqueror, and settling the question of supremacy between them. Carroll, in conversation with a reporter, said:

"I have been thinking seriously over the proposed match between Fitzsimmons and Pritchard, and I have come to the conclusion that it would be an unwise policy to sion that it would be an unwise policy to sign the articles of agreement as matters stand. Yesterday at a late hour I received an offer of a 15 weeks' engagement tour through the West, which means many thousand dollars to us. I have not settled upon it yet, but will make up my mind definitely to-day."

Just at this juncture a communication was received from Richard K. Fox, who is the general agent of the Olympic Club, of New Orleans, which stated that the club would like to ascertain whether Carroll would sign the contrast or not, as they wished to send word to Ed Pritchard. Carroll read the communication, and said:

"Bob will not fight Ted Pritchard, and I will not sign the articles unless Pritchard throws up his match with O'Brien and immediately sais for this country. Pritchard has had many chances of coming to this country, but he has always had some excuse for not sailing. We don't propose to lose money for the sake of his disappointing us. If he does not want to come to this country, and if any responsible club on the other side will offer us the same purse and pay expenses Fitz will fight him across the water. If these propositions cannot be agreed to I will sign for our tour through the country and declare the match off."

From present indications it appears that Pritchard does not desire to visit America at all. It is also certain that no club on the other side will come to time and give a purse equal to that offered by the Olympic Club.

The Geneva Park Shoot.

A Gang That Was the Terror of Northwestern Pennsylvania

BROKEN UP BY A POSTAL OFFICER.

dents Is Published. NEWSY NOTES FROM NEARBY TOWNS

PEPECTAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR 1 FRANKLIN, May 12. - Postoffice Inspector H. R. McCalmont has succeeded in running down one of the most daring and dangerous gangs of burglars in the United States withn the past few weeks. Three of the gang are now safely in jail, while the fourth is known and will be in prison before long. During the past six months a number of daring robberies have occurred in Northwestern Pennsylvania. On April 26 the postoffice at Ridgway was robbed of money and s amps to the amount of $2,000. Inspector McCalmont got a clew to the robbers, and, following them up closely, finally arrested Clyde P. Hamilton in this city. A search of his clothing resulted in finding a number of $20 bills supposed to be taken from the Ridgway postoffice, and also s telegram from Buffalo asking him to meet "Tom" in Butler Friday last.

McCalmont went to Butler and there arrested Tom Hughes, an all-around thief and one of the most desperate and skillful safeblowers in the country. He was recently released from the Western Penitentiary, where he had been sent for attempting to kill an Oil City policeman.

Telegrams were sent to Buffalo to arrest the sender of the telegram to Hamilton, but the man had left for Detroit, where McCalmont located him, and on Wednesday morning succeeded in bagging his game. He proved to be the notorious safe-blower Raymond, alias Conners, alias Smith, whose record is known to the police all over the country and who is a desperate tan. He was landed safely in the Warren jall Wednes.

The evidence against all these men is very The evidence against all these men is very conclusive, and their conviction in the United States Court and a severe sentence are almost certain. Hughes and Hamilton are still in Jall in this city. They refuse to talk. The attempt to connect Hamilton with the robbery of a $11,000 puckage belonging to the Union Express Company in 1874 is absurd, as he is not over 25 years old. The above men have worked together for several years. When arrested in this city last week Hamilton was in company with Bell Graham, a notorious character from Meadville. Graham was taken with the prisoner, but was afterward released.

IT LOOKS BRIGHT FOR PIPES.

The Defense in the Murder Trial Produces

Some Strong Evidence. WAYNESBURG, May 12.—[Special.]—After a week's adjournment the trial of W. S. Pipes for the shooting of Porter Huffman was re-sumed to-day. The defendant showed signs of his serious illness when he appeared in the courtroom. He was too weak to walk unaided and had to be brought in a carriage. The evidence corroborated Mr Pipes' story of the shooting, and the prevailing opinion is that the defense has been strong and the jury will find him not guilty.

John Stewart testified that Huffman was weighed in town that night and his weight was 18s pounds, making him much larger than Mr. Pipes.

Albert Bayard testified to his taking his horse from the livery stable a few minutes.

horse from the livery stable a few minutes after 11 o'clock, and William Anderson after 11 o'clock, and William Anderson swore he had seen some person, presumably Huffman, at the place in the alley where his horse was found hitched, near Pipes' stable. In 10 or 15 minutes he heard the shots and three or four minutes afterward the shots in the defendant aroused his neighbors. A strong point was the finding of Huffman's rubber coat in Pipes' buggy shed by Sheriff Goodwin. J. R. Cross saw Porter Huffman riding away that night, and it was raining. Rev. Mr. Patterson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, testified to the defendant being a member in good standing of his church, and he and a number of old and prominent citizens testified that he d prominent citizens testified that he had always been a peaceable and law-abiding man. Evidence was produced conabiding man. Evidence was produced contradicting the testimony of several witnesses of the Commonwealth, and also tending to show that one of the pools of blood was put in the alley the next day after the shooting. The evidence in the trial closed at 4:39 r. m. The argument will be made tomorrow. The Commonwealth had but little rebuttal testimony.

A New-Fangled Ballot-Box. KINGWOOD, W. VA., May 12 .- [Special.]-County Clerk J. A. Martin, of this county, has invented a novel ballot-box, to meet the requirements of the new law. A metal door with a piece of wood the thickness of the wood in the box, is held to the metal by a knob on the upper surface of the metal. The door closes on a hasp, on which two locks can be put. During balloting the knob is pushed, which carries the under or wooden door over the slot through which the ballots are put. A spring pushes up and fastens this inside door, thereby filling up the slot, and this cannot be opened without taking off both locks. off both locks.

A MYSTERIOUS BURIAL The Body of an Infant, Evidently Murdered Found in a Graveyard.

The Letter Dismissing Westminster Stu-Uniontown, May 12.—[Special.]—The dis-covery of an unknown coffin in the old Pres-byterian graveyard here created a sensution to-day. The gardener was making his rounds in the unused part of the cemetery, where no funeral has occurred for years. There he tound a newly buried coffin. It had been placed in the ground so hastily that the burial had been only partly accou plished, and one end of the coffin protruded. The cemetery authorities at once notified the Sanitary Committee of the discovery, the Sanitary Committee of the discovery, saying no burial had been made there on their authority.

This evening the members of the Sanitary Committee, accompanied by a policeman, went to the old gravevard, where the sexton showed them the coffin. This was opened and found to contain the body of a pretty child, apparently about 2 months old. The body of the bube had been in the ground but a short time. The burial had evidently occurred at midnight hast night, when the cemetery watchers were absent. The little stranger was handsomely dressed. Marks on the neck and body induced the searchers to order a further investigation. The Coroner will hold an inquest to-day.
