This stream has been famous since Washington, with a few troops sail-ing on a raft, landed at the place now knowness the Eureka Park. The river is covered with boats from early dawn until the last ray of sunlight disappears behind the hills. A small steamer makes hourly trips, and numberless little rowboats and

A VERY DIRTY TOWN

Pittsburg Women Now in Chicago Sigh for the Joys of Home.

AIR THICK ENOUGH TO CARVE.

Meeting of Leaders of the Sex to Discuss a Reform in Dress.

OPENING OF THE CLUB FEDERATION

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] CHICAGO, May 13.—The sun has neither risen nor set in Chicago—so far as anybody knows-since the representatives of 192 women's clubs have met in council in this great and dirty city. It has been rain, rain, rain ever since their arrival, and more disagreeable weather has scarcely ever been known. Everybody on the streets looks damp and depressed. Of course, the same old story is told over and over again-that such weather is very unusual-that such a season is the most remarkable in the history of the "Windy City," but we accept this statement with bushels of grains of al- They have gone out.

As presented, under such dark and lowering skies, with an atmosphere so thick with noisture, smoke and soot, with streets so dirty, muddy and water-sodden it is anything rather than an attractive or pleasant city. The World's Fair buildings seem to be located in a melancholy waste of mud and water. How they are to come up to the "great expectations" formed of them is npossible at present to see. Mud scows rould seem to be a better system of locomotion than carriages or cars.

Woes of the Women Visitors To see the women in Chicago, both natives and visitors, getting through the rain vast deal worse. Holding up the trailing skirts with one hand and an umbrella with the other constitute a system of fatigue that for general tendency to swearing mentally and breaking down physically has never been excelled in the world's history. In Chicago there is a constant struggle between the wind and the umbrella. The tendency of the latter under stress and strength of the mad wild winds is to turn inside out or go careering into space. Then the contest between the desire to hold on to the um-brella with both hands and the dislike to letting down the tail of the spring gown into the filthy pools of the pavement begins, and the dress has to suffer. The swish of the trail through the mud and wet is a sorry sound, but the sight of it at home would sound, but the sight of it at home would seem to take "the breath out of the soul" and to make the stoutest heart shiver with despair. What an absolute despotism is that with fashion as its sovereign!

A rebellion has long been talked of to be sure, and if it ever takes tangible, practical form it will probably be in Chicago, where dress reform seems to be more needed than elsewhere. Whether it was the desperate. elsewhere. Whether it was the desperate condition of affairs here upon their arrival even before the first formal meeting of the Federation, we do not know, but certain it is a full meeting in council was called, and an animated discussion was held to determine the best means of circumventing this most despicable decree of fashion. An Immediate Action on Dress Reform,

An Immediate Action on Dress Reform.

Mrs. May Wright Sewall, of Indiana, a most able and brilliant woman, was President of the meeting upon this momentous subject. Mrs. Ella Dietz Clymer, the handsome ex-President of New York Sorosis, was Vice President. Among the officers was Rachel Foster Avery, the daughter of J. Heron Foster, who founded THE PITTS-BURG DISPATCH; Miss Frances Willard represented the W. C. T. U.; Miss Susan B. Anthony, the National Woman Suffrage Association; Mary S. Lockwood, the Woman's National Press Association; Mrs. M. A. Davis, of the New Hampshire Baptist Davis, of the New Hampshire Baptist Woman's Missionary Society, with many other prominent women. Mrs. Parker, of Chicago and Chatauqua fame, Mrs. Jenness Miller, Dr. Emery, of New York, and Miss

In Australia, women are probibited from wearing long dresses upon the street as a sanitary measure, and those who follow United States are here making themselves the fashion are arrested, and fined. In heard. Pennsylvania is to the fore in this, Germany it is said that a law has been made to the same effect as it is the opinion of the experts in bacteria and bacillus that such stirriug up of the dust and dirt of the streets circulates the germs and thus spreads contagious diseases. Whether these distinguished ladies propose to work for such legislation in this country has not as yet been announced, but they evidently count on good results from agitation and co-oper-ation. They intend to hold public meet-ings, to enlist the doctors and elergymen in this fight upon the long-tailed gown. No Hope in Doctors and Preachers It strikes us just here that these are the wrong men—if they must have men to fight this battle for women. The doctors are not o much interested in the promotion of the health of women as they are in having calls made upon them for cure. Nor is the in-fluence of the clergy much more to be re-lied upon in the matter of dress. They have tried to impose upon women the dull drabs of the Quakers, the severely plain attire of the Methodists for 1,800 years, but with very little effect.

But in addition to the clergy and the doctors, medical boards are to be moved upon and municipal legislation is to be in-voked to pass laws probibiting long dresses upon the streets, and subjecting all such as sweep the pavements in such fashion to arrest. This sort of legislation it will be remembered was brought to bear on the "Mother Hubbard" some years ago, but the Mother Hubbards remain, while the law is null and void. However, the efforts of these thoughtful good women deserve suc-

It may be announced here that a new and convenient dress has been evolved, and when it has reached some degree of perfection it will be sprung upon a startled world somewhat "simullatiously," as Mrs. Mala-prop would say. It will have pockets enough to suit Frances Willard, will be short enough for all sensible people, and pretty enough to fill the soul of Jenness Miller with delight.

The Federation of Women's Clubs. The Music Hall was crammed at the open-ing of the "Biennial" of the Federation of Women's Clubs. A more handsome sight perhaps the world has never seen. Multitudes of gifted intellectual women from all parts of the Union gave promise by their presence of noble and beautiful things in the future. Massachusetts was represented v delegates from 24 clubs-no lack of the ankee element. New York sent repre-Yankee element. New Lora sent repre-sentatives of 17 clubs, Illinois of 17 women's clubs. Pennsylvania showed roundly up with 11, among which and foremost are the New Century Club, of Philadelphia; the Women's Club, of Pittsburg, and the Travelers' Ciub, of Allegheny.

It was an inspiring sight to see that great hall crowded with intelligent women from almost every State in the Union, Georgia and Louisiana leading from the South. Charlotte Emerson Brown presided and gave an eloquent and scholarly address; a little shade too much of the last, perhaps, and mayhap a little bit too solemn and ser and mayhap a little bit too solemn and ser-mony to catch the common ear. She is a noble and dignified presiding officer and is winning golden opinions from all the dele-gates. Mrs. May Wright Sewell, of In-diana, is one of the most attractive speak-ers. The reports of State chairmen took up the most of the first day's work. Mrs. Mary E. Mumford, President of the New Century Club, reported for the Pennsyl Century Club, reported for the Pennsyl members of the Federation and a grand "crush" was given by the Chicago Women's Club in the elegant rooms of the Art Institute. Mrs. Emerson Brown received in company with Miss Authony, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Kate Tannat Woods, Mrs. Sewell, Mrs. Croly, Dr. Sara Hackett Stevenson, President of the Chicago Women's Club, who, by the way, in her address of welcome proved herself to be a most wise and witty woman. No woman ever received a warmer welcome or more enthusiastic ovation than the greatest clubeathusiastic ovation than the greatest club-ber and the most clubbed of all women, the much-loved Susan B. She is as popular among women as is James G. among Republicans. Every allusion to her was received with immense applause. The reception of the Chicago Women's Club was a full dress affair and the costumes were simply "stunning. Mrs. Emerson Brown was attired in blace velvet and was greatly admired. Miss Susan B. Anthony's gown was ruby velvet, with a priceles fichu of magnificent point lace. The return to colonial fashions was most marked. One handsome old lady upon her low-necked gown wore a ancient minia-ture larger than a butter plate of a fine old Irish gentleman in a red coat, that was an ancestor who had won honor and renown some centuries ago. The colonial dames were out in force and fine feathers, and were gorgeous to an extreme. It may be remarked that there are no more grand-mothers of the old chimney corner sort.

BESSIE BRAMBLE.

IT MUST BE TRUE.

Fully Corroborates All Bess'e Bramble Says of Chicago-Streets Like Country Roads-Street Car Service Inefficient-Bote's Always Crowded - Pittsburg

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH. CHICAGO, May 13.—Some one has said everybody thinks his own city in the worst plight and the managers of that city's street railways the meanest men on the face of the earth. I am of the opinion this does not hold good with Pittsburg's people, at least is a sight for gods and men. At home in | not with its women people; but if there are Pittsburg it is bad enough, but here it is a any of that mind let them come to Chicago and get cured of it. The farther from home

I go, the more dirt I get into. Pittsburg is decidedly clean compared to Chicago. But unlike Pittsburg, Chicago does not glory in her grime. She has organized a society for the prevention of smoke, appointed a Smoke Inspector and has sent out letters to manufacturers and the management of every railroad company operating lines in Chicago notifying them that they must adopt one of the four approved devices, now more or less used, abute the smoke nuisance or stand suit. So far so good; but the reform movement does not go far enough to insure cleanli-ness and the attendant comfort.

Chicago must clean up her miserably dirty streets before she can command our fullest admiration and respect. Really, in many places the crossings on her main thoroughfares are comparable only to coun-try cross-roads during a spring freshet. One cannot take a step without getting into mud. A woman needs gum boots and a Dr. Mary Walker suit to get around com-fortably. Of course, the flat site of the city and probably imperfect sewerage is respon-sible for this uni-leasantness, which we are promised shall be obviated before we visit the great Fair.

However, it seems to me everybody is al-ready here, and whether Chicago has the "meanest men on earth" for street car man-agers or not, it remains that her lines cannot carry her people any more comfortably than can those of other cities over whom ings, even in their unfinished state, are a great attraction. Evidently I am not alone in this opinion for the city seems uncomfortably full of visitors. One can but won-der how the people are to be accommodated The hotels are so many hives filled with bees—queen bees for most part, since the first biennial meeting of the General Feder-ation of Women's Clubs is now in session and representative women from all over the as in everything else, clubs from Philadel-phia, Pittsburg, Allegheny, Pottsville, Bradford, Oil City, Wayne, Meadville and Franklin having sent delegates.
