The Ocala Platform Adopted Without a Change of a Plank.

VIRGINIA AGREES FOR HARMONY

To Send Half Her Delegates for Cleveland, the Rest Are Antis.

UTAH FOR THE PRESENT PRESIDENT

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 19.—The South Carolina Democratic Convention to-day adopted the following resolutions:

We, the Democratic party of South Caro lina in convention assembled, recognizing the depressed condition of the people, the reign of the plutocrats, and the unequal laws of the National Congress, hereby reaffirm our faith in Democratic simplicity, We pledge anew our allegiance to the prin-ciples first enunciated by Jefferson.

Then follows the Ocala platform entire, word for word. A plank was also inserted denouncing the force bill; it is demanded too, that the currency shall be increased, money be issued direct to the people at low interest upon good security. Wall street is declared to have "entered the sacred temple of Democracy." Grover Cleveland's nomination is decried, and his nomination would be regarded "as a prosti-tution of the principles of the Democracy, repudiation of the demands of the Farmers' Alliance, which embody the true principles of the Democracy, and a surrender of the rights of the people to the figure is kings of the counter.

financial kings of the country."

A minority report deprecating the attack on Cleveland was snowed under. A resoluon Cleveland was snowed under. A resolu-tion denouncing the third party was killed. Colonel John C. Haskell, a one-armed Confederate leader of the minority, was scathingly attacked by John Gary Evans, a young leader of the Alliance element. Colonel Haskell was called an ass in a lion's skin and retorted by calling Evans a puppy, eta Evans a puppy, etc.

RICHMOND, VA., May 19.-The State Democratic Convention met at noon to-day in the First Regiment armory. The building was gaily decorated with bunting, flags and streamers, but no likeness of any candidate was visible. All the noted Democratic politicians in the State were present. Senator John W. At the night session Judge Rea explained the agreement that had been entered into between the Cleveland men and the anti-Cleveland men, and said it was done with the understanding that the convention be allowed to express its choice for candidates, if it so desired. by the Civilized Osages, GUTHRIE, O. T., May 19 .- [Special.]-While Charles McGill was hunting in the Cherokee Strip he was surrounded by ten Osage Indians, who bound his arms and compelled him to hurry along on foot many mes to their village. There he was kept bound for three days and nights. He slept out of doors in the rain, was given nothing to eat, and suffered all kinds of indignities. Twice he was tied to a stake and painted braves held war dances around him, the second time cutting off his hair and a piece of his scalp. Finally he was released, but warned on penalty of death not to make known his treatment. He arrived here to-day nearer dead than alive and told his story. Warrants have been issued for the leading members of the tribe, and the Government will take steps to punish the offenders. The Osages are the richest and most powerful tribe in the Southwest, and for some months have been acting very ugly.

Their Candidate, Mr. Young, Chosen Moderator at Portland by

THE ASSEMBLED PRESBYTERIANS.

He Attributes His Election in Part to Geographical Reasons.

THE SOUTH IS LOYAL TO THE CHURCH PORTLAND, ORE., May 19. - The first day's session of the Presbyterian General

Assembly is at an end, and the first contest has been fought. The victory lies with the Conservatives by a vote of just five above the majority of those who answered to their names, but not by a majority of these on the roll. The question thus settled is that of the moderatorship, and t goes to the President of Center College, Danville, Ky., Rev. William C. Young. The fight was a stubborn one, and three ballots were necessary to decide the matter. The one hundred and fourth session opened with an invocation by Dr. John G. different points of interest.

The first business of the afternoon session was the election of a moderator. George Junkin, of Philadelphia, gained the floor and moved that when the nominations for the Moderatorship were made, no speeches be allowed. ## BY THE ROPE ROUTE.

Murderer Reed, of Washington Jail, Now a Hunted Refugee.

HE CLEVERLY PLOTS AN ESCAPE.

Successfully Fellowed by Two Pals Who Were in the Secret.

FITZSIMMONS' EXPLOITS DUPLICATED [RPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, PA., May 19.—This city was thrown into a state of intense excitenent over the announcement to-night that Martin Reed, the condemned murderer, and wo others had made a bold and successful escape from the county jail. Reed was swaiting execution for the murder of Alexander Chappell, and neither he nor Joe Brown and John Cottam, who escaped with him, have thus far been apprehended. The escape was one of the boldest and at the same time most successful that ever has been known here. About 9 o'clock to-night everything was quiet in the jail. Reed was reposing in his cell, and all other prisoners were behaving as usual. At that hour the guard was somewhat relaxed, as it was not believed anyone would attempt to escape from the Washington jail, which has hither-to been considered of the safest.

A Rope, a Man and an Alarm Shortly after 9 o'clock J. B. Shaffer, of this city, entered the jall yard and went to the rear for a drink of water. Everthing was quiet, but hearing a slight noise from the building Shaffer turned, and was amazed to see a man sliding down a rope from the second story. The rope swung to and fro from a small hole which had been made in the brick wall and when the escaping prisoner brick wall, and when the escaping prisoner had reached to within about ten feet of the ground the rope broke, and the fellow fell heavily to the bottom. He was unhurt, however, and before Shaffer could give any alarm, he had leaped to his feet and started running across the jail yard, over the fence and down Beau street at the top of his speed. Shafter immediately raised an alarm, but before he or anyone else could interfere, two other prisoners slid down the rope and were lost to view.

It was noticed that the first man to slide down the rope was without hat or coat, and investigation proved that this man was Reed. The alarm given soon brought Sheriff Cherry to the scene with his deputies. A hurried examination was then made of the jail cells, when it was found that Reed, Brown and Cottam were missing. A Plot Cleverly Carreld Out.

The escape had been very cleverly planned and boldly executed. The men must have been occupied in the work for several weeks at least, and it is a wonder they were not discovered at their work by the jail officials. Murderer Reed had been most exertion he was able to bend the bars of the cell and reach the corridor. Here aid from outside prisoners evidently came into play, as a hole had been cut in the brick wall just above Reed's cell. This hole had been just above need a cent. This note had been picked out with very clever tools, and all traces of mortar had been carefully removed. The bricks were then put back in place, ready to be taken out at any time, as place, ready to be taken out at any time, as were the bars of the cell.

It is not believed that he had any aid from the outside to-night, though there is no doubt that the rope and tools had been smuggled into him by friends. The other prisoners who escaped with Reed are believed to have made the break only to shield him in event of a possible hot chase.

No Trace of the Trio Found. No Trace of the Trio Found.

When the news of the escape spread a crowd gathered about the jail, and Sheriff Cherry had no trouble in organizing several posses to hunt the prisoners down. Up to 1 o'clock, however, nothing has been heard of them, and it is believed Reed has been hid by his friends, as he had at least half an hour's start of the Sheriff.

Late to-night the County Commissioners held a meeting and offered a reward of $500 for the arrest of Reed, and the county is being scoured for him.

Reed was here awaiting execution for the murder of Alexander Chappell, at the Burgettstown fair. Reed was in love with Mrs. Chappell, and it was shown at the trial that he had placed a bottle of poisoned whisky where the husband could reach it. The trial was year execution, and after receiving trial was very exciting, and after receiving sentence Reed said he would never be hanged. He was unarmed when he escaped, but it is believed he is now among friends, and it caught up with will make a desperate

At 3:30 this morning a telephone message from Glenwood stated that one of the three men who escaped from the Washington county jail was arrested in the Second precinct and placed in the Fourteenth ward station house. The prisoner says the other two are making for Pittsburg.

HEALING THE UNITARIAN RUPTURE

The Olive Branch Extended by the Western Branch of the Church CHICAGO, May 19.-The most important item at to-day's meeting of the Western Unitarians, held in this city, was the passing of resolutions which close between the Western branches and those of the other western branches and those of the other parts of the United States the rupture which took place in 1886. # THE DAY

SATURDAY, MAY 21,

SECOND PUBLIC SALE

THE Wonderful success attending the first public sale of lots at the new town of ALIQUIPPA, at which 110 lots were sold on a dismal, rainy day, and the great interest of the investing public in the new town which has manifested itself in an average sale of ten lots daily for the past four weeks, has induced the company to hold a second public sale at the grounds on the above date. Trains Will Leave the P. & L.E. Station at 7, 8, 9, 12:30 and 2:55, CITY TIME. EXCURSION RATE TICKETS CAN BE SECURED AT THE STATION OR AT THE COMPANY'S OFFICE, ROOM 30, WESTINGHOUSE BUILDING.

THE RECORD OF A MONTH.

The growth of Aliquippa in the past month exceeds all precedents. Almost one-half of the property has been sold. Five big factories have located there, whose working population will insure a town of 4,000 people, and new factories coming. The lots average but $300 apiece, affording a splendid investment. Purchasers are already holding their lots at an advance of 50 to 80 per cent, while the original prices asked by the company remain the same. Aliquippa offers a safe investment that will double or even treble present prices within a year. Aliquippa needs homes. Buy a lot at $300; build a house for $1,000. It will be a sure renter for $200 a year or more. This means a $1,300 investment paying over 15 per cent in addition to the enhancement on the value of the property. Can savings banks or building and loan associations do as well? Many choice lots are still left, but they are going every day. Your golden opportunity will be at the sale, SATURDAY, MAY 21. Don't miss it. Call at the office in the meantime for plans and information. We want you to thoroughly investigate the prospects and strength of Aliquippa before investing a dollar.
