IMPSCHUTZ WINS THE MATCH.

The twelfth game, English opening, answered by P K 3. resalted in a draw after 38 moves. The 13th game, Ruy Lopez, was given up as drawn after 28 moves. Showalter obtained the advantage, but by weak play allowed his opponent to draw. The fourteenth and fifteenth games were won by Hipschutz, the former a dull form of the Vienna and the latter a Ruy Lopez, notyet to hand. The Sim states that Showalter obtained a good enough game, but by badly managing his thirtieth move hastily made a blunder which lost the game and the match.

CHESS NEWS The Hackney Mercury announces its eighth problem tourney, which will be divided into two sections, consisting of three mover and two mover direct mates, under the usual conditions. Problems which have been published before and proved to be unsound will not be excluded, provided the correction behinde by the composer and the circumstances communicated to the editor. There will be four prizes in each section. Composers may enter only one problem in each section. Entries from the United States must be received by October 1. The adjudication will be made by three experts. Address Chess Editor, 10, the Grove, Hackney, N. E. London, England.

Emanuel Lasker has issued a challenge for set matches against all the leading players of America. His conditions are: Five games up, draws not counting; stake to be $75 a side; time limit 15 to 20 moves an hour: five games to be played each week. Lasker will accept invitations from clubs for blindfold and simultaneous performances.

In the tournament at Simpson's Divan the close scoring is adding considerably to the interest taken in the play. Mr. Lee heads the score, with 7 wins out of 8 games played; Lomon, 64 won out of 8. Bird, 54 out of 9; Von Vliet, 54 out of 7. There are 17 competitors, divided into sections according to the strength of the players.

Articles have been signed for a match be, tween Blackburne and E. Lather. Six games up, moves per hour, five games weekly. Play to begin at the British Chess Club on Wyllie having had the black men in the "Whilter" opening the previous evening, it fell to Jordan to follow with black men in the same opening. Great interest was manifested in the game, as it was believed the veteran during the interval would have been looking up and analyzing something fresh as final attempt to retrieve his losses. The play, however, was carried upon very similar lines to the previous "Whilter" till pretty lar on in the game. Jordan, especially to be very certain of his ground, as he moved with great ease and rapidity. Subjoined we give the position at the most interesting part of the game:

Black men on 2, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12, 20,

Black men on 2, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12, 20, White men on 13, 15, 18, 23, 22, 26, 3°. White (Wylife) to play.

*This is the point at which the game tool a different turn from the "Whilter" played at the previous sitting. Wyllie then played 18-23, but Jordan's 8-11 move proved to be equally strong, and left a very even game at 18-23, but Jordan's 8-11 move proved to be equally strong, and left a very even game at that stage.

The crisis of the match had now been reached, and there was considerable cogitating among the experts as to what opening the "Herd Laddie" would adopt in the nineteenth game of the match. Being still a game behind Jordan, it was expected he would fix upon an unusual opening where more original play would of necessity have to be introduced. Various games were suggested as the likely opening, but the spectators got relief when Wyllie announced the "Ayrshire Lassie" as his choice. This game is formed in two moves, and is usually opened "Ayrshire Lassie" as his choice. This game is formed in two moves, and is usually opened as follows: 11-15, 24-20, 8-11, 28-24: Wyllie, however, selected the following four moves: 11-15, 24-20, 8-11, 22-17, forming a catching opening for an inexperienced player. But Jordan, though young, is not by any means inexperienced, a fact of which the game gave ample evidence. The game proceeded very slowly, as a great many intricate positions were developed in the game. When the following stage was reached both players had frequently to be called to time, as there were many pitfalls requiring careful attention:

White (Jordan) to play.

Here Wyllie had formed himself into very strong position, and a siip on Jordan's part would have resulted disastrously. He, however, played with great care, and managed successfully to steer clear of all danger. The following continuation of the play shows how it was done.

Jordan here set a tran, but the veteran would not be caught. This game was one of the finest played in the match, every move being made in a masterly fashion. The play was now adjourned for the afternoon.

In the evening sitting great speculation prevailed as to whether Jordan would succeed in drawing the last game of the match. The interest had not flagged during the whole contest, and asa win for Wyllie would have squared the score, the enthusiasm was maintained to the last game. When the players again faced each other for the last time in the contest it was Jordan's turn to play the black men in the "Ayrshire Lassie." This game was conducted for a long time upon the exact line of play as the previous game, but Jordan at length varied and left the position as follows:

Biack men on 1, 3, 5, 6, 11, 15, 20, White men on 13, 14, 21, 22, 27, 28, 31, Black (Jordan) to play, and the game ran:

6-10 28-19 15-22 6-10 16-20 17-14 14-7 15-24 14-5 24-28 10-14 24-27 3-10 23-18 6-10 13-9 22-25 31-24 25-22 5-9 5-1 28-32 14-17 20-27 1-6 22-17 10-15 9-6 25-30 21-17 27-23 10-15 1-6 11-16 2-7 Drawn 20-24 17-14 15-19 6-2 19-24

Thus the match concluded with the scores: Jordan, 2: Wyllie, 1: drawn, 17. Jordan, 2: Wyllie, 1; drawn, 17.

The above is the last of the end games of the above match. The Disparch has been fortunate through its foreign correspondents to give to our readers the first and most reliable accounts of the three events that have caused such a site in the checker world. Next issue we will give a very interesting analysis of the "Last link has been broken," a criticism of "H. L." problem. We offered a prize for best solution. We will give it in full next week.—[Checker Editor.

EDINBURGH'S CHAMPION. Mr. Richard Jordan, the Edinburgh champion, is not yet 20, and has studied the game a little over four years, so that his suc-cess against the yeteran Wyille is something phenomenal. Jordan, who is quiet and unobtrusive in manner, and a general favorite, won the Edinburgh Club medal in 1890 and the Wyllie challenge medal two months ago. There is some talk of a more extended match, one of 60 games, with Wyllie in the autumn: but whether that takes place or not, the success of Jordan last week stemps him as one of the first last week stamps him as one of the first players of the day.

WYLLIE VERSUS JORDAN.

The subscription match of 20 games came to a close on May 7, as stated in The Dispared of May 21, with a victory for the youthful champion of E-linburgh. Jordan 2 wins, Wyllie I win and 7 games drawn. A great many think that the above result shows that Mr. Wyllie's power is on the wane. But the old gentleman, though admitting freely his defeat, and speaking highly of his young opponent's ability as a player, says he is not conquered; he is ready to play him again, or any player in the world, for all the money they care to put up. This certainly shows that those who think the old war horse is played out, can have a trial of their strength against him, and also have a good stake if they are able to make their claims good. We have certainly a great deal of admiration for the G. O. M. and the bold defy he hurls in front of the world beaters, with all their claims who cannot meet any one out side of their own barn yard.

How different with the aged veteran who has been in the ring nearly three score years, and still eager for the fray; another match between Mr. Wyllie and Mr. Jordan will be played in the fall, but it will at least consist of not less than 30 games, and may, if Mr. Jordan is willing, include the world's championship title.

C. F. BARKER'S ASSUMPTION. WYLLIE VERSUS JORDAN.

C. F. BARKER'S ASSUMPTION. Our American champion in the May number of the American Checker Review comes out boldly, and assumes the title of "Champion Checker Player of the World." THE DISPATCE both in its sporting columns, review of sports, and in its checker department, have shown conclusively that the claim on which Barker makes his assumption to the title of champion checker player of the world, has no foundation, and the decision on which the claim is based was the most unjust that was ever rendered in the history of the ways. most unjust that was ever rendered in the bistory of the game. We gave Mr. Barker credit for his position,

We gave Mr. Barker credit for his position, as he stated to our correspondent in Chicago at the conclusion of his match with Reed; but he has now completely changed and upholds that decision, which he then termed unjust, and claims a title he then stated he would let the old man (James Wyllie) wear unchallenged to the grave. Mr. Barker cannot deny he stated the above facts to Mr. Maize, who was reserve of the match, and also correspondent of The Disparce.

Mr. Barker adopts the Freeman "old chest-nut." The match must be played in Boston or Providence. We surmise that Charles Francis will have quite a wait, like his neighbor (Freeman), before he gets a match. neighbor (Freeman), before he gets a match. If he is anxious to try his strength, and has such a sure thing, why not go for the British gold, and play them for all they will place on their representatives?

Matches we believe can be had with Wyllie, Ferrie, Scaright and Jordan, and no doubt with some of the English players. We think that Mr. Barker could not make money faster than by going over and meet money faster than by going over and meet their leading players in matches for all the stakes that can be raised. This course would stakes that can be raised. This course would commend itself to the world, and if successful in defeating all comers, the title of world's champion would be honorably won, beside being enriched with English sovereigns. But to assume the title on the unfortunate plunder of the Wyllie forfeiture, and to emphatically state that no match can be played outside of Boston or Providence, places Mr. Barker in the light of a mere bluffer.—[Checker Editor.

DECORATION DAY MATCH. The indications are that there will be one of the greatest checker contests ever held in America, played at the headquarters, Home Hotel. The provincials will be on hand from all over the State, and they come with a determination to do their best, and from present outlook the Twin Cities and from present outlook the Twin Cities and suburbs will have their hands full. But the city team, according to last report, have upward of 80 to take from, and the presence of the veteran Seeds and George D. Sherrow will greatly strengthen the city players' team; but it will be our desire to see the best players win, and such a gathering of devotees of Dameth will certainly be a means of begetting a great many friendships, and in view of selecting representatives to go to Chicago next year, the meeting will be a State representative one, and material will be on hand to choose from that will be able to give a good account of themselves against any State in the Union,

THE CHAMPION OF NEW YORK. THE CHAMPION OF NEW YORK.

ASKS FOR A REDUCTION.

Frederick Deits, of C'Hara Township, Alleges That He Has Been Discriminated Against by the Assessors-Register Conner Makes a Decision - News of the Courts.

Frederick Deits, owner of 20 acres of ground in O'Hara township, filed a petition resterday asking the court to reduce the asessment made by the County Commission-He admits that a portion of the property is laid out in building lots, but claims that the greater part of it is hillside property, not fenced in and uncultivated. He says the property is assessed at $11,000, or says the property is assessed at $11,000, or $550 per acre, while similar property adjoining belonging to Judge Collier is only assessed at the rate of $215 and that of Eliza Clark at $156

This, Mr. Deitz claims, is more than the property would sell for, and he thinks the assessment should not exceed $250 per acre.
