summer day and quite another to be struggling with a dark road, which deepens in mud and the wind and rain beating in your face.

The race also shows to us that the roads are a disgrace to the country. Bad roads are a disgrace to the country.

During the last few days the experts and publicists have been talking about the defeat of the veteran champion, James Willie, by the youngster Jordan.

But human nature has its limits. At four years we cannot keep up the pace of 20 years.

Great Intentions of the Amateur Athletes. Judging from the declared intentions of the amateur athletes this year, both in this country and in England, they mean to have a very busy and successful season.

Well, it is always worth while to keep an eye on the action of the managers of teams that are meeting with more than an ordinary success.

Time is passing along with tolerable quietness in this city, and it is worth while to take everything into consideration.

But most to be expected from the bicyclists. They are so numerous and so good that it looks certain that records will be made.

It seems as if the sport of foot racing were going to revive again. At present there are no foot races in this city.

Outside of the boom of the recreation, the relay races teach us two things: First, what can be accomplished by bicycling, and second, the great loss had condition of the roads.

is to put up a forfeit, and this is just what we have not done. Kennedy wanted to run Peter Pritchard, but he had no business like way forwarded articles of agreement and a forfeit of $50 to the referee.

There is always something to surprise us nowadays, not only in politics, but in the ordinary sports which we patronize from time to time.

But while they are extraordinary they are just in keeping with the schemes and cunning of modern pugilism.

W. H. Pritchard's demands regarding Fitzsimmons may be questioned. Certainly Jim Hall has the line of the argument as regards Jim Hall.

It does not seem as if there were much earnestness in the proposed battle between Billy Myer and Jack McAuliffe.

Another source of dread, imminent this year, is the "famine fever," as typhus is called in Russia.

To keep out the dangerous diseases which are constantly increasing to invade the country, it is necessary to have a sanitary fence that is made as impenetrable as possible.
