EARLY IN THE FIELD.

Allegheny Politicians Already Announce Their Candidacy.

ONE EFFECT OF THE BAKER LAW.

Primaries Will Be Held in December Instead of February.

VOTES FALLING OFF IN SOME WARDS

No sooner has the legislative contest in Allegheny attained its height than the usual large number of old and new candidates boldly make their appearance in the political arena and declare (laying aside all mishaps) to take an important part in the next primaries, although this important event is yet quite a distance off.

It is not generally known that the pext primaries, owing to the Baker law, will not be held in February, as heretofore, but 42 days sooner, or early in the month of December of the present year. Then it will be determined who the next City Fathers will be and which ones will be acceptable out of the large number who are anxious to secure a place in the Council chamber and have already announced themselves as candidates.

Prominent among the new men who have declared themselves willing to take an active part in the management of Allegheny's affairs are William Josenhaus and Frederick Malsch for Common Council from gheny's affairs are William Josenhans and Frederick Malsch for Common Council from the First ward, and in the same ward J. McMillen Smith has decided to oppose the reciection of Arthur Kennedy for Select Council. Several well-known politicians in Allegheny do not see how Mr. Smith can be elected over his opponent unless some radical change takes place.

It has created much comment recently among the residents of the city that there are so many houses vacant in the First, Fifth and Sixth wards, particularly in the First, Hundreds have moved away in the last few months, among whom were many voters, and the majority of these were friends of Mr. Kennedy. Probably on this account Mr. Smith thinks he has a better chance, and this is his principal reason for announcing himself a candidate. Besides these gentlemen mentioned there are a number of others coming to the front in the different wards who are already having stickers printed, which will, in a few days, very likely adorn the lamp posts and telegraph poies in the more conspicuous parts of the city.

Is addition to the Council Chamber, among the other public positions assailed by anxious candidates, is the Mayor's office. Quite a large number have asserted their entire reliability to conduct the business attached to the Chief Magistrate's office, and prominent among these are H. K. Tyler, John Hendricks and W. S. Griffiths. These are only three of the large number who have thus far made their appearance,

These are only three of the large number who have thus far made their appearance but from now until the nominations are brought to a close, there will be daily additions to the list.

Thorny Paths of Art.

What ever aids the culinary art aids the whole house. Many a good meal has been ruined by the serving of bad bread, cakes, etc., and the good housewife feels so badly about it the whole household shares her chagrin. One of the surest ways to avoid uch disaster is to use the Marshall Ken-nedy Milling Company's flours. They are the cooks' faithful ally and as such have a national reputation. Once having used Camellia or Bayard Amber your satisfaction is complete. Camellia is the fancy patent brand and justly called the Queen of Flour. Bayard Amber is especially made to supply the demand for a splendid family baker at a medium price. They are made in the finest mill in the world, and from nothing but finely selected wheat. They are perfection flours for whiteness, richness and light bread making qualities. Try the M. K. M. Co.'s flours.

Mr. Moses Price, of this place, has been troubled with rheumatism for a long time. He says Chamberlain's Pain Balm has cured him and that the Balm has no equal. Honecker Bros., Loraine, O. One application will relieve the pain. 50-cent bottles for sale by druggists.

Kentucky Saddle and Driving Horses.

Mr. Joe Arnheim shipped from Lexington, Ky., by express 28 head of saddle and driving horses, which are without doubt as fine as the blue grass affords. Amongst them are the celebrated saddle reldings Duke and Dandy, which have taken all premiums in the saddle ring in Kentucky, said to be the finest educated norses shipped to Pittsburg: five (5) teams of carriage and driving horses, all well mated; six (6) speedy trotters; ten (10) combined horses, all broke to all gaits and gentleto drive. We invite the public to see our stock of fine horses and the Arnheim Live Stock Company, Limited, takes pleasure in showing them, if wishing to purchase or not.
