

The Dispatch

THE ADLETS More than doubled last month. The figures are as follows: May, 1892.....$5,004 May, 1891.....3,770 Increase.....4,234

FORTY SEVENTH YEAR

BLAINE SOLID, HIS RANKS FIRM.

Pennsylvania's Favorite in the Presidential Race Bound to Win Out, UNLESS HE IS KNIFED

By Those Who Are Now Shouting Loudest for His Nomination.

HARRISONITES A LITTLE BLUE Over the Organization of the Convention Against Them.

A Representative Blaine Man Chosen as Temporary Chairman Without Opposition—Mr. Fassett's Cautious Speech—Reed and McKinley Evidently Popular Dark Horse Favorites—The Latter Outranks Foraker in the Cheers and Applause—Conger Delighted With the Outlook for Blaine—Each Side Claims to Have Gained More Than They Lost—Southern States Breaking Away From the President—He Gains in Ohio and the West—To-Day May Not Tell the Tale.

to the cause of the magnetic spokesman for whom the masses of the party have so spontaneously declared.

The second-term process, thoroughly organized and desperately determined, is watching every movement. What the Harrison people now really hope for is that the convention will give color to a charge of that nature.

The Necessity of a United Front. A majority—very small, it is true, but still a majority of the delegates selected in the convention to-day, are either friends of Blaine's or opponents of Harrison. A united front for a few hours longer insures victory, or a comparatively slight defection means defeat or a new deal all around.

Particular care was taken at the initial session, to-day, to avoid any test of strength, even of lungs, and the result was a tamer gathering than many anticipated. There was plenty of harmonious enthusiasm, but no remarkably vociferous demonstration. For one thing, the situation is now admitted to be so crucial that even the boozers have partially paused in their work, and each man is anxiously inquiring of his neighbor in a subdued voice, if there is any change in the wind. There are at least two hundred seats in the convention, though there were clamoring crowds demanding admittance. The local committee had retained a generous proportion of the tickets to sell at $25 and $50 apiece for the expense fund.

Four Oaks, Senator Washburn's Residence, Where the Blaine Conference Was Held.

Speculation in Seats a Failure. So far the speculation seems to be a failure, as the men with money have influence enough to secure free admittance, and those without the latter can do nothing but remain outside and kick.

Governor McKinley drew the first cheers from the gathering as he strode up the main aisle with a portion of the Buckeye delegation, shortly before noon. Dewey, Hiscock and Ingalls received some attention, but the only demonstration devoted to the arrivals that approached an ovation was accorded to the lady delegation from Wyoming.

At 12 o'clock strains of music from a concealed band pervaded the hall, and 30 minutes later Chairman Clark called the National Republican Convention of 1892 to order. Mr. H. DeYoung, the new secretary of the committee, read the report that is to be the official call, but nobody heard a word of it because of the confusion attending the seating of the delegates.

The Convention Works Like a Clock. After a strictly non-partisan prayer everything moved like clock-work. J. Sloat Fassett was presented as the choice of the committee, read his address, and the election was ratified without a dissenting voice, the Harrison managers having abandoned the desire of making a test at this point.

The presiding officer received a generous greeting, and in clear tones delivered a speech that has been highly commended, both for what it contained and for what was omitted. Mr. Fassett allowed his Blaine sentiments to drop in frequent allusion to unmodified reciprocity, and once referred to the candidate "whose stature is higher," but his remarks were so guarded as to prevent any demonstrations. This was particularly the case when he mentioned the two favorites of the day.

The speaker proceeded to name the Republican leaders of the past and present, pausing between the names of Lincoln, Grant and Garfield for a response from his hearers, but when he wound up with "Harrison and Blaine" uttered the three words all in one breath, so that the partisans were compelled to shout for one candidate or another to about for both. At no other time during the proceedings was either name mentioned.

Force Bill Methods at Work. Fassett's strong stands in favor of force bill methods is generally remarked as indicating the efforts of the Administration hucksters among the colored delegates. These important votes have been besieged by persuasive Harrison workers with the story that Blaine has always opposed the so-called force bill and would do so again.

Whispered the object was, the colored brethren certainly applauded that portion of the address most vigorously. The mention of ex-Speaker Reed's name caused a ripple of indignation, and the close of Fassett's speech long and loud calls were made for the quorum counter. The Chairman announced that "Speaker Reed is always in order," and the Maine giant finally allowed himself to be dragged from the rear of the hall to the platform. He made a few remarks which sounded extremely well, and had no real relation to the real struggle on hand.

Only a Couple of Disturbances. When the State Chairman announced their respective selections as members of the committee, Miller McKinley, Cullom, Ingalls and Quay were warmly greeted by the convention. The only disturbing elements were a kick from the rear end of the hall by one of Louisiana's unseated delegates, a note from Indian Territory, which had been allowed seats but no vote, and a pathetic wall from a New Jersey colored alter-nate, who claimed that his colleague was not giving him a square deal. Chairman Fassett promptly ruled all three complaints out of order, and the kickers subsided after a session of 75 minutes, the first day of the convention passed into history.

The committee was at once organized and the anti-administration forces captured the important ones, though there was no contest. Congressman Cogswell, of Massachusetts, was chosen Chairman of the body which is now passing upon the credentials by unanimous vote. He is credited to the Harrison column, though he is not recorded as a radical. Mr. Cullom's children's commitment to Foraker. It had been suggested that H. W. Oliver would be Chairman of the Committee on

THREE BIG STATES, To Whose Voice the Rest of the Union Listens With Greatest Respect.

THE EFFECT ELECTRICAL When Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York All Swing Into Line.

OVATIONS FOR MAJOR M'KINLEY, But He is Holding Back on Speech-Making Till He's Needed.

LATEST CLAIMS OF QUAY AND MAGEE

MINNEAPOLIS, June 7.—Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio carried off the honors in the convention to-day. They received the greatest amount of applause, and they deserved it.

When Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York All Swing Into Line. The three big States like these three swing into line for a candidate, the effect on the others in the Union is electrical.

When Pennsylvania was polled the delegates and spectators arose to get a glimpse of Chairman Quay.

The reception was spontaneous, and it was some time before the shrill voice of the Senator was heard announcing the representatives of the Keystone State on the various committees.

McKinley received several ovations that attested to his popularity with the people at large. There were loud calls for the Governor to make a speech, but he declined.

As for Reed, there was a great demand to see and hear him. His fame has traveled beyond the Mississippi, and it is not often that the "Wild West" receives a visit from a man of his name.

Reed Prepared for the Demand. As for Reed, there was a great demand to see and hear him. His fame has traveled beyond the Mississippi, and it is not often that the "Wild West" receives a visit from a man of his name.

A Rather Peculiar Conflict. A peculiar conflict occurred in the New Jersey delegation this morning. The absence of Hon. John J. Blair, delegate-at-large, was the cause of it. His alternate is William Murrell, a colored man.

Governor William McKinley, of Ohio, was the permanent chairman of the convention. It is stated that he has been agreed upon by all factions in the Presidential fight, and that his election will be thrown to the Harrison men.

QUAY SAYS BLAINE. He is Confident of Winning Out—McKinley's Marshaling the Colored Troops—The Credentials Committee Unable to Delay the Balloting.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 7.—At midnight the Committee on Credentials, having adjourned until 10 A. M., made comparatively no progress. It is beginning to be feared that the committee may not be ready to report to-morrow, in which case all the convention proceedings will be thrown to one day.

Harrisonites Needing Encouragement. Now for the other side. So far as Pennsylvania is concerned, the Harrison men find all the encouragement they can get.

McKinley's Marshaling the Colored Troops. The colored troops have been bearing the brunt of the conflict during the day. Besides denouncing the Harrison men, they have been subjected to the eloquence and perhaps something more of the campaign managers.

McKinley's Marshaling the Colored Troops. The colored troops have been bearing the brunt of the conflict during the day. Besides denouncing the Harrison men, they have been subjected to the eloquence and perhaps something more of the campaign managers.

SHERMAN FOR M'KINLEY. The Senator Says a New Man Must Be Chosen to Beat Blaine.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8, 1 A. M.—[Special.]—Senator Sherman has written a letter favoring McKinley. According to the leaders of the Harrison movement a new man should be chosen. The country has been sent all over the telegrams looking to that end.

McKinley Holding Out Like and Blind, and says it looks like Harrison. The Major has a good grip on the Ohio delegation, and his followers insist that Harrison will get 28 out of the 43 votes. If this result follows, it will be due entirely to the personal influence of McKinley.

MANY MARTYRS LAID TO REST.

Thirty Interments at Oil City of the Victims of the Fiery Flood.

THE LAST SAD EPISODES Connected With the Great Calamity of Last Sunday Morning.

Whole Families Buried Side by Side in One Grave—Belatives Who Are Not Parted Even in Death—Sad Scenes Surrounding the Funeral Services—Numbers of Residents Are Still Among the Missing—A Search is in Active Progress for Their Remains—Pathetic Stories Heard on Every Side—List of the Dead, Dying and Injured.

Up to midnight last night 61 dead bodies had been recovered at Titusville. During the day there were 27 interments and the rest will be buried to-day. Governor Pattison arrived during the afternoon and held a conference with the relief committee.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At his stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

At this stage it looks as if the nominating speeches will not be made before Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. At one time the Blaine forces were anxious to rush matters and they went easily to work since they control the organization of the convention.

CONGRER ISCONFIDENT.

He Says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 7.—Colonel A. L. Conger, of Akron, was seen for a moment to-night before going into a conference with the Blaine leaders.

The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

He says Blaine Will Get 600 Votes on the First Ballot. The conference was for the purpose of talking over the situation. The Colonel was jubilant. "Blaine will carry by a vote of 600 on the first ballot," the Colonel said joyfully, as if he were giving a twist to the screw that would make the McKinley people squirm for turning him down to make room for Hann on the National Committee.

THE LAST SAD RITES.

Mourners Follow Thirty Bodies of Friends and Relatives to the Grave—Pathetic Scenes at the Cemeteries—Many Occupy Places in a Common Tomb.

HERE were three varying episodes connected with the horrible calamity which has befallen this unfortunate city. The first of these episodes was the frightful death, the second was the heartrending identifications, and the third was the intensely solemn interments.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

At Oil City 41 dead bodies had been recovered. There were two deaths during the day, and of the 11 injured in the hospital several are expected to die. The names of 15 missing were officially announced and search for them is still in active progress.

RISE OF THE FLOOD.

Another Fish Dam Held to Be Responsible for the Awful Calamity.

WEIRS CAUGHT THE DRIFT And Breastworks Gave Way, Precipitating the Rush of Water.

NAUGHT BUT AN UNSIGHTLY WASTE Remains Along the Entire Track of the Irresistible Current.

SCENES ALONG THE ILL-FATED STREAM

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

TRITUSVILLE, June 7.—As in the case of Johnston, it was another fish dam that caused the awful calamity at Titusville, Oil City and the entire valley of Oil creek. Over the divide, other dams have spread

VIEW OF THE FLATS, OIL CITY.

WHERE FIFTEEN BODIES WERE FOUND.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves, but the partition between them was so narrow that the pallbearers dared not turn around after the remains had been lowered into the dark hole for fear of falling in.

On the hill a distance along winding roads, were the graves of W. D. Eakin and son, E. J. Eakin. Here there were two graves