n Enthusiastic Nebraskan Present the Chair With a Gavel Which Is the Fruit of Republican Legislation-The Permanent Chairman's Speech & Splendid Defense of Protection-Tom Reed's Congressional Rules Adopted. With Two Amendments-Names of the National Committeemen Already Selected-A Narrow Escape From Nominating Speeches.

MINNEAPOLIS. June 8 .- The hour of 1:47 was reached before Chairman Fassett's avel fell and the convention and spectators ttled down into comparative quiet. The hairman announced that the proceedings the day would be opened with prayer by ishop H. B. Whipple, of the Diocese of linnesots. Bishop Whipple addressed the brone of Grace as follows:

Aimighty God, our Heavenly Pather, who ath promised to give wisdom to those who everently seek Thee, and who alone pourest no the hearts of men that most excellent lit of charity: Send Thy blessing upon this evention. Help them to realize that eventuent is a sacred trust from God, he alone has the right to govern, and that a his love he hath permitted every nation say in what form that trust shall be othed and grant Heavenly Father, grant hat he whom they may select may be a san after Thine own heart, the defender of e beipiess and the guardian of the honor the country; and give to this whole nation understanding heart to obey Thee, so nat trust and justice, religion and piety, eace and happiness be continued unto us brough all generations. And all this we umbly ask in the name of Thy Son, Jesus brist, in whose words we sum up all our

The Chairman Gets a Gavel. Mr. Webster, of Nebraska-Mr. Chairsan, I want to call attention to the fact hat there is on the platform a gentleman rom Nebraska who desires to present to his convention a gavel. [Applause.] The Chair-If there is no objection, Mr. . C. Walker, of Nebraska, who is on the intform, will take the floor for that purose. [Applause.] Advancing to the Chair, Mr. Walker ir. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:

Among the many master pieces of Republican legislation, as numerous as the stars in our flar, the homestead act of 1862, which for enverse was before Congress and was naily vetoed in 1858 by Buchanan; and the cebrasia suabling act of 1867, are particularly cherished by the people of an activation. arly cherished by the people of our State, as the advantage of the beneficent proture of the homestead act, thousands of our ing soldiers acquired homes in Netaska in 1805, thus becoming our prosperas and thrinty citizens, thereby enabling us o pass the act admitting Nebraska. A voice in the gallery-Louder.

The Chairman-If the convention will be ower the speaker will seem to be higher.

Mr. Walker, resuming his speech; The Gavel the Fruit of Republicanism. Emalsing us to pass the act admitting Nemaka from 10 to 15 years sooner than other-ies, and as a token of our appreciation we re to present this gavel. We have the honor on the part of the oninges Republicans of Nebraska to present the Temporary Cuntrusm of this conention with this gavel. [Applause.] The Chairman-On behalf of the conven on, and on behalf of the Temporary hairman, the Chair returns his very best hanks to Nevada. [Cries of "Nebraska," and great laughter.] There was so much diver about it the mistake is excusable. Laughter.] The next thing in order is the sport of the Committee on Credentials.

Feneral William Cogs well, of Massachu-The Committee on Credentials Not Bendy. General Cogswell-Mr. Chairman, I am structed by the Committee on Credentials ask for further time in which to report, and that it may be given leave to sit coninuously until it completes its labor. Senator Spooner (Wis.)—I rise for the purpose of asking the Chairman of the Comsee on Credentials whether it has made uch progress as to enable him to inform the convention when we may reasonably expect a report? [Applause.] General Cogswell-Mr. Chairman, my answer is simply an individual opinion, and it is that it the committee is attended with reasonable success it cannot hope to report selore to-merrow.

The Chairman-In the absence of a motion, all debates or remarks occur by unani-Senator Spooner-I desire the privilege of interrogating the gentleman further. I amply desire to ask the Chairman whether he business of the committee is such that it is ready now or will soon be ready to report delegates and alternates. [Applause.] General Cogswell—The question would men almost to answer itself. It cannot be long to report a list of uncontested delegutes. [Laughter.]

Report on Permanent Organization. The Chairman-Are you ready for the question? There being no objection the committee is extended permission until they have completed their report. The next order of business is the report of the Committee on Permanent Organization by t, C. Leckwood, of Idaho. Cheers greeted the appearance of Chairman Lockwood, who submitted the follow-reading cierks and assistant secretaries, be the same as permanent officers of this convention. [Applianse.] Your committee further recommends an Honorary Secretary and Honorary Vice President or each of the States, and the committee desires me also to suggest that the delegations from the ollowing States send a report to the desk for Vice President and Secretary, who up to this time have not reported to the committee Alabama, North Cavolina, Louisiann, Maine, Kentucky, Nebraska, Arizona, Indian Territory and Utah. Mr. Lockwood-I move the adoption of the report on permanent organization. The report was unanimously adopted.

The Chairman—The Chair will appoint as a committee to escort the Permanent Chairman to the chair Hon. Samuel Fessenden, Senator Spooner and General Mahone.

Senator Spooner and General Mahone.

The announcement of General Mahone's name was greeted by enthusiastic approval from the galleries and a portion of the delegates. Governor McKinley was in his seat with the Ohio delegation, and there was a kush as the committee approached him and formally notified him of his election. With a bow, the Governor of the Buckeye State arose, and, arm in arm with the Chairman of the Notification Committee, marched up to the platform.

No occasion could have been more fitting to demonstrate the popularity of the great were not slow to catch the inspiration of the occassion. It was nearly a minute before the deafening cheers ceased reverberating through the halls and corridors, and when silence was finally restored Chairman Mc-Kinley was introduced by his predecessor as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention: Before presenting to you your Permanent Chairman, the Chair desires to thank you most heartily for the kind forbearance which you have extended to him. [Applause.] I now have the honor and the distinguished pleasure to introduce the Hon. William Mc-Kinley, of Ohio. [Prolonged applause.]

McKinley Before the Convention. Temporary Chairman Fassett retired amid great applause, and after prolonged and re-newed cheers and waving of banners Governor McKinley spoke as follows: Gentlemen of the Convention:

Gentlemen of the Convention:

[Cries of three cheers for McKinley. The vast audience arose and shook the building with cheers for Ohio's Governon] I thank you for the honor of presiding over the Ninth Quadrennial Convention of the Republican party. [Applause.] Republican conventions mean something. They have always meant something. [Applause.] Republican conventions say what they mean and mean what they say. [Applause.] They deciare principles and policies and purposes, and when intrusted with power, execute and inforce them. [Applause.]

The first National Convention of the Republican party was held 38 years ago in the city of Philadelphia. The platform of that great convention reads to-day more like inspiration than affirmation of a political party. [Great applause.] Every provision of that great instrument, made by the fathers of our party, are on the public statutes of our country to-day. [Applause.] Every one of them have been embodied into public law, and that cannot be said of the platform of any other political organization in this or any other country of the world. [Cheers.] Whenever there is anything to be done in this country, and by this country, and for this country, the Republican party is called upon to do it.

[Cheers.] Whenever there is anything to be done in this country, and by this country, and to this country, and for this country, the Republican party is called upon to do it.

There is one thing that can be said about our organization that cannot be said about any other. It can look backward without shame or humiliation, as it can look forward with cheer and exultation. [Great applause.]

The People Will Approve at the Polls. That cannot be said of any political organization other than ours in the United States. Thus, gentlemen of the convention we are here to make a platform and a ticket that will commend themselves to the conscience and intelligence and judgment of the American people. [Prolonged ap-plause.] And we will do it. [Cheers.] of the American people. [Prolonged applause.] And we will do it. [Cheers.]
Whatever is done by this convention, either as to platform or as to ticket, will receive the approval of the American people in November of this year. [Great applause.] We have already heard some of the notes of victory, for this is a Republican year. Rhode Island has spoken. [Applause.] Only yesterday Oregon spoke, electing three representatives—to the Congress of the United States, and when we get through with this convention its conclusions will be the law of Republican action as they will be the assurance of Republican victory. [Applause.]
We are for a protective tariff and for reciprocity. [Great applause.] We propose to take no backward step upon either one of these Republican principles. [Applause.] We stand for a protective tariff because it represents the American home and firesides, the American mily, the American girl and the American citizenship. [Applause.] We propose to raise our money to pay public expenses by taxing the products of other nations, rather than taxing the products of our own. [Applause.]

The Democratic Doctrine of Taxation.

The Democratic Doctrine of Taxation. The Democratic party believe in direct taxation-that is, in taxing ourselves; but we do not believe in that principle so long as we can find anybody else to tax. Our protective tariff not only does everything which a revenue tariff is doing, raising all needed revenues, but a protective tariff needed revenues, but a protective tariff encourages and stimulates American industries and gives the widest possibilities to American genuis and American effort.

Does anybody know what tariff reform is? ["No, no," and laughter.] And that is to be the platform of our political opponents this year. What does it mean? You may study president Cleveland's uttersness from the year. What does it mean? You may study President Cleveland's utterances, from the first one he made in New York when he said he did not know anything about the tariff, until his last one in Rhode Island, and you come away ignorant and unininformed as to what tariff reform means. Since the war there have been three great tariff reform bills proposed by Democratic leaders, none of them alike, neither of them with the same free list, neither of them with the same tariff list, neither of them with the same rates of duty, but all made by the Democratic party on the same principles and presented to symbolize tariff reform.

cipies and presented to symbolize tarill fo-form.
You may go to Springer, and you will find they differ iotally; but you may go to the House of Representatives at Washington, which was elected distinctively upon what they call a tariff reform issue, with a two-thirds majority in the House, and what do you find? They pass three bills.

S. me Tariff Reform Inconsistencies. Let me name them. The first, free tin plate, leaving sheet steel, from which it is made, tariffed-that is, the finished product free and the raw material bearing a duty. second, free wool to the manufacturer and tarified cloth to the consumer. Third, free cotton ties to the cotton States and tariffed hoop fron to all the rest of their States. That is their idea of tariff reform, gentle-

That is their idea of tariff reform, gentlemen of the convention; how do you like it?
This contest that we enter upon is for the maintenance of protection and reciprocity [Applause], and I want to say here, that there is not a line in that turiff bill that is not American. There is not a passage that is not patriotic, there is not a page that does not represent true Americanism and the highest possibilities of American citizenship. [Great applause.]
We are to declare ourselves upon other questions here to-day. We are to declare ourselves upon the question of a free ballot and a iair count. [Applause.] No platform should ever be made that does not reiterate that great constitutional guarantee; no Republican speech should ever be made that does not insist irmly and resolutely that that great constitutional guaranty shall be that great constitutional guaranty shall be a livin : birthright—not a cold formality of a livin: birthright—not a cold formality of constitutional enactment, but a living thing which the poorest and humblest may confidently enjoy, and which the richest and most powerful dare not deny. [Applause] We can well leave to the Committee on Resolutions the duty of making a platform that shall represent the best thoughts and the best ideas and the best wisdom of the Republican party. When we go out of this convention upon a true Republican platform, we go out marching to victory, no matter what name may carry the banner. [Great applause.]

[Great applause.] A Comp iment for Fred Douglass At the conclusion of Governor McKinley's address there were laud cries for Fre l Douglass, and in response the Chairman led Mr. Douglass to the front of the platform, when he responded to the call with a bow. The Chair announced the next order of business to be the report of the Committee on Rules and Order of Business. General H. H. Bingham, of Pennsylvania-Mr. President, I am directed by your Committee on Bules and Order of Business to submit the rules for the government of the convention. The report adopted the rules of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-first Congress for the govern-ment of the convention, and after its other details provides the following order of busi-First-Report of the Committee on Creden-Second-Report of the Committee on Permanent Organization.

General Bingham continued: Your committee would report that the rules submitted are, with two exceptions, those of the last National Convention, which were substantially those of the convention of 1800 and 1884.

The Report on Rules Explained, These rules were found to work smoothly, and with an amendment adopting the rules of the House of Representatives of the Firty-first Congress, and a new rule inserted, proposing that a motion to table an amendment shall carry with it no prejudice to the pending measure, it is believed they will be satisfactory to the convention. Your committee deemed it proper to recognize specifically the rules of the last Republican House of Representatives [applause], under which action progress and results were made possible, as against the rules of the present House, which permit indefinite fillibustering, obstruction and non-action, except when a report from the Committee on Rules is presented—a tyranny hitherto unknown in American history.

The new rule proposed, by which an amendment be separated from the pending measure and tabled, if such be the wish of the convention, without carrying with it or prejudicing such measure, is the present rule of the United States Senate, and is in harmony with advanced parliamentary practice. Since the Forty-eighth Congress rule of the United States Senate, and is in harmony with advanced parliamentary practice. Since the Forty-eighth Congress this has been the rule of the Senate; and as we have present with us to-day a large number of Senators in delegate representative capacity, should discussion be determined upon that proposition, which is wholly for the expedition of business and for the saving of the delay of roil calls, I am very sure they will indorse, as your committee has decined wise to report, that rule which means acceleration and quickness in the duties of this convention. [Applause.]

Foraker Rises to Meet Applause, Some little time was consumed in the explanation of the details to inquiring delegates, after which the report was adopted by accismation. The report of the Committee on Resolutions was next demanded. and ex-Governor Foraker, of Ohio, its Chairman, arose. Instantly the convention burst into a storm of applause of welcome to the eloquent Ohioan. This lasted nearly a minute, and at the conclusion of the im-promptu ovation, Chairman Foraker stated that his committee was unprepared to re-port and requested further time. The extension of time was granted. The roll of States was called for the names of the new national committeemen.

When Iowa was called and the re-election of Clarkson, the Blaine leader, was announced, cheer after cheer followed from the Blaine delegates. A great demonstration greeted the report of the names of J.

Kerns, the Harrison delegates made a grand counter-demonstration. The new National Committee, as reported to the convention, is as follows: Names of National Committeemen

Senator Cullom arose to question the regularity of this order of business, but the convention, supposing he had arisen to place some one in nomination, complimented the distinguished Illinoisan with prolonged applause. SHERMAN'S ANTI-TRUST ACT.

Pointon in the First Action Brought Under It-Judge Blodgett Only Emphasizes the Uncertainty as to Its Scope and Meaning -The Profession Still At Sea.

In the case of A. D. Bishop against the American Preserves Company and others, Judge Blodgett yesterday rendered in the United States Circuit Court an opinion sustaining the demurrer of the defendants. This is the first civil action decided under the Sherman anti-trust act.

In this case Bishop alleged that he became a member of the organization which he characterized as a trust, now called the American Preserves Company, whose principal office is in Pittsburg. But becoming dissatisfied he attempted to retain the property and business which he had conveyed to the company, because, he alleged, the organization was illegal, being contrary to the anti-trust law.

The American Preserves Company, upon his refusal to deliver up the property, issued a writ of replevin out of the State court and took it. For this action Bishop

rought his suit in the United States Court or $120,000 damages, claiming that under the act of Congress be was entitled to three times the damages suffered. The defendants demurred to the declaration. In his opinion Judge Blodgett holds that no suit can be brought, because it may be de-cided on the trial of the replevin suit that the plaintiff had a right to the property re-plevied. Second, that it is a rule that no action at law can be maintained for the commencement of a suit at law, as this is but the assertion of a right in the manner by law provided for asserting rights, and that the plaintiff in this case must get his redress in the actions pending in the State courts.

He further held that the injuries complained of were not comprehended under the anti-trust statute; that even if the company were an illegal organization it might have a valid title to the property replevied against Bishop. By way of il-lustration the Judge added that if from any difficulties growing out of the organization and management of the alleged trust an al-tercation and quarrel had ensued between the plaintiff and the other members or officers with whom he was associated and plaintiff had been assaulted, it is very clear he would have no right of action under this statute. When the anti-trust bill was before the Senate, some of the leading lawyers ob-jected to it because of its indefiniteness and uncertainty. Senator Sherman thereupon declared upon the floor of the Senate that he would press its passage even if it was against the Lord's Prayer or the Ten Commandments. The profession generally has watched this case with great interest, with the expectation of obtaining a judicial construction of the act, but the decision only emphasizes the uncertainty of what it covers. The principal offices of the American Preserves Company are at Pittsburg. A number of Pittsburgers are stockholders and its general counsel is A. Leo Weil. The company has always denied that it was a trust.

STERRETT BOARD REORGANIZED. successfully Raising Money for the School Library Fund,

The Sterrett School Sub-District Board, Twenty-second ward, has been reorganized by the election of William K. Woodwell as President, F. B. Laughlin, Secretary, and W. W. Patrick Treasurer. Miss Laura A. Parker was re-elected Principal of the school. Misses Craig, Mawhinney, McMillen, McQuiston, Ziegler and Matthews were also re-elected. The election of a primary teacher for the new Linden avenue building (nearing completion) was postponed to a future date.

The recent excellent entertainment by the pupils of the school netted nearly $250 for the benefit of the school library fund, which was further increased by the handsome donation of $250 from a prominent publicspirited citizen of the district.

Made by a Pretty Polish Girl Charged

With Theft, Mary Leoyuska was given a hearing before Alderman Succop yesterday on a charge of larceny preferred by Mary Mc-Gonnell. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant while employed as a domestic in her boarding house on Ferry street took $13 out of her purse. She denied that she ever took the money, ever worked in the house, or saw the plaintiff. A number of witnesses testified to the contrary, however, and she was held for a trial by court.

Mary was arrested Monday night by Officer Cochran and locked up in the Twenty-eighth ward police station, and created quite a sensation by making two ineffectual attempts to hang berself. She is Polish, 19 years of age and very pretty.

RELOCATING NEW STREETS. Wide Thoroughfares Demanded by Settlers in the East End. The Survey Committee held a meeting yesterday and considered 27 ordinances for grading, paving and curbing streets and alleys. All of them were favorably recommended to Councils. Among them were ordinances relocating ten streets and alleys in the old Winebiddle plan in the Nineteenth ward. As originally laid out they were for 30-foot streets and ten-foot alleys. The prop-erty was sold to a syndicate who laid out the property on a new plan and located it for 50-foot streets and 20-foot alleys and the old plan has to be wiped out that a record may be made according to law.

Makes a Countercharge of Blackmail. L. R. Smith, a well-known oil operator from Oakdale, was arrested yesterday by Detective Morr is on a charge preferred before Alderman McMasters by Della Cronan. Both persons are well known in Oakdale. She alleges that Monday night he came home under the influence of liquor, broke into her room and attempted to as sault her. He denies the story emphatically and charges it is a blackmailing schem He was held in $1,000 bail for a hearing
