Germans See Only McKinley Back of

Harrison's Nomination, and

BISMARCK IS STILL INTRACTABLE

COPTRIGHT, 1802, BY N. T. ASSOCIATED PRESS, 1 BERLIN, June 11 .- The course of the Republican Convention at Minneapolis was followed with the greatest interest in political circles here, where it was generally expected and hoped that Mr. Blaine would be successful, not because Mr. Blaine was liked, but because his success would have been regarded as a partial rebuff to the Mc-Kinley policy, under which German manufacturers are still smarting.

All here are in sympathy with the Democrats. While the personal character of President Harrison and the ability of Mr. Reid are universally conceded, little attempt is made to conceal the hope that they will be beaten at the polls. The leaders in the newspapers reflect the general teeling. The Tagblatt says :

It is doubted if the unity of the Republican party will again become a fact. From the German point of view, we desire a Democratic victory. President Harrison's reelection means an increase in protectionism. The National Zeitung says that though the Republicans may remain united, the ticket is not a strong one. New York, which lives upon imports, will defeat protection and Harrison.

The main results of the nomination are the unification and strengthening of the Republicans. It is a bad omen for European In-terests in America that McKinley fathers Mr. Harrison's candidacy.

The Born Courier says: "We are rid of Blaine, and hope shat Cleveland will rid us of Harrison."

The meeting between the Czar and Em-peror William at Kiel has been the leading opic of conversation during the week. The comments of the newspapers here show that it is generally jelt that there is little reason for congratulation over the result of the meeting, which had too much the appearance of the Emperor running after the Czar, while the ostentatious visit of the Grand Duke Constantine to Nancy, at the express instructions of the Czar, dispelled any idea that political importance can be attached to the Kiel meeting. The cordial character of his reception, however, cannot fail to impress the Czar with the fact that the Emperor desires to maintain friendly relations with Russia. The Emperor's conferring the honorary rank of German Admiral on the Czar is further proof of his desire to show his kindly regard for him.

The Offic . Created Especially.

The title was especially created for the occasion. The only foreign royal person-ages holding honorary titles in the German navy are King Oscar II., of Sweden, and Archduke Stephen, of Austria, but they do not hold special rank. During the breakfast at Kiel, the Czar conversed freely with General Werder, this occurrence being greatly remarked as tending to confirm the reports that General Werder will be the next German minister to St. Petersburg. The Cologne Gazette sfirms that the Czar, while at Kiel, declared he would not think of supporting France if she raised any question regarding Alsace-Loraine.

The papers are still occupied in discuss-ing the prospects of a reconciliation be-tween Emperor William and Prince Bismarck. A rumor has been in circulation that Prince Bismarck would be made President of the State Council, but there is little ou that cellor, ever should a reconciliation be effected, would accept such an unimportant post as the Presidency of the State Council, which he himself created in order to appoint Crown Prince Frederick thereto, and thus remove the Crown Prince from any influence in active politics. Another of the Kalser's Advances Repulsed An extraordinary story has recently been circulated. It is said that the Emperor, while passing through Freidrichsruhe on a recent journey, ordered the train on which he was traveling to be stopped and sent a message to Prince Bismarck, requesting him to come to the train, as he desired to speak with him. Prince Bismarck was inclined to go, but was dissuaded from doing so by his wife and Count Herbert Bismarck, who insisted that he ought not to submit to be treated in such an off-hand manner. Finally, a measage was sent to the Emperor with the informa tion that Prince Bismarck was unable to comply with His Majesty's request. Upon receiving this reply the Emperor proceeded on his journey. The proposal to hold an international exhibition in Berlin in 1896 still has many supporters in spite of the assertion made i a recent letter by Chancellor von Caprivi, that the holding of such an exhibition is on of the question. Second Burgomaster Zelle who is regarded as the successor of Herr Second Burgomaster Zelle, Forckenbeck as Burgomaster, has declared himself in tavor of the exposition. He says, however, that in view of the holding of the Chicago World's Fair in 1893, it will be im possible to organize the Berlin Exposition before 1898. In contrast with the action of the German Chancellor, a telegram received from Buda Pesth to-night states that a member of the Government, in replying to a question regarding Hungary's intentions as to the Chicago World's Fair, declared that there was not sufficient interest in Hungary in the Exposition to guarantee that that country would be worthily represented.

RUSSIAN FAMINE DYING OUT.

And It is Now Learned That Speen! Were Getting in Their Work.

WASHINGTON, June 11 .- The Department of State has been informed that the tollowing ukase was issued by the Russian Government on the first (13th) ultimo. In view of the favorable results obtained from the measures taken by imperial order, to assure food for the people and seed for the fields, it is judged useful for the sake of the National Commerce to authorize:

First-The free exportation of maize, both by sea and by the Western continental frontier. Second-The free exportation of the stock of cats in store at Arkhangel, Libau, Revai and Riga, the Ministry of Finance being charged to make proper arrangements in detail for the control of the Customs insti-

This is understood to indicate that the famine is drawing to a close. It is believed that a ukase will be issued on July 1, possibly as early as June 1 (old style), permitting the exportation of all grain except ryc. A collapse in the price of grain except taken place, the fall being between 80 and 100 per cent, and the existence of vast quantities hoarded by speculators has thus been developed. The authorities will be able to deal easily with what remains of the famine, and the indications are that it will be unnecessary to send further contributions of grain.

Imitation is the Sincerest Form of Flatter And the fact that Kaufmanns' genuine an most successful half-price sale of muslin un-derwear has been followed by various ficti-tious sales in other houses only proves more than ever that Kaufmanns', and Kaumanns' only, are the dealers offering muslin underwear at half price. Sale will be continued this week.
