To sum up, there is at present plenty of business for those who can offer low prices. When there is a season of prosperity low prices always prevail. In times of war or famine prices on certain commoditles demand a high price, but that does not mean a prosperous season, it is when there is plenty of everything and competition is strong that prices come down and then prevails a real prosperity.

Steady Progress in Pittsburg.

"In this city the growth has resulted from the prosperous conditions and it has been natural, auguring well for the future. There has been no boom, no forcing, no un-healthy pushing, but a steady, conservative advance for which there has been excellent reason. In all the small manufacturing centers in this district the same can be to a centers in this district the same can be to a large extent said, our reports showing good growing business and a healthy state of affairs generally. "The prospect for the ensuing season is shaded by the chances of a strike among the iron workers and by the superstition that there must be a depressed condition of trade during the Presidental amonging. If there during the Presidental campaign. If these two features were eliminated we would regard the outlook as quite favorable. "Our crop reports are, like those of trade, accurate and generally reliable. They show that, in this district, wheat, oats and rye are promising an average yield or better; hay and pasturage are excellent. Fruits in most reports are regarded as satisfactory, though there have been failures in some though there have been failures in some quarters. Corn, generally, has been kept back by the heavy rains in May and the early part of June, but with more invorable weather may yet make a fair yield. The manufacturing towns through-out our territory have experienced general prosperity, but owing to the bad roads or other causes, the strictly agricultural counties and small towns relying on the farmers' trade complain of dull times. In Pittsburg and the iron district generally the mills have been kept running and the industrial classes have been steadily em-ployed. At the present time, however, they are confronted with the possibility of a diagreement between the employers and the Amalgamated Association, which may a diagroement between the employers and the Amalgamated Association, which may result in a strike. It is hoped that moderate bounsels will prevail and the loss incident to a struggle between labor and capital may be averted. Labor troubles also exist in the plastering trade, affecting building operations and among the tinners. Boads an Important Factor in Business.

"Crop and trade reports from points cov-ering about one-half of the State of West Virginia and portions of Ohio indicate gen-eral good crops in all localities and busieral good crops in all localities and busi-ness conditions prosperous. Corn has been retarded some by the wet weather, and at some points the fruit crop has suffered from early froats, but the damage has not been great anywhere. The general, steady, in-dustrial growth of West Virginia keeps up, and new development of coal and lumber industries is in progress all the time. The development companies organized at a num development companies organized at a num-ber of different points seem to have created a healthful and permanent growth in the sections where they operate, and the boom sections where they operate, and the boom is steady and continuous. "At some points local influences have un-favorably affected trade, as, for instance, the smallpox scare at points down the river, but this does not materially affect the gen-eral volume. Failures are few and unim-portant, and though small traders keep changing and fizzling out, the loss from that score is not large. Jobbing houses report collections as slow for this time of the year, but with the general good conditions which seem to prevail there should be a decided improvement in that line after harvest. Bad roads are a very important factor in causing roads are a very important factor in causing dullness in trade through the interior por-tions of West Virginia." Condition of crops-Oats and potatoes ook well, and there is a good prospect for Condition of crops-From what we can Greensburg. Condition of crops—From present indica-tious the crop outlook is excellent. Wheat has been hurried along by the cool rainy spring, and if it does not straw, break or go down will be an extraordinary yield. Oats and grass are splendid, and will be a large crop. Fruit has not been much injured by frost, and if not injured hereafter a goed yield will be gathered of all kinds. Vegeta-bles are a fine stand and coming into mar-ket in abundance. Corn is very small on ac-count of the wet and very cold spring, but the recent warm days have brought it along rapidly. Cambridge. Condition of crops—The outlook for hay and wheat crops was never better. Oats fair, but corn has been very much damaged by the recent and continuous heavy rains, and for the same reason the acreage will be small, while perhaps there is some plauting yet to be done. Business outlook—Merchants report sales fair and regular demand; that is, the trade of this season, taking it through, has been as good as that of last year, with prospect of good, steady trade all summer, and more cash trade than usual.

the recent warm days have brought it along rapidly. Business outlook—The general business outlook is fair. Money is easy and, while there is no boom yet, there is a steady vol-ume of trade.

Indiana.

Indiana. Condition of crops-Generally good. Corn in some instances had to be replanted, and consequently a little late in season, but the warm weather which has recently set in is bringing it forward rapidly. Oats will be an average crop and wheat and rye promise an abundant yield. Business outlook-The business outlook is good. Considerable building going on in the town and surrounding country, afford-ing a large amount of employment to the laboring classes. Merchants appear to be doing well, and the implement trade is as good as any former year.

Condition of crops—Through this section crops look favorable. Wheat has been dam-aged in some localities, yet there will be an average crop. Oats are good. The corn crop will be short, owing to late season. Business outlook—Owing to the bad weather business has been dull and collec-tions slow. Prospects look brighter. Jeannette. Jeannette. Condition of crops—All kinds of crops at present promise a bountiful yield through-out the county. Have heard no complaints. Business outlook—The business outlook is fairly promising. Not much movement in realty, but outside of this trade is in a fairly prosperous condition.

Johnstown. Condition of crops-There has been about Canal Bover. Condition of crops-Prospect for good crop of wheat and oats very favorable; corn will not be an average crop, or anything near the average on account of continued rains during past 30 days. Hay crop will be large. Business outlook-Very favorable. Afills and furnace running along all right. Condition of crops—The stand of wheat is fine and with favorable weather the yield will be far above the average. On high ground corn is coming on favorable. Oats and grass, where not drowned out by exces-sive rains, are very promising. There bids fair for a fair apple crop. Peaches and plums will be scarce, but small truits there will be a good crop.

Condition of crops—There has been about the usual acreage of wheat, rye and onts sowed this year, all of which are looking very good but somewhat backward on ac-count of continued wet weather. Corn crop —No estimate can be made, as the planting has been delayed beyond precedent on ac-count of wet weather. The same may be said in regard to the potato crop. The fruit crop will be fair. Business outlook—Business men complain very much about the scarcity of money just at present. While the carning capacity of this community is equal to what it was prior to the flood, and the estrings as large, yet so many of our people were obliged to go into debt in order to rebuild their houses, and are now applying quite a large proportion of their earnings to paying this indebted-ness. Yet Johnstown has improved even more rapidly than the most sanguine ex-pected, and our future, on the whole, is in ther a bright one and we should not com-plain. Kittanning.

Kittanuing. Condition of crops-Fail wheat and rye are showing well, and all indications point to a large yield. Spring cats and corn do not look so well, owing to the cold and rainy spring, especially the corn crop promises to be light. Hay will be abundant. Business outlook -The business outlook is fair. Iron mills are running about full time; also glass works at Ford City. There is lit-tle difference in the business outlook from last year in this county. Latrobe. Latrobe, Latrobe, Condition of crops-Wheat good; oats lock well so far; hay will be short; corn locks well; fruit crop uncertain, probably fair. Business outlook-Somewhat dull now, but looks brighter.

New Castle, Condition of crops—Apple crop up to the average: peach crop very light; grapes above the average; plums very light; wheat very good crop; oats about the average; corn mostly not yet planted and outlook very poor. poor. Business outlook—All our manufacturing works are running except the Rozena Fur-nace and Witherow's Works. The outlook for the near future is very encouraging.

Reynoldsville.

Emith's Ferry.

Beynoldsville. Condition of crops-In this locality all crops are up to the average in quality and acreage. Grass is excellent. A large num-ber of the farmers were late on account of wet weather in getting in their corn, but its present rapid growth seems to compensate for lateness in planting which makes the prospects for corn flattering. Business outlook-The general business outlook is good, better than the average. The coal mines are running about full time, the output large, with flattering prospect for new railroad connections with the hast, furnishing new market for the Reynolds-ville coal. Emith's Ferry. Condition of crops-Wheat and oats very good-above average. Corn very backward, not all planted owing to the wet weather. Grass good, with full average. Apples heavy bloom, but owing to the wet weather they are dropping hadly. Peaches about one-fourth crop. Berries and other fruits fair crop.

Business outlook—The business outlook in this locality is very bright this spring. More Steubenville. Condition of crops—The present outlook for crops was never better. Wheat, grass, oats and all crops, except corn, stand bet-ter on the ground than is usual at June 1, and the last few days of warm weather have greatly improved the appearance of corn, which is now in very fair condition. Business outlook—The business outlook is good. With excellent crop prospects and all our manufacturing interests operated in full, there is everything indicating a favor-able season.

Warren.

Warren. Condition of crops—It has been so very wet that crops could not be put into ground to the usual extent. Much oats that were sowed drowned and the oat crop will be light in quantity of acres. Some corn was planted before June 1, but now, June 11 to IA, at least three-fourths of the corn and potatoes are being planted which will re-quire a late season to mature. Fruit has been damaged badly too by dampness. Hay will be great and heavy. Business outlook—Our Tube Works have orders for something but at little profit, yet are running full. Kolling mill talks of shut-ting down for awhile unless scale is signed soon. Other interests are doing well; building going on as great as before. Wellswille. Canton. Condition of crops-Wheat on uplands is in good condition; on the low or bottom lands is suffering too much rain. Oats in similar condition. Corn, not over three-fourths crop planted; the result will depend on the condition of weather in the fail; if not injured by early frosts will do well. Business outlook-Local manufacturers re-port a good year's business with large ad-vance sales for the coming year. However, the continued rains may have a depressing effect upon the general trade. Retail deal-ers have had on the whole a very successful year, but for the last two months trade has been cut off by constant rain. Collections have been easy, and failures few, and amount involved very small. Canal Fulton. Wellsville, Wellsville. Condition of crops-Wheat, hay and cats are looking well and promise a full grop. Corn, on account of wet weather, was put in late, but our present weather is very favorable to late planting. Potatoes, in many cases, are not planted yet. Apples promise well. Peaches will be scarce. Small fruits, if the wet weather does not continue to injure them, will be plenty. Business outlook-Our business outlook is favorable and indicates a safe, steady growth.

SPRING LAKE BEACH, N. J. Condition of crops-The wheat and hay crop are in fair condition. The season has been so wet that but little over half a corn crop has been planted. Other crops in fair condition. No peaches but an average crop of apples. Business outlook-Considering that this is Presidental year the business outlook is good. Business outlook-Much same as one year ago. Tile and clay and brick industries ac-tive and profitable; rolling mill and window glass works idle; bottle and barley factories running full.

WEST VIRGINIA.

Burton.

Condition of crops-Wheat, oats and corn bid fair to be an average crop. The fore part of the season being unusually wet de-layed planting corn, but the weather is now very favorable and crops promise to be good. Business outlook-Is fair, about an aver-age of other years at this season. Burton. Condition of crops-Wheat is better pros-pectively than usual. Grass crop is good, and will be equal to the best years. Corn is a little short. Oats are looking well and coming on nicely. Fruit is injured some by late frost. Potatoes and garden vegetation are in fine condition. Business outlook-Good for the near future, but has been a little slow for the past two months, owing to the iarmers' products not being moved and their entire attention being held on their farms putting in spring crops.

Condition of crops-The crops in this neighborhood are in good condition and farmers are in good spirits. Prospects for fruit on high ground are good.
