Close of the Longest Session of the Order's National Council.

SOME IMPORTANT WORK FINISHED

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 24 .- After holding the longest session in the history of the order, the National Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., adjourned this evening, in time for the delegates to take the last train for their respective homes. There was so much business left over from yesterday, and it was rushed through in such haste, that the National Council did not take a recess for dinner, and the adjournment was not reached in time for the delegates to eat before leaving Atlantic City. In view of the plan adopted yesterday relative to establishing a national library and information bureau in Washington, D. C., a committee consisting of Representa tives Mullins, Shunk and Cunningham was appointed to investigate a report concerning a provision in the will of George Washington. It is said that he left a large sum of money for just such a purpose, but nothing has ever been done to carry out the scheme as suggested by President Washington. It is thought this money, which is held in trust, has accumulated considerably, and if it can be secured will be a good sized nucleus for the fund necessary to establish the library.

The Greatest Fight of the Day. The great fight of the day took place over the resolutions published in last Sunday's DISPATCH, creating a National Legisla tive Committee, and providing that the National officers and State Council officers of the several States shall compose the com-mittee. The resolutions were adopted after a hard struggle and much opposition from those upon whom will be placed the burden of carrying out the purposes for which the committee is created. By creating this legislative committee and adopting a few other matters which are regarded with secrecy for the present, the National Council has demonstrated that there is a determination to take an active part in political questions. This work, however, will be done quietly, and very little will be heard publicly of the work done by the order in this direction, but a representative stated to-night that the whole scheme resolves to one thing, that if men now in office will not provide the desired legislation on the questions of immi-gration and kindred subjects, men who will

A Victory for the Daughters of Liberty. The report of the committee which had prepared a memorial service was adopted. The Daughters of Liberty came in for a great victory over an attempt on the part of some of the representatives to withdraw the indorsement given last year and to recognize another order as an auxiliary to the Junior order. This fight had its origin in Pittsburg a little over a year ago. A charter was applied for in the Daughters of Liberty by a number of Juniors and their lady triends at Bennett station. Pending an investigation they were refused the charter. They became angered and applied to the Allegheny county courts for it, nd received a charter for an order purport ing to be an auxiliary degree to the Junior Order. Since that time they have organized six councils, three in Pennsylvania and three in Ohio, and have perhaps 200 mem-bers. An effort was made at the last session of the State Council of Pennsylvania to have them recognized as an auxiliary, but the resolutions were referred to the National

The Ohio delegation and quite a number of Pennsylvania representatives favored the resolution when it came up to-day, in some sections between the Senior and Junior orders, and because the Daughters of Liberty is more closely allied to the Senior than the Junior. But the resolution was detected by a handsome majority, and the Daughters of Liberty has the continued encouragement of the National Council.

One Piece of Work Rescinded, The resolution passed yesterday, provid-ing for the expulsion of any member selling or attempting to sell any other chart than the one officially recognized by the National Council, was rescinded.

The National Council took an important the National Council took an important step in relation to the drowning of one of the membars of the order on Tuesday. Frank Emberger lost his life in the surf while bathing, and his friends made a sensational charge against the life guards, that a proper effort had not been made to save Emberger after he struck the undertown Emberger after he struck the undertow. The guard against whom the charge was made was called up for a hearing before Mayor Wright and received a severe reprimand. As Emberger was the only support of a widowed mother in Franklinville, a suburb of Philadelphia, the National Council was desirous of knowing where lies the responsibility for the recklessness, and if upon the city, a suit for damages will at once be instituted in behalf of the boy's mother. Emberger after he struck the undertow.

A resolution provides that all reports of National officers for the years previous to 1875 be printed for distribution. Previous to that year the National Council had not sufficient funds to have this work done. The warrants issued for the institution of all new councils organized during the past year were approved, and charters ordered to be issued sor the same.

Changes in the Ritual,

Quite a lively discussion took place over a proposed change in the ritual of the order. The matter had been referred last year to a committee, but the committee did not attend to the work, and the National Secretary, E. S. Deemer, of Philadelphia, prepared what changes he thought best, and after a desperate effort on the part of some to have portions of it amended, it went through as presented.

An effort to make floor members of the order eligible to the office of State representative was defeated by a large majority. A law was established providing that members of the order taking withdrawal cards after they have passed the age of 50 years cannot be readmitted to beneficial membership.

A committee was appointed to take charge of the transportation arrangements for the next session. Heretofore delegates from the several States have been compelled to make their own railroad sarangements, and more or less confusion resulted. The session next year will be held in Detroit, and, owing to the World's Fair, more complications than ever are expected, but it is to avoid these that the committee was appointed.

Compliments on Adjourning. Before adjourning, Representative Stock-well, of Iowa, in behalf of Sionx Council No. 6, of Sioux City, presented the National Council with a handsome silver-mounted cherry gavel, and in behalf of the National Council presented the retiring National Councilor, John R. Boblitz, with a hand-some yold emblem some gold emblem.

The Deputy National Councilor of New Jersey installed the National Councilor, James Cranston, of Pittsburg, and other officers, and the National Council adjusted.

Some of the Pittsburgers left for home this evening, and quite a number will remain a few days to enjoy a rest on the beach. Among those who left for home tonight are D. G. Evans, F. J. Shaler, H. R. Peck, William Hoffman, William Awl, Stephen Collins, J. K. Emge and G. E. Kennie.

ONLY TWO CARS RUN.

One Was Stopped by a Mob. CLEVELAND, June 24.-Late this afternoon two cars loaded with police were run out Euclid avenue to Lake View. The first was in charge of Houis Beilstein, Assistant Secretary of the East Cleveland Company. When the strikers saw it they were furious. When the strikers saw it they were furious. They hooted at Beilstein and attempted to drag him from the car. The police then charged the crowd. A saloonkeeper named John Moody and Edward Barber, a striking conductor, were struck on the head. Moody was taken home but Barber was locked up. Affairs were serious for awhile, but the men soon quieted down and no more trouble was experienced, for the reason, perhaps, that no more attempts were made to start cars. The East Cieveland people announce their determination to start cars in the cars. The East Cieveland people announce their determination to start cars in the morning, if possible, under police protection. It is said to-night on good authority that every line in the city will be tied up in the morning.

GALENA UNDER WATER

ess Men Up to Their Necks in the Flood in Their Own Offices, GALENA, ILL., June 24.-The terrific ainfall of Wednesday night and yesterday has proved the most disastrous of any storm ever before experienced in this locality The Galena river rose at the rate of an inch minute, and Main street by 8 o'clock last night was flooded, row boats being resorted to as the only means of crossing the street. At the Lawrence Hotel the water stood seven feet deep in the dining room floor, and at the European Hotel the parlor floor, and at the European Hotel the parlor floor was several feet under water. Business men attempting to rescue books and papers found themselves up to their necks in water in their own offices, and were obliged to cave everything in order to escape with
