The Drunkard Curer Can't Catch on in Her Majesty's Capital.

EVERYTHING IS AGAINST HIM.

The Laws Dealing With Incbriates Are Purely Permissive.

ELECTION EXCITEMENT ALSO A BAR

FRY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH. LONDON, June 25 .- [Copyright.]-Dr. Keeley, the gold cure man, has been here for several weeks trying to arouse public interest in his method of treating inebriates, but in consequence of the general elections and owing to other causes, he has not met with much success. People generally are absorbed in speculations as to the strength of Mr. Gladstone's expected majority, and they prefer to attend lively political meetings rather than listen to lectures on drankenness

The present is a bad time, also, for the floating of a joint stock company by a syndicate said to have been formed by some enthusiastic believers in the gold cure and some other and shrewder men who discreetly keep in the background. There is plenty of room for Dr. Keeley, however, and, in fact, for any number of curers, but they must wait awhile. The new House of Commons, in all probability, will contain a majority of temperance reformers, more or less enthusiastic and determined, who will play havoc with the principle that drunkands have liberties worth respecting like sober British subjects.

Necessity of a Change of Law. The law dealing with habitual inebriates Is at present purely permissive. Homes for the cure of these sinners have been established in different parts of the country, at the difficulty is to get inmates for them, because, before a man can be incarcerated, he must go before a magistrate in open court and there solemnly and publicly sign way his liberty for a specified period. The formalities required give too much time for reflection to weak-minded inebriates, and anyhow, the average man does not like to proclaim himself to the world a habitual drankard, incapable of will power.

The new Parliament will probably amend the law so as to transfer the initiative to relatives and friends whose affidavits, supported by medical certificates and counter signed by a magistrate, shall suffice to in carcerate any dipsomaniac. Then will tollow a good time for quacks and honest practitioners alike, for the homes will multiply and be filled, and there will be very keen competition among them.

The disposition even now is to treat drunkards with little consideration, and the tendency of the law is toward increased

Thrice Drunk Is to Be a Drunkard. An illustration of this is afforded to-day by the publication of a remarkable memorinl to the government, signed by ministers praying that Parliament shall pass an act providing "that any person who has in a period of two years and in the same licensed district been thrice convicted of drunk-enness, shall in that district be defined to be an habitual drunkard who is not to be served with intoxicants or harbored on licenned premises within that district, and that any licensed dealer who, after the notice, shall serve or harbor such debarred persons, shall be liable to penalties and forfeiture of license."

The memorial does not give an exagperated idea of the fanatical temperance perfect total of the fanatical temperance teching existing in this country. All proposed legislation is more or less penal in character, and reformers are agreed that men and women must be compelled to keep as sober as themselves. The only question was which themselves. tpan which these good people are divided is whether inebriety shall be punished as erime or considered as disease, or whether treatment shall be based upon both assumpons. It is evident, therefore, that libant individuals have a pretty bad time in

To-day the Daily News publishes a state-ment in which Bishop Barry and the Church of England Temperance Society repudiate other secret remedy for drunkenness.

A Denver Paper Won't Support Any Cand date Not a Free Silver Man. DENVER, Col., June 25 .- The Denver News, the leading Democratic paper of the Rocky Mountain States, has declined to support Mr. Cleveland, as announced this morning. In an editorial to be published to-morrow it gives the reasons for it course. Among other things it says:

Among other things it says:

The opposition of the News to Mr. Cleveland does not arise out of any question as to his ability or character. That he is a splendid type of the self-made vigorous American is conceded. That he is aggressive and tonactous to secure success for all public measures upon which he has convictions is the verdict of the public; and were it not that a matter of principle—one vital to the American people and to the prosperity of this state—interiored, the News would accept his nomination and half his election as a splendid beneficence to the country. Concept his nomination and hall his election as a splendid beneficence to the country. Congress has stood ready for 19 years to restore free coinage if the country's Presidents had been favorable. The defeat has invariably come either through vetoes or adverse influences from the White House. Until a President favorable to it is elected free coinage is helpless. This being the incontestible truth the Neuc, guided in all doings by its convictions, cannot support the candidacy of either Cleveland or Harrison. Time will point out a path. In God's providence the right will find a way to triumph. Let the Democrata and Republicans of Colorado who love their homes and the State's prosperity better than they do the fortunes of any candidates hold fast to independence, that they may travel that path when it is opened.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 25 .-Special. 1-The habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Rev. F. B. Shober to obtain the custody of his four children, two sons and two daughters, came before Judge Barnard again to-day, to hear testimony on Mr. Shober's side, in response to charges made by Mrs Shober that he is an excessive drinker. Mr. Shober is a reporter for a newspaper in this city. number of his parishioners swore that they never saw him under the influence of liquor nor never heard his sobriety questioned up to the time of his recent illness, which was given out as delirium tremens.

Physicians testified that people sick with the grip had hallucinations and despondency as in delirium tremens. Mr. Shober ency as in destrum tremens. Mr. Shober denied excessive drinking. He drank wine three times a day, and kept a barrel of ale in the cellar, and drank a glass at his meals. Sometimes when his throat troubled him he drank rock and rye. Drs. Barrett, Cookingham and Wilbur all swore they never saw Mr. Shober under the influence of light of the forms extended him in of liquor. The two former attended him in his sickness, and said he was then not troubled with delirium. None of the witnesses were cross-examined to any extent by Mrs. Shoher's counsel.

Three of Them Run Down in Cleveland and the Fires Suddenly Stop. CLEVELAND, O., June 25 .- [Special.]-The police have discovered a portion of the incendiaries who have started not less than 20 of the fires in the business portion of the city. They prove to be small boys who wanted to see the engines run. On Saturday last three boy: were seen to insert some lighted paper through the grating of a large printing establishment. They were pursued, but escaped.

On Tuesday one of the gentlemen who saw On Tuesday one of the gentlemen who saw them recognized the boys on the street, and Willie O'Neil, a colored lad, was captured. He said he could find the boys who were guilty. This morning he found Joseph Weber in swimming. He told him he had a ticket with which he could get a suit of clothes by going to the City Hall, and he invited the Weber boy to accompany him, sallies him he could also set. telling him he could also get a new suit. When they arrived opposite the detectives' office the Weber boy was taken into cus-tody. He confessed and implicated three other lads. There have been no incendiary fires to-day.

KICKING LEHIGH STOCKHOLDERS

They Sue the Rending Combine for Dis crimination Against Their Road, EASTON, PA., June 25 .- A number of affidavits were filed in court here to-day in support of the suit brought by Gummer, Hammill and others of Trenagainst the Reading Railroad deal. The plaintiffs are stockholders in the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and they allege in their affidavits that the Lehigh Valley is being discriminated against in the deal. They claim that the business formerly secured by the Lehigh Valley is now being diverted to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and that affidavite which some from shippers marginate. vits which come from shippers, merchants and others tamiliar with the facts go to sus-tain these allegations. Affidavits were also presented showing that at the Liberty station of the Reading Railroad in New York passengers who ask for Lehigh Valley tickets can't obtain them, the ticket agents insisting on selling them Central Railroad tickets instead, the roads being parallel.

THE EVER GLORIOUS FOURTH OF JULY THE DAY WE CELEBRATE

Inaugurated one hundred and sixteen years ago, by a small, but resolute, band of defiant and undaunted patriots, whose undving love of freedom prompted them to the determination "To Do or Die." They fought nobly, and many did bleed and die in the sacred cause of freedom from oppression and tyranny. The document conceived, signed, sealed and promulgated July 4, 1776, opened up such visions of freedom, prosperity and happiness as caused the life blood of millions to thrill with joy and hope; millions of others again shook their wise heads, fearing the possibility of the practicability of the Declaration of Independence. Well, notwithstanding all the croakings and misgivings, this same Declaration of Independence is now a very important matter of history, besides being a mighty factor in the affairs of the civilized world, and to-day the Starry Banner of Freedom waves its protecting influences over more than sixty-five millions of free, enlightened and Independent citizens. Yes, the great American Eagle flaps his mighty wings over the freest nation the sun ever shone upon under the canopy of heaven. In order to the proper observance of the day we celebrate, let the cannons roar, let the steam whistles shriek, let the firecrackers jump merrily, let the young men and maiders fair trip the light fantastic o'er the greensward, let the veteran soldier and jolly Jack Tar fight their battles o'er again, let the tintinabulations of Young America be heard throughout the length and breadth of the land. Everyone enjoying themselves according to their taste and liking, but enjoy yourselves anyhow on this the grand anniversary of the Independence of Our Beloved America, the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave, the birthplace of Patriots.
