ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 St. Louis, June 28.-Pittsburg again fel down before the St. Louis Browns to-day, the latter playing all around their opponents Terry was miserably supported, though trifle wild in the first inning, he did excellent box duty. He is still in it and has plenty of speed and good command of the ball. Catcher Mack, though sick, started in to catch and he was way off. Miller suc ceeded him in the fifth, and had be caught the game from the beginning the Browns might have a different tale to unfold. The Browns stole bases on Mack in the "go as you please" style, and the unusual proceeding is accounted for by Mack's illness. Gleason Was in Fine Fettle.

Gleason pitched a magnificent game and was admirably supported throughout. He was effective and the hits made were scatwas enective and the first inning the Browns scored five runs. Crooks got his base on balls. Carroll was hit by a pitched ball and was compelled to quit playing, Caruthers going to left and Breitenstein to right. Crooks and Pinckney, who ran for Carroll both stells a base. Crooks accorded right. Crooks and Finckney, who ran for Carroll, both stole a base. Crooks accorded on Glasscock's sacrifice. Pinckney scored on Shugart's juggle of Brodie's hit to short. Brodie stole second. Caruthers hit to Farrell, the ball bounding out to short left. Shugart went after it and made a wild throw home to catch Prodie whereast throw home to catch Brodie, who scored. Connie Mack's Very Wild Throw.

Pinckney got his base on balls. He made a break for second. As he did so Mack threw to catch him, and threw the ball down to the center field fence. Both Caruthers and Pinckney jogged home. Not a brown stocking could cross the plate till the eighth, when Pinckney's hit to Terry foreing Glasscock who had made a single forcing Glasscock, who had made a single, Buckley's single to right and Bierbauer's wild throw over first to catch Buckley play-ing off and Gleason's sacrifice fly scored the Brown's last run.
Pittsburg scored in the second. Donovan got his base on balls, he stole second, advanced to third on Smith's sacrifice to Werden and scored on Farrell's sacrifice to

They Couldn't Keep It Up.

They were unable to continue this run-register until the ninth, when they added two their package. Shugart got his base on balls, Beckley struck out, Donovan hit safe to left and Caruthers let the ball get away from him, Shugart coming in and scoring, Donovan going to third. Smith's sacrifice to Werden put Donovan across the plate. This proved to be their last run, as Farrell's hit to Glasscock retired him at first, giving the Browns their second victors over the visitors. Attendance, 1,500. The

VON DER AHE'S LATEST.

He Is Charged With Making False Representations About Fielder Genins. Von der Ahe means to keep up his extremely tarnished record as a baseball magnate. Yesterday Mr. Temple, of the local club, was informed that Von der Abe had played a very false and questionable part in the Genius matter. The charge is that the St. Louis man emphatically stated that he had not released Genins when he knew that he had done so on May 15. He knew that he had done so on May 15. He made the false statement, it is claimed, so as to induce the Pittsburg club to accept Genins and Stricker in exchange for Galvin. The matter has been fully investigated and it has been found that Genins has his legal release from St. Louis; that notice of such release was forwarded to President Young and that the Cincinnatic club legally signed Genins some time ago. As a result Pittsburg has no claim on Genins whatever, because Von der Ahe simply made false misrepresentations to the Pittsburg club.

The very questionable proceedings above related only once more emphasize the fact that Von der Ahe ought not to be allowed in the League for a single day. A local club official claims that he has violated the League constitution, and if he has he ought to be severed from the League entirely. The matter will be brought before the League directors at once.

TWO GAMES TO-MORROW.

The Phillies and Scuntors Will Play Off Two Postponed Contests Here,

The Philadelphia and Washington teams will play two games here to-morrow after-noon for one price of admission. It is a novelty to have two outside teams to come here and play two championship games dur ing the regular season, but circumstances ing the regular season, but circumstances have compelled this arrangement. The two teams named have two postponed games, and are scheduled to play in Louisville and and Cincinnati, respectively, on Friday. If they were to play off their postponed games in Philadelphia to-morrow the Phillies could not reach Louisville in time to play Friday. The games to-morrow are sure to be interesting as the Phillies are putting up a phenomenal game at present.

Tickets for the games on July 4 are now on sale at McClurg's cigar store, Wood street. The morning game will start at 10 and the afternoon game at 3 3 clock.

YALE BEATS HARVARD.

A Close Game Between the Rival Collegiate Ball Teams.

FOUR TO THREE THE SCORE MADE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] NEW HAVEN, June 28.—The Yale baseball team retrieved itself from last Thursday's defeat this afternoon by beating Harvard in a closely contested game by a score of 4 to 3. It was a game played so loosely at times that the spectators groaned as one side or the other got an advantage from a bad play, and the next instant the 8,000 people present rose en masse to cheer and appland a brilliant effort.

Harvard had the same kind of a crowd to compete with this afternoon as Yale had at Cambridge last Thursday. It was a Yale crowd exclusively except for 100 Harvard men who were grouped in the grand stand at the left of the catcher's position. Everybody expected Harvard would win even to body expected Harvard would win even to the ninth inning, and it was not until little Captain Murphy caught Highlards' fly re-tiring the side that the Yale supporters gave one final defiant yell and rushed upon the diamond bearing the victorious team to the dressing room.

The Harvard team came on first, and gave a pretty exhibition in throwing to bases. Yale came in a little later from the outer diamond, and this was a signal for an outburst of Yale enthusiasm. Both teams were crippled to some extent. Mason, Harvard's regular catcher, was unable to fill his position on account of the death of his father. Carter could not play with Yale. Cobb was substituted for Harvard and Kedzie for Yale. Both men proved equal to the occasion and played faultless games. Highlands, in the box for Harvard, was not in his naul form, and become rathed extended. in his usual form and became rattled sev-eral times, while Bowers, for Yale, almost lost the game twice by giving men bases on balls.
