PITTSBURGH, FRIDAY, JULY 1, 1892. TWELVE PAGES. CONFERENCE YET TO COME. THE DISPATCH can positively state that the manufacturers have formally expressed a desire for further conference on the scale question with the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers.

By asking for further discussion the employers show a commendable desire for reconciliation and a wish to avoid any recourse to extreme measures. From previous experience it may be assumed that the Amalgamated Association is possessed of the predominant of a business-like desire for a fair and open discussion of rival claims. And it is therefore a matter for felicitation that the conferences are not yet at an end.

The penalty of Gladstone's greatness is the introduction of hero-worship into the campaign. Hero-worship involves deep personal feeling, and from that to bitterness and ill-behavior is an almost unavoidable step.

THE METHOD WHICH THE IMPERIAL royal wisdom of Germany and Italy, in conference at Berlin, devised for extending Italy from her present shortness of funds is redolent of the financial genius of Wilkins Micawber. The German Government is to use its influence with bankers of Berlin to aid in purchasing Italian bonds, and if necessary to form a syndicate to float a new loan for Italy.

It is an old story of the man who, when one of his debts came due, would hustle around till he got a new note discounted, and then walked out thanking heaven that the debt was settled. The same old way of paying old debts is fashionable in railway schemes of reorganization, but nevertheless it appeals to the statesmanship of the Triple Alliance resorting to it as a relief from financial embarrassment.

It is to be hoped that the number of failures for the six months just begun will show a reduction on those just completed, and, with a general progress toward the gradual extinction of bankruptcy, the commercial stability of the nation will become firmer and its prosperity increase year by year.

IN THIRTY-FIVE STATES the votes at this year's Presidential election will be cast under the Australian system with various modifications. This is a great change since the last election, and its actual working on a large scale will be watched with a good deal of interest.

THE TENDENCY OF THE galleries to try to run national conventions has been displayed this year to such an extent as to evoke propositions to dispense with the gallery element altogether. A recommendation of the kind is a most unpalatable one to the members of the National Committee.

THE MATCH FOR THE FUTURE. There is evidently a question of international supremacy to be settled by bringing together Mr. H. Vane Millbank and the Marquis de Mores. The gifted Frenchman is jointly the property of America and France. He has allied himself with this country by marriage, has demonstrated his skill with the revolver by locating lead mines in the most expert of cowboys, and has proved himself in Paris to be equally the master of the French school of politics.

early date for the amusement and instruction of Nineteenth Century civilization. If the meeting of Millbank and Mores should develop a persistent pugnacity equal to that of the Kilkenny cats the nationalities involved would consent to the sacrifices and drop a silent but not insoluble tear to their martial memories.

THE ENGLISH CAMPAIGN. The ill-behavior and violence so largely manifested in the English electoral campaign are attracting attention on all sides. Of course the leading issue—all one of whose importance as to dwarf all others almost to the degree of invisibility—is whether Home Rule shall or shall not be granted to Ireland. The change of feeling on this question throughout Great Britain during the last six years has been enormous, and very few sane persons entertain any doubt as to the result of the election.

THE BAND AT HIGHLAND PARK is to have more light tonight, and additional sweetness is expected to result. The band at Highland Park is to have more light tonight, and additional sweetness is expected to result.

LORD TENNYSON has ere now been accused of prolixity in his verse, but when it comes to a prose expression combining personal feeling and political bias he can be terse enough. He shows by saying: "I love Gladstone, but I hate his Irish policy."

high for domestic happiness and public welfare. A BUS filled with men rumbled down Smithfield street yesterday afternoon. The men were in gray uniforms and people stopped to stare at them. There was a shout up the street and the clatter of flying horse-hoofs—it must be a patrol wagon or the police of the City Department.

AMATEUR statisticians have a fruitful and comparatively unexplored field before them in estimating how many votes cast in November are the result of a perusal of rival platforms, and again in how many of the few cases where a perusal has been made the voter votes a direct contradiction to his sense of right from a spirit of blind partisanship.

A FEW battalions recruited from a cholera stricken district would be likely to prove invincible as an invading force. BAD example has induced the Superintendent of Allegheny's High School to emulate Chairman Holmes by refusing to publish the names with results of the examination. To fall in a high school examination is not a criminal offense, and it is unfair to treat candidates as convicts by striking their identity in anonymous numerals.

THE ARRANGEMENT by which the clubs of other cities are brought here to play is a good thing. It frequently enables Pittsburghers to see how baseball can be played. W. C. QUINCY, formerly of the Lake Erie and now of the Pittsburgh Connecting Railroad, was a busy man during the war. He was Roadmaster of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, the most important connecting link between the East and West.
