GOING TO NEW YORK.

The Rush of the Christian Endeavor People Has Commenced.

BIG CROWD OF OHIO DELEGATES.

The Buckeye and Local Delegations Will

Start This Morning. EXTRA TRAINS ON THE PENNSYLVANIA

Crowds of sweet-faced girls, good looking matrons, some men and a tew boys filled the Union depot last evening. They were members of the Christian Endeavor Society, bound for New York. A number of outsiders took advantage of the low rate to visit the metropolis, and they helped to swell the ranks of the church people. It wasn't hard to separate the sheep from the goats, and the excursionists could easily be picked out from the Christian workers.

It was noticeable that the women predominated in the throng, and they were led by men wearing white neckties, who were evidently preachers. The young fellows wore badges on the lapels of their coats, stating where they came from. Heads of families were secompanied by their wives and flocks. and some of the delegates from the Western States carried baskets, from which napkins and loaves of bread protruded. They started from home well provided with food, and had evidently replenished their stock on the

Crowds From Ohio,

The Ohio delegation arrived in the city last evening and had made arrangements to spend the night here. They came in on special trains on the Ft. Wayne and Panhandle roads. All the regular trains for that matter were crowded. The Pittsburg societies had promised to have reception committees at the depots, but either they were lost in the crowd or they were not there. A number of the Ohio people complained of having to invoke the aid of policemen in finding their hotels. About 100 delegates stopped at the St. James, 150 put up at the Seventh Avenue and as many more sought shelter for the and as many more sought senter for the night in the Boyer. This morning the Pennsylvania and Ohio delegations will lend the attack on New York. The Pennsylvania road will have special trains for the Ohio and State people. The trains were drawn up in the development. the depot last evening. The cars were lined with streamers announcing the State and name of the society. The Pennsylvania officials expect to have from 700 to 1,000 people out of Pittsburg for New York this

Delegates From the West, The delegates from Tennessee passed through the city last evening. The Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa and Minnesota delegations reached the city after midnight on the through trains, and proceeded to the metropolis. The and proceeded to the metropolis. The people from the other Western States are expected here this morning.

Receptions were held last evening at the St. James, Boyer and Seventh Avenue Hotels for the Ohio delegates. It was an odd sight to see a lot of girls and women standing around in the lobbies of the hotels discussing the objects of the convention. The drummers considered it a strange spectacle, but they admired the ladies for intacie, but they admired the ladies for in-sisting on their rights. The mob at the depot last evening was jammed against the gates, but the people finally got out without injury. A number of extra cars were put on the first section of the line to carry the passengers. The this uppers and lowers, in the sleepers ero, all taken and none could have been sold.
