Manufacturers and the Amalgamated

Slowly Coming Together.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE TO-DAY.

Iron Mon Want a Slight Cut in the Wages of Heaters and Rollers.

LABOR LEADERS MUCH ENCOURAGED.

The iron manufacturers and the Scale Committee of the Amalgamated Association held another conterence yesterday. No conclusion was reached, but the way is being rapidly paved to a satisfactory settlement for both sides in the near future.

While the men at Homestead were engaged in the sad duty of burying their dead yesterday afternoon, Messrs. Weihe, Sheehan and their co-laborers in the Association were busy arguing with the iron masters in support of the scale of wages. At times the discussion was loud and animated, but both sides listened patiently and dispassionately. The best of feeling prevailed, and at 6 o'clock they adjourned for another conference this afternoon.

Among the manufacturers present were Messrs. McCutcheon, who acted as Secretary; Bailey, Jones and E. M. Byers.

Both Sides Go Into Caucus. At stages the manufacturers would adjourn to a corner of the room to talk among themselves, and then the Scale Committee would take its turn at the same business. The fact that the manufacturers are willing to confer from day to day is taken as a good sign by the workmen. They are pleased that not all iron men are patterned after Mr. Frick. Harry Hocking, Vice President of the Wheeling district, was present. He remarked that the Wheeling people wanted to see Mr. Weihe about one point before they went into conference. He declined to say, however, what was the bone of contention. The Amalgamated officials are very close-mouthed, and they refuse to say anything, for fear it will hurt their cause

As nearly as could be learned the manufacturers demand a slight reduction in wages to cheapen the cost of iron. Pig iron has declined to such an extent that they claim there is no profit in the busi-

Cutting the Heaters and Rollers.

Some of the manufacturers suggested that a slight cut be made in the heaters and rollers. They thought they could stand a re-duction better than the puddlers, who have reached rocz-bottom. One manufac-turer stated that the committee admitted the force of the above argument, but it was feared that the heaters and rollers would not submit, and it would cause contention within the Association. Some of the iron masters are led to believe that this proposi-

masters are led to believe that this proposi-tion will be finally accepted. In discussing the scale the Amalgamated people will not hear of reductions in any quarter. Secretary Madden said last evening that the information was wrong. He stated that the Association knows no puddlers, finishers, rollers or beaters, and it wasn't right to talk of discrimination. The wasn't right to talk of discrimination. The members are all workmen, and one class is not to be reduced at the expense of an-other. Mr. Madden was in a very hopeful frame of mind, and he said the situation is encouraging. "It is early yet," he added "only July 7, and yet 58 mills have already accepted the scale. Of these 37 make sheet iron and the other 21 are general mills. A number of these works employ puddlers, but not on an extensive employ puddlers, but not on an extensive

Merchant Tailors'Latest Styles 510, 512, 514, 516, 518 Market St,

Only twice a year do we make Remnant Sales, and it is done then in such a manner that it tells-let the loss be what it may. This 1892 sale will be the largest and most important we ever made for two reasons, we are tearing down, extending and rebuilding our Dress Goods and Silk Room, and everything must be sold, and this past season our sales in fine goods have been so much larger than usual and the choicest of Silk and Dress Goods get into Remnants first, hence, there are thousands and thousands of Remnants that will be sold to-day, and the fact that will help move the short lengths is the fact that so few yards make the fashionable gown, and Friday women will have a chance to get Remnants and Dress Lengths in Medium and Fine Goods for so little money that it will pay to come almost any distance.

2,000 YARDS IMPORTED PONGEE SILKS.

Generally sold as Indias, in all colors 'and good styles, 25c a vard. An hour or two will distribute these.

A great feature of the day will be the FINE INDIA SILK Remnants and Dress Lengths for Waists and Dresses. Everything in Remnants and Dress Lengths of plain Black Indias and Rich Black Silks and Surahs all go.

Twenty pieces-about 1,000 yards-of PLAIN BLACK BROCHE INDIAS, 22 inches wide, 35c a yard. A sacrifice without parallel. When we advertise a Special Sale, particularly a Remnant Sale, it's backed up with the evidence, and the people get the bargains and they know to come for and take advantage of the mark-down them. 150 feet of counter space will be devoted to sale of the middle of Ang all the infacturers will be in line, and the sime enough. It will give the men the rest they need during the hot weather. No mills have signed the scale to day in other places, but I expect some signatures to-morrow.

Dress Goods and Fine Suiting Lengths.

And sold at such prices as there will be no conversation about-simply to see them will be to buy. Remnants of COLORED CASHMERES-cream all-wool goods-and AMERICAN DRESS GOODS will occupy another 100 feet of counter space and the small amount of money at which they are to be sold will be a great chance for children's or girls' dresses for now or Fall School Dresses.

A roller who was listening to the talk took exception to the reduction of his wages. He said if a man rolled iron for 1,000 years he wouldn't know it all. It is ponsible position and requires great Rollers can't be made in a day, and skill. Rollers can't be made in a day, and they begin at the bottom of the ladder and work up. He had been a slave in a mill from boyhood until he was nearly 40 years old. He was fitting himself constantly to become a roller, and if, after he is promoted, his wages are to be cut down, then he thought it was time to give up and quit. It is discouraging if men are not rewarded for pushing ahead and fitting themselves for the best places in the mills. He ventured the assertion that the Sharpsburg mill had lost heavily last year by experimenting with non-union men. Secretary Madden coincided with the statement.
