

AN EXCITING SCENE

In the House When the Homestead Tragedies Are Once More Broached.

DALZELL AND McMILLIN

Exchange Left-Handed Compliments, When the Lie Is Passed.

PROSPECTS OF THE SILVER BILL

Bland's View of It Not Nearly So Roseate as It Has Been.

THE PASSAGE OF THE TINPLATE BILL

(SPECIAL TELEGRAPHIC LETTER.)

BUREAU OF THE DISPATCH.

Tinplate reduced in duty to 1 cent a pound after October 1, 1894, and to be put on the free list after October 1, 1894; lead ore admitted free when it contains more silver in value than lead, and clothing of tourists admitted free only to the value of $100, to be reduced to $50 after October 1, 1894.

If there were any sincerity or honesty in this rapid and destructive work it might be admirable in a way, but everybody knows, and the Democrats of the House know, that it is simply campaign buncombe. Many a Democrat voted for the tinplate and lead ore bills to-day who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

No sooner had Dalzell flung defiance at McMillin to show in any way that tariff was responsible for the trouble at Homestead, than members left their seats and crowded toward the two men who were now harping on trade demagogues, upon the basis of to-day's work, can go back to their constituents, to whom the meaning of it all is very vague at best, and show that it is all work done for the laboring man of the country.

The Homestead Bill on Deck.

The tinplate bill offered opportunity for the demagogues to get in again their assertion that the Homestead bill is the result of the Whiting, of Michigan, riot. Many made some stirring remarks of this character, and were supplemented by the loud-mouthed McMillin of Tennessee, who, as usual, Dalzell, of Pittsburgh, and for a few minutes there was the liveliest scene on the floor that has occurred for many a day.

age of the bill in the Senate, and that free coinage will surely have from 15 to 15 majority in the House. Of course the anti do not concede a possible majority for the bill. Having defeated a similar bill they are convinced there is no chance for its success on a second trial. However, it is plain that they are anxious, because they will know that there may be a difference which they cannot anticipate during a filibustering vote, and a direct vote. In the presence of this doubt the advantage of speculation is in favor of the free coinage men. But the doubt leads both sides to desperate work, and it is probable that the contest will be so hot that a direct vote will be somewhere very near what it would have been if taken on the second trial.

HOT TIME IN THE HOUSE

Dalzell and McMillin Make It Pretty Lively for a Couple of Minutes—Big Majority for the Tin Plate Bill—Other Bills Passed.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The filibustering of the Republicans in the House to-day against suspension duty was not very vigorous and was not pressed. The tin plate bill, the lead ore bill and the bill to limit the amount of wearing apparel which travelers may bring into this country free of duty were passed under suspension duty, the Democrats having a large number of members present than they have had for months. The vote on the tin plate bill was: Yeas, 207; nays, 56. A bill was passed amending the land forfeiture bill of 1890. They were lowering clouds over the bill providing a local government for Utah, but, although there were some flashes of lightning, it was finally passed without injury, as was also the bill regarding the admission of California to the Union.

During the debate on the tin plate bill Mr. McMillin, of Tennessee, referred to occurrences at Homestead. These occurrences, he said, showed that the present tariff, instead of increasing the wages of labor, had decreased them. Did any man deny it?

Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, most emphatically denied it.

Mr. McMillin again declared that the wages of labor had decreased, and again Mr. Dalzell entered a denial, supplementing it with a declaration that the gentleman did not seem to be talking about the tariff.

Mr. McMillin referred the gentleman to the statement made by Mr. Erick to substantiate his statement, and added that it was the gentleman himself who did not know what he was talking about.

Mr. Dalzell responded that he undertook to satisfy any fair and intelligent man in the House that the unfortunate affair at Homestead had nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

Mr. McMillin retorted that the Republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled had been shown, and the Republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to see that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk?

Mr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so, because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the wrong done at Homestead.

Mr. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of being a traitor, and who had done nothing to do with the tariff question.

HOME RULE IS DEAD

So Far as the New Parliament Now Being Elected Is Concerned.

LIBERAL MAJORITY TOO SMALL

The House of Lords Can Veto Their Hated Measure Without Fear.

GLADSTONE TO TAKE A LIGHT PART

(COPYRIGHT 1894 BY N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LONDON, July 8.—Out of the 24 county constituencies contested yesterday the Liberals lost two and won two. These results dispose of the possibility that Gladstone will obtain a reliable working majority. "Though disappointed in the boroughs," said the Liberal chief, "when the counties wheel into line we will sweep the country." As the elections held yesterday are fairly representative no great Liberal triumph can be expected from the county votes when completed.

The Liberal Executive relied upon capturing ten counties in the voting yesterday. They admitted that their calculations must be realized in order to fulfil their expectation that the agricultural labor vote was theirs. With their prediction falsified, the last hope fades that the Gladstone Government will be buttressed by a strong coherent party. On the contrary, the Liberal majority on Monday, when the committee of the House Judiciary Committee, having the Homestead strike investigation in charge will meet to-morrow to decide when they shall leave for Pittsburg. They will probably be on the ground on Monday morning, as the committee must finish its work before the adjournment of Congress.

The Committee is regarded as an especially strong one from a legal standpoint. Chairman Oats is thoroughly posted on the matter. He knows the question in general. The members of the committee are all first class lawyers. The committee consists of Messrs. Oats, Bostner, Bynum, Taylor and Broderick.

CONGRESS' INVESTIGATION

The House Committee Expected to Reach Homestead on Monday.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(Special.)—The sub-committee of the House Judiciary Committee, having the Homestead strike investigation in charge will meet to-morrow to decide when they shall leave for Pittsburg. They will probably be on the ground on Monday morning, as the committee must finish its work before the adjournment of Congress.

The Committee is regarded as an especially strong one from a legal standpoint. Chairman Oats is thoroughly posted on the matter. He knows the question in general. The members of the committee are all first class lawyers. The committee consists of Messrs. Oats, Bostner, Bynum, Taylor and Broderick.

Change of Check-Manager Dates.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Many letters have been received from Grand Army men and members of the Army of the Cumberland in regard to the dates for the reunion of the latter society at Chickamauga. The change of date for this latter reunion, to avoid conflict with the emancipation at Washington, has led to much confusion. The meeting of the Army of the Cumberland will take place September 10 and 11 at Chickamauga, the week before the National encampment, and not after it, as at first announced. The enclosed fares have been sent on the railroads, and information received by General Rosecrans indicates a very large attendance at Chickamauga.

THE CITY IN COURT AGAIN

Arguments To-Day in the Philadelphia Company Case.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The City and Contractors Association of Philadelphia is today in court in the Philadelphia Company case. The City and Contractors Association of Philadelphia is today in court in the Philadelphia Company case. The City and Contractors Association of Philadelphia is today in court in the Philadelphia Company case.

The City and Contractors Association of Philadelphia is today in court in the Philadelphia Company case. The City and Contractors Association of Philadelphia is today in court in the Philadelphia Company case. The City and Contractors Association of Philadelphia is today in court in the Philadelphia Company case.

The City and Contractors Association of Philadelphia is today in court in the Philadelphia Company case. The City and Contractors Association of Philadelphia is today in court in the Philadelphia Company case. The City and Contractors Association of Philadelphia is today in court in