Arrangements are being furthered for the fete on Tuesday at the recently purchased home of the United Presbyterian Church of Pittsburg, in the vicinity of Wilkinsburg. The large influence of the church makes its success assured, and doubtless the fund for purchase will receive an undeniable impulse by the results of Tuesday. At all events, such a pleasant happening is wished for.

Reed T. Stewart, Esq., a tutor in the Western University, with his bride is summering at Cresson Springs. Mrs. Stewart is the daughter of Mr. George Shaw, of Allegheny. The first "at home" of the happy young couple will be held at their new house on Osgood street, near Linden avenue, after August 15.

It is a curious fact that Shadyside Presbyteriac Church does not contain on its list of present membership the name of a single 'poor" person. The Rev. Mr. Holmes has been heard deploring this prosperity. He seemed to tear the hardening influence of a condition of things, when the softer and sympathetic chords were not called upon to exercise their functions. However this may be, at least it can be said for Shadyside Church that it has never been known to quently has not waited to be called on came nobly forward with offer of aid. Its church work is in the bands of a lot of synonymous with energy and goodness, and so when they put their hands to the plow, that instrument of labor is always seen to turn up a very fine furrow.

The Sunday School is said to be run with things not to be wondered at, since Mr. Robert Pitcairn is its superintendent. The opening exercise is never a moment behind time, and its financial affairs are in a condition of such perfect order as to stir a feeling of envy in the breast of a Carnegie.

Among other American travelers bound for Europe is Mary Temple Bayard, well known as one of the correspondents of this Mrs. Bayard sails for the continent on the Alaska July 23.

Mrs. A. E. W. Painter, of Irwin avenue, Allegheny, and Cresson Springs, after her usual habit, spent the Fourth in retirement at her mountain cottage with a party of friends Mr. Painter and Mr. Blair Painter also bore part of the pleasant burden of en-tertaining upon their shoulders. Mrs.

Painter contrives in the most marvelo manner always to bring together at her house people who are absolutely congenial, and those complimented with an invitation always look forward to enjoying unremit-

Mrs. D. A. Stewart, of Allegheny, always refaces her summer sojourn at the Stewart Oottage, in Cresson, by a short visit to her villa at Conneaut Lake. The family will leave for the lake in a few days. Mr. Douglass Stewart, who has passed successfully for Yale, will enter upon his freshman year at that college next autumn.

MID-SUMMER SOCIAL EVENTS, Satherings That Interest Young and Old of the Two Cities. Great preparations are on foot for the lawn fete to be given at the Home for the Aged of the United Presbyterian Church, in Wilkinsburg, Tuesday next, the 12th Inst. Wilkinsburg, Tuesday next, the 12th Inst. This iete will partake of the character of a house-warming. The property has just come into the possession of the congregation, and it is expected that a large number of friends of the churca will be present to look over the grounds and house and tender their congratulations. There will be refreshments from 3 to 10 o'clock and a regular sit-down supper from 5 till 7 o'clock, all under the direction of the ladies of the church. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Home. A considerable sum is needed for the furnishment of the house, and it is hoped that this lawn fete will go a long way toward raising it.

Sunday last was a day to be remembered by the congregation of the U. P. Church of Braddock, of which the Rev. S. J. Shaw is prator. Services were held in the morning, the music being particularly a circumstance to celebrate the thirteenth anniversary of Mr. Shaw's appointment to the Braddock charge. The morning's services was on the text, "Liberty, Its Use and Abu-e." A handsome new church, costing $30,000, is almost completed, under the supervision of a Pittsburg architect.

At Sr. M. Thursday, July 7, at the bride's home, South Ninth street, Harrisburg, Mr. Melvern H. Cleveland, of Pittsburg, and Meivern H. Cleveland, of Pittsburg, and Miss Lydia E. Asbury, of Harrisburg, were inited in marriage by the Rev. R. N. Colburn, of St. Paul's M. E. Church. Mr. Cleveland holds the position of steel inspector at Pittsburg, and the young lady whom he has won for his wife is one of the most charming and most loved of young Harrisburg girls. The happy pair will remain for a few days at the bride's old home, after which they will leave for Pittsburg.

William Keast, of Gibbon street, Pittsburg, and Miss Sadie E. McCres, of But-ler, Pa., were united in marriage at St. Paul's Church, Butler, Pa., on Sunday even ing, July 8, by the rector, Rev. Father Welch. Miss Annie Gormley, of Butler, was the bridesmald and Mr. James Burke, of Pittsburg, acted as best man. After the wedding dinner the bridal party left for Pittsburg where they have taken up permanent resi-dence.

The Major E. A. Montooth Band tendered a grand sernade Tuesday last to General Superintendent W. C. Smith, of the Central Traction line, at his residence, M5 Wylle avenue. The band was out in full force and never played finer music. A large crowd of people were attracted to the place by the sweet strains as they reverberated and received through Central Park. Mr. Smith thanked the members for their kindness.

Rev. & S. Pershing, of Greensburg, who is pastor of the United Brethren Church at Copeland, and Mrs. Pershing, celebrated the sliver anniversary of their marriage at their home, near Greensburg, last Tuesday. Friends and relatives from three States were present. The congregation of the Copeland U. B. Church presented the couple with a fine solid silver tea set, and many other beautiful gifts were received.

The well known hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. John Toung, of Agnew station, was enjoyed by a large party on July & Dinner was served on the lawn, after which strolling about the grounds, games and danoing made the Fourth of '92 one long to be re-membered by those who spent the day at Agnew station. A great display of fireworks brought the evening to a close.

The existence of the new building is the utcome of a curious compromise. Mr. haw was on the point of accepting a call from Steubenville last year, having an objection to the exposed and otherwise objectionable situation of the present edifice on the borders of a railway.

The people of the congregation begged him to stay and built a church to keep him.

Chicago Society has had more marriages ever before. One of the latest was that of Miss Minnie M. Craft, formerly of this city, and Mr. George M. Decker, a prominent business man of the Windy City. The event was a quiet one. After their return from a Western trip the couple will reside in Chi-

Several hundred Wilkinsburgers attended the Union pienic at Idlewild Thursday. They were representatives from the Methodist, First U. P. and Presbyterian churches and all declared that the day was a delightful one. The union pienic idea is one of the best that has ever struck church people in connection with amusement, and Wilkinsburgers are loud in their indersement of the notion.

The Fourth was patriotically observed in Wilkinsburg. While a large proportion of the inhabitants of the borough went to Sohenies Park there were a number of private gatherings who burned their own fireworks and had as much lun as if they were looking at an exhibition that cost several thousand dollars.

Prominent Englishwoman of Title and Her Eccentric Manners-Pittsburg Visitors at the Country's Border Resert-A Flood of Excursionists.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 9.—[Special.]—The week has been the gayest one yet at the Falls. Christian Endeavor delegates on their way to the New York Convention coded the place during Wednesday and Thursday, Thirty-eight trains of six coaches each unloaded their passengers here, and the greatest confusion prevailed when they were ready to continue their journey. The crowd of delegates, however, sinks into insignificance when compared with the 10,000 excursionists who flooded the city on the excursionists who flooded the city on the Fourth.

The Falls is a great place for odd femininity to display itself. At present the most eccentric woman here is the Lady Ada Leigh Hare of Stone Hall. Nor olk, England. Her wealth is fabulous, yet she promenades the piazza in a cheap blue gown and untrimmed black straw hat. She wears blue gorgles, and is invariably accompanied by a ragged little Scotch terrier. She considers her two maids, who travel with her, necessary evils, whom she is bound to tolerate. She is wilmsical about her meals and asks unanswerable questions of every one she meets. The ladies at the hotels are all afraid of her and her terrier and she rules supreme in a most comical way.

It is desired to secure subscribers to a guarantee fund for the first several concert tours by such artists as Mr. Alexandre Gulimant, the noted composer and the greatestiving French organist, from the Church of the Trinity, Paris; Mr. W. T. Best, organ composer and organist to the city corporation. St. George's Hall, Liverpool, Engiand, who lately made the trip from England to Australia expressly to "open" the great Town Hall organ in Sidney, New South Wales, now the largestorgan in the world; Mr. Charles M. Widor, composer and successor of Wely as organist of the great Five Manual organ in St. Sulpice, Paris; Mr. Glgoat, of St. Augustine's, Paris; and others.

The first series will be that of Mr. Gulimant or Mr. Best, with whom arrangements have been made during a late trip abroad. It will commence as soon as the guarantee fund is secured and the arrangements can be completed. This first series will include at least 30 concerts, in all the leading cities of the country, commencing in New York, wherever suitable concert organs, which will meet the requirements insisted upon by the organists themselves, and situated in buildings suitable for such concerts, can be procured. The organs used will not be confined to any one make or build. As this class of concerts, even with careful management, is not likely to more than pay expenses, a deposit of a certain amount is required as security by the performers. The fund is to cover the amount of the required deposit, and part of the other expenses.

In the svent of the other expenses.

If Mr. Knauff expects to obtain any actual

If Mr. Knauff expects to obtain any actual subscriptions in Pittsburg, it will doubtless be necessary for him to interest some proper person here to take charge of the matter and receive the subscriptions. Only in some such way would the plan be practicable.

The object is certainly a most worthy one, and this community is peculiarly in a position to sympathize with it. As has several times been pointed out in these columns, there has been o late an unprecedented outlay upon large new organs in this violnity, without anything like a proportionate increase in the numbers or rise in the standards of our organi-its. Even the gift of a fine concert organ to our sister city, and the inconcert organ to our sister city, and the institution there of free "organ recitals" (so-called) by the city authorities, have been largely diverted from their objects and have failed so far to accomplish much for the cause of legitimate organ music.

We sorely need to hear a few such organists as Guilinant or Best, in order that this community may learn what first-class organ playing is like. Many a chance has been given of hearing the world's best planists, singers and other musical artists of various species, but no chance of hearing the organists of similar world-wide repute.

Mr. Knauff's plan is the first of its kind; it would meet the traditional "long felt want."
All encouragement should be given to it. concert organ to our

The Trinis of Musical Critics.

There are wheels within wheels in most exception to the rule. When peripatetic pianoforte lounders and strolling singers come along with a long list of landatory press notices, it is needful that one should have some knowledge, not only of the personality of the writers quoted, but of the attitude toward criticism taken by the powers that run the journals they write for. Otherwise one may be deceived.

Mr. W. J. Henderson, critic of the New York Times, in an editorial article in the Boston Musical Herald, lays bare some of the influences that affect musical criticism in trenchant language, of which this is a characteristic bit:

influences that affect musical criticism in trenchant language, of which this is a characteristic bit:

"I know of one managing editor in New York who refused 13 applicants for the possition of musical crine because they were admirers of Wagner. He said to one of them: I wish the Abbay season of Italian opera to succeed. I intend that it shall succeed. You can't have the position because you're one of these — Wagnerites.' Of course in the mind o a man like that any person who admired Brahmsor Tachaikow-sky or even Greig would be considered a Wagnerite. I tell you the man who sets out to write honest music criticism from a high standpoint for any dally paper in the city of New York (except the Tribune, where Mr. Krehbiel is absolutely free from interference) has a mighty hard row to hoe, and only a man who does not care a sixpence whether he is di-cuarged for being to honest ought to make the attempt. The man who is under the necessity of keeping his position will have to yield to the authority of the higher powers."

The more credit is due to the very few newspapers in the country—and Pittsburgers know at least one such—that leave their critics, like Mr. Krebbiel, "absolutely iree from interference." If musical folk really know how much that means, there would be reason to expect enough votes from them to give Mr. Whitelaw Reid the complimentary reason to expect enough votes from them to give Mr. Whitelaw Reid the complimentary position of Vice President of these United In the report of the Specialist Committee on Church Music, read at the recent meeting of the New York State Music Teachers' Association, occur two paragraphs that deserve wide circulation, namely:

"The introduction of the 'Moody and Sankey' sayle of composition into the church Sankey style of composition into the church service is still far too general, and the attention of this association is called to the destrability of an uncompromising opposition on the part of members to this pro-tice. The mischief is begun in the Sunday school and prayer meeting room, and ifom thence spread into the church, where too often weak 'relizious ballads' take the place of solid, stately, appropriate tunes and truly poetical and devotional hymns.

"Solong as church-goers are fed only on weak musical food, they cannot be expected to know and appreciate that which is stronger and better. Good music, well presented, will make its way into the hearts of the congregation, but it must be given a proper rendering. It is to be hoped the members of this association will do what they can to make good church music better known."
