An Armistice Expected Between Quay and Magee Once More.

THE MILLER MATTER LAID ASIDE.

Wanamaker's Resignation Generally Believed to Be About Due.

CAPITAL EXCITEMENT OVER HOMESTEAD

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. WASHINGTON, July 11.-It has been at open secret that for days the peaceful relaions established about a year ago between Senator Quay and C. L. Magee were in danger of a violent death. The cause, as is well known, was the non-confirmation of George Miller as Collector of Revenue to succeed Mr. Warmcastle. This nomination had given rise to more complications and more unpleasantness than any made by Mr. Harrison. It was supposed after the Min-neapolis Convention that because of the difference of opinion between the Pennsylvanians as to the candidacy of Harrison there will be an open brench. This was shown to be incorrect. As a matter of fact, there was no estrangement nor even a cool-cause of the challenging of the poll of the delegation by Magee.

It was not until Mr. Magee came to Washington, a couple of weeks ago, to look into the Miller matter, that the storm began to brew. There were those who de sired to keep Quay and Magee spart for political reasons, and there were others who desired trouble for personal reasons, and tongues burdened with scandal and malice wagred lustily. Remarks made by Magee were distorted and repeated to Quay and

I forts to Patch Up Harmony

This went on until it became evident on a poll of the Senate that there would be a reliable majority against confirmation on a flat-footed question between Quay and the fint-footed question between Quay and the President. Then Mr. Magee went home to await the development of events, and it was known that it Miller should be hung up in committee, Magee would seek to have him reappointed when the Senate adjourned, while if he was rejected he would take up arms on the Senstor at every point.
Since that time efforts have been made by Senator Flinn and others to patch up har-mony. A great many other men throughout the State took the same view of it, and declared that it was a pity to disturb the party harmony for so small a matter. These counsels have prevailed, and in a short time it will become known that an agreement has been reached on this subject.

It is understood that with the consent of all parties the appointment will be hung up in committee until next winter, and friendly relations will continue between the prin-cipals and their chief lieutenants. Ultimately, it is believed that Miller will be confirmed with the consent of Senator Quay, although he prefers some man with a record as a soldier.

Wanamaker Marked to Go.

It is understood that one of the causes which led to the trouble between these two leaders was the interference of Postmaster General Wanamaker in matters in which he had no concern, which will not likely occur again. Indeed, it is doubtful if the Philadeiphian will be in a position very long where he will count much in politics. Within a week the President has given Wanamaker to understand that there is likely to be a "marked-down" sale of cabinet material in the P. O. D. shortly, and it would not be surprising at any time to hear of his resignation.

Senator Quay is busy on affairs connected with his World's Fair resolution to close on Sunday. He has written to every Presby-tery on the subject, and has presented peti-tions representing almost a million persons who object to the Government putting its official seal of approval on Sunday opening. Interest in Homestead Affairs.

It is among the matters of gossip here to day that the War Department has been quietly taking a look into the condition of affairs at Homestead, and if trouble should result in the sending of the militia too serious for the State to cope with, a regiment of regular infantry could be thrown into Pittsburg in a few hours, and a battery could be planted within 12 hours on the heights commanding Homestead. It is not believed, however, that there will be any necessity for governmental interference. The interest here in the condition of affairs at Homestead is remarkable.

burgers who have arrived here within 24 hours have been talked to death by all sorts of people. The hotel clerks begun it on arrival of the Pittsburgers; the elevator man continues it as you go to your room; the chambermaids turn up with eager questions, and the waiters pester you at the meals.

It was quietly given out by leading Republicans this evening that the Senate will adjourn two weeks from to-day, finally.

ANTI-SILVER REPORT.

Mr. Stone Prepares the Objections of His Side of the House-Reasons for Opposition of the Minor ty to the Colnage Com-

WASHINGTON, July 11 .- The views of the minority of the Coinage Committee in opposition to the Senate free coinage bill have been embodied in a report prepared by Representative Charles W. Stone, of Pennsylvania. The report says the bill "is a conglomeration of crudities and absurdities clumsy in structure, in part uncertain of interpretation, and as a whole dangerous and pernicious in operation and effect. It then proceeds to point out the defects in the bill and refers to the serious results which the minority insist would follow the enactment of the bill into a law. The repeal of the law of July 14, 1890, says the report, and the consequent stopping of Government purchases of silver, 'will throw upon the general market the entire output of our mines now absorbed by the Government, and a material depression in the market value of silver bullion must naturally follow."

Not the least disastrous result of the passage of the pending bill would be the obliteration of all hope of any practical re-sults from the international monetary conference soon to be held. The time is ripe for such a conference. European nations are beginning to realize the inadequacy of the world's supply of gold to meet the necessities of increased population and business. The growing necessities of additions to their currency to satisfy the de-mands of extending and increasing trade is perceptibly felt. If we can retain our present proportionate share of the gold of the world, this necessity for more currency among the nations of Europe will induce a very serious consideration of the feasibility and wisdom of a rehabilitation of silver as a money metal among such nations.

RECORDS BADLY MUTILATED.

One Reason Why Failures of Banks Are Not Discovered Earlier.

WASHINGTON, July 11.-A sub-co tee of the Senate Committee on Failed Na tional Banks to-day took further testimony in regard to the failure of the Keystone and Spring Garden National Banks of Philadelphia. The only witness examined was Charles J. Stoddard, clerk in charge of insolvent banks in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

He testified that William Trenholm, ar He testined that William Trenholm, an assistant bank examiner under Bank Examiner Drew, had overdrawn his account at the Keystone Bank to the extent of $6,784. The fact that he had overdrawn did not appear in the Examiner's first report, and was ascertained only upon on investigation made under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury by Mr. Barrett, about two years ago. The witness said that he under-stood from hearsay that the reason why it was not discovered earlier was because the records had been mutilated, whole leaves being torn from the books.

More About the Seguillan Case. WASHINGTON, July 11. - Captain Hooper, commanding the revenue steamer Corwin, has made a brief informal report to the Treasury Department in regard to the seizure of the British steamer Coquillan, at Port Etchez, for violating the United States customs laws in transferring her eargo in American waters without a permit. He says he has turned the vessel over to the United States Marshal at Sitka, for prosecution under the law, and that he will transmit a full report of the case to the Department as soon as he has prepared an inventory of the vessel's cargo and equipment He estimates the value of the vessel and cargo at $100.000.
