PEORIA, ILL., July 13.-Never since the Chatsworth railroad disaster of four years ago has there been such excitement in Peoria and Pekin as witnessed to-day over the disastrous results of last night's tornade. Half of Pekin's people are now in Peoria, and half of Peoria's population lines the river banks.

The wrecked pleasure steamer Frankie Folsom is in plain sight, not very far from shore. The scene is where the Peoria river broadens into what is called Peoria Lake. Fourteen persons are known to be dead and others are yet to be heard from. Nearly the whole excursion party on the Folsom was composed of the better class of the population of Pekin and Delavan. There were nine smaller pleasure boats out on the river when the storm came up. Of these five turned up safely this morning. They report having had a fearful time among the willows that line the shore.

Business is practically suspended, and all classes stand about the streets in little knots eager to get the latest stories of the survivors of the disaster.

Passengers See the Approaching Fate, Just before the storm struck the vessel, the approaching danger caused considerable alarm among the passengers. They crowded the decks and anxiously awaited the coming of the tornado. As the boat careened they were thrown together, many striking the water before the vessel capsized. As the volume of water rushed into the cabins frantic efforts were made to escape. One man clambered through a window only to fall into the lake outside. The storm burst on the ill-fated craft with a suddenness that was remarkable. Scarcely a sign of warning was there. Above the roar of the wind and the thunder, the cries of the ill-starred passengers, as they clung to spars, guards and pieces of furniture, could plainly be heard, while at each succeeding flash of lightning the beat's wreck could be seen by the thousands of resolutions in the could be seen by the thousands. of people who lined the river bank.

Though half a hundred lives were at stake, stout men, born and raised on the river, quailed at setting out to rescue the precious ireight. But the storm was more of a single gust than anything else. It blew up rapidly and as quickly subsided.

Making the Survivors Comtortable. The rain continued, but the danger was over, and soon more than a score of towbonts were slowly bringing passengers to shore. Everything possible was done by citizens and officials. Patrol wagons, am-bulances and nearly the entire police force were ordered out to assist in caring for the Divers who went down to-day saw four bodies crushed under the wreckage. A day or two will probably pass before the exact number of casualties are known. The Folsom had 34 passengers on board and a crew of six. She is almost a total loss. The for some distance is strewn with wreckage. The search for bodies was pros ecuted all night in the midst of the greatest

A second storm blew up. It was not as severe as the first, but memories of the catastrophe caused the men to work with the greatest caution. Miss Heppler, of Streator, was rescued in an insensible condition and removed to a house. It is impossible to tell whether she will recover or not. James Thomas was badly injured and is in the nospital. Mrs. Kate Beebe, of Pekin, is known to be lost. Her father, Henry Zuckweiler, was dragged out of the water as he was going down the last time. John Smith is also believed to have per-

Captain Loesch, master of the boat, gave a story of the accident. He brought a party of about 40 up from Pekin to see Pain's "Last Days of Pompeli."

The Gust Strikes the Craft. After the exhibition they pulled out, and when in the middle of the river the storm struck them in all its fury, with scarcely sign of warning. He attempted to head the steamer toward the shore and as he did so a terrific gust of wind struck the craft and keeled it over in 19 feet of water.

Sam Sutton, Circuit Clerk of Tazewell county, was in the second boat off from the wreck. He saved his wife by diving down into the cabin of the sunken boat. He brought her up in a senseless condition, but it is thought she will live. He said the accident was caused by the pilot becoming irightened when the storm struck them. Had he kept the boat headed for the willows on the opposite bank there would have been

Alderman M. Goloon, of Pekin, lost his little son and is raving crazy. He had to be removed from the bank where the work of rescue is going on by the police.

As soon as news of the wreck reached the police station every man on the force was ordered to the rescue. Mayor Warner or-dered all the hacks in the city to the scene and as people were brought to the shore they were taken to the City Hall, where they were made comfortable.

Two couples were saved at the foot of Main street. The boats collided and all the eople were thrown out. By clinging to their inverted boats they managed to keep above water until rescued. A boatman from up the river came in with six pair of oars he found floating. As there is no trace of the boats to which they belonged it is thought their occupants have been

'Squire Handel Decides to Make

Amusements of all kinds have been provided, and the intellectual part of the entertainment will be opened with a speech by 'Squire Handel. The 'Squire yesterday sent to the managers of the affair the following letter:

PITTSBURG, July 12. To the Managers of St. Paul's Orphan Asylum: GENTLEMEN—Your corteons invitation to address the multitude at the orphans' pic-nic July 20 reaches me on the eve of my de-parture for Europe, and unprepared to meet your expectations.

Ordinarily I should decline to make the sacrifice necessary to comply with your request, but when I consider the pressing necessities of your fatherless charges and the duty we all owe to the motherless little ones who are thrown upon the charity of the world, my sympathies are touched and I have not the heart to refuse you. I shall be glad, indeed, to make four speeches of 20 minutes each during the day, or make 20 speeches of four minutes each, if by doing so I can contributed to the support or happiness of those who cannot help themselves.

Very respectfully,

Herman Handel.

JAMES MASTERTON DIES.

The Shooting Gallery Proprietor Succumbs to an Uniucky Shot.

James Masterton, proprietor of a shooting gallery at Penn avenue and Twenty-fifth street, who was shot in the forehead, Tuesday night, died at the West Penn Hospital early yesterday morning. As he remained unconscious until death no ante mortem statement was made. The Coroner, however, ordered a post mortem examination to be held yesterday, and has made investiga-tions for the inquest to be held this morn-ing. The ball which entered Masterton's brain was a 22-caliber.

George Gers, the man who did the shooting, is still in custody, awaiting the verdict of the Coroner's jury. It is not yet known whether the shooting was intentional or the result of carclessness. The dead man was formerly a nurse in the West Penn Hos-

THEIR ANNUAL MEETING.

Pleasant Valley Directors Meet, but Do Not

Talk of Consolidation. The annual meeting of the directors of the Pleasant Valley Street Railway was held at the company's office on Sixth avenue yesterday. A 3 per cent dividend for the six months just passed was declared, made payable on July 20. The condition of the company was reported to be first-class. The subject of consolidating with the Pitts-burg, Allegheny and Manchester Railway was not discussed at the meeting.

One of the heaviest stockholders in the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester road said yesterday that there was no prospect of the two companies consolidating and that if any such effort was made he would go into court and have those responsible re-

Two Allegheny Boys in Trouble.

Superintendent Muth, of Allegheny, received vesterday a telegram from the police authorities at Harrisburg stating that two Allegheny boys, Raymond Roberts, of 76 Ward street, and Samuel Young, of Hamlin street, were under arrest at Harrisburg. The telegram asked that Mr. Muth see their parents and find what they can do for their boys. An investigation was made by the Superintendent. He found that the parents were too poor to be of any assistance. The nature of the charges against the boys could not be learned.

Rend's Miners Won't Come Out.

COLUMBUS, O., July 13.-[Special.]-Hon. John McBride returned from the Sunday Creek Valley to-night, and states the threatened strike in that valley by which 2,000 men, mostly in the mines of W. adjusted. He states the trouble was caused by the operators not understanding what the miners demanded, and as soon as they learned the situation there was no trouble in effecting a settlement.

A Body Found in a Box.

Last evening some workmen found a wooden box floating near the river bank at the foot of Sedgwick street, Allegheny. They pulled it ashore and discovered that it contained the liteless body of a male infant of probably two weeks old. The body was decomposed. It was removed to Lowrie's undertaking rooms and the Coroner Postmuster Gilleland Rapidly Recovering. Postmaster Gilleland is on the rapid road to recovery. His son reported to the Allegheny postal officials yesterday morning that his father was improving. He had spent a very comfortable night, and the family felt assured that his return to health was now only a matter of time.

Sent $2,900 to Flood Sufferers. The Oil City and Titusville Relief Committee met yesterday and directed Treasurer Thompson to forward the $2,900 in his hands to the committee at Oil City. At Treasurer Thompson's request a committee was appointed to audit his accounts.

MT. ETNA'S WRATH.

One of 18,000 People Already Destroyed and the Eraption Growing. ROME, July 13 .- The eruption of Mount Etna is rapidly increasing in violence. The fires in the craters show great activity. Loud explosions are continually taking place. A severe earthquake shock occurred this morning which reduced to ruins the village of Giarre, on the coast of Sicily, five hours journey from the craters of Mount Etna. The population of Giarre is about 18,000. It is feared here that many must have perished. Engineers have been sent to threatened points to prevent the lava from entering the wells from which the population obtain water. The steam generated would destroy the wells. The people in the vicinity of the mountain betray no sign of panic.
