SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, July 15 .- Tom Burns, who engineered the Pittsburgs into sixth place in the first series executed a piece of ceneralship to-day that was nothing short of a stroke of genius. Burns, who is below medium height, played third base, and he observed that the New Yorks had an unpleasant habit of knocking line hits over third so high he could not reach them. While the New Yorks had a big lead, Burns paid no attention to the matter, but after the Pitisburgs tied the score in the seventh, the third baseman began to exhibit anxiety. Finally, in the tenth inning, Burns looked around for a tall man to play third base and his eye lighted on the six-foot figure of Charles Farrell. The latter was called to third base. Donovan shifted to center and Mack went to right,

Where the Game Was Saved. It was in the twelfth inning and that move saved the Pittsburgs from defeat. O'Rourke, first at bat, was retired at first, but Baldwin hit Boyle in the small of the back with a pitched ball and sent him to first in an ambulance. Then Shugart juggled Crane's grounder till all runners were safe and happy. At this point Fuller came to the bat. In the eighth inning Shorty had knocked a two-bagger over Burn's head, and he hit the ball on a line in the same direction. Had Burns been on third then the New Yorks would have won, then and there, for Thomas could not have reached the ball without the aid of a scoop net. With Farrell the case was different, His telescope figure shot up in the air like a Fourth of July rocket and the ball nestled a his fond grasn. A Timely Double Play.

Boyle was flying toward third, and while the New York coachers whistled 'down brakes and reverse," the runner was unable to stop. The result was a double play and the side out where a run seemed certain. Only three of the new men appeared in the game, Newman having succumbed to malaria. The work of those who did play was refreshing. It was full of snap and ringer, the record of 11 stolen bases testifying to the lively character of the play. It is seldom that New Yorkers have seen such currying around the bases as was witnessed vesterday, and this in face of good throwthe 1,200 persons who saw the game, and they testified their appreciation by more enthusiastic applause than has been heard at the Polo grounds in many a day. There was an observable effort on the part of the there was only one instance in which rat tles seemed to overpower them.

Our Sluggers Tied the Score.

That was in the fatal seventh inning when the Pittsburgs tied the score. Donovan, Bierbauer and Shugart hit singles in succession, Donovan scoring. Then Beck-ley and Smith sent flies to Tiernan, with erhauer on third, Shugart on second and two men out, Farrell went to bat. He hit one between 0rst and second. Burke could have handled the ball without effort, and the side would have been out for one run. Buck Ewing temporarily lost his head and fielded the ball, while Crane, supposing Burke would take the ball tailed to start quickly enough for the base. The result was that Farrell got to first safely and both Bierbauer and Shugart scored. Farrell went to second on a wild pitch and through some poor backing up and throwing got to the plate with the run that tied the score. The score:

Great sport at Wilkinsburg.

A great game of ball is to be played on the ground of the Wilkinsburg Athletic Association this afternoon. It is between the Mc-Enulty Baseball Club, of Wilkinsburg, and the "Bluffers," of Pittsburg. The former team is made up from the boarders in the Hotel McEnulty, and the Bluffers are all clerks with the Pennsylvania Company. Great interest is again being taken by the borough in the game, and a farge crowd will be in attendance to see the popular McEnulty boys try to knock the bluff out of their opponents. Ed. Moreland will again captain and manage the McEnultys, and the genial C. E. Rose will be in charge of the Bluffers. Game will be called at 3:30. The teams are: McEnulty Baseball Club—White, s.: Price, c.: Leef, I: Macpherson, r.; Bixler, S; McAllister, S; G. McEnulty, 1.; Moreland, p.; McEnulty, in. East Liverroot, July 15.-[Special.]-The Keystone and Eclipse clubs fought for 11 innings over to-day's game. The Eclipse won by a terrific streak of batting in the first half of the eleventh. The features were the heavy hitting of Grove and a running catch of a line hit along the left field foul line by J. Carey in the eighth, which saved the game for the Eclipse. The same clubs ylay Saturday.

Manager Cleveland Deposed. JOHNSTOWN, July 15 .- Manager Cleveland, of the Johnstown State League team, has been displaced by ex-Manager Farrington, of Harrisburg. The new manager took charge of the team to-day. Cleveland wanted his release when he was informed there was a new manager, but he accom-panied the team to Altoons to-day. ROGER CONNOR says the Phillies are the easiest managed team in the country. There is not a lusher on the team, all the men fairly love their veteran manager, and listen to his suggestions with deference and respect. Roger says he is like a father to them. A GREAT game is expected to-day between the Crafton Cyclones and the Sub Subs. Brackney and Hackett will be the Cyclone's battery, and Magee and Lacy for the Sub Subs. Manager Frank Harris, of the Cyclones, says he has a phenom in Brackney.

nom in Brackney.

JUST what will be done after the present campaign is over is problematical, says the Philadelphia Iress. The future shaping of the baseball map will depend in great measure upon the ways and means devised to pay off the balance of the indebtedness incurred by the amaigamation. A return to the old League and Association days would perhaps be the best plan. Two eight-club circuits could probably be formed, or, failing in that, six-club sectional leagues might be tried. The latter could certainty prove no flatter failure than the present 12-club deformation.

Notes of the Amateurs,

THE Hilliops will play the J. H. Farrells at Bay-ey's Park to-day. THE Riverside Grays will play the City Blues for 100 a side at Exposition Park this afternoon. THE All-Americans, of Homestead, defeated the George Millers, of the Southside. In a very interesting game yesterday by a score of 10 to 5.

THE Homewood and Glenshaw cricket teams will play this afternoon at Brushton. It is expected that this will be a close game, as both teams are strong.

THE Hustlers, of Belzhoover, were defeated the J. Smythes yesterday by a score of 16 Fitch pitched a great game. The smythes open to all challenges from clubs whose mem are 15 years old. POINT BREEZE WIND-UP.

Rebus Lands the Bingham House Stakes After a Struggle With Linden.

PHILADELPHIA, July 15 .- There was but m attendance to witness the closing raceo-day of the Grand Circuit meeting at Philadelphia Driving Park. There were but today, but two unfinished races from yesterday helped to fill up the afternoon.

The first of these was the 2:25 pacing class for the Bingham House stakes of $2,500. Rebus, with but one heat to win to capture the purse, was a heavy favorite in the betting. Bettors were treated to a surprise in the first heat, however, for Linden took the lead at the start and was never headed, coming in three lengths ahead of Rebus. For the sixth heat Rebus continued the favorite. At the start Linden quickly drew away from the gelding, and by the time the three-quarter post was reached was fully three lengths ahead. Hunter laid his whip on Rebus and the horse responded with a fine burst of speed and passed under the wire a head before Linden.

In the unfinished 2:25 class S. R. Clark's gelding Claudius was the favorite and won easily. The first regular event of the day was the 2:2 pacing class. There were eight entries, and before the start the betting was in favor of Jennie Rolfe. The poor showing made by the mare in the first heat caused the betting to veer around in favor of Budd Doble. In the six heats that it took to determine the race, the betting alternated between Budd Doble, Jim Wilson, Jr., and Natie, but Budd Doble finally succeeded in landing the race.

In the 2:15 class the favorite was Miss to-day, but two unfinished races from yes-

He Defeats Moorhead in the Singles Final After a Hard Fight.

BUCH HIS NEXT COMPETITOR

In the Battle Royal for the Championship of Western Pennsylvania.

THE RESULT OF THE DOUBLES FINAL

The result of the final round of the singles at the tennis tournament yesterday was somewhat of a surprise, not only to the audience but to many of the players. Before Mesars, Moorhead and Ewing faced each other over the net the odds if there had been bets were in favor of Moorhead, and when he took the first set from Ewing by a score of 6-3, his stock rose above par, as the saying goes.

However, Ewing changed the aspect of the round materially by winning the second the round materially by winning the second and third sets, outplaying Moorhead in nearly every game. The fourth set was very exciting. If Ewing won, it meant that he was the victor, and if Moorhead won then there remained the fifth set. Moorhead braced up, made several fine returns, piacing the ball safely out of Ewing's reach, and captured the set after a close shave by 7-5.

The Set That Won the Round.

Then came the final set, the set that should have proven the most exciting of the entire tournament up to date. In reality, it was not nearly so interesting as the set preceding, for Moorhead captured but one game out of the seven. He seemed unable to find the ball, and while a number of the games reached love and jumped for ward and backward from advantage out to dence, Ewing won, and was declared the winner. It would be a difficult matter to analyze the play of both parties during the entire round, but it was a fine exhibition throughout, and Ewing had to play for every point he made. It is true that Moorhead made two double faults at the net, but at the same time the games reaened "deuce" 16 times, and one or two of them were quite protracted by the efforts of both to win the two points in succession necessary to bring the game to a conclusion.

Played a Cautious Gama. Both stuck to the base line closely during the majority of the games, especially early in the round, but toward the end and especially in the fourth and fifth sets Moorhead came up to the net quite frequently, and Ewing as frequently used the lob stroke, in which he was most successful. Both made some very pretty strokes, and both volleyed successfully. It was, to say the least, as good a round as might be seen in any tournament, and if Ewing plays the same good steady precise game using the same good steady, precise game, using the same good judgment in placing his volleys and drives, Buch will have an extremely hard task in keeping the cup.

The game between Ewing and Buch for the championship cup will commence promptly at 3 o'clock this afternoon, at which time it is expected there will be a couple thousand people on the grounds.

Doubles and Consolations. In the doubles Buch and Fay played Coster and Barr in the morning, winning by scores of 6-1, 6-1. In the afternoon Buch and Fay worked their way into the finals by winning from Christy and Byrnes by scores of 6-3, 6-1. After the singles final the doubles final was played between Messrs Moorhead and Reed and Buch and Fay. The former won the first set, 6-4, but Buch and Fay took the next three sets, 6-4, 6-4 and 6-1. This round was very interesting but both Moorhead and Reed had played a great deal during the day, and their opponents were fresh, so that the result was not so surprising.

The only consolation singles played were between Tibby and B. Reed. Tibby grinning.

6 4 3 3 2ro 6-4, 6-4 Reed and Byrnes commenced their round at the singles, Byrnes beating 5 3 6 4 dis Reed 7-5 in the first set, and the games standing 5-5 when they quit to allow Reed to play in the doubles final. Yesterday's score credited Vandegrift as winning from Wendt, when it should have read Wendt. In the consolation doubles, Wendt and Hoopes beat Kelly and Tibby 6-1, 6-3, and Barr and Coster beat Reed and Treadway 6-3, 6-3,

Billy Madden Is Missing. NEW YORK, July 15 .- The friends of Billy Madden, the manager of pugilists, have been wondering for several days what had become of him. He has not been seen in his usual haunts, and as Billy is in a business which requires publicity in order to be profitable, his seclusion is regarded as unac-countable. QUEEN VIC AS A HOST.

She Treats Her Actors to a Very Scant Meal of Cheese and Bread.

Queen Victoria admires the drama. Unlike her son, she never goes to the theater. She has the power, and she brings the theater to her. Any play that she desires to see is presented at Windsor at her request. The production must be identical to that at the theater, and the audience is the Queen and her court. The play is generally received in haughty silence, but the manager is paid at the rate of one-and-a-half the average night's receipts for a week.

The strangest part of the affairs is the supper that Her Majesty provides for the players. The condition of the actor, so strongly evidenced in the "Hamlet" interlude, comes with painful memory to both comedians and tragedians when they sit down after the performance to a supper of of the actor, so bread and cheese and beer. The bill of fare for the royal refreshment of actors is traditional, and, like all matters of red tape, cannot be changed to suit improvement in the state of the modern stage. It is known to Her Majesty, as well as to her subjects, that actors of the style of Henry Irving, Wyndham and Ellen Terry fare as richly as the residents of Belgravia. But hospitality in the Queen's household is governed by ancient formula, and now, as in times gone by, the actor is regaled merely on bread and ew York Sun.] The women of California are going to build a jelly palace at the Chicago World's Fair-not a shivering, unsteady structure like a new custard pre, but a solid building, with sides of glasses full of jelly. These glasses will be transparent and of rainbow hues. The building will be 31 feet high surrounded by a glass ball two feet in diameter, full of jelly. The four arched entrances will form a shrine 12 feet square The frame of the structure will be the light est possible steel. It will carry plate glass shelves its entire height.

A PALACE OF JELLY.

The Women of California to Build It at th Columbian Exposition.

On these shelves the bottles containing jelly of every color will be arranged. Some of them will be set upright and others horizontally, according to the effects to be pro-duced. In the decoration of this novel palace 2,644 glasses, 2½ inches in diameter, will be used; 966 four inches in diameter, and 1,048 of assorted sizes, making a total of ,688. The women estimate that this palace will cost $2,400, of which $1,000 will be for the steel frame.

Some Semarkable Temples. Mayalipuram, India, is graced with seven of the most remarkable temples in the world, each one of these unique places of worship having been fashioned from solid granite boulders. The Hevesa-Goda-Cla," the largest of the seven, is 3½ stories high, and its outlines resemble those of an Atlantic steamship. The inside of the boulder has been chiselled away until the valls do not exceed eight inches in thickness.
