T.R.R. THE PRINCESSES MARIE, VICTORIA, AND ALEXANDRA OF EDINBURGH.

The young lady to the extreme right in this group of royal sisters, Princess Marie of Edinburgh, made her debut at the first state concert of the Court of St. James a few weeks ago by command of her grandmother, Her Majesty the Queen of England. Being only 17 the experience of the drawing room has not yet been afforded her, and her formal appearance anticipated an introduction in St. Petersburg next winter, a move rendered necessary by the official announcement of the Princess' engagement to Prince Ferdinand, of Boumania. Princess Marie is a very pretty girl, but she and her sisters are entirely unfamiliar to the ma-jority of Queen Victoria's subjects. Perhaps this may be explained by the wellknown coldness existing between their mother and the Princess of Wales, whose daughters, though acknowledged to be most charming girls, are notably plain looking, and hardly likely to run much chance in the nial world with their pretty cousins against them.

Doubtless the coming out gown of this Princess of "sweet seventeen" would interest many of our society girls. It was made of white satin with a brocade of rose leaves and eglantine, the sleeves being of white and egnantine, the sieeves being of white velvet. The bodice had a corselet coming to the top of it in a point, made of pearls and silver paillettes and the top of the bodice was of white mousseline de soie, crossed with gauze, and with silver ribbons caught with a bow on one side. Her jewels were pearls and diamonds.

Miss Mary Macrum, of the Pittsburg Library, has removed from Oakland to Sewickley again, where she will be until August, and then join her friend, Miss Mary Semple, at Chautauqua.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mellor and family will leave for Thousand Isles about August 1.

Mrs. Thomas Graff has a party of young people enjoying the hospitality of her cot-tage at Lakewood, N. Y. Miss Elsie Graff, of Sewickley, her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Graff, of the East End, are among her guests. Miss Elsie Graff will possibly bring back a number of sketches with her, as she is a clever artist and was formerly a pupil at the School of Design for Women.

the occasion was a complete success socially and artistically as well as pecuniarialy. There never were grounds more tastefully decorated than those surrounding the ram-bling house that will be the home of many bling house that will be the home of many who would not end their lives amid such pleasant surroundings were it not for the efforts of the good women connected with the U. P. Church. Carload after carload of guests went from East Liberty and other parts of Pittsburg, and expressions of sur-prise were to be heard on every hand as the visitors entered the brilliantly lighted grounds. It was one of the most enjoyable from these Wilkinsburg has ever seen. The natural beauties of the place are such that it is difficult to enhance them, but the rows and rows of Chinese lanterns had the effect of spreading a really fairy-like glamor over the dusky beauty of the deeply shaded park. It was a sight that will be remembered by all who were there.

The lawn fete to be given by the Brushto fire company next Friday and Saturday evenings will be of interest to other firemen evening: will be of interest to other firemen. Among the attractions prepared by the management will be the competition for a massive silver cup, that is to become the property of the fire company showing the most handsomely trimmed fire apparatus. The three companies of the Wilkinsburg fire department will take part in the contest, and there will be a great deal of friendly rivalry between the firemen of the two boroughs. In addition to this feature there will be the usual sale of refreshments, such as ice cream, cake and lemonade, and the fortune telling, postofice and other adjuncts of all well-regulated iawn fetes. The sweet-hearts and sisters of the fire laddies are creating themselves, so that their part in the affair shall be creditable to them, and there is no doubt that the Brushton boys will do their utmost to equisi their Wilkins-burg brethern in the taste and attractive-ness of their fete.

A pienie was held at Risher's Grove, o Thursday, July 14, composed of about 75 guests from Monongabela City, Elizabeth, McKeesport, Turtle Creek, Pittsburg, Al-McKeesport, Turtle Creek, Pittsburg, Al-legheny City, Stelly Spring, Greenville and other towns around. Games of football and outdoor sports in general were indulged in. The following young ladies composed the committee: The Misses Emma and Susie Pollock, Narma Fife and Margaret Robison, whose excellent management procured a day of uncensing pleasure. Most of the guests left on the evening trains for their homes except those from a distance, who re-mained until the following day, as recipi-ents of the hospitality of Miss Pollock's parents.

Miss Mary Snyder, of No. 8 Meadow street, East End, has gone to visit her uncle, Mr. Murray, of Red Suiphur Springs, W. Va. Miss Mary A. Josephs and Miss Katherine E. Quig left for Philadelphia to stay for a few weeks and then go on to New York. Mrs. M. H. Gallaher and Miss Gallaher, of Collins avenue, East End, are at Ocean Grove, where they expect to spend several weeks. A quiet and pretty home wedding was that of Mr. James G. Dickson and Miss Birdie Magill which occurred last Thursday even-ing at the residence of the bride's parents 248 Center avenue, Rev. F. Patterson officiat ing. The wedding was strictly private, only the immediate relatives of the young couple being present. After the usual wedding supper, the young couple departed at once for their new home at Sharpsburg. Many beautiful and costly presents were received.

It is curious how prone people are, in mo-ments of strong excitement, to do and say things in startling opposition to their own sustomary attitude when sober judgment Colonel McGrath and Rev. Thos. Mo-Clements left Pittsburg on Tuesday morn-ing for Atlantic City. AS SWAY.

This truism is strikingly illustrated in the esolutions passed within the past few days by various labor organizations, calling upon Pittsburg Councils to return Andrew Car-negie's gift of $1,100,000 for the Free Library -Music Hall-Museum-Art Gallery-Acad emy Buildings, and at the same time to over turn his proposal to donate another $1,000,000 for the maintenance of the Art Gallery when erected.

made his proposition, which everyone then hailed with delight, to give the city a $250,000 library building, provided its maintenance should be cared for out of the municipal re should be cared for out of the municipal re-venues, so that every citizen should feel the same direct interest in the hbrary as in the schools and other public institutions thus maintained. Everybody lamented Pitts-burg's then existing legal disability to com-ply with the condition. When Allegheny did comply and not the gift (subsequently raised to nearly $350,000 all Pittsburgers en-vied the sister city, until it was known that Mr. Carnegie proposed to give a further $500, 000 to Pittsburg whenever she could comply with the condition. Then there was a general outery at the apathy of our legislators in neglecting so long to get the legislation needed to enable the city to take this doubled gift. If mem-ory serves a number of resolutions from labor organizations were among the factors that finally induced the passage of the much desired enactment. By this time Mr. Carnegie instead of

ory serves a number of resolutions from habor organizations were among the factors that finally induced the passage of the much desired enactment. By this time Mr. Carnegie, instead of growing weary of the delay and indiffer-ence, had enlarged his plans. He offered four times the original amount this time and the scheme developed so as to include a great central building, containing the main reference library and the Oakland district library, a large music hall with concert orma, an art gallery with a separate $1,000,-000 for its maintenance, a nuseum and headquarters for the various societies of the Academy of Science and Art; and, in addition, five or six district library build-ings, practically independent of the central library and each sufficient for the center of population in which it should be placed. The total donation is now $2,100,000, condi-tioned only upon the city's appropriating $40,000 a year for maintaining the libraries and buildings. There is no single institu-tion in the world of the same scope as this. Music-loving persons (and music has more votaries than any other fine art—than almost any other distinct object of human interest) have much concern in this great institute. An adequate hali and organ are what musical Pittsburg most needs. The future of the Mozart Club and the Art Society, our most valuable musical organizations, is confessedly planned in reliance upon this building. Only by its aid is there any apparent possibility of forming the much-desired permanent or-chestra. The only part of the library al-ready provided is the Karl Merz Musical Library now awaiting its final location in that building. Still other elements of great importance to musical Pittsburg are strong probabilities in connection with the Car-negie building. Still other elements of great importance to musical Pittsburg are strong probabilities in connection with the car-negie building. Still other elements of great importance to musical Pittsburg are strong probabilities in connection with the car-negie Mrs. Bobert Kelley and her sister, Mrs. Guy Kelley, of Wilkinsburg, went to Eliza-beth yesterday to visit their brother. Miss Lettita M. Mayhall returned last week to Markleburg, Pa., after a visit of two months among numerous friends in the two cities.

Mr. Thos. Cosgrove, W. E. Morrow and Mr. Maggini, of Braddock, left last week for a two weeks' trip through North Central States.

J. D. Warren and Miss Laura Warren, of Wilkinaburg, have gone to Toronto. They will stop a day or two at Niagara Falls on the way. Miss Sadie Hutzen, of Kirkpatrick avenue, North Braddock, is back from a visit of two months with friends in Johnstown and World's Columbian Exposition. We say at-tempting advisedly, as George H. Wilson, the Secretary of the Bureau, who spent a day at Cleveland for the purpose of attending the convention, stated that the bureau would not give official recognition to any musical or-ganization. This would signify that the great representative, National Organization of Afferican Musicians and Musical Educa-tors, the organization that has evolved the American composer and American composi-tions, the association that for miny years has struggled and has sudceeded in its ef-forts to create a solidarity of musical forces in this country is to be placed on a level with the Vocal Club of Podunk and the Male Quartet of the Quinsigamond Athletic Club, and not be officially recognized in the mu-sical factors constituting the "World's Fair" events. Before speaking positively on this point it would be wise to wait and see just what kind of co-operation is proposed or is possible between the M. T. N. A. Committee and the World's Fair Bureau of Music. And then wait and see what answer the bureau will make to any practicable proposal of that nature. To a man up a tree it is not ap-parent, all at once, what is really meant by the proposed co-operation. It is stared, and the list of officers bears out the statement, that the better class of musicians are coming to the front in the councils of the association and displacing some of the second-rate men whose undue prominence in the past has been an element of weakness. Many good men have held aloof for this reason; they can now go in with congenial company and put their shoulders to the wheel of true progress in American music. With such men in control the association cannot fail to be a most potent factor in the country's musical growth. years of study and experiment, I can say without exaggeration or fear of contradio tion, that I have made a most wonderfu discovery, and one destined to revolutionize the ordinary operations of dentistry. "My new method of preparing the most sensitive teeth for filling, without pain, with perfect safety to the tooth, and to the abso-lute satisfaction of the patient, has the merit, while giving the most perfect results, of being perfectly harmless in every way. While pain cannot exist where it is used, it has no detrimental or disagreeable after ef-fects, and leaves no shattered nerves to worry and distract the patient. "As ft is applied directly to the tooth while cases where the most extreme sensitiveness prevalled, that merely wiping out the cavity with cotton was much more painful than the drilling out of the cavity was when the process was applied, making it entirely pain-less, and where I also have extracted the living nerve from the tooth by this process without the patient feeling the slightest pain. Items of Local Interest.

Miss Grace Miller has done her native city eredit by taking the acknowledged first place among the pupils of Prof. Julius Stocihausen's school of singing at Frankstocihausen's school of singing at Frank-furt-am-Main. In the closing concert, June 24, she sang the aria "Rejoice, Rejoice," from "Messiah," and the solo part of a "Laudate Dominuun," by Mozart. Three critics, giving a full and impartial review of the concert, united in awarding her the palm among all the singers taking part in what was regarded as a particularly creditable performance. Miss Miller will return to Pittsburg next month. Miss Lois Belle Cory, whose contributions to this department from Dresden will be re-membered by the reader, has returned from her course of study and will be heard at the Third Prosbyterian Church this morning and evening. Miss Cory's home is in Cleve-hand, but she has relatives here, and would not be averse, it is said, to remaining here upon sufficient inducement. Mr. Charles C. Mellor, the Nestor of local organists, was the leading light of a concert at the Presbyterian Church of Beaver Falls last Friday evening. Mrs. Mellor and Miss Allie G. I have tried it on my own teeth and on those of many others, and in every case it has given per-fect satisfaction, and in order to demon-strate absolutely the trath of what I claim to the public, I will give a free demonstra-tion in my dental parlors, 806 Penn avenue, every Saturday afternoon from 5 to 4 o'clock during the months of July and August, to which I especially invite all whose teeth are extra sensitive and cannot stand being operated upon, and I will guarantee that they can have their teeth prepared for fill-ing or extraction without pain and without cost.

Two small newsboys swimming about the tank at the fountain in City Hall Park attracted the attention of the restful population of that locality the other afternoon. own personal glorincation. Two million one hundred thousand dollars out of his pocket can do just as much good as from any other source; indeed, it would be a pub-lic benefit to get such a sum out of his hands. How can the waxe worker object to weaken his supposed arch-enemy by taking $2,100,000 that might be used against him and putting it where it will do him good? Certain possessors of great weakth in the past have sought self-glorification by erect-ing ugly, useless monuments of one kind or another, by practically throwing great sums of money away. It is at least fortunate for the people, even if one thinks it no credit to Mr. Carnegie, that this wast sum of money is not to be thrown away but put to good use for the whole community-restored to its rightfal owners, if you prefer. The vertest Communist cannot but be glad when he sees some inted capitalist give to public use a big slice of the ill-gotten wealth which the equally hated laws of property would let him keep or throw away, if he felt like it.

let him keep or throw away, if he felt like it. Of course Mr. Carnegie's gift has been legally accepted, the Schenley Park en-trance has been acquired on the faith of locating the central building there, the locating the central building there, the money has been paid over and partly spent, and other contracts made and rights ac-crued-all of which makes it in fact im-possible to return the gift, even though everyone soberly desired it. But the discussion has its value. Music and all the other artistic and scientific in-terests must in this country depend on the generosity of private wealth. All those higher interests closely affect the happi-ness and the quality of manhood of the wage-worker, as well as the quality and value of the product turned out by his labor and, thus, his rate of wages. It is therefore desirable for him to recognize and encou-rage, rather than to question and impede, the great practical benefits derived from public donations, whether he thinks the money ill-gotten or not. If got through in-justice to him, so much the better for him to have it given back.

The Free Organ Recitals,

There is obvious connection between the topic above discussed and the free organ re-citals at Carnegie Hall, Allegheny, which nave already given pleasure to thousand and are capable of far greater good in the future. The Music Teachers' Association.

The Music Teachers' National Association meeting at Cleveland was reasonably suc-cessful in itself, and tended to assure yet greater results for the future. One importgreater results for the future. One import-ant element in the outlook is the particu-larly cauable set of officers elected to ar-range for the 1894 meeting, to be held in Utica, N. Y. oward the floating headgear. This pleased the boys, and a youngster of 6 or 7, who, like the others, was barefooted and dressed apparently in nothing but a shirt waist and a pair of tattered knickerbockers, climbed up and sat on the stone coping. He paddled with his feet in the water, and was enjoying sensations fit for the gods, when an Italian youth, with a nose straight down his face like a finger put on sideways, de-liberately pushed him into the water. Then there was a scramble. The little fellow finally made up his mind, philosopher like, to make the best of his watery surroundings, and started in on a four-lap swimming race around the fountain. He swam most of the time with fountain. He swam most of the time with his head under water, lifting it to breath only when actually necessary. only when actually necessary. Finally some of the grimy urchins raised the cry, "De cop!" and the two nutatorial artists swung themselves gracefully over the coping to the flags outside and slopped away toward the postoffice, with clothes dripping, but with the most expansive of grims on their now clean faces.

Renewed experiments in growing seeds in electrified earth have been made by Dr. Sames Leicester, of Bristol, England, with striking results. A small box filled with soil was used, containing at each end a cop-per and a zine plate joined outside by cop-per wire. The slow chemical action on the zinc sent a constant electric current through the soil to the copper. Ten different kinds of seeds were tried and they all grew in the box with extraordinary rapidity.
