

LETTERS FROM ALICE

Brimming Over With Love, Not Only for Poor Freda Ward, but for

GALLANTS OF THE OPPOSITE SEX.

Strange Things She Tells to One Correspondent in Pittsburgh.

LILLY JOHNSON TELLS HER STORY

MEMPHIS, July 20.—The testimony introduced in the Alice Mitchell case to-day pertained principally to her correspondence with her victim, Miss Ward, and several personally unknown gentlemen with whom she had established acquaintanceships through the medium of advertisements.

Robert Mitchell was again called to the stand to read letters. The first letter was from Freda Ward to Alice after the discovery of their plans of elopement. She writes Alice not to write her any more letters, as they won't reach her; declares her undying love and constancy; swears she will yet marry her in spite of opposition, and expresses her hatred for her brother-in-law, Mr. Volkman, whom she says she hates worse than poison. Other memoranda in Alice's handwriting were read to indicate that she was casting about for work to do when she married Freda.

Another letter from Freda, the last one she ever wrote. It was dated January 18, 1892. Talka freely of her Proposed Marriage. It expresses the great regret of the writer that she is forbidden to speak to her Alice; expresses undying love for her, and cautions her to "say nothing about that last summer's elopement," as no one knew of it but her family.

Witness had spoken to his step-sister about her proposed marriage with Freda. She talked of it freely. She said Dr. Patterson was to marry them. Then they were going to St. Louis. This ended the direct examination, and General Peters took the witness. Witness admitted that Alice carried on a correspondence with others besides Freda. She had corresponded with various men, strangers to her.

A letter addressed to V. J. Ward, Carbon, Tex., and written by Alice, was read. She expressed her pleasure that her correspondence in plaintext had fallen in love with her description, and wonders how long it will be before he falls in love with her. She says she is writing without the knowledge of her parents, and says this is the reason she does not write her letters to the house. The letter is signed Freda Ward.

One Letter to a Pittsburgh Man. Still another letter was read, dated January 22, only three days before the tragedy. It is addressed to Tom L. Kiegar, Pittsburgh, equally affectionate with him as with "Dear Birdie." She affects to be an actress, and it is told of actresses that they can really love, that "they miss the prompter," but assures him that "his little actress can." She tells how a man 30 years old made love to her last Friday.

Then comes a letter to Freda, written August 1, 1891. It starts out with "Dearest Love." It is a jocular letter, accuses her of loving Ashley Howell, and says she will kill Mr. Ashley before Freda shall have him. "Oh, if I could see you once, if I could only squeeze you! Oh, you don't know how I love you!" she writes, and after formulating plans for an elopement at some future time expresses the fear that if they delay too long she will fall in love with some boy.

Letters were read from Alice to "Henry," a young man she had met at Goldstadt, in which she refers to Alice as her sister; another in which she speaks of her friend, Alice Mitchell.

A Missive Who Wasn't Too Solemn. Then comes a "daisy" letter to "Henry." She tells of a trip taken under the escort of "a solemn old minister." She found him not so solemn inside as out, and they got along very well. But their baggage checks got mixed, and afterward the parson left her at a junction to go to Iowa and she reached her destination. She tells what happened as follows:

"The baggage master brought out a rusty old valise for my check. Think of it—my blue silk and things going off to Iowa and me left with the parson's collars, pants and things! Much good my ruffles and things will do him." The only thing that ruffled the story was the assumption that the trip was a mythical one. The letter is signed Freda Ward, but was written by Alice.

The next witness was Miss Lilly Johnson, the young woman whose misfortune it was to be Alice Mitchell's companion when the murder was committed, and which fact has caused her joint indictment with Alice on a charge of murder. She testified she had known Alice for three years. She saw her twice on the day of the killing—once in the morning and again in the afternoon.

What Lilly Johnson Saw of the Tragedy. She said Freda was Alice's friend. She always spoke of her, and was telling of her when she loved Freda. After that visit she spoke only of Freda. When she was in jail she could only speak of Freda continually. After they were separated Alice was always crying and sick, and saying she wished she could see Freda. Then, coming to the fatal drive just before the murder, she told how Alice followed the Ward girls, seeing the murder scene. Freda once more. When they caught up with the girls at the Custom House, Alice said:

"Oh, Lilly! Freda looked at me and smiled." "Then," resumed the witness, "she got out of the buggy and said I must tell her goodbye. When Alice returned there were one or two spots of blood on her face." Witness asked what the Ward girl had done to her. Alice said, "Let me in," and then jumped over the wheel into the buggy. Witness was arrested the next day and was put in the same room with Alice.

Witness testified that Alice had confided to her that she wanted to marry Freda. Witness thought she had persuaded Alice out of attempting to marry Freda, but she still wanted to marry her. She did not know Alice was armed with a razor or any other weapon on the day of the murder. She thought she was only going to tell Freda goodbye and kiss her.

This ended the direct examination, and the cross-examination will be commenced to-morrow.

George Grogan Drowned Last Evening. George Grogan, 12 years old, was drowned while bathing in the Monongahela river, near the Tenth street bridge, last night. The boy went in bathing with some companions and getting beyond his depth was drowned before assistance could reach him. The body was recovered a short time later and removed to the parents' home, 148 Forbes street.

Drowned While Bathing. Casper Keiffer, aged 24 years, was drowned while in swimming last night at the foot of Morgan street, Allegheny. His body was recovered and sent to Ebbert's undertaking rooms. The deceased lived on Williams street. He was a brewery driver.

Arrested for Robbery. Jerry Driscoll and Dennis Lindsey were arrested yesterday for the alleged robbery of $14 from W. S. Dean. Mr. Dean claims that the prisoners took him under a trestle near the Tenth street bridge, and there robbed him of the amount stated above.

ST. PAUL'S PICNIC.

Seminary Grove Contains the Largest Party in Its History—Catholic Congregation Unites to Help Funds for the Tannehill Strain Orphan Asylum.

The English speaking Catholic churches of Pittsburgh yesterday united in a picnic for the benefit of St. Paul's Orphan Asylum on Tannehill street. The picnic was in Seminary Grove at Glenwood, and was the most successful one ever held. An admission fee was charged, and handsome returns were secured by the sale of edibles at booths attended by the ladies of the various churches.

The grounds opened at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, when the prominent citizens who were on the Committee of Arrangements entered the grounds and gazed around. The day looked bad, as the sky was cloudy, but the committee had hoped that the sun would soon come out clear of clouds. The sun came out, but it came out beyond the sanguine hopes of the learned committee-men. It came out on a scorching expedition, and during the greater part of the day the open grounds about the entrance were decidedly too warm for comfort.

Ex-Postmaster J. B. Larkin took his seat in the way across the open fields. He placed at the gate to take up the tickets, and Patrick Foley stood behind them to give them counsel and assistance. The people soon began to come, and they kept coming all day long, to such an extent that the cars of the Second avenue line were unequal to the strain. After the people got up into the beautiful field, where the trees touch hands all the way across the field, they did not feel the sun's heat.

To appreciate cool nooks it is necessary that the sun shall beat hot on the open roads and unprotected fields. This was the situation yesterday and the who rode in crowded cars along a dusty thoroughfare felt when they reached the shady precincts of the leafy field that they had found here what picnics ought always to be held.

The orphans themselves were not there. It was too thronged a place for them, but their will be the benefit from the generous contributions of the day. By 3 o'clock there were 8,000 people in the grove, and their number swelled till 6, when there were about 8,000. Running up the shaded valley there were prettily decorated stands, where the ladies of the several churches sold cakes, confections, lemonade, ice cream, watermelon and other delicacies and concoctions. These booths in their order represented the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association, St. Paul's branch, and the following churches: St. James, West End, Holy Cross, St. Paul's, Sacred Heart, St. John's, St. Stephen's, Last St. St. Ann's, all of which were managed by the Cathedral Sodality. The most beautifully decorated of all these booths was that of the Holy Cross.

There were amusements for the youth and grown people in the way of dancing, hitting the strength machine, throwing rubber balls at the colored gentleman, chasing the elusive cane with rings, etc., while the ladies of the churches and the ladies of the several churches played the bagpipe player and the two gentlemen of African extraction who played tunes on 15 instruments at the same time. At 4 o'clock "Squire Herman Handel" mounted the dance platform and made a prettily speech about the orphans and the duty of the people to care for them, to which Mr. O'Leary made a touching response on behalf of the absent orphans.

The Soldier Boy's Hearing Fixed. Additional complaints were lodged against David Lester, who stabbed Captain Calhoun, and Howard Hook by Thomas Quinton, manager of Devore's undertaking house, yesterday, charging them with felonious assault with intent to kill. The information was laid before Alderman F. B. Reilly. They will be given a hearing July 27.

Controller Morrow Takes a Holiday. Controller Morrow left last night for Atlantic City, where he will remain for one week. His daughter, Miss Edna Morrow, left during the afternoon for Thoroughfare Gap, Mount Catolin, Prince William county, Virginia. She is accompanied by several friends from Philadelphia and will be gone six weeks.

To the Public. I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the public, as I do to my friends and patients. I used it myself after other well-known remedies had failed, and it cured me in a few minutes. I recommend it candidly and cheerfully upon its merits, not from a financial standpoint, because I have others in stock on which I make a larger profit, but because Chamberlain's is the best remedy I know of for bowel complaints. There is no doubt about it, it does the work. JAMES FORGY, Druggist, TOWNSHIP McVeystown, Pa.

A STRANGE BOY.

He Ran Away, Lived in a Cave and Then Blam'd His Mother for Brutality. Joseph Kolukki, a boy about 11 years of age, is in the Twenty-eighth ward station house. He was found early yesterday morning by Officer Sheets under very peculiar circumstances. The boy was lying in a stable on South Twenty-second street and he told a very pitiful story about being driven away from home. He said he had been thrown out of the house by his mother on the previous day and injured severely. He had tried to find a place to stay, but failing he had taken up his abode in the stable.

The matter was reported to Agent McDonald, of the Anti-Cruelty Society, and he made an investigation last night, which developed an entirely different state of affairs from those reported by the boy. It turned out that the boy had run away from home about ten days ago, and his parents had not heard from him since. Young Kolukki had in that time developed a rather strange mode of living. Near the stable in which he was found he had a cave dug in the ground where he slept at night. In the daytime he would beg from the glasshouses boys in the vicinity, and in this way he got sufficient to live on. He disappeared from home once before under similar circumstances, and has given his parents considerable trouble at various times.

A Boy Charged With Burglary. Detective John T. Norris, of Springfield, O., passed through the city last night, having in custody a boy named Curtis Crawford, who is wanted in Kintanning for burglary. Crawford was arrested in Findlay.

Calhoun Improving. The condition of Captain Frank C. Calhoun, who was stabbed with a bayonet by Corporal Lester, of the Fourteenth Regiment, was reported as being much improved last night.

A Voice From McKeesport. The Conover piano purchased of you comes up to our highest expectations. The charming sweetness of its tones is a surprise and a delight to our music-loving friends. We esteem it perfection of an instrument. Knox C. Hill, To H. Kiebar & Bro., Pittsburgh.
