A FIRM BELIEVER IN YOUNG VOICES

[BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.] BAYREUTH, July 22.-Were I asked to designate in the fewest words the distinguishing feature in this year's festival, I should say "lack of famous names among the singers." Van Dyck sings Parsfut probably only four times; Malten, Kundey twice; Sucher, Isolde four times, and Schudemantil alternates in the baritone roles with Kaschmann and Gura. Materna, who was sadly missed at yesterday's performance, and Winkelmann were both invited to participate, as heretofore, but the former declined. and the latter, who must be back at the Vienna Opera House on August 1, could not arrange his dates to suit Frau Cosima. Richmann is reported to have had a dispute with the directress about Wolfram and Amfortas, he wishing to sing the former part and she wishing him only for the latter. Alvary was definitely counted upon until quite recently for Tristan, but not only did his London engagement prevent his being in Bayreuth in time for re-hearsals, but the condition made by him that he was to sing Tannhaeuser was not agreeable to Frau Wagner.

Some of the Few Surprises.

She must have been in sad straits when she sent for Vogl (to Munich) to do the part, as the veteran Wagner tenor has never, even during the Nibelungen performance of 1876, been persona grata at the Bayreuth

Sachs in "Die Meister" has also surprised not a few, for, although at one time the cepting Scaria and Betz, he had lost his voice to a great extent, even as far back as 1889, when he sang King Marks in "Tristan," at Bayreuth, new artist for Bayreuth is Herr Anthes, from Dresden, who is to sing Walter "Die Meistersinger." He has a delightful tenor voice, and an excellent stage presence, but, unfortunately, has not much endurance.

The remaining artists are all either the interpreters from former years of their respective roles, now enjoying a continental reputation, or else "of the young guard," as t is called. Fran Cosima, seeing the everincreasing success of the festival plays, has come to the conclusion that promising be-ginners, well drilled, will prove as acceptable as the less malleable experienced singers of fame.

A Fye for Future Results.

Besides, she has an eye to the future, when the present veterans will be by the nature of things completely hors du combat, and thinks it wiser to look around and provide their substitutes now than later. It is an experiment that in single cases may ibly be crowned with success, but that, on the whole, it is injuring Bayreuth, anybody comparing this festival with former ones must acknowledge. In many cases not even the younger members of the most famous troops have been chosen, but omparatively obscure singers from small erman cities have been engaged.

The effect of the innovations in question was hardly apparent to-day, however, in the performance of "Tristan and Isolde," for the names of Vogl and Sucher conjure over Bayreuth audiences a spell which obscures the significance of the rest of the caste. Their work to-day left little to be The Alvary worship of last year had rendered the audience exceptionally expectant, and many, including the Americans here, regarded with regret the return of Vogl, of Munich, who created his Triston here in 1886, and who must be considered the direct heir of Schnorr von Carolsfeld. Herr Vogl at His Very Best.

To-day Vogl was superb. His voice is in better condition than for many years. be might even believe the current story that during last winter he took lessons of an Italian singing teacher. He had been on the stage but a few minutes when he had the great house completely in his control, and the stillness became so impressive as to be almost stifling. In the first act last year Alvary showed considerable nervousness; Vogl grasped the part with the veteran's firmness and insight, while not losing an iota of Alvary's special. His finest mo-ments were in the death scene, which was necompanied by the half-stifled sobs of women in the audience.

In general, Vogl's interpretation was the same one that New Yorkers have known at the Metropolitan Opera Kouse, although it gained greatly in power through the improved condition of his voice.

Sucher, as Isolde, was unchanged. Her interpretation undoubtedly takes the highest rank among the great achievements. This is the verdict of Payrenth and Garmany, and her recent London triumph added further testimony to the correctness of the estimate which musical Germany has placed upon her. In the second act, to-day, her absorbing passion swayed the audience marvelously, and when the opera closed the storm of braves, the cheering and applause were mingled with long and loud shouts for highest honors of the day. Gura, of Munich, same King Mark with nobility of style and expression. His voice, once deservedly famous, has lost much in power and resonrace, but he is still a fine artist. Standigl, of Berlin, made an acceptable Brangane, and Planck, of Carlsruhe, was an admirable

Felix Mottl, of Carlsrhue, conducted with his wonted fire. The whole performance was exceptionally satisfactory. Murmurs of admiration passed through the house repeatedly, and several times in the second act the audience seemed to be on the point of violating the laws of Bayreuth by breaking into applause. The weather has been fine, and visitors have arrived to-day in considerable numbers. There is still, however, a notable lack of many atternoon and removed to his home, on South Sixth street. ## 2.000 NATIVES KILLED.

Terrible Effects of a Volcanic Eruption Great Sangir Island.

THE HAGUE, July 22 .- Official telegrams received here to-day from Batavia, confirms the recent accounts of the awful destruction caused on Great Sangir Island, belonging to Holland, by a volcanic eruption June 17. These later advices say that the whole northwestern part of the island was destroyed, and that 2,000 of the inhabitants were killed. No Europeans were among the victims.

TANGIER, July 22.-It is apparent that the Sultan has reconsidered his determination to negotiate a treaty with Great Britain on the basis of his having it all his own way. It is announced that the Grand Vizier and-the Sultan's Ministers were expected to arrive shortly in Tangier with the object of reopening negotiations.

BIG CUT TO DENVER.

The Santa Fe Reduces the Knight Templa Rate to $12 for the Round Trip From Chicago-Competitors Come Down With Wry Paces. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road surprised the railroad world vesterday by slashing the round trip Knight Templar rate between Chicago and Denver from $32 to $12. The local agent of the line expects to see the fare down to this afternoon. An old-tashioned rate war, far reaching in its effects, has been started, and for the next two months a dirt cheap ride to Denver can be had. This cut will make the full rate from Pittsburg $24 for the round trip, and if the Pittsburg and Western and the Lake Erie elaim their differentials the fare will be $23 50. The local commanderies have already contracted at the old rates, but all contracts are now

The Santa Fe road claims that the other lines have not lived up to their agreement. They discovered that more than a year ago the Chicago and Alton, during the boycott, jumped in and chartered 136 Pullman cars for this occasion, and offered the Knights a very low rate. When the Burlington and Rock Island caught on later they Rock Island caught on later they offered inducements to get their share of the business. The Santa Fe states that the other reads have practically reduced the rate to $12 00 from Chicago, and this is why they announce the cut. The tickets will be up to August 7, and will be good until October 31.

8. C. Milbourne, of the Union Pacific was disgusted at the turn of affairs. He said it was a case of sour grapes. The Santa Fe failed to get the business, and rather than see its competitors make any money the managers cut the rate. Fred Tristman, Central Passenger Agent for the Wabash, wished that he controlled 1,000 Pullman cars. He thought the crowd to Denver would be so large that it will be impossible for half the people to get sleeping accom-modations. The rush will undoubtedly be tract with Fred Harvey to feed the pas-sengers of the road at his eating houses along the line in Kansas, and in return the road agrees not to run dining cars in the State He now has a suit pending for $100,000 damages against the company for breach of contract. The railroad offered Harvey 75 cents per capita if he would allow them to put on diners for the Knights, but he refused. Then the competing agents claim that the Santa Fe decided to knock the profit skyward for the other fellows. Meanwhite the dear public is not kicking, and will take advantage of the low rates.

THE MISSION MASSACRE.

Facts Which Seem to Prove That It Has Not

Been Much Exaggerated. WALLACE, IDAHO, July 22.-Rumors are still current of startling discoveries in connection with the Mission affair, wherein it was reported that many men were shot, others wounded, some robbed and their bodies disposed of in such a way that no clew either to the perpetrators of the outrage or to the disposition of the bodies has ever been found. On the part of some it has been persistently denied that anyone was killed at Fourth of July canyon.
Others are positive that the horrors have not been half told.

This much is true beyond doubt, that on Tuesday evening, after a carload of non-union men had passed through Wardner and had gone to Mission, nine men, members of the Miners' Union, left Wallace on a hand car to follow them; that at Wardner they changed the hand car for a flat car, and, taking more men with them, pushed on to Mission; that suddenly the sound of many guns firing filled the air, and the non-union men fled precipitately; that one man, Abbott, who is now here in the hospital, was shot; that Abbott heard pursuers say, "Let's kill them and throw their bodies in the river," and that quite a number of mer are missing vet. The authorities are making an investigation. It is reliably re-ported that the authorities have full details Ashes supposed to be of human bodies are undergoing chemical examination. It is almost certain that dark and bloody deeds will be brought to light. The perpetrators are now in the stockade there. The officers

EDWARD GALLAGHER WILL DIE His Skull Was Fractured and He Was

Otherwise Injured. Edward Gallagher, the Southside newsboy struck by a Birmingham car on Carson street, Wednesday evening, is lying at the Southside Hospital in a precarious condition. It is now thought that he cannot recover, and last night his death was expected at any time. At first his injuries were not supposed to be serious, but upon making a closer examination yesterday morning it was found that his injuries were of such a nature as to render his recovery impossible. Beside a tracture of the skull, a blood vessel in the brain was found to have been burst. This so affected him as to reduce him to a comatose state. His triends had been notified of his condition and were at his bedside last night awaiting the end.

SITE MAY BE SELECTED.

Ladies Ald Society and Directors of the Southside Hospital May Act Soon. The site for the new Southside Hospital will probably be selected at the joint meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the hospital and the directors, to be held Au-

The site was to have been chosen last Tuesday, but owing to the absence of a number of the directors it was postponed. The ladies' society has in its possession $10,000 as a nucleus for the new building fund. With it they propose to buy a site and then mortgage the property for enough to erect the building, hoping to raise money to litt the mortgage by another bazaar. The new building is made necessary by the overcrowded condition of the hospital.

FREDA'S INFATUATION

Her Brother-in-Law Tells How Her Elopement Was Frustrated.

ALICE MITCHELL'S BOYISH WAYS

Described on the Stand by Mrs. Vollmer, a Sister of Miss Ward.

MEMPHIS, June 22 .- In the Alice Mitchell trial this morning the first witness called was Miss Addie Mitchell. She seemed to feel her sister's position very keenly. Her testimony was, in the main, purely cumulative of that offered previously as to Alice's disposition: Penchant for boyish sports, headaches, nose bleedings and her demer at the time of and since the tragedy. The cigarbox which contained Alice's letters and love tokens, was introduced and identified by witness. She knew of the intimacy between Alice and Freda Ward and had read girls' friendship. James Johnson, brother of Lillie, testified that he had known Alice for two years, and, as far as he could judge, she had always displayed a most decided aversion to the letters from Mrs. Volmar, Freda's sister, to her mother, breaking off the two the society of gentlemen. The testimony of William Vollmar, brother-in-law of the victim, was next called for by the defense, and proved the most sensational of the day. He said that up to the time of his moving to Gold Dust, Ark., he had never suspected anything gushing in the friendship of the two girls, and considered it the friendship usual between girls. Coming to the day of the proposed elopement, which was planned for and was to be consumated while Alice and and was to be consumated while Alice and Lillie Johnson were visiting the Misses Ward last summer, he said that Freda's actions denoted something unusual, she insisted upon sleeping in a different room from that usually occupied by her, and on leaving the window open. He kept watch outside, expecting a man to show up.

Just before the boat whistled he entered the room suddenly. He heard Freda push her valise under the bed. She was dressed, but as he entered the room she jumped into but as he entered the room she jumped into bed, pulled the sheet over her and professed indignation at the intrusion. Witness was pretty mad. He called his wife and de-manded of Freda what this all meant. She confessed that she was going to run off with Alice. They were to marry, and Alice was to work to support her. Witness, at the time he intercepted the Witness, at the time he intercepted the letters, was not aware of any iniatuation between the girls. He intercepted them because he had come to the conclusion that Alice was not a fit companion for her. On the discovery of the plan of elopement, he promised Freda that night that he would never mention the matter to her sgain. He was ashamed of it and of her wanting to was asnamed of it and of her wanting to leave a good home, and said if she would not refer to the matter again he would keep it a dead secret. Witness saw nothing to lead him to believe Alice mentally un-

WILLIE LEMMER MISSING.

He Went Out to Play and His Parents Fear He Is Drowned.

The parents of Willie Lemmer, a 10-year old boy residing at 219 Steuben street, in the West End, are very much wrought up over his disappearance. Last Tuesday morning Willie and several companions went out to play, and he has not been seen since. The parents lear that he has been drowned, as he was seen in the vicinity of the river that afternoon, but his companions say that he did not go in swimming, that he left for home about supper time and they don't know where he went.

The Mt. Troy Dummy.

Before Alderman McKelvey yesterday norning four boys were arraigned, charged man on the tracks of the Mt. Troy branch of the Pleasant Valley line and wrecking a car. The defendants were Frank Beck, John Kelch, John Jenkinson and Anthony Hoff. They were accompanied by their parents. The company had the conductor and motorman of the wrecked car, who testified to the occurrence, but they did not see the dummy placed on the track. The prosecution asked for more time and the case was continued until next Friday morning.

Are causing much comment among astronomers just now and all sorts of elarming predictions are made by weak mortals who crave notoriety. "Old Sol's" face was freckled many a time before without serious results to inhabitants of this mundane sphere. so nervous folks might as well rest

It isn't notoriety but room we're after. Room for fall goods we must have, hence these sacrifices.
