

place at the man. The crowd, however, was a very orderly one, as there was no outbreak or outcry of any kind. At the jail entrance when the prisoner was taken, a reporter who had accompanied the party remarked to the prisoner, "You seem to be quite an attraction, and to which he laughingly responded: "Yes."

RESTING EASILY NOW. No Signs of Fever and Doctors Say There Is Little Doubt of Recovery.

At the jail office the party were met by Warden McAleese and Deputy Warden Roffel, who admitted them behind the bars into the office. Berkman was then released from the handcuffs.

FOUR NEW WOUNDS FOUND. They Are Slight and Were Made by the Assassin's Dagger.

Warden McAleese said: "So this is the celebrated prisoner. Why, he doesn't look very desperate."

STILL DANGER FOR A WEEK YET. He Is Hearing Reports and Attending to Business Affairs.

Warden McAleese once commenced his fire of questions which the sounder admitted his name was not Berkman, and that he had only assumed it very recently. The assassin was then taken to the south wing, close to where the Homestead prisoners are confined.

MR. CARNEGIE'S WORDS OF CONDOLENCE

The charge against him was felonious assault on the hearing on August 1 before Alderman Gripp. As the maximum sentence under this charge is only seven years, it is probable some other charge may be made to hold him longer.

EMIN PASHA'S ILLNESS.

His Second in Command Describes It in a Letter From East Africa.

BERLIN, July 24.—Dr. Stuhlmann, Emin Pasha's second in command, writes to Dr. Schweinfurth from East Africa, denying that Emin Pasha invaded British territory on Saturday.

A MOSQUE TOWER FALLS.

And According to Rumor, Crashes to Death Hundreds of Worshippers.

VIENNA, July 24.—Some of the newspapers of this city published a telegram reporting that the tower of the Maniaca mosque in Alexandria, which was recently restored, collapsed during a religious service on the 21st inst.; that several hundred persons were killed, and that the bodies of the victims were being extricated hourly from the ruins.

Swallowed Embalming Fluid.

FROSTBURG, Md., July 24.—[Special.]—John W. Lewis, aged 84, died here yesterday, and last night the undertakers embalmed the remains. The room with the embalming fluid in it was left open, and the body was taken to the morgue in the morning. A granddaughter of the dead man, a tot of two years, crawled into the room while the mortuary was in another part of the building, and drank some of the stuff. This morning she died.

THE FUND DEED PLANNED IN NEW YORK.

"Do you think that the attempt made by Berkman to kill Mr. Frick was planned in New York," was asked. "I think it was. It was too big a thing for a man of Berkman's caliber to conceive, plan and execute alone. The police of New York will not stand any nonsense. The slightest move on the part of the Anarchists will be met with prompt and efficient action by us. I cannot answer you when you ask if any Anarchists will be locked up by us. Time will tell what will happen."

Before I came to the police force in 1898," Sergeant Bird went on, "I was a marble cutter. I was a member of the first mechanics' association in this city, the Stone Cutters' Association. It was started 30 years ago. But I was different from most of the trades' unions of that time. Our organization helped both the employer and employe. Every March our wages were advanced, and every November they were lowered. But we understood why it was done and we agreed to it. Or had we not agreed to it, we could have quit work and gone somewhere else. Our employers' property was his, not ours. We never thought of trying to control it or to injure it, and much less would we have taken his life or what is as related to him. We respect the law. They aim not to accomplish things by violence. All true trades unions are opposed to the spirit of anarchy."

John Taaker, President of the Board of Walking Delegates, said: "I am sorry this has happened. I don't believe in that kind of nonsense."

Mortimer O'Connell, Recording Secretary of the Central Labor Union, said: "This man Berkman is a crank. I never knew him and don't want to know him."

The delegates to the Pittsburgh convention, which is to assemble next Wednesday to establish an International Labor Bureau in this country, met on Saturday afternoon at the Central Labor Union to agitate for a revival of the international movement upon a more practical basis than that abandoned by dissolving the International Workingmen's Association in 1874.

More About the Murderer.

Something more was learned to-day about Berkman's doings in this city. He lived here at times with a woman previously known as Emma, a sister of the man who met her first in Russia under peculiar circumstances, and that there is a long romantic story regarding their relations.

By Anarchists generally Berkman was regarded as an American. He was a member of a very radical group of Anarchists known as the "Pioneers of Liberty" who met at a little eating house at 125 1/2 Division street. The proprietor of the place said to-day that he knew Berkman only slightly. Berkman had not been there since four or five months ago, and had then come in only two or three times. The time he had a small dark mustache and wore a pince-nez. A picture of Berkman was shown to the proprietor, but he failed to recognize it. The shortcoming shop in which Berkman once worked was Zimmerman, 718 and 720 East Eleventh street. No one to-day who knew Berkman would tell how he got to Pittsburgh.
