 Bid Bid |Ask Bid |Ask Bid |Ask The first business day of the week is, as a rule, a quiet one in wholesale mecantile circles, and to-day was no exception to the rule. There was nothing of consequence doing in any branch of trade, and nearly all the talk heard was based on the labor troubles. Any suggestions made regarding the future were weighed with provisos, the arguments being that trade would be good or bad as the industrial situation improved or grew more depressing. According to general reports the markets were unchanged from last week, grain being reported duil and weak, hay and ffeed bouyant, groceries and provisions steady to strong, dairy products firm, and farmyard and garden stuff irregular.

Grain, Flour and Feed.

No sales occurred on call at the Grain and Flour Exchange to-day, and so little interest was manifested in the proceedings that the ten-day call was dispensed with. The table ten-day call was dispensed with. The table was loaded with samples, e-pecially of onts, but they received very little inspection. The market for grain continues dull to stag-nation and quotations may be regarded as nominal. Hay and mill feed are in fair de-mand, however, though there is very little offering at even the advanced views of buy-ers. The bids and offers made are ap-nended: pended:

dition and probable disposition of As-sasain Berkman than to talk about business; and now and then one was discovered who had no ears for anything but discussion of the beauties of "some vast wilderness, some boundless contiguity of shade." And so it went—the day wearing wearily away in the melting midsummer sun and leaving little business and few features in its wake. The itaus covered by the trading at the Exclange were Westinghous Electric (new), Pleasant Valley Railway, Philadelphia Com-pany and Luster Mining Company, with firmness shown by all, though in the in-stances of the Philadelphia Company and Luster it did not look as if the buyers really wanted the stock they bid for and got. In-deed both buyers subsequently offered their purchases at the prices paid. There was a generally firm feeling on these shares, however, as well as on the en-tion and Duquesne Traction were strong under a continued fair demand; the other stinest railways were steady to firm; West-inghouse Electric (old) was easier; bids for options on Union Switch and Signal re-fuected a belief in higher prices and others were utterly featureless. The Motoling Circular.

GOSSIP, SALES AND CLOSING PRICES

The market for local securities to-day was almost as dull as death. Very little life was observable in any direction. No one, apparently, cared to either buy or sell stocks; no one, with very few exceptions, would talk stocks, and therefore stocks were more or less neglected. The same, also, may be said of bonds, and, in fact, of anything and everything in which the street is usually interested when a normal condition of affairs exists. Bankers and brokers, as a rule, were more inclined to discuss the industrial situation, the latest developments at Camp Black, or the mental con-dition and probable disposition of As-sassin Berkman than to talk about business;

A BETTER DEMAND FOR INVESTMENT

NEW YORK, July 25 .- There was no change

In the character of the trading to-day, and while the bulls seemed to have the upper hand for the time being the improvement in quotations, outside of sugar and a few specialties, was of the smallest kind and duliness continued to be the prevailing feature.

Brokers lay some stress upon an increasing demand for investment stocks and bonds, but the open market shows as yet none of the effects of this buying, and the purchases made at the board are for the most part by the professional element in covering shorts; and, taken in connection with the demand for certain stocks in the loan crowd, the market is largely oversold in comparison the market is inrgely oversoid in comparison with its size. To-day there was no animation except in St. Paul, Srie, Atchison and sugar, but while all were strong only the last fluctuated over a range of more than 1 per cent, but among the specialties Minneapolis & St. Louis, both common and preferred, with Evansville & Terre Haute and Great Northern preferred, scored handsome gains on light transac-tions. # A BULL DAY.

Advances in All the Chicago Pits Under the Lend of Corn.

CHICAGO, July 25 .- The wrath to come was measurably indicated by the heat in the trading pits to-day, but the operators struggled with it in neglige onting shirts and pantaloons with praiseworthy energy and disregard of the buoyancy of the mercury It was a bull day, led by corn, which was well supported by provisions and received countenance, though of a subdued kind from wheat. The changes since Saturday are an advance in corn of lige, in pork o from 173ge to 323ge, and in wheat of 3ge.

The wheat market was firm under apprehension of damage to spring wheat from the hot weather. The reports from the North-west differed somewhat, but generally con-erded considerable damage already done by rust. The bullishness in corn was of much assistance to the bulls Receipts to-day at the point were 143 cars of new wheat. St. Louis held up to Saturday's predictions, the amount being 350,000 bushels. Minneapolis also had heavier receipts, numbering 356 carloads. Cables were easier, Liverpool re-porting 3/d decline, and the weather in Eng-land favorable. The visible supply showed an increase of 630 000 bushels. Under these influences the market weakened for a few minutes and then rallied and became firm again. heaston of damage to spring wheat from the Corn was the most active and strongest of the articles traded in on the Board. Talk has been rife in the pits for some days about possible damage to the growing crop from extreme heat, so this morning, with the thermometer ranging near the nineties, op-erators who noted the effects on their ars-tems were ready to believe anything of its epublished dispatch from Wichita, Kan, which said that hot winds had done great injury to corn from the Colorado line for a distance of 150 miles eastward in Kansus was at once active in boosting values. Notwith-standing reports of general improvement in the crop outside of those which came from Kansas, the sudgen impairment in that section was enough of a disappointment to make holding prices comparatively easy and the derense in the visible supply aided in a further bulge to 50% c, and the close was to. orn was the most active and strongest of

It is hinted that an overhauling of the trust's books will show how dividends have been deciared when they were not earned. One of the leading brokers to-day strongly recommended the buying of street railway shares for a long pull, and intimated that there would be a better demand for Phin-delphia Cempany at 25 than there is now. He also stated his belief to be that a contract existed between the Central Traction Com-pany and the Pittsburg-Duquesne combine; that the former would sell up to 35 by Jann-ary 1, 1888, by which time the latter would be in control; that the street railways of the two cities would be consolidated under one management ultimately and that the city terminans of all of them would be in a grand. Waison & Gibson to Oakley & Co.: "The anti-option is no doubt doomed for this session of Congress, and a further consider-ation of objectionable features after the adjournment will no doubt influence many legislators against it when next presented. occasioned keen competition for business stands and sites; and the introduction of rapid transit into the suburban districts has made a large scope of territory available for homes. Values have only kept step with the homes. Values have only kept step with the steadily broadening market and increasing demand. There have been no booms, no speculative spurts followed by depression. Advanced positions have been maintained, Real estate is as firmly held to-day as at any former time in the history of the city.

A few figures will present this matter in still clearer light. A property on Smithfield street was sold four years ago for $2 000 front. It is now held at $3,000. A lot with a fairly good building on Fifth avenue near Grant street, changed hands in 1885 at $17,000. It could not be bought to-day for less than $50,000. On the lower part of the less than $50,000. On the lower part of the same avenue a property marketed a few years ago at $50,000 is now valued at nearly $900,000. On Fourth avenue values have risen in three or four years from $2,000 a foot front to $3,000. Suburban realty has en-hanced in almost equal proportion. That the advance is permanent is shown by the indisposition of owners to part with their holdings. They contend that there is no in-vestment so good as the property itself.

Fourteen permits were issued to-day for 15 buildings and alterations, aggregating in cost $19,277. The largest are: M. J. Two or three transactions in the Highland Park district have been practically closed in the last few days.

Park district have been practically closed in the last few days. The sale by Peter Shields of 11 acres in the Greenfield avenue district for subdivision shows that interest in that quarter is un-abated. The streets of Wilmerding are being fixed up and sidewalked. ### Eggs and Poultry.

Firmness is the prevailing feature in this line, but there is considerable irregularity in quotations on eggs, the range depending al-together on the stock held by the house Quoting. A dealer with a big stock is apt to quote low, and one with a light stock high. Chickens are firmly held at quotations:
