MEANING OF ANARCHY

Dire Calamities That the Autonomist Groups Would Invite.

STREATOR IS ROASTED AGAIN.

Too Many Crank Peacemakers Only Pro-

long the Trouble. DOINGS OF A DAY AMONG THE CHURCHES

Rev. William Ward West, pastor of the Oakland Baptist Church, spoke on "Autonomy" yesterday. He roundly denounced anarchy and then continuing, said:

"Autonomy by definition is absolute liberty. The Anarchis means by it no God, no Church, no Bible, no order and no law; no government at Washington, no State authority; every judge, lawyer, politician and preacher gone! No philanthropic, wealthy and liberal-minded citizens; none to molest a man if he wishes to shoot, burn, boycot or torture his neighbor. The Anarchist's ideal is a sufficiency of food and clothing without effort. No marriage law, but plenty of free love. A lawless, chaotic, immoral, lazy being, he lives protected by our laws and enjoys our freedom, when he should be driven from our land and never given a permit to return. The editors and publishers of their papers should be tried as traitors and punished with a severity compared with which the punishment of Private Iams was play.

No Real Individuality. "There is a seeming truth in autonomy, namely, individuality, that which a man has and no other has, that which he is and no other is. He is himself and therefore must be himself. Alone we stand in the world. Our characters are our own. Alone we fight life's battle, and alone we go to our God. In all this we are responsible to no man, and we represent no man; yet, as a matter of fact, there is no absolute individuality. frowds jostle us on every side, think as we hink and act as we act. We are like com-one else. The influences of generations are in our characters.

"Autonomy is unnatural. Given perfect autonomy in the physical world and we have a chance of life. We never know what is going to happen. We have chaos—anarchy.

"Autonomy is un-American. Each State is alone; has its peculiar laws, yet these United States are "one and inseparable now and forever." Our fathers were burdened with unjust taxation. They had no appeal but to arms, but they respected law and they acknowleged God. They were not a lawless, chaotic people.

A Footing of Fqual Worth Is False,

"Autonomy is contrary to organized labor. We do not deny the right of labor to organize for social life and for mutual protection, but this does not mean that they can go too far. They go too far when tyranny is go too far, They go too far when tyranny is employed. They have no right to interfere with individual choice. They go too far when wrong is maintained in the name of their union. They go too far when they place men on a footing of equal ability and worth. They go too far when they claim that which rightfully belongs to another. I have no right to say to my neighbor, 'Divide with me the gold you have dug.'

"Autonomy is unchristian. No man liveth unto himself, and no man dieth unto himself. They have, like the Hebrews of old, set God's laws behind their backs."

CHRISTIAN CIVILIZATION, flow the Punishment of Isms is Regarded From the Pulpit. Rev. J. D. Sands, paster of the Seventh U. P. Church, Forty-fourth street, above Butler, preached to a large and attentive audience last night. The topic of his discourse was, "Is Our Christian Civilization Free From Barbarism?" His text was: "Ye know not what manner of spirit ye are of."

"This language," he said, "was spoken by It was shown then that the case of Elijah ed from the present case in that a new ers had began—the era of Gospel and Love. The purposes of the Gospel to attain this and was the gospel of love. Put thy sword into the scabbard, said the Lord to Peter, into the scabbard, said the Lord to Peter, for they that take up the sword, by the sword shall they perish.

"The work of the Gospel is to eliminate barbarism, to transform human creatures from beasts of prey to men. We ask how far and to what degree it has succeeded in accomplishing this end. When the question is applied to the nation we can see that war is a relic of barbarism. There is also barbarism in the human body. For instance, the barbarons instinct which prompted the cruel and inhuman treatment to which Private lams was subject for a slight breach of military discipline. Here a beardless youth, who does not know the gravity of the word treason, is tied up by his thumbs and subwho does not know the gravity of the word treason, is tied up by his thumbs and subjected to torture and disgrace simply because in an unguarded moment he gave vent to his thoughts. A vert's officer heard the remark and instantly was at work devising some punishment suitable for the offense. Tied up by the thumbs, head and mustache shorn, and driven out of camp, was the sontence passed upon the boy who said 'Hurrah for the assassin.' Sitting Bull in his palmiest days would have blushed at the barbarons treatment which was meted out to lams. "Instead of boasting of our civilization we should how ourselves in humble submission and calmiy inquire, 'Of what manner of spirit are we."

NEED REAL PEACEMAKERS.

The Situation One That Demands Most Sun mary Treatment. Rev. E. R. Doneboo, pastor of the Eighth Presbyterian Church, yesterday morning preached on "Peacemakers." During his discourse he said: "Everybody likes to have peace, and none are ashamed to acknowledge the fact. Very few are ready to confess they are in any way responsible for the feuds and strifes which so often mar the peace of families which so otten that saying. It takes two and communities.

"We often quote that saying. It takes two to make a quarrel, applying it to every one who refuses to openly quarrel with his neighbor. I am not so sure about this being the fair conclusion in every case. The trouble with 100 many of us is that what we mean by peace is that we be allowed to have our own way. The peace they want is on their own terms. Such people are not peace-takers at all.

"We sometimes mistake solidity of demeanor for peacefulness. Such people seem never to get angry. They swallow every insult, agree with every opinion expressed in their hearing. Such people are intolera-ble nuisances in any society. The real peacemakers are those who submit to whatever passes in their presence without pro-test, but who fearlessly stand up for the ruth, even though they be branded as dis-urbers of the peace or unyielding cranks.

"The reason why some people never quar-el is not because they are lovers or peace, out because they have no opinions of their way. We are all self-conceited enough to own. We are all self-conceited enough to feel that we could settle the worst of quartels, it we would only be consuited. It takes something besides a smooth and oily tongue, a placid manner, and sauve temper to reconcile strikes. The fact is the most successful peacemaker is no such a wishy-washy person at all, but one who resorts to summary treatment. If you want to become entitled to this designation, you must go and learn your first lesson from the Prince of Peace. He was holy, harmless, undefiled, yet firm and the wavering in His devotion to truth and duty."

A MESSAGE TO LABOR.

The Gospel as Applied to the Affairs of Daily Life. The closing services in the Reformed Prebyterian Church, Wilkinsburg, took place yesterday. There was a very large attendance morning and evening, the pastor, Rev. R. C. Wylie, preaching both sermons. The old church will not be used any more, the work of demolition commencing to-day, and it is expected that in less than a year the congregation will be worshiping in the new edifice that is to replace the famous old building that has ended its usefulness. The church was crowded last night to witness the last exercises which were of a very impressive character.

The sermon by Rev. R. C. Wylic, was listened so with the despect attention. He spoke on "The Progress of Religion," and in the course of his remarks said: "The gospel as we understand it says; 'Combine religion with business; introduce the golden rule into trade.' It says to the rich, 'Come down into trade. It says to the rich, 'Come down into closer contact with the poor. Your wealth is an entrusted talent. You are stewards. You are bound to use your money for God's cause.' This gospel has a message to the laboring classes. Your power is in combination. But this power in unconverted hands will be used in an immoral way. Deeds of violence and wrong are committed. Beligion must go hand in hand with labor."

DEDICATED THE CHURCH.

The New St. Stanislaus Formally Consecrated-Bishop Phelan Conducts the Solemn Services-The Building Is One of the Handsomest in the City.

The new Polish St. Stanislaus Kostka Church, at the corner of Twenty-first and Smallman streets, was dedicated yesterday. In the forenoon the several different Polish societies formed in line at the corner of Twenty-second street and Penn avenue, and marched down Penn avenue to Eleventh street, to Liberty street, to Smithfield street, to Fifth avenue, to Grant street. Here Bishop Phelan and Rev. Father Hehir joined the parade, which then returned over arriving at the church, ranks were broken and all passed quietly into the church, where the dedicatory ceremonies were conducted by Bishop Phelan, assisted by Rev. Father Hehir. The hymns and litanies required by the ceremonial were sung by students from Holy Ghost College. Following this was solemn high mass, contacted by Bishop Phelan, who was seated on the throne. He was assisted by Rev. Father McTighe, Rev. Father Schulak, S. J., a Polisi Jesuit from Chicago, Rev. Father J. Otten, celebrante, C. S. S. P., Rev. Father Bernard, C. P. Deacon and Rev. Father Charles, C. A. P. sub-Deacon.

In the afternoon devotional exercises were held, and Rev. Father Schulak preached the sermon. In the evening solemn vespers and benediction were conducted by Bishop Phelan. arriving at the church, ranks were broken

The new church is one of the most beauti-ful of any denomination in the city. It was started about a year ago by the Polish con-gregation who held services on Smallman street, where they had a church, school and convent combined. The pastor is Rev. Father Jarosky. The lot on which the church was built was bought for $17.000, and the church is of brick with stone trim-mings, and has twin towers or domes. The inside is beautifully finished in hard wood, and the walls and ceilings embellished with

DEATH OF A PIONEER.

Ex-Congressman Francis B, Brower Buriet in the Aliegheny Cemetery-First Mar to Discover the Commercial Value of Petroleum-A Former Pittsburger.

Ex-Congressman Francis B. Brewer, of Westfield, N. Y., who died on Friday last, was buried yesterday morning in the Brewer family lot in Allegheny Cemetery and, although it is more than 30 years since he was a permanent resident of this city, he has always retained business interests here which have called him frequently to Pittsburg and have kept alive old acquaintance ships and friendly associations, so that the news of his death will occasion sincere regret to many of the older residents of the city. He was born in Keene, N. H., in 1820, and was the son of the late Ebenezer Brewer, of this city, whose large fortune was almost entirely devoted by his will to was almost entirely devoted by his will to charitable and religious objects and in his benevolence and generosity Dr. Brewer was a worthy successor of his lather.

At the breaking out of the War of 1812, Ebenezer Brewer joined the Boston Light Infantry and served on the Northern frontier, and later organized and commanded a cavalry company. He was extensively engaged in lumbering on the Connecticut river until 1845, when he removed to Western Pennsylvania and purchased large timber tructs on Oil creek, built sawmills at Titusville, and made his residence and business headquarters in this city.

This language," he said, "was spoken by the Lord Jesus to James and John the disciples. They had asked power from Heaven to call down fire on a town which had rejucted them. In justification of their request they recalled the case of Elijah who had been endowed with the power they desired. It was a terrible request and the Lord told them they did not realize the spirit witch prompted them to make it.

his business here, and Dr. Brewer removed from Plymouth, Mass., where he was practicing his profession, and for more than 20 years has actively engaged in business in Pittsburg. While at Titusville in 1853 his interest was aroused by a spring of crude petroleum on the land of Brewer, Watson & Co., at the "upper mill," and he collected a barrel of the oil and sent it to his former teacher Prof. Benjamin Silliman, the elder, then at Yale, with the request that it be analyzed, and an opinion given as to its commercial value. Benjamin Silliman, the elder, then at Yale, with the request that it be analyzed, and an opinion given as to its commercial value. At the same time time Samuel Kier was collecting crude oil from a small vein struck in a salt weil at Tarentum and was bottling and seling it as a medicine. Francis B. Brewer was the first man who ascertained the commercial value of Pennsylvania petroleum as an illuminator and lubricant, as a business matter. Prof. Siulliman informed him that the oil was valuable, but that it was "not likely to be found in quantities sufficient to make it commercially important," but Dr. Brewer determined to make a trial and organized the "Pennsylvania Rock Oil Company, in 1834, and interested a number of New York capitalists and was himself a director and secretary of the company. A pump was put into the oil spring and the crude oil was secured in quantities sufficient to light the saw mill, where it was also used as a lubricant, but it was more than two years before the company could determine the most promising method of increasing the supply. Colonel E. L. Drake, who was a resident of New Haven, was sent out as a representative of the eastern stockholders and undertook to bore a well at the old spring, but a number of the larger stockholders and undertook to bore a well at the old spring, but a number of the larger stockholders had lost their enthusiasm and declined to stand assessments for the cost of the well. Another corporation was formed which took a lease of the property, and after prolonged delay and embarrassments arising from ignorance of the methods of artesian well-boring, all of which were finally overcome by the patience and ingenuity of Colonel Drake and his mechanical assistant, William Smith, the first oil well was struck in August, 1859, at a depth of 69 reet.

Dropped Lumber and Took Up Oil.

Dropped Lumber and Took Up Oil. The timber lands of Brewer, Watson & Co. and their mill properties turned out to be, generally, productive oil territory, and they secured many other valuable properties under leases. The lumber business was closed out and the firm for the next 12 years engaged in producing and shipping petrolengaged in producing and shipping petroleum. The active management was in the hands of Dr. Brewer, though his father held the position of senior partner. The refining interests of the firm were extensive, but were principally conducted by the firm of Brewer, Burke & Co., in which the late George E. Brewer represented the family interest. The offices on "Duquesne Way" were for many years the conter of local interest in the petroleum trade and have been were for many years the center of local interest in the petroleum trade and have been occupied by the Standard Oil Company since the original firms dissolved.

Dr. Brewer moved to Westfield, N. Y., in 1861 and has since lived there, and after closing out his oil interests devoted himself to banking and manufacturing. He served during the latter part of the war as medical inspector and military State agent for New York, and was twice elected to the New York Legislature. He was appointed by President Grant Government director of the Union Pacific Ballroad and reappointed by President Hayes. In 1882 he was elected to Congress from the Chantan qua-Cattaraugus district by a large majority over three competitors. He was respected and beloved by all who knew him and passed away after a brief illness with all his family around him. His wife Susan H., daughter of the late Prof. Heman Rood, of Hanover, N. H., survives him as do three sons, Eben Brewer, of Erice, F. B. Brewer, Jr., of Westfield, and Dr. George E. Brewer, Jr., of Westfield, and Dr. George E. Brewer, of New York. The sons and William C. Fitch, Esq., of Buffalo, husband of Dr. Brewer's deceased daughter, accompanied the remains to Pittsburg and acted as bearers at the interment in the cemetery yesterday.

STRANGLED TO DEATH

Rescued From the River, a Boy Slowly Dies on the Shore

IN SIGHT OF FIFTY PEOPLE

Who Watch the Death Struggles While Awaiting a Physician.

SEIZED WITH CRAMPS WHILE BATHING

After being rescued from the Alleghen; river, Sebastian Wohlfast slowly strangled to death from the water he had swallowed. The peculiar tragedy occurred on the Alle-gheny side of Herr's island about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon within sight of half a hundred men and boys. Wohlfast was a boy of 17 years and lived with his parents at No. 26 Rising Main street. Yesterday afternoon he went bathing in the river at Herr's island with a number of companions. The water at that point is quite deep and is frequented by many boys and men. The boy was a good swimmer, but remained in the water until he was thoroughly chilled. His lips were blue and his fingers shriveled, a warning most swimmers heed. Wohlfast started to take a last swim across the river from the island, but was seized with a cramp when about midway between the island and the Ailegheny shore. He called for assistance, but owing to the distance he was from land went under twice. Owing to the cramped condition of his least and arms the boy was unable to help him-self at all and swallowed a great deal of water. Just before sinking for the third and fatal time a companion caught hold of him and brought him to the shore.

The boy was choking and gasping, and his rescuer, exhausted by the great exertion, fell beside his body in a half fainting condition. The others standing about seemed to have forgotten all means of respectivities. to have forgotten all means of resuscitating a half drowned person, and while awaiting a physician who had been sent for, watched the dying youth as he slowly strangled to death. The struggles became weaker and weaker and finally the breath entirely left corpse.

The Allegheny police were immediately notified, and the ambulance from Ebbert's morgue, on Ohio street, was sent. The body was taken to the morgue, and the parents of the drowned boy were notified.

Fellow Members on the Committee Speak

Agentleman connected with the Repub-lican National Committee in a clerical way tending the executive sessions and knows what is going on. Speaking of Chairman Carter, he says the Montana man has impressed his co-laborers with his hustling capacity. In his opinion, Carter is a man of capacity. In his opinion, Carter is a man of reserved strength, and he has in store a number of coups de etat for the Democrats. The Chairman is not afraid of the rusion with the Farmers' Alliance in the Western States, and it is true that he will make an effort to break up the Solid South. The points of attack are Georgia, the Carolinas and Mississippi. In these States the Third party is strong, and a combination with the Republicans can be made.

Clarkson and Joe Manley, as members of the Executive Committee, are working hard and in earnest for the success of the party. The resignation of Manley as postmaster of Augusta is taken to mean that he will do the right thing.

NO MIDSUMMER BARGAINS,

A Played-Out Dodge.

BARGAINS ALL THE YEAR BOUND. The duliness of business, which forces some dealers to advertise their wares under the caption of "Midsummer Bargains," etc., does not affect the steady demand for the world-renowned Steinway, the wonderful Conover, or the lovely Cores, prince, The reason of renowned Steinway, the wonderful Conover, or the lovely Opera pianos. The reason of this is that Klebers sell these first-class pianos all the year round, summer and winter, at lower prices and on easier terms than most dealers ask for their second-rate pianos. Added to this is their reputation for straightforward dealing with their customers and their musical training, which prompts so many persons to leave the choice of a fine piano altogether in their hunds.
