NOT THE FIRST PLANT

A Rash Free Trade Attempt to Make Political Capital Out of

THE INDIANA TIN PLATE FAILURE

A Groundless Charge That Pittsburg Material Proved Useless,

ENTIRE LACK OF BUSINESS METHODS

Indiana free traders are endeavoring to make political capital out of the insolvency of the tin plate works at Anderson, Ind., and in so doing have made an attack on a well-known Pittsburg firm. The Anderson plant has just been disposed of at Sheriff's sale, and the Indianapolis Sentinel, the Democratic organ of the State, furnishes its readers with two columns of matter under glaring headlines, of which the following is

The Anderson Tin Plate Works, the first establishment in this country, were sold by the Sheriff of Madison county to satisfy a mechanic's lien. The tin plate plant was such an insignificant concern that few of the farmers of the county were aware of its existence. The Republican leaders have repeatedly called upon the farmers tributary to Anderson to vote against Mr. Bynum because of his vote in Congress to repeal the tax on tin and thereby "destroy an industry worth thousands of dollars to the farmers of

When Deputy Sheriff B. H. Campbell stepped out and from the east door of the fine court house read the notice of sale and offered the Anderson Tin Plate Works, the great original McKinley tin plate factory to the highest bidder, no one responded. The court house officials and a large number of farmers gathered around out of curiosity and guyed the few Republicans who were present. "Where is McKinley!" shouted a farmer when the sheriff had repeated the offer three times. Finally A. P. Moore, for his client, bid in the works for $218 30, the face of the judgment, and the great pro-tected works which have furnished so many good points for tin plate editorial was "knocked off" to a Democrat.

Attack On a Pittsburg Firm. A list of the creditors is then given, in which appears the Canonsbury Iron and Steel Company, of Pittsburg, the amount due being $1,200. In speaking of this claim the Sentinel says:

The Canonsburg Iron Company, of Pitts-burg, furnished rolled sheets (black plate) ready for dipping, but the company claimed that this black plate was too rough to dip in tin and worthless. The fact is that no black plate made in this country is fit for tinning purposes. All the machinery was imported from Wales, and so were the machinists who set it up. The company employed four men, three of whom were imported from Wales, three boys and about eight girls. The men did not average $2.50 a day, the wages received in Wales, the boys made about 80 cents and the girls 60 cents a day. The sheets were imported from England and dipped by imported labor in the imported from the Strait settlements, which comprises the provinces of Sinzapore, Malacca, Wellesely and Penang in the Malay peninsula. The Malay tin is mined by coolie labor, which receives 9 cents a day. Not an ounce of tin from American mines was used. A call was made yesterday at the office of the Canonsburg Iron and Steel Company on Wood street. When the manager's attention was called to the statement from Indiana that the plates furnished by the company were unfit for tinning he said:

"The only feature of our transactions with purposes. All the machinery was imported

"The only feature of our transactions with the Anderson Works which I recoilect off-hand is that we never got our money. Hoverer, we have all the correspondence here, and it will be easy to investigate the Wanted More of the Same Plates.

"The first communication from the Indiana concern was in April, 1891, and was in the nature of an inquiry. This was followed by an order for a carload of black plates, to be shipped in July. The shipment was made then," said the Canonsburg com pany's manager, "the next letter on file is in November of 1891. We had failed to re-ceive a remittance and had been pressing for payment. This letter, as you see, is from Charles B. Orvis, the President of the company. In it he says that he has been in Arkansas and that our bill has been neglected for that reason. He asks us to draw on him for the amount, with interest. This was four mouths after the shipment, and there is not a word about our plate not being up to requirements. The only com-plaint he makes is that the head workman, imported from Wales, proved incapable, and for that reason they were behind in their work.

"Further than that, in March of this year we received a telegram from the Anderson concern asking us to ship another car of plates. That does not look as though our material had proved unavailable. In the meantime we had succeeded in getting a note for the amount of the first bill, but no money. Under the circumstances we did not fill this March order, but it is certainly an evidence that our plates had been used and more were wanted."

Not the First in the Country

"What is your information as to the cause of the sailure of the establishment?" "We made an investigation which went to show that there was no capital behind it. to show that there was no capital behind it. The works were apparently started for the purpose of booming property in that vicinity, and no attempt was made to conduct the enterprise on business principles. Another thing, I see that it is stated from Indiana that this Anderson plant was the first started in the country. That is an absurd claim. The works at Demmler were in operation considerably earlier. Why, we were making some plate for tinning even before the McKinley bill went into operation."

tion."
"What has been the effect of the tariff upon this line, and how extensive have your operations been under it?"
"In round numbers we furnished 1,000 tons of plate to the Ironclad Company, of

New York, during the past year. The re-quirements in this order were particularly exacting, a better grade being needed than for ordinary work, like that of the Indiana concern, yet it proved perfectly satisfac-tory. We have furnished about 300 tons of material to two establishments in Pittsburg, and have now in hand an order from the Corrugating Company, of Piqua, which figured so prominently in the McKinley-Campbell campaign in Ohio last year. That is doing pretty well for an infant indus-

FRESH CANADIAN SCANDALS

To Be Exposed as the Result of the Elec tion of Blake to Parliament-The Liberals Expected to Assist in Securing Revelations.

A young man who some years ago studied law in the office of Hon. Edward Blake, the Canadian statesman who has been lately elected for Longford in the English House of Commons, said to THE DISPATCH "that while Mr. Blake ostensibly has entered into the arena of English politics as the embodiment and the propounder of all that is good in home rule from a Canadian standpoint, his election has still greater significance to Canada and its political destiny. Whatever Mr. Blake's success may be in the Imperial Parliament he has so far proven himself to be a failure as a statesman and even as a be a failure as a statesman and even as a politician.

"He has enjoyed the opportunity of being leader of his party both while in power and out of power, and neither in adversity nor in prosperity did he have the confidence of his followers. He is a man of great forensic ability, and as an equity lawyer he has few if any superiors. He has ever and always been the exponent of ultra-protestantism in Canada and even now is working hand-in-hand with the Hiearchy fighting for home rule for Ireland.

"But, as I have said, this was not his only mission to the country of his fore-fathers. The Liberal party, who are in the minority in Canada, have unearthed, so it said, a sea of corruption in the very seats of the Government members themselves. The late investigation of the Postmaster General, Sir Adolph Carm, is merely a shadow of what is behind. The Liberals can never the facts before the House whilst the Control of the Postmaster General the facts before the House whilst the Conof what is behind. The Liberals can never get the facts before the House whilst the Conservatives are in power. Now as Mr. Blake is a member of the Liberal party in the Imperial Government, and they having been successful at the late elections, he will move for a commission to be appointed to inquire into the condition of things in Canada and give the Liberals of that colony a chance to make known their grievances, a relief which has been denied them at home.

"I have been assured by a Liberal M. P.

"I have been assured by a Liberal M. P. that they have facts for the occasion that will not only surprise the Dominion but the whole world in respect to the tactics of Canadian Tories to obtain and hold office. The 'Pacific scandal' was nothing in comparison to what is to follow."
